GAS EXPLOSION FATAL

Defer Halt On Lynch Filibuster

On the Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

TRULY THE time has come when Negro Americans should realize that they represent a racial unit in the body politic of American life.

The Jews were once kicked about in residential sections of New York City, but they found a way out of this condition by pooling their interests and cash. Today they not only live where they please in New York, but own about half of the city.

Some years ago the wife of a Jewish merchant of the eastern metropolis went vacationing to Atlantic City and applied for reservations at one of the expensive hotels there. The keeper of the hostelry denied her accomodation. The woman returned to New York, reported the slight to her merchant husband. A group of Jewish merchants and financiers got their heads together, pooled sufficient capital—went to Atlantic City, bought the hotel, and today every national and racial element except Black Americans, whose status quo makes them the social targets at which even the Jews hurl their prejudices, are accomodated at this establishment.

Standing on street corners airing our political views or boasting of our radical leaning will not get what it takes to pay for that last suit bought. Nor does it guarantee any privileges on Central Avenue, except that of walking along the sidewalks peeking into the chicken places, shoe, drygoods, furniture, and food-stores of other races. Saturday nights, of course, we may buy our chickens and food-stuffs; that's all——

What I want you to see, Mr. Black American, is this—we own practically nothing on Central Avenue and yet we, not those who come over and get our money during the day and go to Beverly and Hollywood to eat, sleep, and live, are to blame for the bad conditions that, according to the "People's Friend", make Central Avenue the one black spot in Los Angeles.

Moving merrily along the line of least resistance, Black Los Angeles has done little to lift itself out of the depths of poverty, nor has any friendly gesture been made toward pointing a way out by those who profess friendship.

SOME MONTHS ago an asserted radical newspaper sent its sleuths into the Central Avenue district to find what, if anything, Negroes owned. The spies reported that a certain Negro newspaper owned fifty thousand dollars worth of equipment. "That will never do", opined the radical sheet—"We have a corner on everything else that Negroes are doing—how did this happen?"

"We will just go down there and start Negroes fighting each other. Tell them that the editor of that paper has sold them down the river, hence is the Hearst of the Negro newspaper profession."

"Don't bother the other Negro newspapers of the community; they are not even potential enemies to our cause."

So successful has been this "people's friend" newspaper in stirring up strife in the Negro section, which means a divided interest in all racial things, that it has decided to change from a weekly to a daily, and each day a big black delivery wagon scatters this disturbing element up and down the Negro district—while the Black people read and laugh.

This radical news organ, pathfinder in its so-called attacks on vice in the Central Avenue district, is but throwing sand in Black people's eyes to keep them from sensing the real obstacles in the way of their economic emancipation. Poverty breeds vice—just so long as the Negro is induced to take out life insurance in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and be denied any opportunity of working in that institution—just so long as he pays county taxes and cannot collect for the county—just so long as he is given the runaround when he applies for jobs and positions in concerns of size and standing in his city or county, he is being made the object of poverty and fit soil for the cultivation of vice and corruption.

THE WHITE communist and radical elements work for these concerns—those I have mentioned and many others—where Negroes can't poke their heads, but never have they said "We refuse to work unless Negroes are allowed to work also." But they would, through the medium of their newspaper, assume the role of a disturbing element in the Negro community.

There are from fifty to sixty thousand Negroes in Los Angeles, California, practically a new country with unlimited farming and commercial possibilities offers to the Negro a wonderful opportunity of taking over in the agricultural field. However, the Japanese have grasped the Negroes' lost opportunity and taken over the farms of California.

Nevertheless, the only opportunity open to the Negro, even now, is by way of land. From Los Angeles to San Francisco there are great stretches of farming land. There should be formed a co-operative society of California Negroes who would purchase a tract of this land, divide it into small farms, settle families on it provided with agricultural necessities and establish wholesale houses in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Then we should supply at least some of our needs—and we would surely be on the road to economic independence.

In such a project is a more-fitting chance for our Communistic friends to help.

Illness of Co-Author Halts Fight for Vote

Strategy of Proponents Has Been to Let Filibusters Talk Selves Out

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Advocates of the anti-lynching bill grumbled at in-action Monday when Leader Barkley announced that he would defer until next week efforts to clamp down on southern filibusters because of the absence on account of illness of Senator Wagner of New York, co-author of the bill.

With senators from the southern states having held the floor for more than a week giving the country their side of the argument on a federal anti-lynching bill, the supporters of the Gavagan-Wagner-Van Nuys measure had made plans for opening up the affirmative side of the debate Monday or Tuesday.

The "big guns", sponsoring the measure were scheduled to go into action, including Senators Wagner and Van Nuys; Senator Bennett C. Clark of Missouri; Senator Matthew M. Neely of West Virginia; and Senator Homer T. Bone of Washington.

TALK SELVES OUT

The strategy of the proponents of the bill has been to allow the southern group of filibusters to talk their arguments out. The southerners so far have dug up the Civil war and the race problem and have waved the bloody shirt, prophesying all sorts of disasters if the anti-lynching bill is voted. They have declared their "love" for colored people and have repeated the old story of the southern white man being the Negro's best friend. Led by Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, they have shed tears over how much the South has done for the Negro. Senator Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas made a speech January 13 in which she said that she liked Negroes as servants, but she dd not want the anti-lynching bill passed because it might endanger the relationship between employees and employers.

SHOW DIXIE FAVORS

The speakers in support of the bill are expected to show that a good section of the South supports this bill and wishes it to be made a law. They will quote editorials from southern newspapers and indorsements from southern white groups.

Supporters are expected to show, also, that mobs have become so bold and the collusion of peace officers so brazen that governors and other higher officials are unable to act in lynchings even when lynchers are known. They are expected to cite the fact that Gov. Gordon Browning of Tennessee offered a $5,000 reward for information on the lynchers of Albert Gooden without result. They are expected to quote Governor Fred P. Cone of Florida, who declared in an interview in New York that he would not object to the federal government doing something about mob violence.

Girl's Attacker Held to Answer Rape Charges

At a preliminary hearing of the case of Charles Early, WPA playground director at 22nd street recreation center, in which the suspect is charged with two counts of rape, Judge Chambers of the Superior Court set the date of arraignment for February 3.

CHILD ON STAND

The fifteen-year-old girl, accusing Early of attacking her, told a pitiful story before a crowded court room Tuesday.

Relating the circumstances of her meeting with the director, she said that she had gone to the Center to play and met Early there.

A friendship was struck up between the child and the director, she declared. He is alleged to have asked her to go for an auto-mobile ride and it was on two such occasions that the offenses charged against the man occurred, the child claims.

STORY UNSHAKEN

Early is ably represented by Attorney C. C. Taylor, said to be one of the cleverest criminal lawyers on the West Coast.

Early was released on $1000 bail.

It was learned from a reliable source today that he will plead "not guilty" and ask for a jury trial.

Raids On Chinese Lottery Joints Net Many Arrests

Continued operation of Chinese lottery joints, in open defiance to the law must go, Newton street police division authorities stated this week.

Police have received scores of complaints against the lottery houses which are said to drain the small change coffers of Eastside residents.

In a raid conducted Monday night by the vice squad of Newton street station, dozens of persons found in possession of lottery tickets were nabbed on the streets and in the act of drawings at places reported by irate citizens to be notorious for the ancient game.

Swooping down upon 3310 Compton avenue, the vice squad found five men around a table, looking at Chinese lottery tickets and participating in a drawing.

All tickets and other paraphanalia were confiscated and the following arrested and booked at Newton St. station: Dave Polk, William Mayo, Henry Milner, Herbert Lewis and Edward Weekly.

At 3007 Central avenue, officers Dunn and Reed arrested Lovie Young, 51, a Chinaman for possession of lottery tickets.

On the same night, William Lee, Chinese, alleged to be operating a lottery a 4207 S. Central, was arrested and booked on gaming charges after a number of tickets, drawings and other materials were taken from him.

On report of a gaming house at 512 So. Los Angeles street, A. H. Lum, 62 year-old Chinese cook was found in possession of tickets and drawings.

Arresting officers in the raid were Lt. S. Sweetnam, J. Campbell, Richard Dunn and S. Reed, of the Newton street station.

WOMAN SLUGGED IN GARAGE

Peggy Robbins, of 5434 South Central avenue, was the victim of an unidentified assailant late Tuesday night, when she received severe scalp wounds from a blow on the head with a piece of lead pipe in the hands of an unknown man.

According to Officers Baughn and Young, investigating the case, the woman was probably struck after she drove her car into the garage.

Killer Suspect Returned

Sam Franks, 36, of 957 East 20th street, was brought in from Palm Springs early this week and booked at City Jail on suspicion of murder and robbery.

He was accused by police of having beaten to death a Chinese merchant last October 25, in a robbery in an alley at 10th and Crocker street.

The victim was Lang Goon Wong, 59, of 831 South San Pedro street.

Detectives H. H. Perry and H. V. Devlo, who brought the man here, and he was traced through the pawning of Lang's watch with a Hindu broker on Towne avenue.

Franks denied the charges.

L. A. Pioneer Succumbs to Heart Attack

Believe Prominent Citizen Died in His Sleep; Was League Founder

Clarence Pritchette, aged 56, of 966 So. Normandie, pioneer resident of Los Angeles and one of the founders of the Men's Fellowship league, died suddenly of a heart ailment in his home Sunday morning.

Mr. Pritchette appeared to be in the best of health, his wife, Mrs. Maude Pritchette stated, when he left home Saturday evening to attend a bridge party.

Returning from the party with still no signs of the illness, Pritchette retired. Physicians believe the popular civic leader died in his sleep.

Mrs. Pritchette discovered his death when she attempted to arouse him for breakfast, at 11:30 Sunday morning.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday in St. Philips Episcopal Church, with Rev. Randolph Moore officiating.

Mr. Pritchette came to Los Angeles with his family 26 years ago from Kansas. He had worked as a chauffeur and acquired considerable property in the West Pico district.

Besides his wife, three brothers, two living in Denver, and Edward Pritchette, of Los Angeles; and two sisters, Mrs. Frances Jones and Mrs. Harriet Mays, survive him.

Of his passing, Dr. A. J. Booker, president of the Fellowship League made the following statement:

"We are deeply shocked and genuinely grieved over the death of Mr. Pritchette, one of our most constructive members of the Fellowship League.

"His quiet, gentlemanly manner and wholesome advice for the development of this club and of our community was an asset to the organization, the loss of which, we sincerely regret."

Interment was in Rosedale cemetery.

Man Shot By Woman Makes Up in Court

Astonished no end was the court of Judge Fricke this week when the case of Lola Adams, accused of shooting Joseph Williams, her alleged sweetheart, at 855 East 28th street, on November 17, took a strange turn as Williams refused to testify against the woman.

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon and intent to commit murder after she shot Williams in the abdomen, Miss Adams' trial was called for Thursday, the 13th.

Barely able to hobble into the court room, Williams, who has lingered between life and death in the General hospital since the shooting, did his best to minimize his injuries, refused to prosecute his sweetie and hugged her closely as the pair swung out of the room "lovey-dovey".

To Consider Housing at Session

Hawkins Gives Assurance After Meet With Social Welfare Group

A special session of the California State Legislature loomed a certainty today as its Social Welfare Committee, investigating low rent housing and unemployment relief, disclosed information which seems likely to lead to corrective legislation.

Assurance of the special session came from Augustus Hawkins, representative of the Sixty Second district, who met with the Social Welfare committee in Sacramento last week.

In a letter to the California Eagle, Assemblyman Hawkins said a definite recommendation had been made to Governor Merriam to reconsider the Housing Bills introduced by Hawkins in the last legislative session.

"I have definitely been assured that a program for improved housing conditions at lower rentals for those of low income will be considered in the event a special session is held which, at present, is certain," Hawkins' letter read.

"I shall not give up the fight until the people of my district and this state, who now pay high rents for hand-me-down shacks are fully re-housed in decent, safe and low rental homes".

Hawkns postscripted his letter with remarks that the state hearings on the relief situation showed that relief budgets are critically low and have actually been decreased in the face of the rsing cost of livng. Relief adjustment is one of the concerns of the Social Welfare committee.

Girl Thrown From Two-Story Window

House is Wrecked in Terrific Blast that Rocks Adams District

In an explosion resulting from leaking gas that filled the room of Lucile Wilkins, 28, of 908 East Adams, one of the most spectacular accidents on the Eastside rocked the surrounding district of E. Adams and Griffith Ave., blew out the entire front window of an upper story of the house and hurled the body of Miss Wilkins, aflame, to her death on the lawn below, at 5:45 last Friday evening.

According to the woman's story, just before she succumbed Saturday morning in General Hospital, the gas stove in her room had been turned low before she fell asleep but on awakening she discovered that it had gone out. She attempted to relight the stove, apparently not noticing the odor of escaping gas. As soon as she struck the match, there was an explosion of such intensity that it hurled her through the second story window to the ground.

REMAINS CONSCIOUS

Rushed to the Receiving hospital, the injured woman was given first aid treatment and later transferred to General Hospital where it was discovered that she had received second and third degree burns over her entire body.

She remained conscious until early Saturday morning.

WAS ALONE

A native of Virginia, Miss Wilkins only relative here is Miss Myrtle Smiles, owner of the house where the accident occurred. She had been in Los Angeles 12 years.

In a statement to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE reporter, Miss Smiles stated that she had left the house approximately 15 minutes before the explosion to go on an errand.

PRIVATE FUNERAL

Passersby witnessing the spectacle of the woman being hurled through the window in a gush of flame were, Orra Leta Hendricks and Paul Bloom, who summoned the fire companies from East 34th and 14th street stations, who extinguished the flames in the house.

Private funeral services were held for the victim Monday, at the Angelus Chapel with Rev. Frederick Mitchell conducting the rites.

Garrott Seeks Permanent Job as Newton St. Captain

Homer L. Garrott, acting captain of Newton Street Division of the Los Angeles Police department, has been cited to take the oral examination for permanent appointment. Captain Garrott has already made a commendable showing in the written examination. Recently, he celebrated 25 years of service in the department. He was appointed to the acting post early in 1937.

It is generally known that Captain Garrott's record has led the people of Los Angeles to expect his appointment to the post soon. He is being supported by the EAGLE which led the fight to put Negro police officers in charge of the Newton Street station.

Having formerly served with much credit as head of the Juvenile department now under the direction of Sergeant Earl Broady, Captain Garrott's worth was recognized during the first term of Mayor Frank L. Shaw.

POURS GASOLINE AND SETS FIRE TO TRUCK

Police are investigating the case of W. C. Crosby, transferman at 1528½ East 25th street, who claims that a man known only to him as "LeRoy" poured gasoline on his truck, called the fire department and ran from the scene.

Damages was estimated at $130. No arrests have been made.

Roy Myers Admits Guilt

In an attempt to escape the gallows for the murder of Earl Austin, Roy Myers, charged with the fatal stabbing of the former, will enter a plea of "guilty of first degree murder", when his case comes up for trial, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Austin was killed December 5, in a fight at 28th and Central avenue.

A coroner's jury accused Myers of the murder, ordered him held for trial.

Dixie Governors Back Southern Filibuster

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Governors of Southern states supported Southern Senators Monday in their fight against the anti-lynching bill.

They sent a shower of telegrams to the Senate, protesting against the Wagner-Van Nuys measure and pleading against Federal interference with local police powers.

Their messages cited figures showing the crime of lynching has been reduced from more than 300 annually prior to 1898 to only eight last year, through the efforts of state and local governments.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Back home! The haven that most Americans hope to land in, either to visit, or stay—Hollywood! Europeans dream about it as religiously as the old folks who sang daily and nightly, "I want to walk those golden streets". You just don't realize how wonderful this place is until you get away around the country and watch that certain wistful look in the eyes of young and old. I am sure when The Challenger—that crack Union Pacific train—rolled into Central avenue, there was a certain JOY NOTE in my wife's voice and a BIG APPLE walk hit Yours Truly as he bade the most wonderful group of Pullman Porters, Dining Car waiters, and a grand, distinguished group of cooks, goodbye. Goodbye, not only because they were enthused and gracious, BUT because the U. P. system has at last realized that these people are important to their business. They had one of the new dining units on this train that provides SLEEPING ROOMS for all of its attendants. You know, they used to sleep in the diner—NOW, PRIVATE BATHS, SLEEPING ROOMS THAT ARE MODERN. Chester MacBride, the chef on this train who has cooked for some of the world's most important personalities, speaks with glowing pride of the magnificent accommodations of this new, modern train THAT SERVES AT PRICES unheard of in transportation. To my mind, I've traveled the streamline trains many times BUT THEY ASKED me to ride this one for the experience and anybody can travel east and west now and it won't RUIN your life's SAVINGS. Book

LISTEN, FOLKS

By Atty. Walter L. Gordon jr.

So many of us hesitate in making a WILL. First, I believe we hesitate because we generally associate a will with impending death and old age. However such time steeped opinions are giving way to day to a more common sense approach. We are beginning to compare the same with insurance policies, and recognize the fact that a will is a necessary protection to our loved ones.

Death often comes suddenly to young and old alike, and it behooves each and everyone of us to guard against the disasters that often face people that constantly put off until tomorrow the careful regulation of their business, and the selection of their closest loved ones and natural objects of their affection. So many times husbands have died leaving their money in secret hiding places, with receipts for paid bills in some basement locker, or in some old discarded suit. The result is that the poor widow and children are left helpless to the onslaught of creditors who positively assert that the husband never paid them. Without a will to aid her, she is further left alone to combat hordes of relatives who prior to her husbands's death never even came around, but who after the death, suspiciously inquire into every bit of business, and are in constant consultation with lawyers as to their rights.

The making of a will is not such tedious and nerve wracking process as to justify one in fearing it. Most attorneys will call directly at your home and prepare the instrument in short order, I have heard people say that they didn't want an attorney to make their will, they would do it themselves or else go to a Notary Public, despite the fact that neither they or the Notary Public has ever opened a law book. Attorneys take months studying the course of wills, a very hard and technical subject, yet some persons are presumptuous enough to believe that they can master the subject without any study whatsoever. One of my old professors in school once told the class that an attorney should not get ruffled up over the latter situation because sooner or later some attorney would have to straighten the whole mess out in court and in the end make far larger fees than he would have for the mere drawing of a will. Many a seemingly inconsequential point that a Notary Public or a layman passes up will cause loss of hundreds of dollars later on to some innocent party.

Sit down and take a thorough gong inventory of yourself. Itemize your bills and debts, also jot down the monies that people owe you. Make your wife acquainted with these facts, or at least place such memos where they will be easily found in the event something happened to you. Above all . . . make a will.

Tenant Farmers Begin Exodus From Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 20 (CNA)—An exodus from this state of thousands of Southern tenant farmers seeking a fresh start in the crop season of 1938 was under way this week.

A caravan of motor cars, carying livestock, household furnishings, tools and other implements led the search for more fertile fields in this new movement. Some took with them little more than the clothing they wore.

An estimated 3,000 tenant families are on the move in one county alone, according to H. A. Woodie, farm agent of Aiken County, S. C. He estimated that 2,000 would remain on present farms. Similar reports came out of the territories from Georgia to Arkansas.

The drop in cotton prices, among other things, has caused tenants "not to do as well," said J. R. Butler of Memphis, president of the Southern Tenant Farmers' Union. He said the annual winter movement would be heavier than last year and that notices to vacate had been given to many white and Negro union members.

Emancipation Meet Pushes Demands for Race

NEW YORK, Jan. 20, (CNA)—Militant resolutions were adopted by 2,000 people attending the celebration of the 75th Anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation, at St. Marks Methodist Episcopal Church, 137th Street and Edgecombe Ave.

The audience listened to speeches by Hubert T. Delaney, municipal tax commissioner who represented Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia; William C. Hueston, former Municipal Judge in Gary, Ind.; the Rev. H. King, pastor of the church; Perry Howard; Bishop James W. Brown, of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church; Dr. H. J. Oliver, and Dalmus Steele.

Georgia Chain Gangs May Go

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 20. (CNA)—Georgia chain gangs, notorious throughout the civilized world for their barbarities would disappear under a new program sponsored by Gov. E. D. River's administration.

"No more sweat boxes or whipping," is one objective of eight bills, seven of which already have been approved by the Senate. The name "chain gang" would be discontinued, the new name being "public works camps".

Solitary confinement and bread and water replace the sweat box and other forms of torture to which Georgia chain gang prisoners have been subjected in the past.

Flier Jailed for Park Landing and is Praised By Court

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. (CNA)—Troy W. Newkirk, 40-year-old flier who was forced to land his plane in McCombs Dam Park several days ago, was commended for his good judgement by Magistrate Overton Harris, white, when he appeared in Bronx Magistrate's Court to answer two summonses, charging him with damaging public property and landing a plane on park property without a permit.

The feat of landing his Arrow Sports monoplane without disaster when the engine failed during an exhibition flight over Harlem had got Newkirk in trouble with the police. The skillful maneuvering of the flier had saved a girl student from serious injury.

While thousands of Harlemites gasped at Newkirk's aeriel capers, the Ford V-8 motor quit. Spectators shuddered as he cut across the Harlem River, fluttered over towering Bronx tenements, just cleared an elevated train, and came down in the heavy mud of Macombs Dam Park, on Athletic Field No. 1, across the street from the Yankee Stadium.

The soggy ground threw the ship out of control on landing, and it crashed into a heavy wire fence, crumpling one wing. Newkirk was unhurt. His companion, a girl student, after climbing out of the plane, found that she had suffered only one slight abrasion under her rakish fying helmet.

Dr. Alain Locke in Reply to Stolberg On 'Minority Jingo'

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Opportunity, Journal of Negro Life, in the January issue, contains Dr. Alain Locke's retrospective review of the literature of the Negro for the year, which is annually presented in Opportunity.

In this year's article, entitled, "Jingo, Counter-Jingo and Us", Dr. Locke takes occasion to reply to Mr. Benjamin Stolberg's article, "Minority Jingo", which appeared in The Nation, October 23, 1937, and which caused considerable discussion among Negroes. In his rebuttal, Dr. Locke says:

"Like Mr. Stolberg, I also say: 'Good Lord, deliver us from jingo!' But unlike him, yet like a philosopher, I must begin with the beginning. And 'minority jingo' isn't the beginning, and so, not the root of the evil, evil though it may be. Minority-jingo is counter-jingo; the real jingo is majorty jingo and there lies the original sin. Minority jingo is the defensive reaction, sadly inevitable as an antidote, and even science has had to learn to fight poison with poison . . .

. . . Thus, I think, we must not load all the onus (and ridicule) upon the pathetic compensations of the harrassed minority, though I grant it is a real disservice not to chastise both unsound and ineffective counter-argument."

Ford Sees F. D. R. Set for Fight On South's Tories

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (CNA)—President Roosevelt's attack on sectional wage differentials in his address to Congress was interpreted this week by James W. Ford, nationally know radical leader, as indicating that the Chief Executive was set for a battle with so-called Southern Tories in his own party.

In his message to Congress the President rebuked members of the Democratic party who have, for sectional or social reasons voted to block the Wages and Hours Bill. The President drove home again his thesis that increased purchasing power for all "is the underlying necessity of the day.

Praising the speech as eminently sound, Ford asserted that the proposal for wage and hour legislation, the right to work for everyone and for remedial benefits for all unemployed, has the approval of the masses of people in all walks of life.

He interpreted as having particuar bearing on the situation in the South, the following passage in the President's speech:

"There are many communities in the United States where the average family income is pitifully low. It is in these communities that we find the poorest educational facilities and the worst conditions of health. Why? It is not because they are satisfied to live as they do. It is because those communities have the lowest per capita wealth and income, therefore, the lowest ability to pay taxes, and, therefore, inadequate functioning of local government."

Governor Merriam, Bishop Williams to Be AME Mass Meeting Speakers Sunday

Straw Vote Reveals 8th, Towne in Lead for Gen'l Conf.

With Governor Frank Merriam extending a formal invitation to be taken to the General Conference Commission of the AME church, and dynamic Noah W. Williams as principal speaker, the First AME church at Eighth and Towne, is making its last strong public bid for the General Conference of the connection to be held in 1940; the meeting will be held Sunday afternoon, January 23, at three o'clock. The platform gathering is being sponsored by churches of Los Angeles and vicinity and is expected to draw a packed house.

According to a reported straw vote taken of the fifteen members of the conference commission, Eighth and Towne is in the lead with the only other contender, Detroit, trailing considerably. Invitations have already been sent to the august body by Mayor Frank L. Shaw and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. A number of prominent ministers of the city will participate in the meeting among them Rev. Roy Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church at Eighth and Hope. Music will be furnished by the senior choir of First A. M. E. under the direction of Prof. Lester Harriston.

At Hamilton M. E. Church, 24th and Naomi, the minister, Rev. S. M. Beane will speak at seven o'clock from the subject "All-Everything". The newly elected officers for 1938 will be installed at the morning service of the Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, Vernon and Hooper Avenues by Rev. E. E. Lightner, minister. The sermon subject will be "Workers Together With God". The choir will render music under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Frederick. Services are being held downstairs during the remodeling of the main auditorium.

The Seventh Day Adventist church at 40th place and Wadsworth avenue, conducts its Sabbath school every Saturday morning at 9:30 a. m. and the pastor will preach at the 11 o'clock service. Sunday night, January 23 he will speak at the 8 o'clock service on the subject of "The Openings of Time". This will be a most unique topic illustrated by the use of out of the ordinary pictures thrown on the screen. The pastor will show that the present day is without a parallel and that 'things don't just happen' today, its the fulfillment of prophetic utterances of centuries past. You'll like the style of the preaching here, come and enjoy it. Good music all the time.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "Thou, O Lord, art a God full of compassion, and gracious longsuffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth."

A Scriptural citation in the Lesson-Sermon presents these verses from the Proverbs: "He that speaketh truth sheweth forth righteousness: but a false witness deceit . . . The lip of truth shall be established forever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment . . . Lying lips are abomination to the Lord: but they that deal truly are his delight."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Right and wrong, truth and error, will be at strife in the minds of students, until victory rests on the side of invincible truth . . . Honesty is spiritual power. Dishonesty is human weakness, which forfeits divine help."

St. Paul Baptist Church, 21st and Naomi, Rev. S. A. Williams, pastor.

Services were greatly enjoyed at St. Paul Sunday. Rev. N. H. Jones brought the message at the seven o'clock hour to a capacity audience from the subject: "Tivis Grace".

Rev. F. L. Taylor brought the evening message from the subject "Dry Bones in the Valley". The evangelical choir and the Young People's chorus rendered a wonderful programme at this hour.

Hear Pastor S. A. Williams Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. bring a special lesson for the Bible Class from the subject "Watch Your Thoughts". This lesson promises to be very interesting and demonstratively delivered. Everyone is invited to attend the Missionary Movement each Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m.

We invite all of the members and friends of St. Paul to participate in the "Greenback dollar parade" Sunday morning, January 23, 1938, at eleven o'clock. Trailerites Tipped On Trips to Take By Auto Club's Bureau

With winter snows blanketing many of their higher altitude summer retreats, trailer owners are discovering attractive destinations for a day or week's trip in nearby desert areas, reports the outing bureaus of Southern California.

Borego State park, amid desert surroundings in foothills of San Ysidro mountains in San Diego county lures many trailerites. Piped water, sanitary facilities, tables, benches and fireplaces are among improvements. Of particular interest to camera enthusiastes is the picturesque palm canyon with its trail winding among native fernlike trees.

Palm Springs and Cathedral in Riverside county offer trailer camps with all the modern conveniences of home. Here in balmy desert land one may enjoy such pleasures as golf, tennis, riding, swimming, and hiking. Another favorite is Twenty-Nine Palms at the entrance to the Joshua Tree National Monument in the Pinto Basin.

An interesting winter week end trip is to the Fossil Beds and the Calico mountains a few miles northwest of Barstow in San Bernardino county. The crumbling ghost town of Calico stands as historical and colorful evidence of intensive silver mining activity in the 80's.

VASQUEZ

Another spot alive with the memories of the old days of California is Vasquez Rocks just off the Mint Canyon road. Here was one of the reputed hide-outs of Tiburcio Vasquez and his bandit gang. The area is privately owned and a small charge is made for the use of camping facilities.

Red Rock canyon above Mojave is a popular location with picnic parties and week-end trailer parties. Water supplies are available at Ricardo or Red Rock, but all other accommodations are lacking. Th trip is worthwhile, however, for the brilliant coloring of the eroded canyon walls at sunrise or sunset is uneaquled. The small petrified forest at Saltdale makes an interesting side trip.

Excellent roads now make the desolate grandeur of Death Valley available to the trailer owner. Suitable accommodatons are found at Texas Springs camp near Furnace Creek Inn. The park service has improved this camp with tables, benches, showers, piped water, stoves and sanitary facilities, the Automobile Club advises. No wood or lights are available, but supplies may be obtained at Furnace Creek ranch.

(Chapter 3)

The most noteworthy method of preserving foods, prior to the perfection of refrigeration and one which is subordinated today only to refrigeration itself, was developed to aid Napoleon in the continuation of his European wars. The Little General's greatest problem was not in obtaining a sufficient number of fighting men but in feeding them when in strange lands.

Spurgeon Jones

His government called upon the patriotism of its citizens and urged all men of science and learning to exhaust their energy in the pursuance of a method of preserving food so it could be sent with the troops in foreign lands and still retain its flavor and freshness. It was not a learned man or a man of science, however, who discovered this process, but a humble merchant.

The distinction of being the first man to can fruit went to Appert, a confectioner. It appears he had been processing fruit for some time prior to his government's plea for a way to preserve food. His method was the sterilization of the food by heat before storing it in containers sealed with melted wax. From the simple process used by Appert, the canning industry of today has grown to where any kind of food, from any land, in season or out, can be purchased at a neighborhood grocery store at a cost comparable to the fresh foods, grown locally and in season.

Phillip's CME Compliments Dr. Cleaves

Members and friends of Phillip's Temple CME church complimented their new pastor, Dr. Lane C. Cleaves, with a calendar dinner honoring his birthday at the Community Center on Vernon avenue Thursday evening, January 13.

Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew was mistress of ceremonies for the evening and her daughter, Mrs. Robert V. Edwards, was pianist for the evening. The elaborate affair featured twelve tables, each centered with a mound of flowers common to the month, banked around candles of various colors. The guest table appointments were emphasized by two huge candelabra, each holding seven candles.

Guests of the pastor who brought greetings were Mr. and Mrs. George Beavers of the Golden State Life Insurance company; Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Lightner of the Lincoln Memorial Congregational church; Dr. A. J. Booker, of the Fellowship league; Mrs. Faustina Johnson, of the Women's Breakfast club; Baxter Scruggs, of the YMCA; Rev. G. L. Hayes, of South Los Angeles; Miss Helen F. Chappell, representative of The EAGLE; Rev. and Mrs. Seldon, of Harris Memorial CME church; Hon. Frederick M. Roberts, Mrs. R. W. Underwood, who represented the membership of Phillip's Temple. Soloists were Mrs. Lillian Dinkins and Mike Cherry.

Aid. The dinner committee was headed by Mrs. James Scott and young men of the Usher Board served as waiters. The entire assemblage was attired in dinner dress, adding a striking tone to the smartly appointed affair. Regrets were read from Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins.

Dr. Cleaves and his beautiful wife both responded to the felicitations. Mrs. Cleaves was very charming in blue lace. Both come from distinguished families of the CME church, Dr. Cleaves being the grandson of the late Bishop Lane, as well as the son of Bishop Cleaves.

Bethel A. M. E. Progressing Under Rev. Moore

Bethel AME church, 1511 W. 36th street, is showing marked progress under the new pastor, Rev. Arthur A. Moore. Innovations have been carried out in both the redecorating and program of the church. New pews have been purchased for the church auditorium and the interior has been beautified with Julius Sando, young artist, in charge.

Of especial interest to the Westside community is the forum held every second Sunday afternoon at which time the young people bring to the community an interesting speaker.

At the last rites for Mrs. Anna Louise Gillespie, prominent beauty culturist, held at the Church of the Apostolic Faith on E. 33rd St., Monday of last week, Elder E. I. Douglas officiated, and not Rev. E. R. Driver, as was stated erroneously in last week's issue.

Infantile Paralysis Figures Third Highest in History

"Nine and one-half per cent of these impairments in individuals over 25 were caused by infantile paralysis. And a major orthopedic defect means in most instances an unemployable, a cripple, a permanent dependent."

This statement was recently issued by Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the United States, and a leading public health authority, in connection with the New National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, funds for which will be raised by the President's birthday celebration this month.

Local significance is given Dr. Parran's statement since California and particularly Southern California, has been the second largest beneficiary of funds collected by means of the President's Birthday celebration in the past. Los Angeles school children are responding eagerly to an opportunity to cooperate in the humanitarian enterprise, more especially because the majority of suffers from poliomyelitis are of school age.

"Furthermore, in a U. S. Public Health Service survey made of an average middle city, in which 18,000 persons in over 5,000 families were tabulated, it was found that 25 percent of all major orthopedic impairments in individuals under the age of 25 were due to infantile paralysis.

Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

In the past few years the Works Progress Administration has done much for the improvement of the health of America's Negro population. Its activities have included special attention to the problem of tuberculosis among colored people. In many communities hospitals and clinics have been erected or established by WPA workers, while in others local officials have been inspired to provide necessary facilities by surveys of health conditions made by WPA workers.
Pictured here is one of the WPA clinics in operation. Above, at left, a patient referred to the clinic by a local welfare agency is registered and his case history is recorded. At right, another patient is given a thorough physical examination by a WPA doctor and nurse. Below, at left, a patent is X-rayed; and at right, the X-ray is examined by a specialist for signs of the disease. Thousands of incipient cases have been discovered in clinics similar to this one before they have advanced too far for cure.

Los Angeles and Hollywood Sartorial and Millinery Styles Set Pace for U.S. Market

As the American style center, Los Angeles and Hollywood will have the leading exhibit at the American Retail Trade Association when it holds its convention in St. Louis, Mo., January 31 to February 14, it is announced by representatives of the organization who were here recently to arrange for the show. They stated that local sartorial and millinery styles now set the pace in American markets.

Great changes have taken place since those days long ago when the only trade west of the Mississippi was in the few stores around the old Plaza, it is disclosed by the Federal Writers' Project, WPA, after a search for names of old store owners in Los Angeles.

The first serious retail trade, says Hugh Harlan, supervisor of the writers, dates back to about 1850, nearly 90 years ago, although there had been a shop or two of a sort a decade previously.

At this period Seventh and Broadway was a sand flat punctured with gopher holes, and Hollywood an up-and-down hilly mesa between the fenceless Plaza and the sea. Wild cattle, horses and goats overran the edges of the 70-year-old pueblo.

Storekeepers were Labatt Bros., Foster and McDougal (afterwards, Foster and Wadhams); Benito D. Wilson (after whom Mt. Wison, back of Pasadena, is named); Abel Stearns; Solomon Lazard, an early member of a French family of financiers; O. W. Childs; Charles Ducommun; John G. Downey (the druggist who later became governor); John Goller, and a man named Jayzinsky.

Ducommun at once became a leadng merchant. Downey opened his drug store, retailing epsom salts—something new here—at $6 a pound. All prices were high. Gold dust was money. In the Abel Stearns store, candy jars filled with gold dust and nuggets were on shelves near the front door. Robbery was not feared. There was only one law in the crude code of the period. Punishment by death was sure and swift. There was no long court trials, few appeals and fewer lawyers.

Near the Stearns store was a mule corral with a cross-beam gibbet at its main entrance. Had anyone with criminal intent laid a finger on the candy jars there'd been a hanging before sundown. Once in a while the pueblo might temporize over an ill-tempered, drunken shooting; but the law little delayed in matters of horse stealing or other thievery. In cases of human frailty a cheap saloon homicide was much more quickly condoned than the motives behind why a person would want to take something which he knew belonged to another.

A man by name of Yarrow ran the first secondhand store. Children called him Cuatro Ojos el Viego (Old Four-Eyes), because he wore thick-lensed glasses. Spectacles were a rarity here. The town auction house was conducted by George F. Lamson. Records fail to show the origin of the auction house in pioneer America. Some commentators say it is reminiscent of 18th and 19th century periods when slaves were bought and sold at the "block".

In the 1850's, Los Angeles stores served a population of a little more than 1,600.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES
By Miriam Matthews

". . . But civilized man cannot live without cooks!"

This week's column is dedicated to housewives and to anyone who cooks and craves food which may be served quickly, attractively and economically.

The three books which follow are the latest models in cook-books and smart enough to please even the most sophisticated of the "moderns".

First allow us to introduce Helen Train Hilles' stream-lined, unconventional cook-book, "To The Queen's Taste." It will bring delight to cooks everywhere who appreciate good food but perhaps don't know all the economic and culinary short cuts to dramatic meals. Miss Hilles says: "Today, we are expected to be conversationalists, professional entertainers, child psychologists, stylists, interior decorators, politicians, trained nurses and chefs—besides getting somewhere with an outside interest. t's not a dull life, but it was easier for grandma . . . We have to make the best dish better by speedy, even if slightly unorthodox methods." Here's how it's done with everything from hors d'oeuvres to elegant desserts with hints on children's meals and "soft-food" diets thrown in for good measure!

"Meals on Wheels", by Lou Willson and Olive Hoover is a book which solves the problem of cooking in a trailer. Essential equipment which will save money and space; complete meals in half an hour; directions for candy-making, and picnic spreads are only a few of the clever tricks in housekeeping which the authors feel will be a great help to those who do their cooking in kitchenettes as well as in trailers.

Last, but not least, is Marjorie Hillis' "Corned Beef and Caviar" for those who live alone and like it, and also for those who live alone and don't like it--because they have never learned how to cope with the "entertainment problem." Miss Hillis admits in her first chapter: "Frankly, it is the fun of food that we are interested in. Eating merely to live is as uninspiring as refueling an engine. But planning meals with imagination and assembling the right thngs for serving them daily are adventures in themselves and will certainly lead to many pleasant hours of enjoyment and relaxation, and eventually, to Who Knows What?"

If it's cook-books you want, old or new, visit the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 S. Central Avenue and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi avenue.

DR. ELVIN V. NEAL

Nosing around the "profession" this week, an EAGLE reporter, ever alert to note any advancement in the group scientifically, happened in on a young dentist who is rapidly demanding the public's eye.

Above is a pose of Dr. Elvin Vernon Neal, demonstrating the Analgesia machine, the latest addition to the modern equipment to be found in his offices at Adams and Central.

Restless in his ambition to attain the heights in his profession, Dr. Neal had hardly kicked the snow off his shoes, from his recent extended trip East, visiting Chicago, and attending the Alpha Phi Alpha convention in New Orleans, before his hands were active in setting up a machine that will revolutionize modern dentistry.

Wide-awake to any innovation that will give his patients all advantages, with the installing of the Analgesia machine, Dr. Neal has the latest equipment in anesthesia and analgesia.

Now the nervous patient need have no fear when entering Dr. Neal's office, for with his own hands he may control the machine that will allay all pain that is caused from the preparation of the teeth for dental work. This instrument completely nullifies pain without putting the patient to sleep.

Another great feature of this machine is that general anesthesia can be obtained when desired, enabling the dentist to extract teeth with gas. All these advantages are included in the routine service given all his patients.

For thirteen years, Dr. Neal has practised in Los Angeles, opening his offices here when just out of dental college. Six years ago he located at the corner of Adams and Central where he may be found today, forever busy . . . forging ahead . . . keeping apace.

FAMOUS STAR SAYS RACE SHOULD WRITE FOR FILMS

THE GOOD OLD DAYS when friends got together in a house party seemed to have gone by the way of Sandusky until, last Sunday evening, we answered a bid to the home of EDNA HEARD off the seashore in Santa Monica.

Miss Heard, now engaged in Federal Music projects, played and sang a part of the score of an African operetta which she has done in collaboration with a Captain Colette, world trfveler and authority on African lore.

AND . . . among a collection of American Negro songs composed by the California girl is a group of "JAIL FANTASIES" adapted from chain gang tunes she picked up from an ex-convict . . . another from a phrase she heard an old woman humming over the wash tub . . . ALL done into beautiful, intriguing, haunting melodies that show an underlying knowledge of the TECHNIQUE of music composition.

AND WHY SHOULD NOT Negro musicians turn more of their talent into work of this sort? GEORGE GERSHWIN did so and made his name immortal among the composers of 20th century music.

One of the loveliest of songs in "Porgy and Bess" . . . SUMMERTIME . . . is obviously a lift from Handy's "St. Louis Blues". Try it on your piano in case of doubt.

FOR TED HEALY

HOLLYWOOD is pulling out its best dress suit for the benefit Saturday night for Ted Healy at Warner Bros.' Hollywood theatre.

"Of all the actors and actresses I know," said Hattie McDaniels, "Ted was about the best friend the Negro players had. Always gracious to anyone of us working with him on a picture, he went out of his way to help us get a square deal".

That sums up similar expressions from the sepia film folk upon learning of the actor's death several weeks ago.

We recall benefits for NAACP and other groups held in the Lincoln Theatre that found HEALY and his stooges EAGER to help us. Let us not forget Ted Saturday night.

RETURN OF "STEVEDORE"

IN APRIL the Federal Theatre Project will produce "Stevedore", well known drama of Negro workers on the southern docks. Local branch of National Negro Congress is planning a special sponsorship of ticket blocs.

RUMORS FROM Bakersfield are to the effect that Marian Anderson will not be presented in concert in the same hall as other artists in this season's series because the SCHOOL auditorium is on STANDARD OIL property.

Negro students and patrons of the series attempting to purchase season tickets created the question of race attendance—not solely at the Anderson concert but others as well.

White women sponsoring the series went to the bottom of the matter at the suggestion of Pearl Lowry. Winters and Negro club women, adjusting the Anderson case by staging her concert in another hall so that her own people might hear her. BUT, thanks to STANDARD OIL, the blacks in Bakersfield will be culturally lacking this season for the remaining concerts.

As to such control over SCHOOL property, ask your legislators!

IN PASSING

. . . "HOLLYWOOD HOTEL" is a good picture for your "must list" because it laughs . . . as none other . . at HOLLYWOOD . . . and THAT is a sign of Filmland's coming of age . . . Incidentally . . Clinton Rosemond and Libby Taylor are the "colored man" and the "colored maid" in this flikker . . . and the gagging of a Negro plantation scene with Uncle Tom doing his stuff . . . is the best satire on the "Hearts In Dixie" stuff we've ever seen . . . WHAT certain race GREAT here is so pestered with poison pen notes and malicious telephone calls that he had to change his address and remove the telephone . . . BERNICE PILOT is engaged to CHARLES MOORE . . . by HIS admission . . . FREDDIE CLARKE is SERIOUSLY considering joining the Federal Theatres project . . . . DUKE ELLINGTON and LOUIS ARMSTRONG orchestras are said to be the ONLY Negro bands used for film recordings . . . so that . . . when you see any others . . . white musicians are actually playing . . . and that . . . is because MOST OF OUR BOYS won't STUDY and won't REHEARSE sufficiently to get their stuff down to a fine point . . . can we hear from the musicians' union on this . . . EVERYBODY was out of line on the President's cook as choice for "Gone With the Wind" . . . but US . . . Louella Parsons AND Walter Winchell, along with the entire Negro Press (who CONDONED and loudly SPONSORED the idea) took backwater . . . it did not smell nice from the start and we said so . . . and we told the Screen Guild . . . THAT . . . Mrs. McDuffie may be a nice lady and a good cook . . . BUT there are actresses in Hollywood whose training, experience and business is ACTING and that is the way they make their bread and potatoes . . . and oday for studio producers . . .

REVIEW

By JOHN KINLOCH

"Conquest", starring Greta Garbo and Charles Boyer, is a masterful, though not historically accurate, account of the love of Napoleon and his Polish mistress Marie Walewska.

Directed by Clarence Brown, the film has one of the most notable scripts to come out of Hollywood in many a month. However, had it not been for the magnificent performances of Charles Boyer as Napoleon we fear the whole thing might have sagged badly. Garbo is outstripped from the start by the brilliant French actor. The pent up energy, the first unselfish motive of creating a Europe United against War, and later egotistical yearning to found a dynasty are brought to vivid life in Boyer's Napoleon.

The film is given a superb production and probably rates way up, financially, among Metro's super-super's. However, the scenes of Napoleon's retreat from Moscow could have been more spectacularly done. As it is there is merely a long single-file column of men straggling through a snow-less blizard. If there had been flurry upon flurry of snow and many shots of feet tramping through slush--of tired soldiers' faces--the scene would have more adequately accomplished its task of showing the army's weariness of war. As it was, the scene concentrated upon a single legionnaire dying in the white wastes--exclaiming as he does so his disillusionment on the subject of Napoleon Bonaparte, who is listening.

The major set of the film was the reception of the Emperor in the Palace at Warsaw. This was flawlessly extravagant.

Gabo, though excellent in her earlier scenes, slowly fades before the power of Boyer's portrayal as the film progresses. Among the supporting players, Henry Stephenson turns in a highly creditable performance as the 75-year-old husband of the youthful Marie Walewska. Portraying a Polish nobleman, Stephenson makes understandable the old man's love of his young wife. The scene wherein Stephenson informs Garbo that he intends to divorce her is one of the film's finest.

Also handling a difficult assignment expertly is the British Dame Mae Whittey, late of "Night Must Fall", who portrays Napoleon's loyal mother.

Despite an episodic construction Clarence Brown keeps interest over the years the drama covers, through an efficient job of directing. It is to be remembered that Brown also directed and produced Garbo's great success "Anna Karenina".

Big Stage Show and "Life Goes On" at Tivoli Jan. 27

Offering a gem in entertainment, a treat to those who have not seen it and a pleasant second opportunity to those who have, "Life Goes On", starring Louise Beavers, will be shown by the Million Dollar Productions at the Tivoli Theatre, Thursday Night, Jan. 27. Ten vaudeville acts and stars of the film in person will also be present.

The two supporting players of "Life Goes On", who, next to Louise Beavers, the remarkable picture star, garner of major honors, are Edward Thompson and Reginald Fenderson. Messrs. Thompson and Renderson portray the two sons of the devoted Southern mother, who leaves her home and friends below the Mason and Dixon line in order that her boys may have the education and advantages of a metropolitan environment.

To the mother's great dismay, however, one of the boys, played by Fenderson, goes "wrong", ending up with a murder charge hanging over his head.

Thompson, as the eldest son, is, though his relationship to his brother is unknown to the judge, appointed to defend Thompson and does so, in so masterly a manner, that Fenderson is acquitted by the jury, to the great delief and delight of Louise

Mae Tells Scientists They're Much Too Slow

Psychologists who think it will take 1000 years before women rule the earth had better check their time speedometers, in the opinion of Mae West, who said today that the scientists are about 1000 years slow.

The occasion for the Westian observation was a dispatch quoting Dr. William Moulton Marston, formerly of Harvard University, as predicting a "sex battle" that women would win by 2937.

"Hm, Dr. Marsston must have a different calendar from the one I use," commented the curvaceous star. "If he'd take a look around, he'd find out the gals are running things right now!"

Dr. Marston said that an "American matriarchy" would begin in the next hundred years and that the feminine love impulse, twice that of men, is being diverted into other channels because "they're just out of luck so far as men are concerned."

"Well, there may be something to that," remarked La Belle West, as she reclined in her blue and white dressing room after a day on the set of her new Paramount picture, 'Every Day's a Holiday'. "After all, who am I to argue with a doctor?"

Rex Ingram With WPA

REX INGRAM, "De Lawd" of the screen "Green Pastures", who went into voluntary bankruptcy last year, got a new WPA job in "Haiti", playing 'Christophe", the black king, to be produced at the Lafayette theatre in Harlem.

Ingram, now 41, started his theatrical career as an extra in "Tarzan of the Apes" 18 years ago in Hollywood. He made his stage debut in "Lulu Belle" in Los Angeles.

Important movies in which he has appeared are "Ten Commandments", "King of Kings", "The Big Parade", "Beau Geste", "Sign of the Cross", "Emperor Jones" and "Captain Blood".

Duffie Hopes for Film Role are Blown Up

MRS. ELIZABETH McDUFFIE, White House maid servant of President Roosevelt, learned this week that she will not play the role of "Mammy" in Margaret Mitchell's much discussed "Gone With the Wind".

The servant was informed that her hopes for movie fame had been blasted by Miss Katherine Brown, talent scout for David O. Selznick, movie producer.

FELL FOR IT

Practcially every Negro newspaper in the country endorsed the idea of the Chief Executive's cook assuming the role of actress, except the theatrical department of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE, which protested on the grounds that employment of people within the profession was not too rosey Mrs. Duffey has a job; and that either Louise Beavers or Hattie McDaniels, both of whose work in pictures has been of high standard and enriched the coffers of film producers, should be granted first consideration.

TESTS FAIL

Five screen tests given Mrs. Duffey in New York, at the special request of Mrs. Roosevelt, were unsuccessful for screen production.

In a signed statement to the ATLANTA WORLD, Mrs. Duffey declared that she never wanted the part anyway.

FRANCES LEDERER TELLS RACE FILM PROSPECTS TO STUDIO SCRIBE

ENTERTAINS KENNY ON SET

By: Fay M. Jackson

It is an old Hollywood custom for the star of a picture to give one big party and very nice presents at the completion of the picture to all of the players and most of the technicians who worked with him.

Last week, it was Frances Lederer's turn at party and gift giving, for he finished "The Lone Wolf" at Columbia studios. His special guests were Kenneth Washington, gridiron hero of the season, and the writer.

From the looks of things and the scurrying about over the set erected for final takes on the picture, finishing a film has more work and worry than the start of it entails. While the handsome, genial Czechoslavakian artist assumed the role of host, he was frequently yanked and dragged out time and again for "stills" with beautiful Frances Drake, his leading lady. Adding our share to his troubles, we requested the pictures shown here with Kenny illustrating that sure-fire grip he takes on UCLA's leather pill.

Finally pinning Lederer down for an interview on his famed "Peace" ideas, we went into a huddle on a couple of reinforced (for my special benefit) boxes and Frances' great dark eyes brightened at the first mention of his particular solution of a warmad world's worries.

MAN OF ACTION

"It has been said many times, over and over again, that I am a dreamer because I proposed a way to establish world peace. But I am no dreamer . . . ", the actor began.

And at that point, under the anaesthesia of Lederer's gaze, we doubted perhaps, as any other woman might have doubted, that eyes could be so soft and yet not dream.

But to get on with the story.

"I am a man of action," he continued.

"As for the peace plan and the situation in the world today as it is, that plan would not be possible. But my interest is just as great in the cause of peace as it ever was. I have sense enough to realize, however, that nothing could be achieved while so many of the world powers are mad for war."

Mr. Lederer's opinion of the work of Negro players in films was asked.

NEGRO PLAYERS THRILL HIM

"Colored performers!" He blew a kiss from the tips of his fingers, lifted his eyes in salute.

"They are so absolutely much more imbued with talent and personaity than any other race," he exclaimed. "I first saw Negroes in pictures in Berlin when 'Hallelujah' played and for days I was thrilled.

"If there were more colored stars," Lederer enthused, "I'm sure the American people would be interested in seeing them.

"But, I do not think the best has been done for colored people in the matter of feature-length stories.

"Only Negro writers can do subjects pertaining to real Negro life. That is true of any other people. Only a man of the people can write really authentically about his people because he actually knows their background, their real character and their struggles and aspirations.

"As little as I know about colored people, I can see that the race offers limitless material for screen stories. And these need not be confined to that cotton field subject one sees so often."

HIS VALET

At this point, called out for another "still', the star excused himself with a low bow and a kiss on the lady's hand.

The man who keeps Lederer immaculate for screening is a handsome, mild mannered young colored lad, J. D. Crawford, his valet-companion.

And since much of the "inside stuff" about Hollywood is garnered from those who are closest to the film favorites, I picked on Crawford for the "low-down" on Lederer.

"For many years, since I was a child," he began, "I have wanted to learn something about motion pictures. With Mr. Lederer I am trying to learn the art of make-up because there will come a day when Negro make-up men will be received.

"Mr. Lederer is giving me a great chance and much encouragement, allowing me to experiment on him. He has said that he wanted to adopt me and see that my education is completed properly, at the same time allowing me to go on working for him.

"He is a very kindly man, never given to the temperamental outbursts of some actor folk," J. D. explained. "Every day of the five years we have been together have been most profitable for me. His interest in Negro people is insatiable, so I have subscribed to many of our newspapers and we never miss an issue of the national magazines telling of our race achievements."

Muse on Negro Hour Tonight

Clarence Muse, movie actor and columnist of the EAGLE, will appear this week as a special guest artist on the Negro Hour tonight over station KEHE from 9:00 to 10:00 p. m. Mr. Muse has just returned from a tour of eastern cities.

Harlem Fetes Duke for 10 Years at Cotton Club

Beginning his tenth year at the New York Cotton Club, Duke Ellington and his orchestra, received felicitations from many professionals in his field this week.

Rudy Valee, Leo Reisman, Cab Calloway, Glen Grat and other celebrities were present to congratulate the Duke.

The Cotton Club, writes Esquire of the show this week has another revue almost as elaborate as their first. The program is not as long, which is a good thing, and it suffers from the absence of Bill Robinson and Cab Calloway. But in their place are Ethel Waters and Duke Ellington and his band. The Rhumba dancers, late of Cafe Yumuri, are about the best on the continent. The costumes are a bit on the dissonant side but the ecru and fawn nuances of the lassies are perfect.

It is worth the trip to hear Ethel Waters sing her advice to her Nordic sisters.

Musician, 'Fired', Slain by Leader

SAGINAW, Mich.—Edward Browning, 22-year-old musician, was killed in a fight with Eddie Chambers, orchestra leader outside the Sunshine Gardens here New Year's night. Browning had been expelled from the tavern earlier in the evening when he had attacked Chambers.

During a scuffle which ensued, Chambers drew a gun and fired several times, one of the bullets striking Browning in the chest. He died a few hours later in St. Mary's hospital. Chambers was charged with manslaughter.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE IN "HEIDI" AT TIVOLI

A Shirley Temple more glorious than anyone has ever known and a beloved story that has enthralled millions the world over arrives Sunday on the screen

At the Tivoli Theatre in the never-to-be-forgotten picture "Heidi", Johanna Spyri's enchanting tale brought to such laughing, loving life by Twentieth Century-Fox that it touches the deepest corners of the heart.

Everywhere readers in all languages have been charmed by the warmth, tenderness and beauty of the Swiss Alps and all the colorful folk dwelling up just under the stars, into whose lives "Heidi" brings tenderness and mirth and courage. An embittered mountain-top exile is reclaimed from his fierce hate of the world by the heroine, who brings him a new zest for life, and a young girl is given strength and the will to walk again in the story that has thrilled readers of every country.

"Heidi", one of the world's famous stories, had to wait for its star before it could be brought to the screen, declares Darryl F. Zanuck, and the reason is evident. Shirley was cast in the title role in response to the thousands of movie fans who besieged the studio with requests that she play the part.

The result is a picture for which she will be remembered always. Ideally cast and gloriously portrayed, the screen play by Walter Ferris and Julien Josephson is an achievement in transcribing a familiar and beloved story to the screen.

Heading the cast is Jean Hersholt, famous veteran actor who gives his greatest characterization as the grandfather of "Heidi".

FILM SOCIETY IS LAUNCHED TO AID PROTECTION OF RACE DIGNITY IN SCREEN PORTRAYALS

By J. Cullen Fentress

Filling a long-felt need in the promotion of international understanding through motion pictures and presaging a direct and definite effort to raise the status of colored people in films is the announcement of the formation of a Sinema League of Colored Peoples, initiated this week by Fay M. Jackson, studio correspondent and theatrical editor of The EAGLE.

Started in the center of film activities, the Hollywood league will invite and encourage membership of Negroes from other world centers, it was stated.

Selected to serve in the official family of the local branch are Earl Dancer, whom Miss Jackson credits with the actual formation of the idea; Attorney T. L. Griffith, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Paul R. Williams, architect; John Gray, graduate in Pedagogy from the Ecole Normal, Paris, France, and an authority on music of colored people; Rev. S. M. Beane, of the Ministerial Alliance, Mrs. C. A. Bass, editor, and Miss Jackson.

INFERIOR CASTING

"For so many years we have listened to expressions from the white and black people who desire to see the Negro in better screen roles that we have decided to do something about it," Miss Jackson stated.

"In many cases coming under my observation as a studio correspondent, I have discovered that Negroes are cast in an inferior light not from any malicious design on the part of producers but simply because they do not have the direct cooperation of intelligent colored people. We recall, with disgust, an instance in which a vital question of race history was settled by a production manager in consultation with the studio bootblack.

CLEARING HOUSE

"One of the main objectives of this league will be to serve as a clearing house for the helpful exchange of ideas and facts pertaining to Negro people offered in solution of the problems presented by the motion pictures in which they are cast" she said.

"On the various censorship boards one finds every race, religious, political and social factor of human relations represented but the Negro. Yet, there is as much to defend, we feel, in racial self respect and in the colored man's contributons to civilization and to the progress of films as in any other phase of organized groups working with the industry.

FOREIGN CHAPTERS

A technical advisory board will be chosen from among Negro authorities on various subjects of Negro life, the journalist said. Enlistment of foreign representatives in Paris, London, the Gold Coast, West Africa; Trinidad, West Indies; British Guiana and Honolulu has already been initiated, the Los Angeles Committee reported.

'Androcles' Moves to Belasco

With several weeks of packed houses at the Hollywood Playhouse to their credit, the Negro unit of Federal Theatres Project, currently cast in G. Bernard Shaw's comedy farce, "Androcles and the Lion", opens at the Belasco tonight.

The production is prefaced by a concert prelude with 50 voices directed by Carlyle Scott.

JONES EXCELLS

In the prologue of Shaw's noted comedy, presented for the first time locally with an all colored cast, Androcles is played by Thaddeus Jones who tops all previous roles under Federal supervision as the timid, henpecked spouse, played by Cleo Desmond.

Cast in the play by special request, Mae Turner as the lovely Lavinia, fails to live up to her standard performance given in "MacBeth" and is too often "clowning" and adlibbing to fellow thespians for a convincing characterization.

Jess Lee Brooks as "Ferrovius" turns in a creditable performance as the balmy Christian. Brooks is gradually getting away from the "Black Empire" character that has hung onto remaining performances and shows decided progress under Federal supervision.

UNDERRATED

Outstanding also is Vernon McCalla, and we have wondered through the series of plays produced by this group why his splendid talents are not more fully exploited. McCalla never fails a finished performance. In "Androcles" he is entirely different from any previous role essayed, as the cynical Roman.

Settings in the Federal play are colorful and in the mood of the comedy costuming is adequate.

Orchestration of music written by Edna Heard could stand vast improvement.

J. Rosamond Johnson Here for Musical

Having written many popular songs and known for his work as a collector and arranger of

J. ROSAMOND JOHNSON

Negro spirituals, J. Rosamond Johnson arrived here Monday to begin rehearsal for "Porgy and Bess" in which he essays the role of the "preacher".

GREAT FAMILY

Rosamond Johnson belongs to one of the most outstanding Negro families in this country. His brother, James Weldon Johnson, was for many years a national director of the NAACP after he had seen diplomatic service in Liberia.

Other members of the cast of "Porgy and Bess" arrive this week. Included in the New York group are Todd Duncan, Anne Brown and the Eva Jessye choir. The play will be presented at Philharmonic auditorium, February 4-12.

Clyde Barrie Guest Soloist Sunday

Clyde Barrie, whose rich baritone voice is frequently heard on Columbia's "Heinz Magazine of the Air", will make a return guest appearance as soloist on the Sunday edition, January 23rd from 5:00 to 5:30 p. m. EST. Barrie will sing Tschaikowsky's "None But a Lonely Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Dett Musical Folio Off Press

CHICAGO—A new folio of compositions by Nathaniel Dett, distinguished composer, is due off the press this week, it was announced by Clayton F. Summy company, music publishers.

The new group is being issued under the title "Tropic Winter". Individual compositions are "The Daybreak Charioteer", "A Bayou Garden", "Pompons and Fans", "Legend of the Atoll", "To a Closed Casement", "Noon Siesta", and "Parade of the Jasmine Banners." These are announced as being in quite a different idiom from Mr. Dett's "In the Bottoms" and "Magnolia Suite", published around 1913.

"STAND-IN" TO OPEN SUNDAY AT LINCOLN

When Walter Wanger decided to film "Stand-in", Clarence Budington Kelland's hilarious Saturday Evening Post story which kids Hollywood to the hilt, he decided that the ultra-modern United Artists plant wasn't fictionally Hollywoodish enough to double for the fabulous "Colossal Studios" where much of the action of the comedy, currently co-starring Leslie Howard and Joan Blondell at the Lincoln Theatre, starting Sunday.

So as major job of lily-gilding was in order. It began at the entrance. In place of a plain iron gate, Art Director Alexander Toluboff had to forget his good taste and design a two-story, ginger-breadish affair more appropriate for a Palace of Versailles. The name "United Artists" was supplanted by "Colossal Studios" done in six-foot-high gold and silver grill-work letters.

Inside the big movie lot, the usually well-ordered life became chaotic. Electricians stumbled over each other stretching cables. Lights, camera cranes, microphone booms, sound recording trucks and other paraphernalia cluttered up the streets. "Types" —bathing beauties, silk-hatted cosmopolites, jungle savages, gangsters, precocious juveniles— dashed from set to set. Everybody shouted studio lingo at everybody else. Directors raved. Actors became temperamental. Technicians blew up. Disgruntled employes brawled.

All the familiar fictional Hollywood characters parade across the screen in "Stand-In" There's the genius producer, played by Humphrey Bogart; the fabulous foreign director, played by Alan Mowbray; the great glamour star, played by Maria Shelton, the villainous rival producer, in the person of C. Henry Gordon, and the sharp shooting press agent, played by Jack Carson. Leslie Howard is cast as a timid banker who takes over a $10,000,000 studio and tries to run it by the science of mathematics, and Joan Blondell, his co-star, plays the stand-in of the title.

Fredi and Bill Continue Pals in Next Film

What appears to be the latest Hollywood "pair", Fredi Washington and Bill Robinson are reported coupled for the next film vehicle in which the tap dancer will be cast by Fox Studios.

FREDI WASHINGTON

NAKA-SAKI

Bojangles cracked his head in a fall last week while he was out for a breath of wintry air in front of the Cotton Club in New York, but is reported completely out of danger and making plans for an early return to the Coast.

The popular duo were seen last together in "One Mile From Heaven" a Fox film and may complement the combination of Astaire-Rogers in their new opus, yet untitled.

'A Modern Riding Hood' in Kiddies' Broadcast

"A Modern Red Riding Hood" opens "The Monitor Children's Program" next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock over KNX. The Red Riding Hood of this story is none other than Hoppity-Pops, the little girl who has been featured several times in this entertaining series of broadcasts for children.

Stunt Men's Big Year in Prospect

Stunt men, after several lean years, are coming into their own again in Hollywood.

No single group stands to benefit more fully from the current trend towards big action and spectacle pictures, it was pointed out today by studio casting heads, than do these specialists who stand ready to run almost any risk asked of them.

Such productions as Frank Lloyd's "Wells Fargo" and Cecil B. DeMille's "The Buccaneer" at Paramount not only have provided jobs for dozens of daredevils, but have pointed the way towards filming of further exciting pictures such as "Marching Herds" and "Men With Wings".

Improved Microphone, Cinemusic Are Advances

An improved microphone, so sensitive that it picks up equalized sound on any part of the motion picture set, is regarded as the outstanding technical development of 1937 in Hollywood, it was disclosed today.

Heretofore the "mike" had to follow the actor when speaking lines in order to get perfectly smooth recording. One instrument now does the work of many.

An improved camera was developed for Cecil B. DeMille's "The Buccaneer", in order to shoot the Louisiana Bayou water scenes. It was so constructed that it permitted the chassis of the boom to be sunk in water, while the camera, poised on a long arm, shot closeups as well as long shots.

A new method was applied to the recording of music. Introduced by Boros Morros, music director at Paramount, it is called "cinemusic". Morros explains that it is not merely a succession of melodies recorded on a sound track, but an entirely new form of music especially written for a production and so composed that it includes the multiplicity of sound effects in its rhythm. It was first used in Frank Lloyd's "Wells Fargo" and the result was so satisfactory that the new scoring system has been adopted permanently at Paramount.

ALLEN GETS HAIRCUT

Fred Allen, radio comic, has received his first motion picture haircut—and it took him three days to get it.

"It was the easiest work I've ever done," drawled the famed comedian on the "Sally, Irene and Mary" musical comedy set at 20th Century-Fox.

NEW TRAILER GIVEN

Believed by Jane Withers to be the nicest present any little girl received this Christmas, a beautiful streamlined trailer was a gift from Sol M. Wurtzel, executive producer in charge of all the Jane Withers pictures for 20th Century-Fox.

Willie Bryant Great Box Office in Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20—Willie Bryant, the "Clown Prince of Joy", and one of Harlem's Favorite Sons, was credited with the greatest bx-office record ever attained here at the Nixon Grand theatre last week.

Headlining a revue which featured that ace comedian Pigmeat Markham and his colleagues, Jimmie Basquette and Crackshot Hackley along with Rubberlegs Williams, Madeline Bet, the Two Zephyrs, the Six Ubangi boys and several others, Bryant, who is very popular in Philadelphia, started an early exodus to the doors of the theatre which was presenting its final revue that week. Each day of the show was a record-breaking one, reaching its greatest height on Saturday when 11,000 and some cash customers filed through the doors of the Nixon Grand.

In tabulating the total paid admissions for the week, the management announced that 65,939 bestirred themselves to see Willie Bryant and a revue billed as the original Cotton Club Show.

Sissle Booked By Rockwell

Noble Sissle and his internationally famous orchestra are now signed to the office of Rockwell-O'Keefe, it was learned this week.

According to a release from the new managers, the band will be available after January 28th through March 10. Sissle's new bookers are in the RKO building, Rockefeller Center, New York.

L. A. Musicians Elect Officers

Installation of the new officers of the Los Angeles Musicians association, headed by John A. Gray, will be held Sunday, at 4 o'clock, in the Gray Musart conservatory, 4068 Central avenue, with Mrs. Sadie Cole conducting the ceremonies.

Plans for the new year will be outlined and reports of activities of the last year will be given. Refreshments and a social meeting folowing the installation will be open to the public.

Hunter Sails for London

Long before she was expected to leave Harlem, Alberta Hunter, international song stylist,

ALBERTA HUNTER

"got that old feeling" for London and sailed Sunday evening, it was learned here today.

Signed to appear every Friday night on station WEAF almost as soon as she docked in New York several months ago, Miss Hunter has sung her way into the hearts of American radio listeners thruout the East.

Scheduled to sail for Europe early last month, Miss Hunter was forced to cancel the trip for a re-newed option taken on her services by NBC.

Radio executives in New York had planned to send Miss Hunter to Hollywood for a western hookup but she changed her mind and chose the music halls of London where she is an established favorite in preference to the film capital.

Zorrita and Crouch Win at Olympic

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Two slam-bang 10-round main events and three quick knockouts in the preliminaries featured one of the liveliest cards in weeks at the Olympic auditorium Tuesday night.

Leon Zorrita, fast as greased lightning, displayed too much all-around "goodness" for Carlos Miranda, tough Mexican welter. The only thing that kept Miranda going for the ten rounds was that same toughness. It was Zorrita's third straight win at the Olympic and his technique was little short of perfect. He battled his unorthodox foe to a standstill in all stages of the game.

The most sensational of the 10-rounders was the one which featured classy Georgie Crouch, sepia lightweight, and Al George. Crouch had the crowd in an uproar on several occasions as he showed a neat exhibition of the manly art. In the seventh round Referee Steve Nyland stopped the bout momentarily so that the house medico could examine an eye cut suffered by George. As the fighter was okayed the two went at it again, hammer and tongs. It was Crouch all the way with George coming in for his share of the crowd's admiration for his gameness and courage in the face of stiff opposition.

Crouch and Zorrita certainly won themselves a new batch of supporters to their already fast-growing number.

HART BEST IN PRELIMS

Although he was pushed by lanky Henry Mobley, Tommy Hart, Santa Barbara collegian, a good-looking fighter, was adjudged the best of the preliminary boys. He knocked out Jimmy Brent with a left hook and right cross in the first round of a scheduled six-rounder.

Henry Mobley, a l-o-n-g l-a-n-k-y colored lightheavy-weight who won the national title in the recent Golden Gloves tournament in Boston, turned on the heat and stopped Idaho Stevens in the third round of their bout. It was Mobley's first professional fight. If he keeps that up he should be in a fair way to win the $1,000 purse offered by George Raft, movie star, and Joe Waterman, matchmaker, to the amateur turned professional who hangs up the best record during the year.

Ghost Roberts and Yancey Henry staged a wild and wooly brawl for a minute or two in the first round and then the Ghost caught several blows and went down three times before he was taken to his corner a TKO victim.

RAILROAD CLATTER...

UPTON SAYS—

By Charles L. Upton

Every Porter A Reporter

In the long run, most of us are helped more by "bad" times than by good, because we learn more then.

Articles published in the Railroad Clatter are the opinion of hood of Sleeping Car Porters, of the California Eagle.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of January: Miss Zula Mae Bruce, Willis Durham, congratulations.

BROTHERHOOD TO CHECK PINK TIME SLIPS

All members of the Los Angeles Division of The Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters are hereby requested to bring into the Brotherhood office all pink sheets from October to date under the new contract as soon as possible. This request is to your own advantage and the sooner you bring your time slips in the quicker you will be able to get a correct analysis.

A. PHILIP RANDOLPH CALLS NAT'L CONFAB OF TRAIN PORTERS, CHAIR CAR PORTERS

A. Philip Randolph, International President of The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters has sent out a nation wide call for a national conference of train porters and chair car porters to be held in the Brotherhood's Headquarters, 4231 Michigan avenue, Chicago, on Jan. 27 and 28. The Brotherhood plans to take this clas sof workers under its jurisdiction. They, of course, will have a different agreement under which to work.

CALL FOR NAT'L CONFAB FOR TRAIN PORTERS, REASON FOR CONFERENCE

The inability of the train porters to adjust grievances and pay claims satisfactorily, and to secure general protection and security on the job constitute the basic reasons for calling of this conference.

Objects

1. To unify all of the train porters whether members of an existing organization of train porters or individual train porters with no affiliation with any organization of train porters, into one international railroad trade union.

2. To put at the disposal of the train porters and chair car porters a national railroad trade union whose form of organization conforms to the provisions of the Railway Labor Act as amended June 30, 1934, so as to provide for the train porters and chair car porters a legitimate status before the National Mediation Board and the National Railroad Adjustment Board, the supreme court of grievances for railroad employes.

3. To provide a national railroad labor organization to enable train porters to have protection in the exercise of their seniority.

4. To provide the organizational machinery, to protect the train porters and chair car porters from becoming victimized by the enactment of legislation which is against the interest of this class of labor.

5. To provide a national railroad labor organization which can secure for train porters and chair car porters the full benefits of the Railroad Retirement Act and which can give the train porters and chair car porters correct informatio with respect to its administration.

Wages and Hours for Train Porters

Where train porters enjoy the same wage scale and schedule of hours and mileage regulation of the white trainmen, there will be no proposals to change this situation since it is in the interest of Negro train porters to fight for the same wage scales, hours and conditions of work that are possessed by the white trainmen.

In cases where train porters don't enjoy the same wage scale, hours of work and conditions of work, proposals and plans will be developed at this conference for the purpose of securing for the train porters the same wage, hourage, and conditions of work that are possessed by the white trainmen.

The problems of chair car porters who perform a different class of work from train porters will be analyzed and handled in the manner calculated to achieve for this group of workers substantial wage improvement as well as improvement in hours and working conditions.

Train porters work and wages will not be regulated by the rules of the agreement for Sleeping Car Porters. The problems of the train porters will be solved and worked out in relation to the respective carriers by which they are employed.

Problems of Discussion

1. The significance to the train porters of the full crew bill and the train limitation bill.

2. A determination of the attitude of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to the train porters and the whole problem of layoffs and furloughs.

1st Skirmish Won On Lynch Bill

Motion By Connally of Texas to Adjourn, Thus Kill Bill, is Defeated

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.—The first skirmish in the Senate over the anti-lynching bill was won the opening day of debate, January 7, when supporters of the legislation defeated, by a vote of 52-18, a motion by Senator Tom Connally of Texas, to adjourn the Senate.

The motion to adjourn, if it had been carried, would have automatically displaced the anti-lynching bill. The senate customarily recesses but does not adjourn. If it adjourns, it ends a legislative day and when it convenes the next day, it can take up new business.

The vote of 52-18 is generally regarded as revealing the relative strength of both sides. It is not considered likely that the opponents of the bill can muster more than 25 or 28 votes against it, allowing for absentees yesterday. On the other hand, supporters of the bill probably will be able to get at least 60 votes for it, allowing for absentees and pairings.

FROM "LIFE"

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your cordial letter about LIFE's pictures of the Idle Wild Negro Ball in Dallas—and for sending us a copy of The Caifornia Eagle, which we read with a great deal of interest and appreciation.

LIFE is committed to reporting the world as it is, and particularly those events which are typical of America. The Idle Wild Ball gave us the welcome opportunity of showing an interesting aspect of Negro society in this country. You have probably seen the letters we published in the December 27th issue on our report. Since then, many more have come in, including a number from the South, which are convincing evidence that Mr. Lansing and Mr. Dacourey did not represent the majority view.

We very much appreciate having your reaction to our presentation of these pictures.

Sincerely yours,
ANNA GOLDSBOROUGH

BRIDGE POINTS

By M. L. MILLIGAN

Bridge High Lights of 1937

The old year has passed on and with it one of our truly congenial and scientific players, Mrs. Jimmie Lawson, the wife of one of the city's best players; to the husband and other relatives we extend our humble sympathies.

The first contract bridge tournament in the state was successfully sponsored by the famous Contract Bridge club, of which Mr. Ellis Veil is president.

The Asking and Two-Way three bids has been relegated to a minor position in the Culbertson system, because it failed to click with the average players, however, they will continue to hold an important place with experts.

The most famous bridge team in the world has separated, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Culbertson.

Mr. Jimmie Lawson and Ellis Veil remain the masters of L. A. Favorable mention should be accorded a few others of whom I will write next week.

Because of her tireless efforts in promoting scientific bridge we select Miss Charlotte Strange as the L. A. Queen of Bridge and Mrs. Shirley Mack, because of her progress in the past year as contender for the '38 crown--go to it, you masteresses.

Ye olde scribe M. L. Milligan successfully passed the Culbertson Teachers examination and by so doing became the first of "color in the state to become eligible as a certified instructor.

And by the way I wonder if Stapler and his partner has been able to eat any of the turkey they won from Welcome Watson and partner, I wonder?

"USE WHAT YOU HAVE"

This weekly radio hour devoted to Negro talent sponsored by the Central Board of Trade should do much to bring attention to untried talent, which seems to be so much in abundance here.

We witnessed the performance last week at Hearst's KEHE station and were impressed with the smoothness and calibre of the program. Although it was just the second broadcast of this newest of sepia programs it was handled remarkably well.

As the program outgrows its infancy we may well expect a broadcast which will compare favorably with better known airings which emanate from Los Angeles.

It is our observation that in light of the often expressed desire for a broadcast which would give us a "break" that now that we have it we should take full advantage of this opportunity, get out of it all that is in it. The fact that it is the only program in town that uses nothing but Negro talent is a novelty in itself and it is bound to unearth talent that may go on to greater heights in radio.

Walter Lawson, who fathered the hour and who is emcee and secretary of the board, deserves the support of all those who are aware of the possibilities of such a program. It has great potentialities as a contributor of something real and uncolored to the cultural life of the state. We hope that it escapes the fate of other similar endeavors which have died only because of the lack of any display of interest from those who would be benefitted most.

Generally recognized as one of the greatest trumpet players in the world, Louis Armstrong brought his aggregation of sterling musicians to the Elks' ballroom last week. Playing to a packed auditorium of some 1500 persons, Louis proceeded to show the assemblage why he so richly deserves the title of the world's No. 1 trumpeter.

We know in a small way, what it takes to reach and sustain those high notes that Louis specializes in, having played a little ourselves while in school. And believe us, when we say that it is no easy matter to do what the Great Louis does with that instrument.

And no less a hit, is his inimitable style of singing. And although it may lack the attributes necessary to get him a job in the Metropolitan opera, it never fails to please dance lovers. His playing and singing style are similar. He knows how to sell both with a showmanship that is superb. And now, that he is a veteran and growing no younger in the game, he has surrounded himself with a group of capable musicians and even another trumpet star, so that he can gain more rest between his capers. A grand guy, here's hoping Louis will attract another sponsor who will return him to the national air-lanes.

Ever so often, a sermon is so good that it becomes imbedded in one's mind and actually becomes stationed there. For instance, last Sunday, we heard a sermon titled "Use What You Have" which was so clear and to the point that we doubt if there was one in the house who didn't get its full import.

It seems to us that when a preacher takes a subject that ties in with every-day doings as this subject did it becomes a forceful and living message, one that doesn't slip away so quickly.

"Use What You Have" was a preachment as the title suggests. The fact that a larger number than usual heard it at that time in the month, is further evidence of what this type of sermon can do to attract Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen.

Say you saw it in the Eagle.

CHARLES D. MURRAY

C. D. Murray Elected 'Chi' NAACP Head

CHICAGO, Jan. 20—Charles D. Murray, head of the Murray Superior Products Co., nationally known cosmetic concern, was recently elected president of the Chicago Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. For the past year Mr. Murray has headed the Special Financial Committee of the Branch and has been instrumental in building up a group of public spirited citizens who have given sufficient financial support to the Branch to assure the maintenance of a Branch Office, one of the few in the country. In addition, Mr. Murray has taken an active interest in a number of Civil Rights cases, and successfully followed them through the courts as the Branch's representative.

In the past five years, the Chicago Branch has successfully handled over 8000 cases involving civil rights in Chicago and appealed a number to the Supreme Court of Illinois as well as the Appealate Court of the U. S. Plans of the Branch for 1938 include a monthly Forum, an educational campaign to acquaint the people of their rights under the laws of Ilinois and vigorous use of the criminal provisions of the Civil Rights statutes.

Stranded Prisoner Keeps Faith with Gov. Graves

They're still chuckling over this one down in Alabama where the annual paradox of prisoners trekng BACK TO JAIL furnishes the incredulous with one up on Ripley.

With January 2 set as the deadline for their return to Alabama prisons, 550 "most worthy" prisoners paroled for the Christmas holdays by Governor Bibbs Graves engaged n a last minute rush to report back to their wardens and "keep the faith".

One prisoner was stranded in Birmingham and when the deadline hour had struck, had not showed up. But came a long distance telephone call from Birmingham and the voice of the prodigal . . . "I am on my way".

The percentage of prisoners who break ther word and fail to return is small. In 10 years, only seven percent have remained away.

Wealth Comes to Ex-Slave, Age 88

All things comes to him who waits . . . and works. And so to one of the legion of namesakes of the Father of Our Country, an 88 year old formr slave, George Washington Walker, last week came wealth.

After living for many years on the fruits of labor in the Kansas wheat fields, Walker and his wife, Katie, will reap riches from those wheat fields in the form of oil.

From slavery in Mississppi to owner of 1150 acres of wheat lands, from earthen floor dug-out to a modern residence of 11 large rooms, and from the last to riches from a well, brought in last week will make Walker wealthier than hs formr master.

The well, giving promise of being one of the richest in the area, was brought in by the Stanolind Oil company.

Mrs. Roosevelt Tips Porters 25 Cents

And should you be interested in how much Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt tips the various porters who carry her baggage on her innumerable trips across the country, the answer is twenty-fve cents.

A most reliable authority, Peter J. Washington, answers the question for you. Mr. Washington is a Philadelphia red cap and has gained the title of "Mrs. Roosevelt's favorite porter."

He doesn't know how he got that honor but he does know that every time the First Lady comes to Philadelphia, he carries her bags . . . and the tips an unfailing quarter.

10 Nations Recognize 'Conquest' of Ethiopia

From Rome, Italy last week it was reported by the Diplomatic Information bureau that ten nations had given formal recognition to Italy's conquest of Ethiopia and that six additional nations have addressed credentials to King Victor Emanuel as "King and Emperor of Ethiopia".

Nations addressing credentials to the king and emperor were Chile, Panama, Guatemala, Ecuador, Ireland, and Nicaragua. THose listed as giving legal recognition were Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Spain, Japan, Albania, Yeman and Manchukuo.

Theft Accusation Costs Woolworth's $1,011

The next time managers of Kansas City's Woolworth store accuse a customer of shop-lifting, they'll make sure of the act. Last week in a Kansas City circuit court, Booker T. McDonald, 17-year-old son of the Rev. D. L. McDonald, presiding elder of the Kansas City-Springfield district, was awarded $1,011 against the Woolworth corporation for slander.

The case grew out of an incident in the Woolworth store when the manager of the store, accused the boy of stealing an electric light bulb. The bulb, the manager saw McDonald put in his pocket, was proved to be one he had brought along as a guide to buying the correct kind.

Bishop and Mrs. Gregg Off to Bermuda

And to Bermuda to attend the Bermuda conference of AME churches this week went Bishop and Mrs. J. A. Gregg of Kansas City. The Bishop and his wife, in company with other AME leaders sailed for the island aboard the "Monarch of Bermuda."

Join Two Children in "Siamese" Operation

This week in Washington, D. C.'s Emergency Hospital doctors were declared successful thus far in the strange operation that joined Siamese fashion two Negro youngsters.

Heroic self sacrifice was manifested on January 8 when 16-year-old John Melvin Bonner allowed science to join his flesh to that of his 13 year old cousin, Clara Howard, in an effort to graft skin from his body to cover her burned flesh.

The girl was burned a year ago. After recovery, her body was a mass of scar tissue, so extensive that her right arm was joined to her body. Surgeons were able to replace a portion of the seared skin in grafting operations, but the major transfer of skin required linking the girl with another, to permit the blood stream to nourish the flesh.

Under only a local anesthetic the two children watched the opwas severed from his body. An incision was made in the little girl's elbow. The flesh tube was inserted and their blood streams intermingled.

Swathed in bandages and adhesive tape, the children will be confined in bed all this week. Then they will be allowed to leave their beds, but will be joined for at least a month more by the tube of flesh.

Associate Aviation, Costume Designing, Home Engineering with Adult 'Ed' Here

Aviation, Costume Designing, Home Engineering are names associated with Adult Education in Los Angeles. For it has been the Adult Education Program under the Emergency Education set-up that has given these names a meaning in the daily lives of hundreds heretofore denied opportunities to learn the mechánics of aviation, the art of costume designing, and improved methods in Home Engineering.

Emphasis on Adult Education is in accordance with the legitimate demand that greater attention be given the problem of maintaining the morale of millions who suddenly found themselves in a depression, without employment, and with a great deal of leisure time; and accordingly a broad program for learning anew, improving old skills, and acquiring new interests and skills was launched four years ago. The program was national in its scope, and Los Angeles was fortunate in having men and women in the teaching profession whose broad experience enabled them to put the program over.

W. A. EASTER

Outstanding have been the work of W. A. Easter and others who started with the program when home-to-home contacts were necessary to interest a sufficient number to hold classes; when many in the community regarded the program with suspicion; when school authorities doubted acceptance by the community of both the program and the teacher.

As a State Supervisor of Adult Education in the Division of Adult and Continuation Education, Mr. Easter is at present carrying the program to other communities. And the response in other communities, like it is in Los Angeles, is excellent.

No story of Adult Education in Los Angeles would be complete without saying something about Lieutenant Wiliam J. Powell, Instructor in Aviation. His classes are unique in that his students come from far and near, and from every section of the country to take advantage of an opportunity nowhere else of record offered to Negroes in the Adult Education Program. And nowhere else will teachers be found who are more able by temperament to teach adults.

ARTHUR W. MITCHELL

House Gets Bill to Bar 'Jimcrow' On Railroads

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (CNA)—Representative Arthur W. Mitchell, only Negro member of Congress, who introduced a bill last week to abolish "JIM Crow" cars on railway trains.

The bill would make illegal the segregation of passengers on any carrier subject to the Federal Transportation Act.

Tory Solons' Filibuster is Shameful

North Carolina Senator Speaks Full Afternoon On State Beauties

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. — Charges that passage of the Wagner-Van Nuys Anti-Lynching Bill would "destroy the South" were accompanied by threats to split the Democratic Party if the bill is passed, as Tory Senators carried their filibuster against the measure into the close of the second week.

The Southerners, supported by Senator Borah, Idaho Republican, opened a bag of tricks to block the bill. Wavy-haired Sen. Tom Connally, D., Tex., tried to obstruct consideration by injecting remarks on Peru and Turkey. Sen. Robert Reynolds, D., N. C. spoke an entire afternoon on the beauties of his home state. ---

Borah defended the South's treatment of the Negro people and raised the old cry of "States' rights". As he finished his speech, a dozen Southern Senators grouped around to congratulate him on his address.

Most of the Southern Senators bitterly assailed the present progressive leadership of the Democratic Party as traitors to the traditions of "the old Democratic Party." Senator Smith of South Carolina wondered "if my section of the country will feel the same determined loyalty towards this temporary element in our party, or at least under the name of the Democratic party, who are attempting to do this violence toward every sense of decency and fair play.

"Here we are", he continued, "subject more violently and determinedly to have this humiliation thrust upon us than ever characterized a Republican Senate and for what purpose--the same purpose that characterizes every low degree of politics, the dregs of politics, the scum and slum of politics--'get votes'."

Meantime, the Senate is being deluged with demands from all parts of the country for passage of the measure.

ATTENDS WHITE HOUSE RECEPTION

MRS. ANNIE L. SCOTT, wife of Judge Armond W. Scott, shown in the gown she wore Tuesday evening at the White House reception in honor of the judiciary. Mrs. Scott's gown is of black satin crepe with a bodice of silver lace, with rhinestone ornaments. She has on long white gloves, and the ensemble is completed with black and silver slippers and a silver evening bag. Her wrap was black velvet with white fox trimming. This was the third reception Mrs. Scott has attended at the White House. Judge Scott wore the regular conventional full dress. The guests assembled in the East Room and were later served in the dining room. Judge and Mrs. Scott were greeted and shook hands with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. (Courtesy Washington Tribune)

Wadsworth School Children Visit Postoffice; Set Up Their Own

Orderly lines of curious youngsters from the Wadsworth Street Grammar school are getting to be a familiar sight on Central Ave.

In line with their studies on the workings of a community, the youngsters are conducted to the subject under scrutiny for a personal investigation.

Last week students in Miss Helen Gallagher's class were studying the postoffice system. With special permission from the postoffice, they visited the K branch, located on Vernon avenue off Central, where they were instructed in the routine of managing a post office.

Now the youngsters have a postoffice in their classroom. Maurice Willis, Roy Buchanan, David Butler, Shafter McCoy, and Sam Madison were the carpenters.

After equipping their office with letter boxes, the children wrote to each other and sent the letters through the mail.

The complete story of the transportation of the mail from the early days up to the present was studied and written up in story form by the students. They illustrated their stories with graphic pictures of the progress made since the days of sailing boats and ox carts.

Photographs have been made of the office and of the children at work. The photographs, stories and pictures are to be bound together in a book which will be a permanent record of this unit of work and fun in learning all about Uncle Sam's network of communication.

Review Reveals Progress Of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company

olden State Insurance Co. Reaches Heights as One of Soundest in State

By Helen F. Chappell

What matters how humble the beginnings that form the setting for the ff that dreams are made of, when men of sound calibre dare to vision, dare ucceed? . . . Day itself begins with faint flecks of light that spread and con-ge and finally become the rising sun. Out of an idea born in the mind of one n and communicated to two others in 1925 has come one of the leading inesses of California and one of the soundest—Golden State Mutual Life In-ance company.

he Company was organized 925 and received its license July 23, 1935. Its first office a modest room of 12 x 14 however, in the short span two years, the volume of ness demanded a larger lling. Consequently, the of-was moved into a store room ining 1400 square feet of space, but progress led the ctors to purchase a lot and truct a building to take care he ever-increasing needs of company.

OPERTY VALUE CITED

The beautiful two-story ck and concrete building at 51 South Central avenue is ong the outstanding struc-res of the Eastside. This operty occupying a lot 50 x is valued at more than ,000 and is owned by the mpany entirely without en-mbrances or obligations; evaluation includes the uipment of the offices which cupy the entire second floor the building. The edifice is Spanish design and was plan-and built by a Negro archi-and contractor; thus follow-the policy of the establish-t in evincing its belief in the l and trustworthiness of ck Americans.

OWTH DURING PRESSION

When needless speculation ew the great financial struc-es of the nation from their rses and shook the foundation America's economic order, den State not only stood ong those institutions that nstood the onslaught, but rose ve and grew steadily. In 3, when so many busineses e depending on government sidies to rescue them from throes of failure, Golden State ed an increase in its income $34,131.60 in 1925 to $293,-During the twelve years its existence, more than $750,-has been paid to policy hold-and beneficiaries; further-re, more than 150 men and men are employed by this bui-k founded on a desire to ve the common good.

Compared with other insur-ces, the Golden State Mutual fe ranks ninth among one-ndred companies operating the state of California in lume of accident and health surance. Furthermore, it has n praised by the State In-rance examiners after thor-gh examination into its af-rs. The following comments ve been made by these ex-iners: "A careful inspection a considerable number of claims indicates that the mpany is exceptionally mpt in the payment of its ims and every consideration given to the claimants under th accident and health and policies." In lauding the ility and tireless application the officials to their work, examiners observed: "Of ials of this Company who are charge of its management operations should be com-ded for the low expense io, as compared with the sistent yearly growth, as ell as for the sound conserof E. J. Johnson who became assistant secretary in charge of audits and conservation. Mr. Johnson started with the company as an agent upon its organization in 1925. He has served creditably as superintendent of Pasadena District and of the Los Angeles Districts, also as assistant director of agencies. In his new position, he becomes a junior officer of the firm.

Mrs. Helen Beavers Hodge has been with the organization since its inception is now cashier and is in charge of accounting and office management reports; Mrs. Hodge, the first clerk, has served as stenographer, in the bookkeeping department, policy clerk, and office supervisor. Her efficient record has been praised unstintingly by state examiners and Golden State officials. Not only those who began with the company are rewarded and recognized for their work, a number have come to the forefront in rapid stride. An excellent example is that of Robert W. Smith who entered the business in 1933 as an agent in Oakland; hard work netted him superintendship of the Pasadena District, the Los Angeles District, and now he holds the very responsible place of assistant director of agencies. Mr. Smith had previous experience with Eastern companies. He, along with Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Hodge is now a junior officer of the organization.

C. D. Jolly

U. S. Griggs became identified with the Golden State in 1927; since then he has served as superintendent of San Diego, one of the Los Angeles districts and later Oakland, he is now manager of the Northern California District. C. D. Jolly now superintendent of the Pasadena District also came up from the ground floor as a hard working agent; John W. Ware promoted to the superintendency of the Oakland District began as agent in 1931 and became assistant superintendent of that district in 1937.

John W. Ware

SEPARATE OFFICE FOR L. A.; MORE PRMOTIONS

Other promotions are of especial interest to Angelenos since with them comes the announcement of the establishment of a separate Los Angeles office to be housed on the first floor of the Golden State building; heretofore, the city office has been included in the home office set up. The physical change will take place within the next sixty days.

Dee Hodge

Manager of the Los Angeles office is A. J. Williams, who began as an agent in 1932 in Oakland; he was promoted to assistant superintendent of the Oakland District; he became superintendent of one of the Los Angeles districts in 1935 and it was his district that won the contest at the end of 1937 with record breaking production. Mr. Williams is a graduate of the University of California. Superintendents in the Los Angeles office are: Dee Hodge, Grant Venerable, and M. W. Alleyne; all who are among those recently promoted. Mr. Hodge who is now superintendent of District1, began as an agent in 1931 became inspector in the district in 1935, in 1936, assistant superintendent in District 2, and is now superintendent of that district.

Grant Venerable

M. W. Alleyne

ALLEYNE RECORD BEST

According to Vice-President Beavers, M. W. Alleyne who is now superintendent of District 10 has the most outstanding record as an agent in the company having broken all previous records in 1937 with the writing of $50,000 of Ordinary polices. Mr. Alleyne won first prize in the annual football contest held by the company and became a member of The Monarchs, highest honor group of the organization. Others who won the coveted honor are John F. Curry, Stewart Stovall and Roy Spencer.

Jessie Mae Nickerson

The personnel of the city office will be completed by several office clerks with Miss Jessie Mae Nickerson as claim clerk and B. N. Hunigan as claim supervisor. Also, housed on the ground floor will be a general assembly room for use of the Los Angeles District agents. Efficiency and promotion of the best interest of policyholders as well as agents will be accentuated by the promotion of Clarence O. English to the post of Inspector of the Los Angeles District. Mr. English began as an agent in 1932 and was awarded the superintendent's post in Pasadena in 1935, his enviable record here won the local position for him.

C. O. English

Misses Theodosia Hampton and Reberta Brown will be associated with Miss Nickerson as claims clerks. All three young ladies have made splendid records during their terms of employment; Miss Brown has been in the home office seven years.

Theodosia Hampton

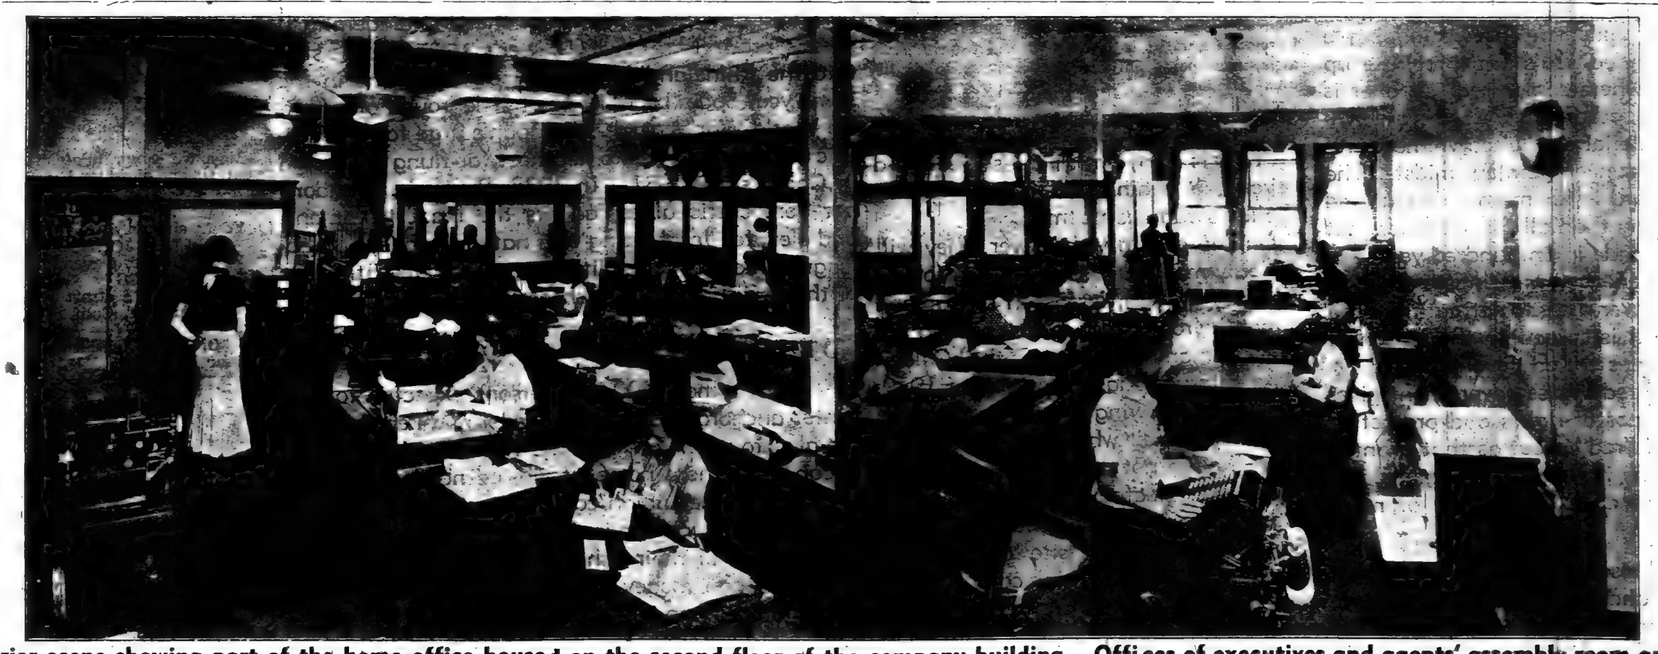
BROADCAST HERALDS NEW SERVICE

In a special radio broadcast on Sunday, January 9, over Radio station KHJ and the Don Lee Mutual Network, a new service was announced by Secretary-Treasurer Houston; this innovation is a modern Funeral Benefit Policy under which the company will procure for the deceased a complete $250 or $400 funeral service comprising preservation, casket and use of chapel, one family automobile, professional service, funeral car, musical service, and newspaper notice and telegrams, with whatever undertaker the individual concerned desires.

The broadcast both for continuity of program and artists featured has been complimented by newspapers and individuals as one of the best of the week. Artists were the Brown Sisters—Thelma, Melba and Vera—of stage, screen and radio fame and Luther King, popular tenor accompanied by his wife, Jean Houston King. The continuity of the program was written and arranged by Vice-President George A. Beavers, Jr. with the exception of the addresses of Messrs Nickerson, Houston and Williams who prepared their own.

POSSIBILITIES UNLIMITED

Looking ahead, one dares not define any area for the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance, for who can prophecy what heights its founders and executives can attain; what breadth its influence will encompass, what new ventures it will inspire, or for what great cause it will serve as a fountain of increasing strength and courage! What with those men already named and such others as S. P. Johnson, vice-president H. H. Towles, medical director; L. M. Lunden, as director to direct its destiny, who dares describe the possibilities of an institution created for the "common good"!



vative measures which they have taken to protect the policyholders."

PERSONNEL AMONG FINEST

In a very recent interview with George A. Beavers, vice-president and director of agencies, the writer asked his opinion of just what was responsible for the phenomenal growth of the business in such a time as this. "The calibre of the men!" was his instant and proud reply, "Without their ability, loyalty and labor, the company could not be a success. It has been our good fortune to have in the field men of moral worth and courage, and we want them as well as the public to know it." The truth of this statement is borne out in the records of men who have won their positions through promotion from agent to inspector; from inspectors to assistant superintendents; from assistants to superintendents, on the basis of their ability manifested by the amount of business they have brought to the Company.

PROMOTIONS RECOUNTED

At the victory dinner held on New Year's Eve in the 28th Street Branch YMCA, official announcement of promotions and changes was made by the secretary-treasurer, Norman O. Houston, in keeping with the tradition of the company. Noteworthy among them was that Interior scene showing part of the home office housed on the second floor of the company building. Offices of executives and agents' assembly room are also on this floor.

Employes of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, numbering more than 150 men and women, are shown in front of the establishment.

OUR WORKLESS WORKERS

If any conclusions whatsoever can be drawn from the great toll of noses in the Federal Unemployment Census, it must be apparent that California has been breasting the tide of unemployment remarkably well.

The findings of the special Census indicate that the total number of unemployed lies somewhere between eight and eleven millions. If the figures are correct, it means over 12 percent of the entire population is jobless.

With 258,000 unemployed persons listing themselves as wanting work, the California percentage of jobless is 4.3 percent, or almost one-third less than the national average.

Undoubtedly the actual number of jobless is higher than this. But whatever the exact size of the workless workers' army, it will scarcely disprove the fact that California finds itself among the ranks of the more favored states in employment.

This is both surprising and encouraging. California is affected by factors unknown to other States. The cry of "California, Here I Come!" has long been echoed not only by the jubilant tourist and the prosperous settler, but by a goodly share of America's disinherited as well. To these latter, the State has looked like a benevolent haven of refuge. And our old age pensions—the most liberal in America!—will doubtless continue to make it a beckoning land to people elsewhere for years to come.

Yet despite these factors, California has shown itself lower in unemployment than over half the states—good testimony, we believe, to the many-sided resources of the State. These have helped her disperse the jolt of an employment slump through many productive enterprises—even though the cry of "California, Here I Come!", voiced by jobless legions, may sometimes threaten her stride.

GOVERNMENT AIDS SPREADING OF COMMUNISM

"Red Squads" in cities, clubbing a few misguided souls and breaking up meetings where some "red" speaker is getting a load off his chest before others of his belief and kind, will never remove this cancer from our midst. The printed word is far more powerful and far-reaching than all the speeches that could be made in an hundred years.

These speech meetings, parades, etc., are clever ruses to detract from the source that is spreading the poison of hate for constituted government.

The United States government gives the same postal rights and protection to a rabid "red" sheet as that granted publications fighting for religious, scientific and civic betterment of mankind.

Filled Moscow date-lines glorifying the deeds and exploits of Russia's Communistic government, backed by strong editorials bordering on treason, a publication is sold daily on the streets of Los Angeles and hundreds of its readers receive the sheet carrying this vicious doctrine thru the mail.

Using the working man under the guise of protecting organized labor, he receives a heavy dose of medicine in the form of "red" doctrine, and eventually the worker becomes inoculated with the poison and what was once a loyal citizen becomes a violent foe of constituted government. He sees red and will aid any movement to enthrone Moscow in the land that protects, feeds, houses, clothes and educates his children without cost.

In this government wrecking scheme of education, the Negro is being fondled and petted by flattering offers of high wages and equal opportunities in mill and factory and full protection of all unions, etc.

This vicious sheet attacks everything that stands for law and order; attacks the character of law-abiding business men and women.

Thus Communism grows and prospers, aided by a Government that so far refuses to stop such literature from being circulated, especially thru the mails.

EDITOR BODDY DRIVES A NAIL IN THE COFFIN OF LYNCHING

Breaking a long silence, Hon. Manchester Boddy, editor of The Daily News, could stand it no longer, and hit a powerful blow to Dixie's defense of mob murder.

Apparently favoring the South's idea of defending lynching, the distinguished editor neither said yea nor nay on the much debated legislation now pending before Congress. But when Byrnes delivered his tirade defending mob murder, Mr. Boddy could stand it no longer.

Grabbing his editorial pen, Mr. Boddy speaks right out in meetin'. He says:

In the course of his filibuster in the Senate on Tuesday, Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina delivered some remarkable arguments against the anti-lynching bill, a measure which would make mob violence more dangerous for local officials who condone it, as well as for its perpetrators.

"There has been a steady decline in lynching for 10 years," said the senator. "Out of 130,000,000 people in this country, only eight were lynched in 1937."

Only eight human beings were butchered by bestial mobs last year! A remarkable record. According to the senator's line of reasoning, nothing should be done to hamper such modest savagery.

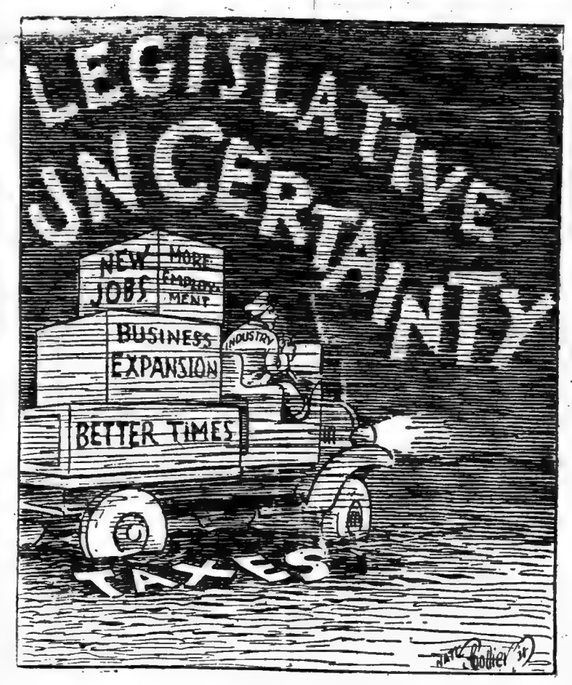
Senator Byrnes accused advocates of the bill of wanting to destroy the power of the states. States' rights to lynch should not be abrogated, according to this reasoning.

North is North and South is South, and apparently the twain shall never meet—at least on the issue of lynching. Needless to say, opinion in the West sides with the North on this question. And there are many Southerners who don't believe eight persons should be tossed to human wolves every year, and who favor legislation to prevent it.

Senator Byrnes is driven to such silly statements because tradition decrees that he stand on the wrong side of the fence in an argument that has to do with human decency and civil authority. The anti-lynching bill may have weaknesses, although it is right in principle. But the senator's arguments point only to the weaknesses of his own position.

EAST MEETS WEST!

"East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet," asserts Kipling's famous poem.



On the contrary, however, they will not only meet but start battling for supremacy as well, less than a year and a month from today. That's when the West's mammoth show, the Golden Gate International Exposition of 1939, gets off to a flying start over the New York World Fair which also opens next year, though not as soon as ours.

But the spectacular sights and doings on man-made Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay, site of the Fair, won't be the only drawing card. That's where we believe California has a definite edge on New York. Visitors to the Golden Gate International Exposition will be tempted by California's innumerable scenic and historic charms as well!

Already the drive to sell California—from Calexico to Crescent City—to four million visitors is getting up steam as final plans for the Big Event are whipped into shape. Most recent highlight in the January diary of the Fair's progress is a handsome quarter of a million dollar contribution from California railroads.

That appears to be assurance that one of California's most stirring sagas will be depicted—the story of how wild, unsettled mountain country and the simmering expanses of desert terrain were conquered and knit together by the first pint-sized engines, opening the West to a continent.

LIFT THE FOG!

THE WORLD THIS WEEK!

A JUSTICE RETIRES

When Associate Supreme Court Justice Sutherland steps down from his seat on the highest court in the land next week, a third chapter within a year will be added to Supreme Court history. The historic struggle between President and Congress over reorganization of the Federal judiciary comprised the sizzling first chapter. Scarcely less dramatic was the second which brought a tumultuous, but temporary, storm over the head of Justice Black because of his former Klan membership. And now the retirement of 75-year old Justice Sutherland offers President Roosevelt another opportunity to place the man of his choice on the Supreme Court. Though balked in his aim to place new men on the court, time and tide appear to be giving the President the privilege which Congress declined to do.

BIRTHDAY — WITHOUT CAKE

No cheers rose upward to Europe's war-darkened skies at Geneva this week, even though the League of Nations reached its 18th anniversary on January 10. The League has been battered by too many stormy seas since its launching in 1920. The datelines of its log-book record a foundering course. In 1931, Japan annexes Manchuria. In 1935, Italy sets forth to fulfill her dreams of a modern Roman Empire, and Ethiopia is chosen as the first diadem in Il Duce's crown. In 1936, Hitler's troops goose-step into the Rhineland's demilitarized zone, and in the same year Spain becomes the battleground of a "Little World War". In 1937, Japan's urge for Pan-Asiatic supremacy leads to her most far-flung campaign in China since 1931. In 1938, Rumania abandons her democratic allies, adopts the Nazi testament, and elevates Jew-baiting to a national policy. A beleagured League found little cause for celebrating her birthday with cakes and cheers this week!

NO RELIEF HERE!

With some 1,900,000 persons expected to find winter anchorage on WPA rolls by mid-February, we are glad to report at least one village under the American flag where no relief will be needed or asked for. That's the Indian community of Metlakatla, a salmon-fishing center in Southeastern Alaska. On the royalties of their fishing rights, the Indians harvested enough money, some years back, to build a cannery and lease it. And it's revealed in a Federal auditor's recent report that these energetic Indians are taking in $100,000 annually on the lease alone. In addition, they earn wages working in their own cannery, or catching fish to sell to the cannery management. If that's how some energetic redskins are flaying the spectre of unemployment and insecurity, perhaps there's something to be said for that wisecrack about giving the country back to the Indians!

COLLEGE BUDGET

Now that John and Mary are back at the university or college after the holiday vacations, it's safe to announce the findings of a report issued by the director of admissions at the University of California. Dad and Mother who hold worried family conferences over those frequent notes from John and Mary, urgently requesting cash at once, will be interested in what the report has to say. It discloses that among nearly a thousand students interviwed, the average yearly cost of going to college was $445. A fourth of the students spent less than $300 a year. The expenses of less than 10 per cent were over $800. That big hole in Dad's bank account for his youngsters' college expenses may tell a different story—and lead to a stern calling-to-account when Easter holidays come!

Guest Editorial

To every human being the GREATEST problem is HIMSELF.

We have weighed the earth as accurately as though we had placed it on some enormous Fairbanks scale.

We know the chemical composition of stars so far away that their light traveling 186,000 miles a second is just reaching us after a journey of thousands of years.

We have invented machines that can photograph the interior of an intestine or predict the ebb and flow of tides fifteen years hence.

We travel with ease under the sea or into the stratosphere and send messages around the earth in seven seconds.

We can perform operations that make men giants or dwarfs and can reconstruct the sort of animals that waded through the Mesazoic ooze from merely studying a basketful of petrified bones.

We make silk out of glass, wool out of milk and pottery out of soy beans.

But our GREATEST problem remains OURSELVES.

We have mastered the EXTERNAL world, but very few of us have mastered the MAN INSIDE.

We have learned how to direct OTHERS, but the most of us remain slaves of OURSELVES; slaves to customs, habits, fictions and superstitions; slaves to FOOLISH fears and HOPELESS hopes.

A SUCCESSFUL business man once gave a SIMPLE RULE that had made him a FORTUNE and won him ESTEEM in his community.

His rule was: "Never do what you KNOW you ought NOT do and never FAIL to do what you know you SHOULD do." Or as the Engouda proverb says, "What you do not want, put aside."

Everyone who reads this rule will immediately recognize its TRUTH, but only a VERY FEW will be able to FOLLOW that rule because only a few people have sufficient CONTROL over themselves.

The whole history of the world has been often CHANGED because those who were SHAPING that history LOST CONTROL over themselves.

Alexander the Great, who sighed because there were no more worlds to conquer, murdered his best friend and died of DEBAUCHERY at the height of his career because he could not CONTROL HIMSELF.

His invincible phalanx had cut its way through Greece and Egypt and Syria and Persia and had seen the sunny plains of India spread helplessly before it.

He had such POWER as is given to few men in this life, for kings walked in his train as servants. But he COULD NOT CONTROL HIMSELF!

How different the history of the world if he had been able to dominate HIMSELF as he dominated OTHERS!

Hanibal brought the ages old struggle between Rome and Carthage NEARLY to an end when he crossed the Alps, whipped the Italian armies one by one and camped in the lush plains of the peninsula for eleven years.

He could whip the Romans, but he could not control HIMSELF.

Easy living and the surrender to habits that grow out of it sealed his DOOM. So few people can control their appetites!

How different would have been the history of the world had Carthage instead of Rome triumphed?

The average person NEVER will be an Alexander or a Hannibal, but he may PROFIT by their example.

Thousands of homes and families and careers are RUINED daily because some FOOLISH person has IGNORED the ancient Greek injunction to "Know Thyself", or the old Haussa warning that "One is the slave of one's passions."

Control, like charity, begins at home, for no matter how great may be our control over OTHERS and how high our hopes for the FUTURE, we are doomed to disappointment and failure unless we can CONTROL OURSELVES.

NEGRO HOUR'S M. C.

Dear Editor:

On last Thursday evening, January 6, 1938, we listened to the All-Race program over KE HE sponosored by the Central Avenue Board of Trade, which we enjoyed very much.

We do not consider ourselves critics, but we feel that all Negroes should be interested enough in a race program to express an opinion.

We would therefore like to bring to your attention the fact that a master of ceremonies is very essential to a program, one who is abl to articulate clearly and precisely.

We do know that we have among the young people here in Los Angeles young men and women who are more capable of handling this particular position than the young man who announced the program last Thursday.

May we extend our heartiest congratulations to Miss Fay Jackson, your news commentator, for her commendation on the news of the world.

May we congratulate you on your timely effort and wish you much success in your future programs.

Yours sincerely,

ON OUR RESTRAINT

Dear Editor:

As an EAGLE subscriber for three years and still going strong, I wish to commend you on your restraint in writing stories dealing with sex, and with crime in general.

After reading the Hearst papers' stories on the Wright murder case, I have come to the conclusion that white people have lost all sense of proportion as regards to things publicly said and written about sex.

A thing has to be flooded with filth to get the ear of the white world today.

Granted that the Wright case is one involving the uglier aspects of sex, there is still no excuse for the newspapers playing on the erotic imaginations to sell their papers. I have in mind, particularly the story carried by almost all of the daily papers on the possible defense of Wright.

As a newspaper, printing all the news, mention of some of the rape, murder cases has been unavoidable by you. But few newspapers would have avoided garnering the fruits of sensationalism as you did in restraining your accounts of the events.

Again, you are to be congratulated for setting a new high in journalism, racial and otherwise.

Most sincerely an Eagle booster
Howard Evans

PARKS

Dear Editor:

I have just returned from a long trip through the East and Middle West. I was impressed by many things by which we hold advantage over those sections, but I was also impressed by many things which those sections hold over us.

By the parks of Philadelphia, the beautiful Washington Park of Chicago, and Central Park of New York, I was most impressed.

Of course the spacious Washington Park, housing recreation facilities of every descripton, is the best of them all. In the winter, it is a virtual Iceland playground—the frozen lagoon on which people skate and sleigh; the miles and miles of hills and level lands over which youngsters trudge, or sleigh, or snowball.

In the summer there is boating and swimming and tennis, golf, baseball, croquet . . . oh, everything.

In Philadelphia, the parks are not so large, but they are much more numerous. They are little squares of green and trees situated in strategic spots where one may go and rest during the day and get fresh air.

I wonder if it is not possible for Los Angeles, and particularly the Eastside, to have such places. There are innumerable vacant lots. Why does not the city buy up some of them and plant trees and flowers and grass, for a weary and footsore citizenry to have a moment's recess with nature.

Perhaps my writing this will incite some action. I should appreciate it immeasurably if you would print it.

Very sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) IVA SINGLETON.

HAND LAUNDRY

By THE LAUNDRYMAN

Howdy, everbody. I don't know how you all's feeling, but this High-rent business is really got men down. I don't believe there's another race of people in the world that could keep on dancing the BIG APPLE like us, with the WEIGHT we's carrying. Of course Nero fiddled while Rome was burning, but he was just one man.

I was rolling down_____street the other day in my old Dodge picking up a bundle of laundry here and there. I was doing pretty well too, cause people is more or less like sheep anyhow, and as soon as one woman seen me getting laundry to do from her neighbor, why she'd scrape up some too and give me. As I was saying, I was doing too fine, when all of a sudden a lady come running up to me and says, excitedly; "Say laundryman, I want you to do me a favor, and don't try to loud talk me. Just come on with me, down to that yellow house, next to the corner yonder," and she started climbing in my car.

It kinder vexed me a little cause I was busy, but I couldn't get out of it handy, on account of me knowing her from old days when she was "Begging" and I used to go to her flat, and get Laundry. So I drove on down towards the place she pointed to. I asked her what was it all about, and she told me she was trying to rent that house, and that the man didn't want to let her have it on account of she had settled down now and had four children, and that she wanted me to vouch for how good her children was, and soforth.

Well we reached the house and got out and went in. The owner was standing in the front room smoking.

"Here's a man what knows all about me and my children," she says to him. He looked me over, and I commenced to laying it on. I told him what a good Christian woman she was, and how her children, always went to Sunday school, and how they didn't like to play around a house like most children, but was crazy about reading books, and the Bible. So he finally give in, and said she could have the house, and invited me to look around.

Well, folks, it was the worst looking dump I've been in in many a day. The walls was painted a dirty blue color, or better, had been painted that color once upon a time, and the woodwork was deep yellow, and as greasy as an oil worker's overalls. The plaster was cracked in every room, and the bathroom was a litte built on shed out on the back porch. There was so many cracks in the wooden walls until there wasn't no need for a window, because the light come through the cracks a plenty.

"How much rent you asking for this --er, house?" I says.

"Only thirty dollars! And I should get more," he says.

Well, I looked at Mr. Epstien —he had told me his name— and I was just on the verge of telling him about a good wrecking company that would raze the dump for him for $35.00, when the lady what brought me there give me the high sign not to blow up. So I just kept my mouth shut, because I seen that she must be awfully hard pressd to get a house for her and her children, and give her, if I started cutting loose on him.

Before I could get out of the barn, three more people rushed in there to see about it, and nearly had fits when they found out it was taken. So I went on back to my laundry wagon awful low in spirit, grieving over the plight of my people in this American wilderness.

I can tell you one thing though. If we was willing to pay just fifty cents a month into a TENANTS PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION, headed by some reputable young lawyer—not no old one—such cattle-barns as the one I've just dtscribed could be squeezed off the rent-market by a well-planned system of Boycott. And if we don't get together pretty soon, and take this matter in hand as a body, we are going to be begging for permission to live in garages. So Long. Look out for another story on this situation next week.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL
Society Editor

The Greeks have a word for it . . . I don't know so I resort to the all-American word—boner . . . in act, it's the only term ye scribe and the dear ole make-up force can hide behind. One week, I am writing you from Charlottesville, Va. . . . the next his dignified space sails under the light English cap-on of "Chit-Chat", but . . . I'm still with you despite the quips I've been handed . . . just one of those things . . . and as long as the laagh's on me, it's o. k.

I am very happy this week to present to you two more organizations that promise to go places . . . The Social Counts (I've met some of these young, young swains) . . . and the Fashionettes, ladies of the young-set . . . Says me with the piece of "red flannel" in the trusted cheek . . . Gol dern, I hope they do sump'n besides bridge . . . Sorors and fraters of the Greek world who holidayed at boules and conclaves told you all about it . . . at Hamilton M. E. Sunday night. The Q. C.'s (Omega Psi Phi fraternity) are at it again . . . had a meeting Sunday, last . . . watch for 'em.

SIGN FOR LIVING:

When you are in love . . . make it count and drop cumbersome things—ambition, school, work—and take your full measure . . . So I'm rooting for Betty Yvonne Aylor, daughter of the pioneer Aylor family, who trekked in from books at Wiley College last week . . . to array herself for becoming the bride of Cecil Parks . . . all shined up and grinning from ear to ear . . . and then some—'cause he knows he's lucky . . . And when life brings you another bundle of happiness, whoop about it . . . like Max Williams when an excited voice, via 'phone, said, "It's a boy!" . . . that's a playmate for Max jr., and more joy for Mrs. Wey, too, (Vivian Howard). The babe's name is Garland Harding (classy) and runs the scale hand around to eight . . .

Laugh it off when folks put you in print 'cause you're good copy . . . whoever heard of a good newspaper that missed a scoop, even when it's a rumor . . . Woodrow Wilson Strode and Dr. Loyce (Lois—Mobile) Evans pay the press no mind 'cause they've got you engaged . . . take it easy and in its stride . . . sure you're good friends and we're glad . . . hope you stay that way a long time.

AND FOR MAKING OTHERS LIKE IT:

Knock the mud and dust of any town off when the urge says . . . "Go to Californy" . . . Lee Thompson, Chi sportsman, motored out for the races . . . in the party: Roberta Godfrey, ex-wife of George Godfrey; J. S. Bruton and E. H. Hayes . . . stopped at the Ambar Hotel. Blanche Draper, beautiful and popular shop proprietor, arrived Sunday to spend some time in the Angel City. Mrs. Marie Hodge, wife of George Hodge, Chi business man, is guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Higgins, 1222 West Thirty-fourth Place. The Hodges are formerly of Topeka, Kansas.

Mrs. Sarah Lemons, Providence, Rhode Island, is among the visitors to the EAGLE office this week . . . Mrs. Lemons came to renew her old friendship with Mrs. Bass, our editor-publisher. Rev. Cleaves, the pastor of Philip's Temple, is going places . . . certainly has a pretty wife, and I'm sorry I didn't get to meet her at the banquet last Thursday night which honored them honor . . . Mrs. Cleaves was striking in soft white lace and a variegated corsage of fresh flowers.

And I won't be forgetting soon how captivating Frances Curry Driver was Sunday, last, in her hubby's Christmas present: a black woolen suit with the skirt piped by soft satin and the coat edged all the way with fox fur . . . a smart off-face hat with a tiny veil and nonchalantly back and black patent leather pumps completed the outfit . . . and Frances' vivacity lit it off! Pleasing to the peepers, too, was Eleanor Anderson in a dainty check two-piece woolen sports suit of blue with darker blue accessories . . . oh, these dames.

ODDS-BITS AND BITS:

I am in sack cloth and ashes, no less . . . really, I'm groveling in the dust for a very terrible breach of etiquette . . . etc., for not attending the friendly dissension and tea session at the home of Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke . . . and I'll be coming in to sip that cup of tea you saved for me very soon, Mrs. Duke; please forgive my manners . . . didn't forget . . . exactly . . . let time slip upon me.

Richard Bates is Number One candidate for the "Mayors' Club" . . . how he can tell 'em . . . but we like to hear it in one of those popular soirees at the Nathan Sherwoods on East 52nd; was happy to meet Clarence R. Johnson there . . . of the Pullman Porters union particularly, of the International Workers' Alliance, generally . . . enjoyed hearing his views and news . . . plus reaction. Met Edith Jones, too; very pretty girl . . . The "YW" is busy planning for the mid-winter conference of the Professional and Business Women's Clubs . . . The J. Cullen Fentresses (Lillian Jennings) celebrated their first anniversary Sunday with dinner . . . and church . . . nice. No time on my hands . . . so I'll be seein' you . . . next week.

STORK MAKES SECOND VISIT

It's a boy! . . . and the second one, too, for Mr. and Mrs. Max Williams, (Vivian Howard) pictured above, and Max, Jr., will be sharing his mother's attention with Garland Harding Williams, the new baby, who tipped the scales at eight pounds two ounces at birth Monday, January 17. Mr. Williams is head of the California Eagle's linotypists. Mother and babe are resting happily.

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTHE MEAUX

Just as we were getting rested from the mad rush of the Christmas holidays and had just settled down for a long winter nap or something, dreaded final examinations on both campii began to rear their heads and remind the Uclan eds and coeds and the Trojans and Trojanes that the time has come to talk and think a bit toward books and blue-books—gee, what a sentence.

Despite this, however, there are a few fortunate ones in our midst who are free of the worries for a while and are taking things easy. Ann Franklin, the Texan Trojane who is working on her master's degree at USC, is one of those lucky lasses who is taking time out from her newly acquired job to show her mother and aunt the sights of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Franklin and Mrs. Lockett, Ann's mother and aunt respectively, breezed into town the other day from Prairie View to visit their fond child and to bring her a belated Christmas from her daddy for being such a good girl. The present turned out to be a new little roadster which daddy sent out so that Ann could "go west" in grand style.

The Bill Robinson "Bojangles" team is drawing much attention and crowds these days as they flash over the various basketball courts. Playing out at the Hollywood Athletic Center last Sunday the Bojangles boys of the yellow and blue satin suits, brought out quite a prominent group of spectators. Among the group who watched the boys play were Edna Harris, Clarence Muse, Ralph Cooper, Clinton Rosemond, the Leon Washingtons, and Lawrence LaMar. From out Westwood way the game drew the Kenny Washington-June Bradley duo and the Woodrow Strode-Lois Evans twosome. In the crowd we saw Elizabeth Mills, one of the charming coeds who make Chapman college a nice place for the lads to hang around.

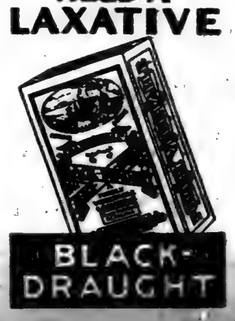
Say and before I forget it, the Bojangles team boasts such top basketball players around town as King, Courtney, Kilgore, Chism, Ashford, Harding, Vernon, Williams, and Thornton. For first names consult your best loved sports writer.

Los Angeles was a little too quiet over last week-end so Carole Ivey, USC coed, packed a few belongings and hied away down to the southern portion of our fair state to take in a bit of the San Diego social life.

N. Y. Social Leader Visiting City

Visiting in Los Angeles for a few weeks is the socially prominent Mrs. Bessie Embree of New York City.

An officer of the Harlem Children's Fresh Air Fund, organization that sponsored Camp James A. Farley for underprivileged Harlem children, Mrs. Embree has also been a member of the local board of education of New York City for the past ten years, and an elected chairman for three.



Prominent politically as well as socially and educationaly, Mrs. Embree has handled entire campaigns. She is noted for her tactful manner and vivacious personality.

Vice-president of the exclusive New Englanders club, organization which introduced in Harlem the invitation Beaux Arts Ball, Mrs. Embree will remain in the city until the middle of February.

The Eastern social leader stated in an interview that she found California an ideal vacaion spot; commented on the beauty of our thoroughfares and the spaciousness of our public markets.

'Bojangles' Go Down to Defeat Twice at Hands of Speedy Olympic Basketballers

The resplendent blue and gold suits of Bill Robinson's "Bojangles" basketball five, failed to dazzle sufficiently the Olympic All-Stars of the Metro Godwyn Mayer studio last Sunday night at the Hollywood Sport Center.

Robinson's quintet went down to defeat successively with scores tallied against them of 38 to 23 and 48 to 35.

Although Robinson's team is composed of some of the best Negro players in Los Angeles they seemed unable to match the speed of the Olympic champions.

High point man Sunday night for the Bojangles was Al Chism, substitute forward, former Jefferson High School star and Wilberforce University stellar player. The lads are coached by Ching Duhm, Jefferson High School mentor.

The line up Saturday night included Kilgore, 13 points, Courney, 3, King, Williams and Thornton.

Sunday night's roster included: Kilgore, 9, Ashford, 1, King, 4, Chism, 16, Hardin and Thornton 4.

WITH THE STAFF

With many boxing matches in the offing, basketball season just hitting its stride, and baseball at least two months distant, to the seasonal sport enthusiast, this no time to be talking of track

But on the other hand, track, the indoor variety, is on full blast back East, and some of the interest there is necessarily reflected out here on the West Coast.

This should be a big year all over the Nation for Negro track athletes. They will come in droves from everywhere, North, South, East and West. Competition will be keener for high honors. We predict fewer individual standouts, all the boys being so good as to push the stars considerably for the places in the sun.

Incidentally, consideration of the United States Olympic team will creep into the atmosphere of the cinderpah and field this summer.

The Olympic session at Tokyo is but two years away, and AAU officials are casting a circulating eye over the lot already.

To the Press Box' mind, the United States team in 1940 will be made up of more new comers and first timers than in the last two editions of the Games. Gone already are many of the stars of Berlin and Los Angeles. Old age will before that time get many, while pursuit of a living occupies the attention even now of many more.

Your guess is as good as the Press Box's concerning the possible re-intry of the three outstanding stars of Berlin, Ralph Metcalfe, Jesse Owens and Cornelius Johnson.

To essay an opinion, we say Owens might, Metcalfe won't directly and Johnson definitely will not.

Owens has the mainstay of athletics in his corner--youth--, or he, too, might not be a candidate for Uncle Sam's representation come Tokyo in 1940. The Ohio State demon has but recently passed his twenty-first birthday, which keeps him plenty eligible in that respect for competition.

His recent application for AAU re-instatement is an indication that he is serious in his desire to run as an amatuer again. Of course should the AAU refuse to receive him into the ranks of the simonpures, all his hopes would be kicked into the bucket.

With proper apologies, we wag our heads apprehensively over the athletic fate of Corny Johnson. There never was a "natural" like Corny, but like many another, he could not pay the price of glory, rigorous adherence to training rules. Consequently Corny couldn't evn overcome a one inch handicap to win the high jump at 6 feet, 6 inches in an indoor meet last Saturday.

Metcalfe has age and family responsibility pulling him back from competiton, although he keeps rigorously in practice. But Metcalfe will be heard from over in Tokyo in other ways, is our guess.

Down at Xavier University where the former Marquette university athlete is coach, they say he is training several promising youngsters for an onslaught on the Eastern and Mid-Western track fests next summer. More than one of them should prove likely timber for the Olympic team.

Dave Albritton, co-holder with Melvin Walker of the world's high jump record, has definitely said he would not participate again. In an intervew the Press Box had with him last summer he said he was tired of track, had jumped as high as he wanted, and was interested mainly in an occupation or profession that would net him some money.

Walker, now a junior at Marquette, will without a doubt, be a figure next summer, as will Al Threadgill of Temple.

We are watching with most pleasurable anticipation for the invasion next summer of women's track by the Tuskegee women's team. Last summer at Randall's Islands the Keegee girls put their northern sister of either complexion to shame, and they say, Cleve Abbott, the Institute coach, has his eyes turned Japan-ward for 1940.

Locally, the spring season is being awaited anxiously out at UC LA where three or four youngsters from the dark side of town will keep Westwood on the winning side of the ledger. Foremost among them are big Tom Berkeley and Tom Bradley, Fullerton Jaycee and Polytechnic high school flashes, respectively.

Jesse Owens Wants An OK Seeks Reinstatement As Amateur

oOo oOo oOo

Longing to be back into the arms of the simonpures again is Jesse Owens, track and field phenomena of a summer ago. Owens, photoed above in a conversational pose, applied last week to the A. A. U. for re-instatement to amateur status.

Owens and the A.A.U. parted when the sprinter began campaigning for Alfred Landon, Republican presidential candidate.

JESSE OWENS

The A.A.U. contended that the money Owens received imperiled his amateur status, while Owens . . . well, Owens says he had to eat, and stumping for Landon was just like any other job.

Since he dropped from the headlines, Owens has successively been leading a dance band and managing an exhibition basketball team. He says he has kept himself in trim and is only biding his time until the AAU's favorable (we hope) decision to start burning up the cinder paths again.

SAYS HE STILL HAS "THAT OLD FEELING" — YET

Rabid denials were made in New York this week by Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, pictured to the right in a characteristic pose, that he and his beautiful socialite-wife, Marva Trotter, are "on the outs".

Rumors to that effect reached a spear-head two weeks ago when Walter Winchell, gossiping columnist for the Hearst syndicate, stated definitely that the couple had reached the parting of the ways--and Winchell is "most nearly always" right.

But the Bomber lays the reports at the door of an over-zealous press agent and pointed to the past Holiday season which he and Marva spent cooing together in Detroit.

On the other hand Mrs. Louis is said to have demanded a $200,000 cash settlement and the furnishings of their New York apartment.

Rumors were bandied about on the West Coast anent such doings when the Bomber was noted being very attentive to a lovely movie player.

Meanwhile Louis forgets his love life getting in trim for a bout on February 23 with Nathan Mann at Madison Square Gardens. In training at Lafayetteville, N. Y., he weighs 209 pounds and will endeavor to shed ten of them to reach his best fighting weight.

Armstrong Returns from N. Y.; to Fight in Arizona

Fresh from his triumph over Enrico Venturi, Italian lightweight king, Henry Armstrong, will turn westward tomorrow night for a bout in Phoenix, Arizona with Frankie Castillo, Mexican lightweight.

Armstrong, called the greatest fighter in the world, pound for pound, tagged the Italian a knockout punch in New York last Wednesday night in the sixth round of a bout similar to the Louis-Pastor fiasco.

Up until Tuesday morning the New York boxing commissioners were holding up Venturi's share of the $34,000 purse because of a foul claimed by the Italian. From the floor of the ring, where Armstrong had knocked him, Venturi claimed that Armstrong hit low.

Armstrong, recently crowned featherweight king, is scheduled to meet Chalky Wright, Negro featherweight in two weeks at the Olympic.

Cornell Grid Star Says He Will Aid Sharecroppers in Dixie After He Finishes

The after-college life of an All-American football player is not often auspicious, but one of them, the only Negro named on the honor team this year, and the first in a decade, will have a very serviceable career, and one that will be a far cry from the glory of the gridiron.

He is Jerome (Brud) Holland, Cornell University's All-American end, who announced this week that he plans to do social work among the sharecroppers of the South when he obtains his degree.

"The sharecroppers need to be taught the latest methods in scientific farming if they hope to make a bare living from their skimpy farms," explained the football star.

WASHINGTON STEPS RIGHT UP AND SAYS UCLA SATISFIES HIM

Bruin Spikes Rumor as Carried in Eagle Last Week

Rumors that he would transfer from Westwood to California at Berkeley next Fall were dispelled most vociferously last week-end by Kenny Washington, UCLA's star halfback, following publication of a story on said rumors in last week's EAGLE.

Wa-hington, quite a bit het up reiterated his loyalty to the Bruins and, figuratively speaking, humbed his nose in the direction of California, from which, and through Walter Gordon, Negro assistant coach, offers were said to have come.

The swivel-hipped sensation said he was entirely satisfied with the way they were treatin him out in Westwood, and is very optimistic as to the football outlook in that direction next Fall.

Incidentally, a mistake was also made last week in giving the name of the young lady with whom Washington is seen socially. The name given was Betty Bratton. The correct name is June Bradley . . . no hard feelings we hope.

From Woodrow Strode neither denial nor affirmation was directly forthcoming; although from the grapevine that offended last week, the writer of the story, Almena Davis, heard that Mr. Strode denied the rumors as vociferously as did Washington.

However, grapevine's being that . . . just grapevines, as far as Strode is concerned . . . we only heard.

Air-Conditioning Will Improve Baseball in Major Leagues in 1938

Air conditioning is spreading to baseball.

Not in the ball parks. They are amply ventilated.

Not in the lives of the players, who spend most of the year in the open air, beneath the beneficial sun.

But in the ball itself. The baseball of 1938 will be a healthier sphere.

Big-wigs of the major league teams in conference last week in New York, adopted a plan of baseball manufacture whereby virtual air-conditioning will impose the horsehide, prevent it from absorbing mosture and thus growing heavy and keep it from getting to flighty and sailing too easily into the distant horizons over the fielders heads.

Say you saw it in the Eagle.

TUSCON NOTES

SILVERTONE SINGERS PRESENT SERIES OF PROGRAMS

The past week at Mt. Calvary Baptist Church has ben devoted to the installation of the officers of the Women's Home Missionary Society, the Usher Board, and BYPU. The Silvertone Singers of Omulgee, Oaklahoma, presented a program of spirituals at each installation. They brought out the emotional beauty and simplicity of expression in these religious songs as only the Negro can do. The Silvertone Singers are doing a grtat work which should influence some of the younger set to do their part to put over the program of the church. Mr. Ivery Williams is first tenor in the quartette, Mr. Henry Taylor, second tenor, Mr. Joel Rito, first base and Mr. Frank Everidge, secondbase.

Through the courtesy of KVOA Broadcasting staton, and the assistance of Rev. C. B. Hodge as announcer, the Silvertone Singers were able to render a series of radio programs during their visit in Tucson.

As Booker T. Washington said of the Jubilee Singers, the quartette singing "Reminds the race of the rock from which it was hewn, fosters race pride, and furnishes an outlet for the anguish of smitten hearts."

Services were held at the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church at eleven a. m. Sunday, January 9, 1938.

Reverend C. B. Hodge's topic for the evening service was "I'm Glad I'm Left". Text taken from Ezekiel 9th chapter, the 8th verse. He stressed as his major point the necessity for each individual to express gratitude to God for being numbered among the living. He apprehended gratitude to include the following things: First, a deep sense of benefits received, sencondly, an intense love to and satisfaction in the benefactor; thirdly, an immediate beginning to make all possible returns to God, the giver, either in repaying or else expressing our thankfulness; and fourthly, in a fixed purpose of heart to make better returns. Rev. Hodge stressed as his minor point: The fact that Christians, those who are not wrapped in a cocoon of selfish covetousness, can feel and appreciate the woes of others and should lend a willing hand to help them out of the ditch.

The Rev. C. B. Hodge left the city for Los Angeles, for a short rest. He was expected in the city last Sunday.

A MONTH or so ago we perked up our hopes when we read the names of two persons of our racial group offered to serve on the 1938 Grand Jury.

Yesterday, when the list (that had been pared down to 111) from which the 30 veniremen shall be picked was published, the names of the Negroes were nowhere to be found.

A little investigation as to what had happened in this case brought to light that many complaints against the names offered had been registered by Negroes and a radical newspaper that has assumed the responsibility of telling Negroes who is who in the NEGRO section.

I am wondering what, if anything, we who objected to the appointment of the two Negroes know about those who shall serve on the 1938 Grand Jury.

THE Reverend Mr. Blaney will preach next Sunday in Dempsey's Grove at 10 o'clock A. M. and at 4 o'clock P. M., Providence permitting. Between sermons the preacher will run his sorrel mare, Julia, against any nag that can be trotted out in this region, for a purse of $100." This is religious notice that appeared 100 years ago in a southern newspaper, according to a current issue of the Readers Digest . . . .

Maybe a hundred years from now even Negroes will be willing to let other Negroes serve on Grand Juries . . . .

"ROOSEVELT Deplores Oppression of Jew" was a caption in the Sunday Times that gripped my attention.

Representing the Zionist Organization of America and the Jewish Congress, Rabbi Stephen Wise called on President Roosevelt at the White House last week and received from him expressions of consolation and hope for the oppressed Jews in Central and Eastern Europe.

It is rapidly approaching the hundred-year mark since slavery was abolished in this nation. Three amendments—the 13th, 14th, and 15th—to the Constitution have guaranteed unto blacks all citizenship rights enjoyed by other Americans.

However, under this guarantee Negroes have not only been lynched and burned even for demanding their rights as citizens, but have been relegated to the dump in labor and industry under the same rule.

Many friendly organizations through all the years dating back to the reconstruction period after the Civil War, have trekked to Washington with anti-lynching bills, but up to the present no voice from our President has said, "I deplore lynching in this nation".

I hold that such an utterance from President Roosevelt at this time would insure passage of the present anti-lynching bill that is fast becoming a congressional football.

The Jews of the world have formed a World Jewish Congress. On January 26 this Congress protested to the League of Nations against asserted lawless treatment of the Jewish minority in Rumania.

It will fight the renewed oppression, political and economic in eastern European lands and everywhere—and will dedicate itself to the cause of rebuilding Judea.

Jewish and Negro history is closely linked, however there is this essential difference: the Jews brought out of their experience of bondage the knowledge and determination to cherish and preserve their history as a racial group. Today, even though they are scattered over the four corners of the world, the Jews, through the medium of this World's Congress, are uniting their strength and looking forward to the rebuilding of Judea where Jewish history began.

Negroes, I am afraid, recognize no starting point; have little in common; no organization in which other races are excluded and which is dedicated solely to the purpose of building racial pride and ideals.

Love-Making Landlord Evicts Tenant

Says Landlord Made Advances, Refused to Accept Rent Owed Him

Evicted from her home by order of the marshall's office, executed just 30 minutes before she planned to move, Mrs. Gladys Cruise, of 1425 East 25th street, claimed that her white landlord, George Wagner, put her and her children out into the streets because she repulsed his attentions.

According to Mrs. Cruise and friends gathered about the premises, Wagner refused to accept the rent owing to him.

Mrs. Mattie Manley declared that the woman and her babies had engaged rooms with her and were preparing to move at 5 o'clock yesterday when the sheriff's order was executed at 4:15 of the same day.

Girl Whips Father in Family Setto

Old shoes and razor straps figured prominently in a free-for-all family fight in the home of Prim and Fannie Giles, 1506 E. 22nd street, late Monday night, when Giles assertedly tried to raise a rough house with his wife, threw scalding coffee in her face and pummelled Katherine Johnson, daughter, over the head with his shoes.

SPARE THE ROD

Complainants Fannie and Katherine charged the man with being drunk. "What he needs is a good whipping", the daughter said, remembering her father's own maxim. Yanking down the leather threat from the kitchen wall, she attempted to spank 57-year-old Prim but Prim beat her to the draw and knocked her out with the shoe heel.

Police were summoned from Newton street station, treated both women for injuries received in the fray, arrested Prim and held him in jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

He was shot as he tried to climb a wire fence around the power house of the penitentiary.

Hooper P-TA Seeks School

Ten thousand signatures is the goal of the Hooper Avenue School P.-T. A. as this week the organization went into its second week of fighting to obtain a new school building in place of that at 54th and Hooper avenue.

Charging that one of the buildings is in a condition similar to that which precipitated last year's Oklahoma school disaster, Mrs. Mary A. Troy, 1438 East 57th street, president of the Association, accompanied by Mrs. Augusta Glover, 1441 East 53rd street, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, appealed to the California Eagle this week to broadcast for help in the undertaking. The P.-T. A. aims to obtain ten thousand signatures on a petiion to the Board of Educatino.

Board of Educations officials say the building was erected in 1907, while residents of the negihborhood testify it was erected in 1007.

Cracked celings and window panes and inadequate toilet facilities were pointed out by the committee as the main evidences of delapidation.

WALT GORDON FIGHTS RACE ISSUE IN LABOR TROUBLES OF BERKELEY

Association Charged with Injecting Race Issue in Beauty Shop Case

Attorney Walter Gordon, president of the Alameda branch of the NAACP and a football coach at the University of California, charged today that an attempt of the Industrial Association to inject the Negro issue into legitimate labor disputes growing out of a white beauty shop case near the university campus would be vigorously fought by his office.

The shop, operating under the name of Alice Ames is being picketed by the Beautician's Union for failure to pay proper wages to its workers.

According to Gordon, a Negro man was hired to ridicule the pickets of the union. When a woman pickets he dresses like a bridegroom and when a man pickets he dresses like a bride; in either case he wears a sign "Just Married--There are no disputes".

HIRED FROM STATE BUREAU

The Negro, who was hired by the beauty shop through the State Employment Service, refused to talk to an indignant delegation of co-eds from the University YWCA. Approached by representatives of the NAACP, however, he disappeared from sight.

Gordon said he would use his influence in the Bar association to write a letter to the Industrial Association whom he suspects of insulting the Negro race.

Local Jr. High School Girl Gets Letter from F. D. R.

Among the souvenirs, Benzell Graham, (pictured above), ninth grade honor pupil at McKinley Junior high school, will treasurer is a letter from the executive mansion of the nation written by the president's private secretary in recognition of a letter and a copy of Benzell's school paper.

Young Miss Graham's letter was written because of the insistence of her schoolmates as an excerpt from her letter shows: "Enclosed you will find the newspaper of my school with three of my articles circled. I am sending this because of the many requests from my schoolmates. The article on the front page is the one to which I refer. I was inspired to write because at noon war is one of the main topics of discussion."

The answer from the President Roosevelt follows: "In the absence of the President, I want to acknowledge your letter of November 23, and to thank you for your kindness in sending him a copy of the William McKinley Junior High School publication. I shall bring it to his attention and I am sure that he will appreciate your thought of him." The letter was signed by M. A. LeHand, private secretary to the president.

Benzell, besides a perfect record in school, is studying piano at the University of Southern California and has studied artistic whistling for four years and is a member of the Second Baptist church. She is the daughter of Ben Graham, executive in the American Woodmen and Mrs. Katie Graham, a teacher in the public school system of Los Angeles.

Dr. Humphrey Faces Jury Tamper Charge

Dr. W. B. Humphrey and Attorney Louis Feinstein, accused of soliciting Leon and Dorothy Kent to file a false accident claim were remanded to the custody of the sheriff pending trial and refused further bail on a charge of jury tampering in Judge Frank M. Smith's court Tuesday.

Ordering the jury into the custody of the bailiff, Judge Smith instructed Deputy District Attorney Stahlman to make full investigation as a result of the admission of William M. Dixon, ex-fireman, process server for Feinstein, that he talked to one of the juror in the case.

DENIES MISTRIAL

After questioning Dixon, Judge Smith denied a motion for a mistrial argued by Defense attorneys L. E. Dagmun and Lloyd Griffith and ordered that trial on the fake accident charges proceed.

Dixon, after being questioned by the court, was ordered to return next Monday to face possible contempt charges.

On the witness stand, Dixon testified that he was sitting in a lunch counter near the Hall of Justice Monday when Juror Gill entered, sat beside him and began conversation. The juror is said to have asked for information about a friend and Dixon was to supply that information.

"How did you expect to give Juror Gill that information if you got it?" Judge Smith demanded of Dixon.

"Well, Mr. Gill just told me he would see me around the courtroom here", Dixon replied.

Dixon was dismissed from the fire department several years ago on charges of debt evasion and general insubordination.

Senate Votes Today On Cloture Rule

Rule Will Restrict Debate on Anti-Lynching Measure; Express Fear

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. — The cloture rule, which will restrict debate on the anti-lynching bill, will be voted on in the Senate today in the final effort of Senate leaders to hush the filibuster that has jammed the nation's legislative program.

The cloture will provide that all debate shall be closed in order that a vote may be taken on the measure before the Senate. The petition calling for the restriction of debate was filled Tuesday night, as the Senate recessed its first night session by Senator Neely of West Virginia. The Senate will vote at 1 p. m. today but a two thirds vote will be required to put the cloture in effect.

Application for the cloture has been made as a last resort. Proponents of the anti-lynch bill fear that the Senate's handful of Republicans, otherwise for the anti-lynch bill, will vote against the cloture, fearing that the rule may be applied to them later in the session.

Should the cloture rule be invoked, vote on the anti-lynch measure will take place immediately afterward. Walter White secretary of the NAACP, leading the fight, feels confident that he has enough votes to pass the bill, should it come to decision.

Urge Johnson to Vote for Rule

California advocates of anti-lynch legislation were today urged to wire Senator Hiram Johnson of California to vote for the cloture rule.

The name of Senator Wm. Gibbs McAdoo was affixed to the petition asking for the cloture. McAdoo is understood to be in favor of the legislation.

The appeal was made through the local branch of the National Association fo rthe Advancement of Colored People, of which Thomas L. Griffith is president.

Mosby denied ownership of the cafe and is resisting the attachment on these grounds.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

WELL, FROM MY POINT OF VIEW, it looks like the ANTI-LYNCHING BILL has not only tied up CONGRESS but the entire national business. All of the beefs that the TRUST COMBINATIONS have, are being laid in the path of the ANTI-LYNCHING BILL. Politically, the NEGRO HAS demonstrated his national power greater as a DEMOCRAT than at any time during our political history. The offended group admits it and I am compelled to believe that they are more interested in breaking that power than the passing of the BILL AGAINST LYNCHING. Not one SENATOR to date, has made a speech saying that LYNCHING is right under our Constitution but it is all WRONG TO THINK THAT THE NEGRO VOTERS of this country can make it an ILLEGAL OFFENSE to be handled entirely by FEDERAL COURTS. Two things the NEGRO VOTER and the RABID SOUTHERNER, white, have in common, is the ability to play politics for all it's worth, and WE NOW HAVE THESE TWO FORCES HEAD AND HEAD in Congress. Business throughout the country is slowing up, hoping to break this grip by economic measures and I am sure if the BILL IS CLEARED SOON, either favorably or unfavorably, the activities of business will resume, for they will at least know who is the controlling factor at this game of CONGRESS. NEGRO VOTERS, WHITE SYMPATHIZERS or THE LILY WHITE SOUTHERN "CRAT" known as a DEMOCRAT on the ballot. This terrific demonstration of power should be a beacon light for our group and should assure us of our GREAT BUYING STRENGTH. Economically, we would be just as strong if we UNITED in WHERE WE SPEND OUR DOLLARS. NOT A SELFISH IDEA of spending only with colored merchants BUT WITH THOSE WHO KICK BACK some in decent employment. Be with everybody, JEW, GENTILE or NEGRO—if he is with YOU. The ANTI-NAZI LEAGUE that has helped us greatly in the ANTI-LYNCH BILL, will hold its public meeting at the SHRINE AUDITORIUM SUNDAY night at EIGHT. BE THERE! THOMAS L. GRIFFITH, FLOYD COVINGTON, DR. H. CLAUDE HUDSON and your humble servant are among those on the PLATFORM. JEN BOWIE POST will continue to GLORIFY THE STARS AND STRIPES, in a presentation. HEADS UP, we are moving forward WITH HONOR. SOUTH'S SENATORS FILIBUSTER ON INTERMARRIAGE

FILIBUSTER STIRS IRE OF MANY SENATORS FROM NORTH, WEST

Harangues On Civil War and Racial Hatred Likely to Produce Fireworks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (By NAACP Correspondent)—When Senator Allen J. Ellender, of Louisiana, concluded his six-day speech against the federal anti-lynching bill here last Friday, a notable change had taken place in the attitude of some of the supporters of the bill.

Many northern and western senators and many southern ones, also, did not hear the Ellender bloody shirt arguments on intermarriage because they absented themselves from the Senate chamber; but several times during the week it was evident that the breast-beating and the obviously absurd statements of Ellender were arousing the ire of northern and western senators so that many who heretofore had intended only to vote for the bill are now actively working for it and probably will make speeches for it this week.

BILBO RAVES

Senator Theodore (That Man) Bilbo, of Mississippi, began speaking against the bill Monday and his speech was along the same line as Ellender's—on intermarriage, Negro domination, white civilization, etc.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, who has been seriously ill in his apartment at the Shoreham hotel, was expected back on the floor Monday. It was thought he would return before that time, but he had a heart attack and doctors forbade him to leave his room.

REPUBLICANS REFUSE CLOTURE

There is talk of invoking the cloture rule, but the Republican members of the Senate, with the exception of Senator Capper of Kansas, are hanging back. Capital observers point out that failure of the Republicans to join in the cloture rule to break the filibuster will be interpreted inevitably by the voters as opposition to the bill.

Senator George Norris of Nebraska, whose speech declared that the filibuster was so bitter that perhaps the bill ought not to be passed, received a committee and listened carefully to their arguments in favor of the bill and the present strategy. Senator Norris stated that a filibuster could be broken by a strict nad technical enforcement of the rules.

SOUTHERN DAILIES AID BILL

One of the most encouraging aspects of the fight thus far has been the steadfast support of many leading daily newspapers in the South. In fact, the southern daily papers have fought the filibuster much harder than the northern papers. Chief northern paper to turn tail and run was the New York Daily News which declared editorially in plain language in support of the bill several months ago, but, after only three days of filibustering, announced that it had been convinced by the southerners that the bill was no good and thereupon changed its opinion.

On the other hand, such southern dailies as the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal, the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch, the Greensboro (N. C.) Daily News, the New Orleans, (La.) Tribune and the Statesville (N. C.) Landmark have condemned the filibuster in no uncertain terms and stated that the southern senators did not represent the sentiment of the South.

Anti-Lynch Fight Featured in Time

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—The fight for federal anti-lynching legislation and the leadership of Walter White, NAACP secretary, are featured in the January 24 issue of TIME, the weekly news magazine. The issue has a photograph of Mr. White on its cover and carries six columns of news and pictures about the filibuster on the anti-lynching bill, a history of Mr. White's long, personal efforts against lynching, and the campaign that has been carried on steadily by the NAACP. (Reprinted on 1-B).

Filibuster Costs $8,000 A Day

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27—The filibuster of the southern senators against the anti-lynching bill already has cost the nation approximately $159,416, according to estimates made here. The bill has been before the Senate a total of 20 days, 2 last August, 9 days in November and 13 days so far in January. The cost of the filibuster is running merrily along at the rate of approximately $8000 a day.

One item of the cost is $55 per page to print the Congressional Record and already 411 pages have been used up. Salaries of senators run to approximately $2,529 a day and salaries of other workers in the Senate total about $4,311 a day. Incidental expenses account for the balance.

'No 3rd Party for Labor' Says Johnson

"The time is not opportune to develop a Labor Party," Clarence R. Johnson, nationally known labor leader, told the Vernon Street Branch Library Book Club Friday evening in an address, entitled "The Labor Movement in Our Present Economic Order".

Mr. Johnson contended that labor's strength could be shown best by throwing its support to those persons or principles that are willing to recognize its needs. He illustrated the contention with the recent La Guardia mayoralty victory which dealt Tammany a crushing blow.

REVIEWS FINANCIAL CRISES

The labor leader reviewed the financial crises of American history and cited the present one as comparable to that of 1857. He pointed out the difference between craft unionism and the industrial unions, stating that the former were concerned only with the welfare of the crafts and built on the theory that the benefits would eventually "leak down" to the unskilled and semi-skilled worker.

Mr. Johnson advanced the belief that "not all the vicious people and crooks are capitalists; there are some among the labor movement who have shown themselves to be bankrupt or corrupt." In commenting on the split of the union, he said that the division would ultimately strengthen the forces of labor which he believes will be reunited.

CALCUTTA, India, Jan. 27. (CNA)—Nothing in brain surgery supports the religious belief that the "soul"--some indivisible something--leaves the body at the moment of death, Professor F. A. E. Crew of Edinburgh University, told the delegates to the Indian Science Congress here.

Il Duce Drills Ethiopian Boys of 8 Yrs.

Boys even as young as eight years, will not be exempted from the rigorous military training of Ethiopian subjects, according to World Wide News report this week.

Mussolini, today, is flushed with his victory in Ethiopia and dreams of creating an African Fascist Empire, which will stretch from the Red Sea to the Atlantic in the West and from the Mediterranean to the Congo River, the dispatch stated in a special feature article.

A prerequisite to this realization is a huge black army, and according to World Wide News, the Fascist leader has undertaken a scheme of conscripting the natives to this purpose.

Natives are divided into the following military groups.

A. Boys from 8-14 are organized as African Balillas, who are taught the rudiments of military science.

B. Boys from 14-18 are compelled to join the African Fascist youth.

C. Boys from 18-21 must undergo three years military service. This group forms the African Fascist militia. Already 500,000 Africans are organized. These, together, with 500,000 Italians in Africa, who are subject to military service, form the present day African Fascist army of 1,000,000.

It was alleged further that since Mussolini's visit to Tripoli in March, 1937, where he was given the "Sword of Islam" and he proclaimed himself the "protector of Islam and the Arabs", he has concentrated on the training of the Africans as Fascist agitators.

To this end the Islamic Fascist University has been built in Harrar, Ethiopia. Students, drawn from all parts of Africa are trained at the government's expense and the most promising selected for further training at Florence Italy.

N. Y.'S DUNBAR NATIONAL BANK PASSES $4,000,000 MARK IN ASSETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. (C)—There are new indications that the financial status of Harlem today is improved over what it was a few years back. The change has come through a new "experiment that worked", a new financial institution set out frankly on the principle of "fair play" with the community in which it operated, and the motto of being "friendly", and out of the program have come cooperation on economic problems, stability, pride in commercial relationships, and increasing prosperity in depression years.

In all of the social ferment that has seethed in Harlem during the past ten years, the Dunbar National Bank, which has just passed the $4,000,000 mark in assets, as of December 31, kept the goodwill of the community. The growth and expansion of the bank, from its beginning on September 19, 1928, at 2824 8th avenue and 150th street, in the Dunbar Apartments, to its present main office at 2298 Seventh avenue and 135th street, with the Eighth avenoe branch, is the best indication that the institution struck the right chord in the heart of the community.

Established by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., as an evidence of his belief in the interracial principle in business, the bank has kept on its board of directors Dr. R. R. Moton, president emeritus of Tuskegee Institute, and on its staff, Robert P. Braddicks, who was promoted, after a year and a half as "new business man", to assistant vice-president, and three years later made manager of the only branch of the bank. In 1930 came the first promotion for Mr. Braddicks, and in 1933 came the second. A year ago, G. W. Waller, who has been with the bank since its founding, was promoted to assistant manager of the Eighth avenue branch.

MAKES BIG GAINS

An indication of the bank's growth may be noted between statements issued as of June 29, 1935, and December 31, last. In '35 the assets were $3,234,859.75; and now they are $4,000,230.28.

The Dunbar Bank has moved forward under two presidents, both of whom have adhered closely to Mr. Rockefeller's original conception of "integrating" colored people into the structure. The first president was the late Mr. Joseph D. Higgins, who set the original pace; and the second is Mr. Charles C. Huitt, whose modesty, sincerity, earnestness and courtesy have impressed all who have entered the portals of the bank. The other officers reflect the president's policy--Arthur H. Thien, vice-president; Albert W. Eichenberger, vice-president and cashier; and Franklin C. Hart, assistant cashier.

Many people from outside New York come into the bank to see the interracial principle in business at work. At the main office are highly efficient clerks who are now given additional opportunity for study by attending banking classes in the financial district under the supervision of the American Institute of Banking. At the Eighth Avenue Branch, where the complete personnel is colored--manager, assistant manager ,and five other employes-the reactions of the public are quite normal; grocers, tailors, bus drivers, policemen, elevated train motormen, and others from the various walks of life, come in, transact their business, and go on their way, satisfied. Mr. Braddicks reports that the branch has experienced an appreciable increase in business, due to City and Federal projects in the neighborhood, and particularly the new Harlem River Housing project.

Call Southern Senators 'Brave'

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27.—A resolution presented to the Senate on January 19 by Senator Walter George, of Georgia, from the House of Representatives of Georgia, commended "the action of the southern senators of the United States Congress for their brave and tenacious fight" against a federal anti-lynching law. The resolution characterized the anti-lynching bill as "an unwarranted and unnecessary affront to the southern states" and "a brazen attempt to politically capitalize on bigoted prejudice".

FANS TAKE TO BASKETBALL AS SEASON HITS STRIDE

'Must Be Two of Me', Says Godfrey as He Denies He's Sick in N. Y. Hospital

"There must be two of me," was George Godfrey's comment to news reporters who interviewed him out at Santa Anita last week-end, regarding reports in metropolitan dailies that he was lying ill and "washed up" in a Long Beach, New York hospital.

The person resembling Godfrey was extended the former boxer's sympathy as newspaper reports say his double is ill with pneumonia. The man was identified erroneously as Godfrey by a New York town police chief, who had been a boxer at one time.

Godfrey has dropped out of boxing circles, with the exception of occasional work-outs since he was defeated decisevly here at the Olympic auditorium by Hank Hankinson.

Since that time he has been enjoying the California sunshine and Santa Anita's horse races.

Godfrey was formerly rated a top flight boxer, Until last year he was recognized abroad, that is in France, as the heavyweight boxing champion.

He contradicted the statement that he is 56 years old. "Why I haven't got a grey hair in my head", George laughed as he doffed his hat and exposed a shiny brown-skin skull as naked as his fist.

"They've had me dead, blind and all washed up, but it ain't true.

"I never felt better in my life. I feel like I can go 15 rounds right now with that Joe Louis fellow. No, I haven't got any fights lined up right now, but I'm in training, just the same."

DOWN IN FRONT

With the Staff

The most favorable word from the powers-that-be regarding the entrance of Negroes into Big League baseball reached the Staff's desk last week via Sam Lacy, sports editor of The Washington Tribune.

Sam had interviewed Clark C. Griffith, president of the Washington Baseball club, on the all-important issue and received from him a most conclusive and encouraging statement. Following is Griffith's statement quoted directly from the release sheet sent us by Sam.

"I took the matter," speaking to Sam, "up with Judge Landis," the Washington president began, "and he requested me to see you immediately on my return home.

"Both the commissioner and I know that colored baseball is deserving of some recognition in the organized game. In fact, there are very few big league owners who are not aware of the fact that the time is not far off when colored players will take their places beside those of other races in the major leagues.

"However, I am not so sure that time has arrived yet.

"There are some mighty good players in Negro baseball, but there are not nearly as many as seems to be the general belief. And this is no fault of theirs.

"The economic stress through which the American Negro race has been forced to grow has so hindered their athletes that the group itself is not to be blamed for their shortcomings in certain phases of athletic life.

"Men who have to work hard at their other labors cannot be expected to put down the tools of their means of living, come out on the diamond and show the same finesse that other men, not so handicapped, can display.

"It is unreasonable to demand of the colored baseball player the consistent peak performance that is the requisite of the game as it is played in the big leagues.

"The plane of perfection on which organized baseball exists is the result of FIFTY YEARS of slow, sometimes discouraging development. Negro baseball, though still in its infancy, has advanced on the same rapid strides that characterizes the general progress of the race. But despite this, there are few, if any, players who could match the pace of the major league game in day-after-day play.

"There are other unfavorable factors, also.

"Professional baseball has in it fellows from all sections of the country. There are many different types and characters, with a variety of creeds and a wide range of intelligence levels.

"In the stands at any park on a given day can be found these same elements of race hatred, jealousy and illiteracy, to name a few. And the baseball fan is the harshest critic in the world. Believe me, I know.

"A lone Negro in the game will face rotten, caustic comments. He will be made the target of cruel, filthy epithets.

"I do not try to win your opinion when I say I certainly would not want to be the one to have to take it.

"Of course, I know there will come a time when the ice will have to be broken. Both by the organized game and by the colored player who is willing to volunteer—and thus become a martyr to the cause. But my feeling is that the best answer to the inevitable problem is to be able to meet the wolves with a brand of play that will smack them between the eyes, and KEEP ON SMACKING THEM.

"I shudder to think what might have happened had one of the two principals been colored in the Bill Dickey-Carl Reynolds trouble of a few years back (Dickey, New York Yankee catcher, during an argument at home plate, struck Reynolds, Washington outfielder, while the latter's back was turned, the blow breaking Reynolds's jaw).

"Serious trouble might also have resulted had either Buddy Myer or Al Simmons been colored when the two engaged in their little scuffle out at second base even more recently."

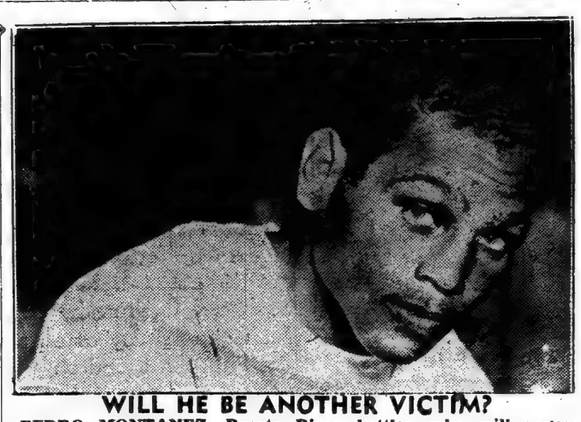
"My belief is, that the answer lies in the setting up of a single league of eight REAL, bona-fide clubs. A league that is going to be run on the level, one that is going to completely remove any and all forms of shady goings-on.

"Establishment of such a circuit as will introduce complete confidence in the minds of its supporters will just as certainly guarantee eventual recognition by the solons who run the paying sport.

"It will then follow that this group, with the measure of development that is expected, cannot be ignored when world's series time comes around."



Again I cut in.

"What part would organized baseball be willing to play in such an arrangement?" Sam asked.

"It would do everything it possibly could, I'm sure," was the answer.

"Would it be willing to take over administration of the sport?"

"I feel positive it would," Griffith replied.

WILL HE BE ANOTHER VICTIM?
PEDRO MONTANEZ, Puerto Rican battler, who will oppose Henry Armstrong in Madison Square Garden.

Predict $75,000 Gate in Armstrong-Montanez Go

A sweetheart if there ever was one, fight enthusiasts labeled the match between Henry Armstrong and Pedro Monanez, announced last Friday for New York's Madison Square Gardens on March 18.

Boxing promoters thought it was a sweetheart also as they predicted a $75,000 gate for two of the most popular boxers in the game.

Armstrong has in the past six months climbed to the top as the greatest figher in the world, pound for pound, and as feather-weight champion of the world, and Montanez a Porto Rican, is one of the best exponents of the game ever to come from Latin America.

The winner will be matched with Lou Ambers, lightweight ruler, in an outdoor title go in June. Montanez dropped a decision to Ambers last fall.

Eulace Peacock to Attempt Comeback; Enters Carnival

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27—Eulace Peacock, ex-Temple speed king, will attempt a comeback. He has entered the 50-yard dash, one of the features of the Penn A. C. track and field carnival to be held at Convention hall on February 11.

Peacock, handicapped by two years of misfortunes, hopes the race will launch him off to a good season. Leg injuries and other mishaps kept him off the Olympic team.

In 1935 he flashed into prominence by dazzling triumphs over Jesse Owens.

Though he won a few races last year and clipped the world indoor record for 60 yards in Canada, Peacock could not regain his 1935 stride. In that year he beat Owens and Ralph Metcalfe in the 100 meters, and then whipped Owens again in the broad jump to top the National A. A. U. championship.

INVADED EUROPE

Later, Peacock led a successful invasion of Europe when he paced a U. S. team and won 30 of 31 events with an all-star team. He was then hailed as America's outstanding Olympic hope.

But at the 1935 Penn relays, disaster overtook the Temple flash. He pulled a tendon while anchoring his team in the 110 yards relay. Peacock was laid up for the balance of the season and missed out in the final trials for the Olympics.

Middle Distance Star Jim Herbert Runs 'For Fun'

Although you hear talk of subsidization of college athletes wherever you turn, there's one athlete, Jim Herbert, Negro middle distance runner--who runs for fun. This was brought out last week in an interview with Herbert by a New York newspaper man.

In fact, Herbert quit his job with the New York Curb Exchange, for which he ran and won many meets last year, and decided to run for his school, New York University.

"Gazing proudly down at the big white "N. Y. U." on his violet sweater, Herbert told me about it in the locker room under the Ohio field stand," the journalist reported.

"I've always wanted to run for N. Y. U." he said. "Running for club teams doesn't compare with representing your school and fellow students. There's no feeling of loyalty or spirit in club-running."

LOST HIS JOB

By transferring his allegiance to his alma-mater, the Negro runner lost the job he had held with Curb Exchange. But he passed a Civil Service exam and got a job as a Post Office clerk, giving him more time for his studies and his running.

Representing the Curb Exchange on the track amounts to little more than running to hold a job in most cases, he said as he changed to his track clothes. And consistent failure or even one or two failures can mean the end of that.

Jim has been running since he was a boy in knee pants. For two years he wore a Stuyvesant high School shirt. His eyes lit up as he declared that he was still loyal to Stuyvesant and followed the doings of its various teams faithfully.

Joe Guesses Wrong in Braddock-Farr Choices; He Picks Farr

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Joe Louis' followers are hoping that Joe doesn't guess as wrong in his February bout with Nathan Mann, as he did in picking the winner of the Braddock-Farr match, fought here last Friday night.

From a ringside seat in Madison Square Garden, Joe chose Tommy Farr to whip Braddock by a knockout. Farr, it is remembered, stayed ten rounds with Louis in a title bout, Louis winning by a decision.

Braddock, former titleholder, outpointed Farr in a ten-round match. A two to one underdog in the final betting, Braddock staged a perfectly gauged fight to close with a rush and win the nod from two of the three officials.

Kings in Last Winter Setto

Diamond fans had their last opportunity for a time to witness Winter League baseball last Sunday afternoon as Philadelphia's Royal Colored Giants proved their claim to kings of White Sox Park, defeating Joe Pirrone's All-Stars in a special post-season game.

Because Pirrone's outfit had appeared only once during the past season at White Sox, Sunday's game was staged by special request. Funds from the filt, meagre, due to a thin crowd, were used to finance the Giants' trip back East.

The first game, a double-headed, resulted in a 14-5 score. The second tallied at 6-3.

Pitching honors for the Giants was divided between Lefty Matlock and Chet Brewer, with Smiling Mackey behind the plate. Lefty Cordell, Lee Stine and Bill Miller were on the mound for the Pirrones.

Winter League baseball has been a colorful and reasonably successful affair this year. In spite of poor competition for the Giants, fans have been faithful in their attendance and hilarious in their enthusiasm.

Most spectacular players on the Giants through the season were One Wing West, who won a special audience behind first base by his sleight of hand methods of catching the apple, and Mules Suttles, home run ace.

M-G-M CASABA ARTISTS WIN HARD-FOUGHT TILT FROM 'BOJANGLES', 47-39

By Almena Davis

The streamlining of basketball has attracted an enthusiastic following to the sport, it became apparent this past week-end by attendance at basketball matches played throughout the city.

Although medical officials in the East are opposing factions responsible for the elimination of the center jump, thus speeding up the game, basketball has taken on new life for spectators and is bringing out enthusiastic crowds, unprecedented in the life of the sport.

A capacity crowd at the Patriotic Hall on Saturday night saw Bill Robinson's Bojangles give increasing competition to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer five, composed of former Olympic Games players. Although the M-G-M's came out on top, 47-39, in the match that barred no holds and gave no quarter, they had to work hard for the victory.

Paced by Ernest Kilgore, former Los Angeles Junior college forward, the Bojangles carried a determined offensive to the studio representatives.

The Bojangles had been beaten twice by the white lads and were determined to come near the winning side of the score board this time.

Fast dribbling and elusively expert handling of the ball characterised the game that kept the spectators on their feet, cheering as madly as at a football game.

However, handicapped by lack of practice, and baffled by the extreme height of two of the M. G. M. mainstays, the boys could never overcome their opponents. I predict that when Kilgore, King, Chism and Harding get their "eye", the scoreboard will read in their favor, however.

Of the guards, Wilbur Ashford, Spot Thornton and Drippy Williams, too much can not be said in praise. Ashford, especially, played a remarkable fine game, while Thornton combined good defensive work with several bull-eyes.

"Y" BULLIES WIN

One preliminary to the game was played by the 28th street Y. M. C. A.'s 2Y8 Bullies, opposing the Pasadena Y team (white). The Bullies, led by Bluett, an elongated center from Jefferson high school, won 51 to 33.

Bluett was high point man with 18 points. The line-up in addition to Bluett, included Goodloe, captain, and Arnaud, guards, Roberts and Jackson forwards. Substitutions were Turner and Davis.

Second preliminary was played by a Chinese "Y" team opposing another white branch. Although the sympathy of the grandstand was with the Chinese, they failed to overcome a lead that jockeyed between three and four points throughout the game.

The Chinese, lately taking up the sport, are fine on the defensive end, but are as slow in shooting as they were in building the Ancient Wall.

MILLION DOLLAR GAME

Fans, basketball and dance, thronged into the Elks auditorium Sunday night as the Million Dollar Studios presented an innovation in a basketball-dance, all for the price of one admission.

The Million Dollar team led by Ralph Cooper, star of several all-colored movies, played the Burank All-Stars.

Preceding that game the 2Y8 bullies bowed to the Alhambra Y team 31-41. According to Nate George, teach, the boys' record stands at five won and four lost.

Detroit After Joe-Max Bout in June

The United Press reported Friday that Joe Jacobs, New York promoter, had been made an offer by Detroit to stage the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling match there next June.

Because of anti-Nazi boycotts against Schmeling in New York, Jacobs is said to be seriously considering the offer.

Preliminary negotiations call for use of Briggs Stadium, home of the Tigers' baseball club. The seating capacity is being boosted to approximately 85,000.

If Louis fights there it will be the first time since he broke into the big money that he will have appeared before a home town crowd.

Louis at present is training for a 15-round fight with Nathan Mann of New Haven, Conn., Feb. 13. He will be risking the crown he took from Jim Braddock in Chicago with an eight-round knockout last June.

Louis' last title defense was against Tommy Farr in New York, a battle he won with a 15-round decision.

Bryant Allen Cited By AAU

Bryant Allen, sensational Jefferson high school sprinter, was the only Negro named on the All-Scholastic team, selected by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the National A. A. U.

Allen was named for his performances of the 220 yard dash, although he reputedly holds the scholastic record in the 100 yard dash also. Wilbur Miller, holder of the 440 yard run record, formerly of Jefferson, was not cited.

Five Negroes made the All-American track team chosen by Ferris. They were Ben Johnson, 60 meter run, John Woodruff, 800 meters, Mel Walker, high jump, Kermit King, broadjump, and Eulace Peacock, pentathalon.

Johnson, Woodruff and King were also named on the All-college team as was Dave Albritton, Ohio State jumper.

Bay Cagers Get Going

The East Bay Basketball league swung into action this month with the North Oakland branch YMCA team, the only colored five in the competition, according to news from northern California.

The Y boys are rated among the strongest contenders for the championship, it is stated. Coached by the Y's executive secretary, Richard Smith, the team has lost only four games in two years' competition.

The roster of the team includes Captain Lionel Wilson, Ted Allen, Alden Blick, Marion Wildy, Ernest Allen, Herman Pete, Elmer Romaine, Norman Burdette, James Humphreies, Wendell Anderson, Billy Dixon, and Eddie Rose.

Tuskegee to Play Wilberforce, Chi

The 1938 football schedule for the Southern conference was released from Tuskegee this week by R. S. Darnaby, secretary-treasurer of the Southern conference.

Tuskegee's encounter with Wilberforce in Chicago, now an annual classic, will be played on October 15, according to the schedule. Tuskegee will wind up the season playing Prairie View at Houston, Texas, on Jan. 2 of 1939 and will open hte season encountering LeMoyne college at the Institute on Sept. 23.

Brud Holland Fails to Make Liberty's All-American '11'

Brud Holland, Negro end from Cornell university, chosen for an All-American berth on the official Walter Camp team, failed to make Liberty's All-Players' All-American football team, the roster of which was published in the Januarsy 22 issue of the Liberty magazine.

Holland was replaced by John Wysocki, Villanova, Texas end, and Frank Souchak of Pittsburgh. Liberty gave no reason for the selection, although comment was made that settling the right to first team honors among the linesmen proved a tougher assignment than any. Holland's name was placed on the second team, which included no other Negroes.

Honorable mention was given to Woodrow Strode and Kenny Washington, end and halfback respectively of UCLA.

Significant was it that Washington, West coast sensation at the halfback position, did not make the all-sectional selection of a Pacific coast team. Strode was named, while Chapman and Gray of California at Berkeley and Oregon State, went into the halfback positions.

Claims McVey is "Washed Up"

Louis Campbell, sports editor of The Oakland Voice, opined in his column last week that "Sunny" Jim McVey, Oakland bomber, is washed up.

According to Campbell, McVey lost in his recent bout at the Oakland arena in three rounds.

L. A. Hoop Star Leads Howard Five

Howard University's varsity basketball team has promising qualities of coming out on top of the heap this season.

One of the youngsters, Herbert Jones of Los Angeles is one of the reasons for its success thus far in the season.

Jones, one time flash on the team of the Polytechnic high school, is in his senior year at Howard. Standing five feet, nine and half inches tall and weighing 165 pounds, he combines a fast court game with a good assortment of passes.

A ball hawk, he is one of the best shots in the forward line-up.

Herbie will graduate this June in Physical Education.

MINISTERS TURN TO ECONOMIC PROBLEMS IN MONTHLY MEETING

Housing, "Restricted Area" Action Taken by Body

A definite stand was taken by the ministers of Los Angeles in the monthly meeting of the Inter-Denominational Ministers Alliance Monday morning in the Christian church at 33rd and Hooper avenue when they brought into their meeting Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, who spoke on the housing and relief problem and Dr. L. C. Cleaves, who threw a challenge in an address, "What Shall Men Do About It?"

Assemblyman Hawkins presented facts on the housing situation and the dismissal of more than 9,000 women from the sewing projects throughout the state; and Dr. Cleaves aroused the council when he attributed the problems of the day to the dearth of men of courage.

In response to these appeals, under the leadership of Rev. S. M. Beane, president of the Alliance, the body voted to investigate the following issues: housing, the transportation of inexperienced cotton pickers to the San Joaquin Valley, and the "restricted area" problem with special reference to the allegedly reported attitude of Al Jolson against Negroes living in certain areas. These investigations will be made by the fact-finding committee of the organization.

"What Faces a World of Disorder and Distrust?" is the question for discussion at the Sunday night services of the Seventh Day Adventist church, 40th place and Wadsworth Ave. The Sabbath day sermon (Saturday at 11:00 a. m.) will be on "The Mountain Pageant by Six Men". Pastor Rodgers is known for his definite frankness in all sermons.

At Birch St. Christian church, Elder A. W. Jacobs will continue his series of sermons on "The Church and Its Adminstrations" with the subject, "The Unity of the Church". The pastor, choir and congregation of the Bethlehem Baptist church will worship with the Birch street parishioners next Sunday at 3 p. m.

Missionary Day will be observed at both Lincoln Memorial Congregational church and Hamilton M. E. Sunday. At the former church, Mrs. Sarah Rogers, president of the Missionary committee, will be in charge of the services and present Miss Alice Rounds, a returned missionary from Africa; at the latter church the pastor, Rev. S. M. Beane will speak from the subject, "Wholeheartedness" as a special thank offering sermon for the society's annual observance.

"The Home of the Soul" will be the subject of what promises to be a highly spiritualistic service at the morning services of Wesley Chapel M. E. church with E. W. Rakestraw, minister, in the pulpit. In the evening, a special consecration service of Joseph Crawford, director of music; and Lucille Blayechettai, organist, with another inspiring sermon by Rev. Rakestraw, who celebrated his first anniversary in Los Angeles last Sunday morning.

The Rt. Rev. Noah W. Williams, bishop of the Fifth Episcopal district, will preach at the morning services of the First A. M. E. church, at Eighth and Towne avenue, Sunday morning. Bishop Williams, internationally known religious figure, who has travelled extensively here and abroad is recognized as one of the greatest organizers and orators of the African Methodist Episcopal church. He is also outstanding for the work he has accomplished in religious education at Western university, Kansas. The public is urged to attend promptly. Prof. Jester Hairston will be in charge of the music for the services.

Missionary day will also be observed at the Second Baptist church with Mrs. S. A. Reed, president, in charge. Special speakers have been engaged for the services; a program will be rendered in the evening. Dr. W. J. Butler will preach at the Harris Memorial CME church Sunday morning. On Thursday evening, Bible study, prayer and class services will be held.

The "Greenback Dollar Silent Parade" was held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Each participant wore a greenback dollar and did each repeated as the parade moved forward, "Lord, evangelize our church". A sermon by Rev. E. A. Anderson concluded the services, with seven accessions following. At eight in the evening, dedication services were held for the recently installed pipe organ. Both choirs sang and Rev. F. L. Taylor addressed the congregation. Pastor S. A. Williams will bring a special message at the Wednesday night Bible Study period and the public is invited to attend.

The Antioch Baptist church had as their speaker last Sunday morning, the Rev. G. W. Sneed, in the afternoon, Rev. F. A. Jones, and at the evening services, Rev. W. L. Gaston. Rev. W. L. Walton is pastor.

The People's Independent church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, is sponsoring an interesting and unique program for men only next Sunday afternoon, January 30, at 3:30. The subject, "Men's Attitude Towards the Church", will be discussed by Dr. E. M. Hercules, president of the Ideal Bible College, Chicago, Ill. Because of the speaker's wide and varied experience in dealing with men, this special service promises to be a rare treat.

In the absence of Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor, who left this week for a vacation in the East, Dr. Hercules will preach at both services next Sunday.

First A. M. E. Zion Church, Pico and Paloma, Rev. Walter R. Lovell, Pastor.

The Children's Pew Rally at the evening services last Sunday night swelled the attendance noticeably for the opening of the mid-revival. The pastor will preach every night this week except Friday night when Rev. Mrs. Jessie Buford will bring the message. This will also close the all day session of the Missionary Mass Meeting which will be held Friday beginning at 10 a. m. All missionaries and the public are invited. Bishop and Mrs. Brown of the connection left last week to attend the Bishop's Council at New Bern, N. C.

An annual celebration of the birthday of J. C. Price, founder of Livingston College, will be in the form of a banquet on February 10th in the dining hall of the church. Mr. J. C. Banks is chairman.

'Frisco Tenor Sings at Independent

In what is expected to be one of the most brilliant musical events of the season, David Sands, romantic tenor of San Francisco, will appear in recital in the main auditorium of the People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, Sunday afternoon, February 6, at 4 o'clock.

According to Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, director of the senior choir of the church, under whose sponsorship Mr. Sands is being presented to Los Angeles music lovers, that organization from time to time will feature some of the leading artists of the race during the current season.

The concert will be free to the general public, and a capacity audience is expected to greet this appealing young singer.

Nearly a thousand persons enjoyed the delightful program of the choir last Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. Bilbrew presented the group in the opening of the fourth Sunday series. The originality of the program and the excellent numbers received the highest praise from the lovers of fine music who filled the main auditorium of the church.

Clevelanders Honor Bishop Phillips

Cleveland turned out en masse on two successive days, January 16 and 17, to honor Bishop Charles Henry Phillips, senior Bishop of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church on his eightieth birthday anniversary. The celebration was held in the Lane Metropolitan C. M. E. church, 46th and Cedar Avenue with the Reverends H. Wadsworth Evans, pastor of Lane Metropolitan Church and J. C. Winborn of Phillip's Chapel as joint hosts. The concluding program was presided over by Bishop J. A. Hamlett, Kansas City.

The celebration was initiated by four annual conferences last fall— California, Ohio, Kentuckey, and West Kentuckey— and was assured by formal resolution presented and passed unanimously by the California annual conference which was held in Phillip's Temple, Los Angeles in October.

HUNDREDS HEAR GOV. MERRIAM INVITE AME CONFERENCE TO L. A.

Says California Needs Spiritual Inspiration in Church Speech

"I came here sincerely to extend an invitation to that great body of this church to bring its general conference here in 1940 because I feel that it will be an inspiration not only to this church and race, but to all churches and Christian institutions of Southern California," declared Governor Frank C. Merriam Sunday afternoon to a thronged house at the First AME church, Eighth and Eowne avenue, in extending an invitation to Bishop Noah W. Williams to be carried to the General Conference Commission, meeting in Montgomery, Ala., next month.

The invitation was graciously and briefly accepted by the Rt. Rev. Williams, who had preceded the governor in a brilliant address on the work of the AME church and its philosophy of "self help".

In the course of his address, Governor Merriam pointed out that California was in need of spiritual rejuvenation that such a meeting could give and that too many men of great affairs were lacking in the necessary spiritual quality necessary to a worthwhile life.

COMMENDS CHURCH

He further contended that the breadth of an organization that could bring men from Africa and every corner of America for consideration of their spiritual and educational interests could only inspire the state. He commended the influence of the AME church that has had a significant part, both in the church and political life of America, pointing out that its power had been felt even in Washington affairs.

The program, designed to climax the drive to bring the General conference to Los Angeles in 1940, was arranged and presided over by the pastor of the historic First AME church, Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, who is a candidate for the bishopric.

Following the opening of the program, Presiding Elder C. A. Harris of the Los Angeles district, presented Bishop Williams whose address served as a rich and informing background for the governor's invitation.

Governor Merriam was presented by ex-assemblyman Frederick M. Roberts. Upon his introduction, the Ben Bowie Post of the American Legion serving as a guard of honor and the congregation rose in one accord to the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner". Other invitations were extended by Commander George Burleson of the American Legion; Atty. Willis O. Tyler, on behalf of the laity; and a telegram from the mayor of Santa Monica.

Ministers throughout Los Angeles and vicinity numbering more than a score participated in the meeting. Music was contributed by the senior choir, under the direction of Prof. Jester Hairston with Miss Gladys Wells as soloist.

'Love' Sermon at Christian Science Church

"We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him." These words of John are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Among the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from Matthew: "These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not: But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Our Master said to every follower: 'Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature! . . . Heal the sick! . . . Love thy neighbor as thyself!' It was this theology of Jesus which healed the sick and the sinning."

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN CHAPPELL
Social Editor

Tuesday morning . . . ten o'clock . . . I'm hungry, but the powers-that-be are wasting no hints . . . I'm being reminded in sundry ways that the deadline is right here . . . so, if much is missed and nothing given all the space, forgive and forget . . . there'll be other days . . . I hope, I hope, I hope!

Early Monday morning, Yvonne Aylor called to have me modify the bit of news about her and Cecil Parks . . . and she was very cordial about it, too. Her immediate reason for coming home from Wiley was the death of her aunt, Mrs. Ruth Spates. We offer condolences and want Yvonne to know that everybody's still with her. By the by, she promised to let me know when the "mentioned event" comes off, and, in turn, I'll let you know . . . hones'.

ON SUNDRY DOINGS:

Tonight, the Wilberforce Club looks at plans for Founder's Day of their alma mammy . . . in a meeting at the Alvin Brownlees (Margaret Wallace) at East Forty-fifth street. The Deltas will take over the Book Club's night and move it up one week to observe Negro History Week on February 11. The week begins on the sixth, you know . . . or don't you?

Mrs. Edna McPherson of Budlong avenue, entertained one score and twelve lovely ladies at a bridge luncheon Thursday to compliment several visiting friends from Kansas City who are finding California hospitality above par . . . and making the most of it. Welcome.

It isn't generally known that the James O'Neals (Delma Strickland), who created quite a stir last June by inviting folks to Riverside to their wedding and skipping off to the Angel City to get married the day before, are springing another surprise . . . soon . . . there's a junior O'Neal on the way . . . in three months. Reports have it (mind you, I said reports) that Jimmy is quite chesty and wants to know if any of his contemporaries are in his class . . . . . among them Emmett Ashford . . . Oh, well, people will talk at basketball games you know . . . Eoline Thornton was thrilled to watch the finesse of hubby, "Spot" Thornton, in playing a brilliant game.

AMONG THE DISTINGUISHED:

I don't know when I've felt such a glow of sincerity from a simple "How are you?" as I did last Friday when I met Miss Georgette Harvey of the New York Theatre Guild in the lobby of the Dunbar Hotel . . . She's one of those rare, sincere persons who smiles straight from her heart and you are suddenly lifted from any mood to concentrate on her. Miss Harvey is enjoying herself between rehearsals for "Porgy and Bess" . . . so many old friends are seeing to that. Thelma Brown of the Brown Sisters, was her hostess Saturday at dinner, and Fay Jackson, our theatrical ed, was seen "dinnering" the lady in continental style in the Swing Hi Sunday night; also in the party was Nora Holt of music circles, and a gentleman . . . a ver' handsome gent, too . . . sorry, I didn't get his name . . . By the by, Miss Harvey is a member of the original "Porgy and Bess" cast.

Others here to participate in the performance include Anne Wiggins Brown, who is accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mayme Brown . . . they're stopping at the Mitchell Apartments on the Westside . . . and Eva Jessye with her famous chorus . . . and J. Rosamond Johnson and Todd Duncan, professor of music at Howard . . . these distinguished gentlemen are at the Dunbar with other celebs.

LOVE MARCHES ON:

And carries in its arms the happy E. D. Jeffersons (Rosie Pearl Busby) who graciously acknowledged the good wishes of their many friends at their marriage reception last Wednesday, January 19, in the bride's home at 1136 East Forty-second. Mrs. Jefferson is the daughter of Anderson Busby . . . may all the happy hours be yours for the taking . . . may they lengthen into days and years!

Nothing beats the good family get-togethers . . . Mrs. L. Bost and daughter, Wilma Kellogg, who took time out from their busy Fresno life and dropped down to spend the weekend with daughter and sister, Mrs. E. Thomas of West Los Angeles . . . Sunday afternoon the trio journeyed over to Pasadena to chat with cousins at the home of the Vessie McAfees, 161 Hammond St.

Here from El Paso, Texas, is Mrs. Marie Bloodworth, who arrived last Thursday, January 20, to visit with friends . . . the W. B. Saffolds in East Twenty-ninth St.

La Jovial dance Saturday night in the Elks' Blue Room was a lovely affair, I hear. So lovely indeed that a number of parties and breakfasts came afterwards . . . among them that of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown and daughter, who breakfasted friends in their home at 3707 Cimarron. Guests included: Messrs. and Mesdames L. C. Robinson, L. Eades, Clyde C. Banks, L. Hernie and daughter.

Will do you a better turn next week . . . promise to start early . . . b'lieve me?

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

DR. and MRS. W. D. CARTER who celebrated their thirteenth anniversary in the pastorate of the Friendship Baptist Church with a full week's program participated in and attended by leading civic and church men of Pasadena. Rev. Carter's record is unexcelled; to his credit is the newly built $100,000 church which has been paid off to less than $7,000 with a membership of six hundred persons. Fletcher Smith served as chairman of the celebration.

'Mother' Cook Celebrates 95th Birthday with Fete

A surprise birthday tea was given by Mrs. Gertrude Gotier Brown on January 16, in honor of her Grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Cook. More than 75 persons made a beaten path to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown to see this still active woman at the age of 95 years.

Mother Cook came to Los Angeles with her family forty five years ago, and identified herself with the Second Baptist Church, and unless rain prevents she still takes her seat as Senior Deaconess at 10:30 each Sunday morning and remains throughout the entire service. Mother Cook was the mother of five boys and one girl, all of whom have died leaving her to make her home with her Grand Daughter and great grand children.

Entertainment was furnished throughout the afternoon by the following persons: little Miss Roselyn Ector, who presented Mother Cook with a basket of flowers and sang Good Morning to You, sacred music selection by the New Hope Baptist Choir; Shubert's Serenade, by Elouise Brown, reading from Shakespeare by Mrs. Myrtle Dunham; guitar selections by Mr. Bud Scott. Instrumental music and request numbers by Gene Wright, who was also celebrating his birthday. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers of the season. Mother Cook wearing gardenias and lillies of the valley. The decorating was done by Mr. James Cook, Grandson of Mother Cook.

Others who assisted in making Mother Cook happy on her birthday were Mrs. Lauretta Thomas, Grand daughter; Mrs. Lizzy Cook, daughter in law; Mrs. Dorothy Givens; life long friend; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lawrie; Mrs. Clifford Bush and Mrs. Wilda Smith.

By EDYTHE MEAUX

It may have been final exam time to some people but Cupid took not the slightest note of it when he finished his last bit of work over the week end as Ollie Goodloe, daughter of Mrs. Drusiller Goodloe, and Roland Hamilton took their vows at the First AME Zion church.

Quite one of the prettiest weddings, the bride was lovely in a white satin princess styled gown. Her bridesmaids were most picturesque in brocade taffeta designed with small tight bodices which buttoned from the neck to waistline in the back, puffed sleeves, and full skirts. On their heads the bridesmaids wore small Juliet caps of taffeta with nose veils and each carried an old fashioned nosegay.

And so another of the members of Troy and Chapman's Sigma chapter of AKA joins the ranks of the newly weds.

Bojangles' basketball boys are regular crowd drawers these days and times and the interested spectators seem to give the players just that necessary support to make them turn in a bang up game, as was exhibited last week-end when they played M. G. M. at Patriotic hall.

Sighted in the crowd of rooters lending lusty moral support to the team in general and his brother in particular was Emmet Ashford, who was most heartily assisted by Willa Gene Ashford--a little on the quiet side but most intent on the game were Bob Green and Jesse Robinson, as were also the Sam Beadles (Maxine Tingle of the up north Tingles).

Jimmy Robinson--the Uclan Robinson--and Al Brewer were a little less suppressed with their hearty yells of approval--while Billy Turner shouted directions from the grandstand . . . . and Mrs. "Spot" Thornton attributed all of Spot Thornton's successful plays to her bit of grandstand coaching.

Scenes over the walls of Troy B. E. (Before Exams): Carole Ivey, who attended tht YWCA conference in San Diego the other week end, working away busily on a term paper; Lois Williams Rabb, not quite sure, which term paper to begin on at this date; Hortense Matthews Graham, back after a bad cold had confined her at home for a few days . . . glad to have you back old girl; Chris Wright, looking most nonchalant . . . and somehow we think a bit malicious because we kidded him while he was in midst of his finals . . . and now he's all finished; Charles Ray and Thebaud Jeffers, relaxing just before they start turning those leaves and burning the midnight oil.

Although in the midst of those gloomy dreaded tests, the lassies Alpha Gamma chapter of AKA out UCLA way are planning an after exam celebration for a bit of relaxation. Looking quite smug and a bit secretve, Edith Jones let it be known that the dance was to be staged Saturday, February 5 at Ross Snyder, and that it was to be a circus dance. Any attempt to pry further information of the significance of the circus theme from her merely brought an invitation to come and find out . . . which is also an invitation to you, my readers . . . or should I say reader?

Last Sunday afternoon from two to four little Bobbie Don Gresham celebrated his fifth birthday with twenty of his little playmates and friends.

Those wishing Bobby happy returns of the day were Bebe Jean Gresham, Gertrude Small, Arthur Sibler, Leonard Howard, jr., Jay Edwin Hill, Herbert Hanley, Johnnie Howard and Joan Pierce, Waycola Jackson, Charles Gresham, jr., and a number of others.

In Pasadena, Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong surprised Mrs. Pearl Roberts at her home Monday on her birthday by inviting sixteen friends who were born in January to a six o'clocg dinner.

Mrs. Roscoe C. Robinson honored her daughter, Margaret White, on her birthday with a breakfast Monday morning. Covers were laid for twelve guests. They were Mmes. Margaret White, Nettie McDonald, Nola Johnson, Marie Abernathy, Benita Evans, Gertrude Lee, Nellie Holmes, Esther Greenly, Ethel Thornton, Marion Thedford, Miss Charlotte Strange. Gardenias marked the table appointments. Because of the presence of so many guests who were born in January, a January club was organized following the breakfast with Mrs. Marie Abernathy as president.

St. Phillip's Musicale

An interesting program is planned featuring many popular artists, including Mrs. Freda Shaw, Mr. Freddie Clark, Mrs. Felix Spurlock, Mrs. Fannie Benjamin, Mrs. Helen Dundee and others. The admission is 25 cents.

L. B. Elks' Club Reopens with Birthday Party

Marking the re-opening of the Elks' Club no. 520 West Esther street, Long Beach, R. O. Wilson, 1140 California Avenue entertained in the new private dining room of the building to honor the birthday of his wife, Mrs. Elrena Wilson. A spaghetti dinner climaxed the evening of dancing and light entertainment.

Tables were centered with floral decorations a beautifully frosted birthday cake with lighted candles was the piece de resistance. Guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Jack Fritz, Prentice Henry, Robert Broadaux, C. D. Henry, Beateu Hugley, Miss Alberta Chambers and Eddy Wilson.

The newly decorated Elks' club has been recently opened under new management and promises to serve as the principal social center for the city. Clarence Chambers, Worshipful master of Sunset Lodge no. 26, F. and A. M. is proprietor of the establishment Miss Ruth Chambers, worthy matron of Queen Beach Chapter no. 33 is hostess and LeRoy Christy is manager of the bar. Among the improvements are the commodious kitchen, barbeque pit, lunch counter, dining hall, banquet rooms etc. The hall is open various fraternal meetings and social functions.

ODDS ARE EVEN IN LA JOVIAL FASHIONABLE 'DAY AT RACES'

All handicaps aren't held at Santa Anita and you don't need jockeys or horses to have one . . . La Jovial's "Day at the Races" dance Saturday night proved that when they brought spring and the track to the Elks' ballroom in a fashionable handicap that featured twenty-two entries. The payoff, in fun and music, is still the talk of the social whirl.

In the background was the beautiful club house against a landscape of mountains and trees with Benjamin's ace music makers in the foreground. In a moment of quiet, the entries emerged from the club house to greet their guests displaying new straws, felts, and crepes of sunry shapes and sizes to set off spring gowns . . . five hundred guests nodded approval and the race--dance, if you please--was on until the wee hours and beyond the wee hours to breakfasts etc.

Favorites who lived up to their reputations were Mrs. Nettie B. Reese, club mother; Mildred Moore, presdent; Nell Saunders, vice-president; Eva L. Buckner, financial secretary; Victorina Carter, corresponding secretary; Thelma Lester, treasurer; Addie Greene, business manager; Alitta Hamilton, reporter; Katie Lewis, sergeant-at-arms; Ann Powell, critic; Velma Allen, parliamenterian; Mary Eades, custodian. Other entries who made splendid showings include: Ruth Butler, Lenora Brooks, Hazel Franklin, Miriam Johnson, Grace LaVigne, Mildred Lawrence, Estelle Moss, Flossie Simpson, Helen Watkins, Thelma Willis and Elizabeth Lancer. Entries declared included Naomi Jones, recording secretary; Ethel Garner, honorary member and Ernestine Bowles.

The LITTLE COUNSELLOR lub under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Mack of South Los Angeles entered one of its members, Tashamuri Saki, as a contestant in the "Sweet Party" given by the Council of Clubs. Little Tashamuri received 27 boxes of candy and a cash prize of $10.00. The candy was later auctioned off to club members.

At a recent meeting of the Thrifty Housewives, Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke reviewed the story of Porgy and Bess in a very inimitable and striking manner; a marked interest was shown by those attending.

At the last meeting of the club on Jan. 20, Mrs. Mable Gray spoke from the subject "Yours Today". Mrs. Wylma Windsor served as hostess at the first meeting, and Miss Mary Wright at the latter.

SNIFFLES AND BOMBS

Now that the annual sniffles season is once more in full blow, it is interesting to note that the cost of easing that cold in the head has gone up considerably. The reason: Japan's conquest of China.

Ephedrin, a prime ingredient in most of those nose-drop preparations, is one of the leading Chinese products, and has for years been distributed to the world through the port of Shanghai. With the ephedrin supply in the control of the Japanese invaders, American pharmaceutical houses have been forced to raise the prices of their preparations containing the drug.

That the problems of war — the bombing of defenseless humans, the murder of children, the devastation of civilian cities — should be brought home to the average American by a cold in the head, indicates with clarity the ever-widening effect which war has on the peoples of the world.

The next time your head begins to beat with the tramping feet of a multitude of germs, let it remind you of the armies slogging through the winter mud of China. Let your own minor discomfort warn of the major pain and suffering brought to a peaceful nation by the dogs of war.

CUPID AND THE KING

Cupid's prankish darts have again pierced the armored shield of His Majesty, the King.

The scene is not England this time, but Rumania, once more the brewing pot of the Balkans' troubled politics. "The woman I love" is the red-headed, half-Jewish sweetheart of bibulous King Carol.

Even as Crown Prince, Carol's affection for this woman provoked violent opposition. Rather than quit her, he chose exile and took his sweetheart with him. Doubtless he would still be in exile, if he had not been invited back.

But within the fortnight, Rumania has swung pro-Fascist and legalized Jew-baiting has become the order of the new day. Since the woman of the king's choice is Jewish, Carol must choose again between love and kingship.

As the nerve-center of the month's most significant news, anti-Semitism's rise to power in the Balkans may also open the newst chapter in the history of Monarchy and the Woman.

FORECAST FOR SPRING!

Possibly not until March winds blow will it be safe to haul down the recession's wintry storm warnings. Nevertheless, auspicious signs have come rustling in with the New Year!

The pulses of the nation's retailers beat faster and more cheerfully than they had in a year, when early January's sales were totted up for the country as a whole. The surprise of the month came to these enterprisers when they found, instead of an expected post-holiday slump, a sales jump of three to ten per cent during January's first week compared to last year's identical period.

Meanwhile, the employment slack in the nation's automobile industry which poured new thousands into the ranks of the jobless before Christmas is again growing taut.

Today upward of 86,000 workers, discharged from a few big plants during December, are again back on the assembly and delivery lines, as the "Back to work!" drive gathers increasing momentum.

Conviction grows among leaders in government and business that industry's winter-time toboggan slide will have disappeared by Spring, along with winter's snows. The evidence indicates that forecast may prove correct!

NEGROES ON GOV. MERRIAM'S WAITING LIST

Not a day passes save Sunday when Governor Merriam tacks another board on his political fence via appointment of some man or woman to a fat, juicy job.

Many competent Negroes are seated at the table licking their chops in happy anticipation, but when the plate gets to them the Governor politely raises it over their heads.

Last Sunday, Governor Merriam was guest at Eighth and Towne A.M.E. church. The occasion was to issue an invitation to the General Conference of that great body to make Los Angeles its meeting place two years hence. Not knowing the background and history of this black organization was born before the Constitution of the United States and in the same city, the Governor got an insight of what the Negro people really stand for. His "set" speech or invitation was never unrolled and said he'd have to go back to Sacramento and prepare one fitted for such a great organization.

However, he bided his time between lauding former Assemblyman Fred Roberts and expressing his great love for the colored brother as well as commending his progress.

The Negro knows all of these things which is a clever way (he thinks) the white man who does nothing for the race has of getting by.

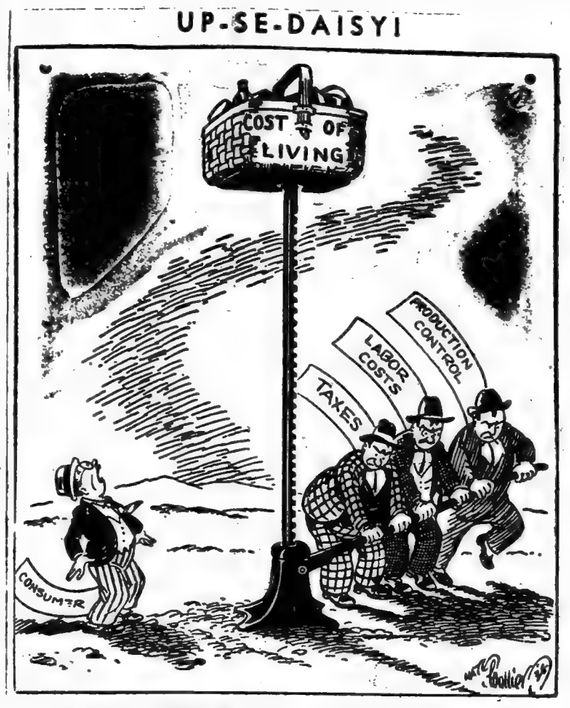
However, no one is fooled but he who thinks he's fooling someone. What the Negroes want and expect out of Governor Merriam is an appointment in keeping with his love and flattery dished up last Sunday.

Fred Roberts was his seat-mate when the Governor was in the Assembly, and is also among those seated at the table licking his chops in happy anticipation that the Governor will pass the pie to him.

Governor Merriam is indebted to the Negroes of California to the extent of giving the group recognition in his official family but so far has carefully overlooked us.

However, 'twixt now and next August, he has a chance to redeem himself and all hope he will, if he wants Negro votes and support. Otherwise, it's just too bad!

A ROTTEN APPLE IN THE BARREL!



One rotten apple will contaminate and ruin a barrel-full, but if removed in time the fruit can be saved.

Communist papers are doing to humanity just what a decayed apple will do when left in a barrel of sound ones.

A sheet circulated in Los Angeles, preaching the doctrine of Red Russia under the guise of "defending the rights of labor" is slowly, but surely, undermining our system of government. Children read the un-American slush in its columns and fall readily for the fantastic tales picturing the glories of life in Moscow, and on the other hand America is painted as a cruel, dark, dogged spot where mankind is held in virtual slavery and denied all rights and privileges that contribute to human progress, comfort and happiness.

Daily this sheet is stoking the fires of hate between employer and employe. Otherwise paceful, contented workers are daily staging strikes and hindering industrial plants for whom many have worked for years and become so closely allied with the management that they have been considered members of the firm and no important change, wage or what-not without first getting an O. K. from the workers. All this fine spirit between employer and employe has been swept away with the winds since the coming of Communist papers in our midst.

UP-SE-DAISY!

FINIS TO A TRAGEDY

And now Chapter the Last has been officially written to a crime which shocked the entire civilized world six years ago—the kidnaping of 19-months old Charles Lindbergh jr., and the subsequent discovery of the infant's emaciated body a few miles from the Lindbergh home. Several days ago in the executive chambers of Governor Harold G. Hoffman, nine men and a woman divided up $22,000 as their share of the $25,000 reward appropriated by the 1937 New Jersey legislature. The remainder will go to 100 others responsible for the arrest of Bruno Hauptmann as kidnaper and murderer of the Lindberghs' infant son. Appropriately, the curtain fell softly and without fanfare on the last act of a drama whose brutality and tragic pathos will not soon be forgotten by members of this generation.

PROBLEM OF THE HOUR

"Can we rope in America?" is one of the most immedate and pressing problems now besetting canny, ruddy-cheeked Mr. John Bull. A prominent British magazine has already made this quite plain in a nonchalant, matter-of-fact article. Roping in America, of course, means pushing America gently along the road to war in the Far East. According to the highly ambitious claims in the magazine, "G. K.'s Weekly", the British have already half succeeded. Though this can be cast aside as an exaggeration, a deep-seated wish in British government circles may be fathering such a thought. As Quincy Howe, historian, pointed out in a keen-bladed remark that cut every good Englishman to the quick, "England expects every American to do his duty by her!" We trust our next ambassador to England packs that neat and valuable little motto in his dunnage when he sets sail for the Court of St. James!

TWENTIETH CENTURY TEMPO

What about this high-powered, swiftly paced modern age we're living in? Does its feverish tempo produce a harmful effect upon children? Is it responsible for the jittery nerves of some of the high-strung youngsters we all know? In the opinion of Adrien Voisin, one of America's greatest sculptors, it does. "Go into any schoolyard," he said in a recent interview. "Look at the kids gathered there, the youngsters ranging in age from about 5 to 17 or 18 years. You'll find in some the same shortened torsos, the elongated legs and arms, that characterize our so-called modern art. You'll find their bodies and their minds so craving excitement that their eyes dart from object to object with lightning rapidity. These kids are living propagandists for haste, but they are losing the gift of living." This artist, however, is no reactionary, pining for lavender-scented days beyond recall. His attitude merits keen consideraton from parents.

NEW EPICS FOR AMERICA!

Today America says "Goodbye to the melting pot!" The era of prodigious expansion when armies of alien immigrants poured into this country half a million strong from 1880 up to the Depression years, is now past history. Today the tide has passed its crest, as the just released figures of the U. S. State Department testify. During the last fiscal year, only 53,000 immigrants gained entry into the Land of Promise. This was a mere drop of seasoning in the Melting Pot compared to the gigantic legion of more than one and a quarter million immigrants admitted in 1907. Though America's period of geographical expansion has doubtless passed its apex, there remain open great, new fields to test the nation's mettle—conquering unemployment, enriching purchasing power, and lifting our living standards ever higher. Have no doubt of it, America still has great epics of expansion and growth to be written within her own borders!

The Anti-Lynching Filibuster

Senators filibustering against the anti-lynching bill are doing some lynching, or trying to do some lynchings, on their own account. They refuse to permit a vote; and that kind of performance is commonly known as "talking the bill to death." What the country is invited to witness is the parliamentary lynching of a measure that has enough votes for its passage if they can be cast.

While Senator Borah has for many years opposed this legislation as an invasion of states' rights, he is not to be accused of filibustering. But this cannot be said of the organized opposition which is based on the alleged defense of the South. The bill is not aimed against Georgia, Mississippi, or Texas, however, more than against California. The San Jose lynchings in California a few years ago, when a white mob hanged two white men on the limb of a tree in the public park, is sufficient demonstration of the fact that the bill is aimed at no particular section.

If, . . . the bill is to be tied up exclusively with the safeguarding of the rights of Negro citizens, the opposition show precious little respect for the 14th amendment, except as it serves to protect the interests of corporations under the due process clause, as interpreted, or misinterpreted, by the supreme court. Senator Wagner of New York, one of the bill's sponsors, points out that it covers only offenses that violate the 14th amendment; and Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina accepts that as the objective of the legislation.

Mr. Smith denounces any attempt by the federal government to enforce the 14th amendment "within the confines of any state." So does Mr. Borah. Suppose we examine the section of article 14 in question.

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside." This clause establishes dual citizenship, federal and state. The federal government bears a responsibility to its citizens even if they are also citizens of a state. "Nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." The word "person" is broader in meaning than the word "citizen." It was by making a corporation a "person" that the supreme court brought all corporations under the protection of this due process clause in the 14th amendment.

The bitterest irony of American history snuggles in the due process clause. The 14th amendment was adopted mainly for the protection of Negro citizens; and the federal government was made their protector. Yet the corporations alone have really benefited by it; although nobody thought of the corporations when the amendment was adopted. If the anti-lynching bill invades states' rights, it is because the 14th amendmen invades them, as it undoubtedly does if the standard is the antebellum scope of states' rights. But something happened to states' rights in the Civil war and in the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments.

It is not due process of law to lynch an American citizen or any "person" dwelling in this country. If this is a nation, it should be permitted to no state to make a mockery of a national duty. (From the Springfield Republican, Jan. 12, 1938)

ANTI-LYNCHING

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your interested letter regarding our editorial, "Congress Goes to Work", and its omission of the Anti-Lynching Bill as part of the congressional agenda. This was wholly unintentional and I am very grateful to you for calling this to our attention. The California Progress Review thoroughly favors such a measure, and you may expect an editorial upon that bill in the very near future.

I would be very glad to hear further suggestions from you at all times.

Very sincerely yours,

Calif. Eagle,
KEHE,
L. A., Calif.,
Dear Editor:

Personal to the sponsers of the Negro Hour and KEHE. We sure enjoy your program, but we must say, at this particular time, that the master of ceremonies, as we learn is responsible for this air program. We feel that the M. C., has not had enough experience as he should have had. We have heard so many complaints about his acting M. C.

We decline to state at this writing any person or persons to whom this concern should be made M. C., by its sponsers, but we do have in our race this person, whoever it may be or it may be a man or woman, we like such men as Clarence Muse, Miss Fay Jackson. This is in the hands of the people to select the best.

Upon my return from Hollywood last evening after hearing that the people of far off San Diego said the same, "what's the matter with that M. C.? Why he can't talk, Hollywood said the same. War Perkins is in the same shoes, they said. Bue we do know that Mr. Perkins has had more experience than the present M. C. NBC sent Mr. Perkins out here with the Four Blackbirds several years ago.

He has this to his credit, errors and mistakes made over the radio with thousands listening in makes it very bad for our race. To put our race over we must have something good and this is sure a good spot for someone. They got 26 weeks to go. Hollywood laughs at KEHE and Central avenue's sponsers. This makes this station feel bad so many artists comes to the studio without their songs.

They are always late and are never on time for rehearsals. It's really a headache job. Everybody said the best thing on the program last week was the little boy, age 5, singing "Serenade In The Night". He was the best, we must say. A copy is to be sent to KEHE, and we are at this time compelled to ask everybody as well as the Calif. Eagle to join us in a hunt for a M. C.

We are today asking all that don't like the M. C.'s attitude on the air to write in and tell the Calif. Eagle. Write one, write all. We can have a good program and one that will be worth hearing. Do like Al Jolson, Cecil B. De Mille, Bing Crosby, George Jessel and Eddie Cantor. They are good on their programs. We don't want them to laugh at our program. Do we folks? Please write in and send telegrams in today.

We have the honor to remain your most obedient listeners, and wish the Negro Hour every success,

ON THE GOLDEN STATE

Dear Editor:

It was good to note your unselfishness in printing the story of the progress of the Golden State Insurance company. Too often when one of our businesses reaches the top, it is hesitant to recognize the worth and achievement of others.

I am glad this is not so with you. I enjoyed every word, and was interested in every picture on the page. I have clipped it and am keeping it in my scrap book.

Incidentally, if the white historians refuse to compile data of our race, I for one, and my children and theirs, shall not go lacking. We are making history today. We should read our race papers and keep an account of everything for posterity.

Your for the success of race enterprise,

"Babes In A Big City Manger"

Howdy, folks. I don't know how you all are taking it, but I'm seeing so much sadness being caused by this rent-house shortage, till it's really got me down.

I was driving my old Dodge laundry wagon down E. 48th St. yesterday morning, trying to locate an old customer of mine who runs rooming houses. She used to give me lots of laundry work before I went away ,and I been trying to find her ever since I got back. Well, just as I started across McKinley avenue a young feller hailed me and says politely:

"Mister, have you seen any 'houses for rent' on your rounds this morning?" He was a slender, brown-skinned lad, neat and clean-looking, and had a cute little swarthy mulatto girl, as slender as a wisp of straw, hanging to his arm. Her hair was jet-black like a Mexican's, and was bobbed square, across her forehead. I pulled up to the curb and stopped.

"You all looking for a house?" I says.

"Yes!" the lad replied. "We been looking for a whole month now, but we ain't found nothing —that is, a place where they don't object to children. There's three of us, me, and the wife and the baby. We just want a small furnished place where we can be to ourselves".

He glanced down at the little wife and smiled kinder proudly, and it done my heart good to look at 'em, so young, so happy, and so contented with one another. But it also give me a pang of regret because it carried me many years ago, when I was young too, and had a wife and a precious babyy.

"I b'lieve I did see a sign on a little court down on Forty---- street", I says.

The little wife's eyes flashed eagerly. "Would you mind telling us how to find it? We don't know the town so well, not having been here very long", she said.

Well, I don't generally break into my business arrangements to accomodate nobody, and especially now, when I'm trying smart her husband was, and how having been out of the business for three years. But there was something about these two children that just got under my skin, so I says to them:

"You all come on and get in my car, I'll take you over there." They piled in, and off we went.

Whilst we was driving along they told me all about themselves, and about their baby boy, only seven months old. The little wife--like most womenfolks--naturally did most of the talking, and her bosom swelled with pride as she told me how smare her husband was, and how he had already got a job running on the S. P. dining cars. And all the time she was talking, he was running one finger through the low-hanging, back bobbed hair on her little forehead. I tell you I got plumb jealous, looking at them.

Well, we finally reached the place where this litte apartment was. The landlord wasn't there, but the door was open, so we went on in. It wasn't very large--one tiny room with a wall-bed, a rug, a table and two chairs in it and a kitchenette and a bath —but it was clean and the two youngsters looked it over carefully.

"It's awful nice but I'm afraid it's too small. There's nowhere to put the baby's crib, honey," he says to her.

"Din't worry about that. I'll find a place for it somewhere," she answers. The little wife glanced around for a moment and then said; "Look, I'll squeeze it in right here," and pointed to a narrow corner between the wall-bed and the outer wall.

"But where will we put our trunk?", he asked. The little woman glided up close to him and slipped her arm through his. "Just leave it to me, I'll manage that, Daddy," she said "We'll make ourselves satisfied until we can do better." They grinned at each other, and he leaned down and whispered something in her ear, and she smiled up at him, and I got jealous again.

Just then the landlord walks in. He was a big-boned, gray-eyed white man with a face like a white plaster mask. I asked him was he the owner, and he said yes, and I told him this young couple wanted to rent the place. He said okey, and that the rent was twenty dollars, and that they would have to pay their own light and gas. The lad said that was all right, and started to pulling out his money.

"Wait a minute," the landlord said. "Are you steadily employed?" Oh yes! I run on the S. P. dining cars."

"Any children? I don't suppose you two have any, you look so young. But I just want to let yo uknow that I don't allow children in these courts," the landlord said.

The lad's face reddened. "But

Kentucky Teachers Say Cupid On Their Side

School teachers down in Kentucky firmly believe that Dan Cupid is on their side in the recently re-inaugurated fight for the right to enter the state of holy matrimony.

Continuing along lines abandoned at the close of the 1937 session of the Kentucky legislature, representatives last week introduced a bill to allow public school teachers to marry.

The bill will provide that the teachers, prevented from wedding by a Board of Education regulation, may marry at the end of the five-year period of teaching.

Kentucky, with separate schools for black and white, has a large percentage of Negro teachers.

Mind Triumphs Again; Prisoner Escapes

The triumph of mind over matter was no mere expression to Willie Thomas of Memphis, Tenn., who had a yen to escape from a prison ward in the John Gaston hospital there. Not having the wings of an angel, Willie made a rope of sheets and slid and fell to freedom.

What makes this all so remarkable is that Willie was critically wounded from gunshot in his chest, which would ordinarily have incapacitated him. Hospital attaches had described his condition one hour before the escape as only "fair".

Letting himself down from the fifth floor, Willie had to fall forty feet as the rope broke.

Chicago Prepares for Hectic Election

To date the greatest center of Negro political activity, Chicago, Illinois, this month stirred itself in anticipation of election time next November. In an analysis of the political situation in The Chicago Bee last week, observers predicted that upheavals and upsets will be the theme of the next election.

Observers believe the Democrats will hold sway on the great Southsdie until 1940.

Just who will take the stump against the present congressman has not been revealed. However, rumors persist that Louis B. Anderson, former Democrat alderman, will face Mitchell for the Democratic nomination.

The selection of a municipal judge is also occupying the spotlight. Some venture that the race will be run by Judge Albert George, only Negro ever elected to the bench in Illinois; Euclid Louis Taylor, Asa M. Burroughs and Alva L. Bates.

Borah in Significant Statement in Senate

Most significant of the remarks made by Senators filibustering on the anti-lynch bill was popularly believed in Washington last week to have been that of Senator Borah.

Observers believe that out of the remark will grow an attack on the sivil service system.

Said Borah:

"The race problem is one that does not yield readily to legislative treatment.

"Under the present laws, Negroes often suffer discrimination at the hands of the Federal Government.

"A Negro girl may win a civil service rating by examination and when she comes to get the job and they see she is a Negro, they tell her the job is filled.

"And they are usually telling a lie," he shouted.

Bob Taylor, Bill Powell Jailed in Birmingham

But instead of the famous movie actors, they were a pair of ordinary humans who had run afoul of the law.

Child, 6, Attempts to Cook; Dies From Burns

To the increasing number of child fatalities, resulting from lack of proper supervision, was added another life last week. This time in Tulsa, Okla., Irma Jean Hall, 6 year old youngster, was fatally burned January 12, while attempting to prepare herself some food.

She was left alone with her brother and sisters, all younger than herself, while her mother went several blocks away to get some wood.

Her four-year old sister threw water on her in a vain attempt to extinguish the flames, while Virginia, 3, fanned her with pieces of clothing.

Neighbors saw her run screaming from the house and tore the burning clothes from her body, rushed her to the hospital in a futile attempt to save her life.

Criticizes Allen's Share of Reward

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. C)—The New York Law Journal, A. R. Watson, editor, attacked the split of the Lindbergh reward by Governor Harold G. Hoffman, in an editorial last week. The paper's main criticism was of the $5,000 given William Allen, colored truck driver who found the baby's body, charging that Allen "clearly failed to contribute any information leading to Hauptmann's arrest". Governor Hoffman ignored the criticism, asserting the State would have had no case against Hauptmann had not the baby's body been found.

Archaeologist Discovers 5000 Year Old Tomb

CAIRO—Discovery of an Egyptian tomb more than 5000 years old was announced Friday by Walter Emery, noted British archaeologist.

The tomb with its valuable treasure of relics was opened on Wednesday for the first time since it was sealed against the outer world in the days of Egypt's flowering glory.

Emery, who located the crypt near Sakkara, was the first to gaze on the unknown nobleman's remains.

Parts of the body of a bull, cut in large pieces, lay around the tomb apparently representing offerings for the after-life sustenance of the deceased, Emery reported.

Seal Knows Now Why Shunned By Actors — Answer?

The oddest job in Hollywood was handed to the prop man on "The Big Broadcast of 1938" today by Bob Hope, Broadway musical comedy star who makes his screen debut in the picture.

Hope has a scene in which he works with a seal. He showed up for work with a quart bottle of mouth wash which he handed to the prop man.

"I speak from experience in the New York zoo," he told the puzzled prop man. "That seal eats fish and he has perpetual halitosis!"

LET THE POLITICAL CLOWNS ACT ON

By John D. Merida

Come ye, see ye, and hear ye, the great sensation of the year. Indeed a greater stock company than 1937, the laughing stock—a great gang of troupers. Starting place, Central Avenue—ending place, City Hall—entrance, backdoor.

Business—Good morning boss, I thought you might need me. Well I do but who shall take the leading role? Oh Boss, could I have five minutes private with you? Yes you may. Boss, don't you all trust old Gotch Eye, he made four for his point and my last 30c was at stake, and he comes out with a seven and Big Hand caught the dice. So Old Gotch Eye, Big Hand and the dice all three are crooked. Oh, I see you boys are gaming a little. No sir Captain Boss, I just dropped in with my hands in my pocket, standing by old Slick and when I knew anything he had his hand on my hand saying, leave it lay there Big Goozle, your 30c faded. All right Big Goozle I'll see you later.

Mr. Boss, I only want four minutes, Pee Wee can wait, he stepped all on my feet trying to get a chance to peep through the key hole. All right come on in. Now, Mr. Boss, as a Christian gentleman believing in the truth and the truth so help me God, called to God to warn all men, please for humanity's sake don't trust Rev. Bro. Squeller. Why that fish mouth thinks because he has the biggest church and the fattest congregation he can swallow every fish that comes along. You know the last deal we had about that Chinese business, because we demanded an equal break, Rev. Bro. Sueeler got up in the pulpit and squeeled and squaled so until nobody got anything out of the deal. Well did Rev. Squeeler get anything out of the deal? No, no, Mr. Boss, he said he wuld rather let them go out among the other wild cats if he couldn't get the big end of the cut. Alright Rev. Bro. Minner, I'll see you later.

Pee-Wee, for land's sake please keep your eyes out of that keyhole, and let me get in. If you stampeed on my feet again they will look for Pee-Wee, but will behold a greasy spot where Pee-Wee was but is not.

Good mornng Mr. Captain Boss, I only want two minutes. I know you want the best man for that job. I was sitting down with Bro. Do-nothing the other day and we were discussing the political situation, and he said to me, Bro. Billy Goat, I have always smelled something was wrong but I have met the problem square in the face and can put my hands on it in a moment's time. Just about that time Bro. Luke-Warm interuppted us and he started panning the president and ended up with the dog catcher, but nevertheless, if he is in the pawn don't trust him, he really bears watching in or out.

Say listen here little Banty man get your eyes out of that key hole before I grab you by the head and make that key hole fit you like a collar. I am next and I don't want no peeping. If you go out and say them white folks give me anything, I'll stretch your tongue so long until it drags like a twelve foot cotten sack.

Good morning white folks. Why hello Windy, I am glad you blew in as Billy Goat just went out. The last time you were in you were a little stale and foul, but you look somewhat fresh today, Not only fresh Boss, but full. Well blow your top but save your bottom for Central Avenue. Well, I heard there was a new organization starting up and it is catching all the folks. It is called the Afro-American Voter's League, and its membership goal for 1938 is 30,000. The president is not a member of us clown Stock Company, and does not troupe in back doors; not easily offended bu t a great fighter. Well what can you do to stop him? Well, I have decided to stop on the corners and blow off; in the Barber Shops and blow off; in the Pool Halls and blow off and around all public meeting places and blow off. Good Windy, you will soon blow him and the organization out of the way. Here is 15c for your lunch, be sure and tell them to give you lots of beans with the chili, for you made need plenty of gas. Good-bye Windy, I must go to the Biltmore for lunch

Well good-bye boys, I will see you all later. Your first act was great. Your next act will be the show-up, show-down and show-

Let the Political clowns act on. off.

FRED WILLIAMS' HEALTH TALK

Articles appearing in this column heretofore, have been primarily to a general discussion of his all important subject Life and Health. It was felt necessary to establish a basis for more detailed consideration of such vital matter, the writer feels that this has been accomplished.

To this point, we conclude that life is chemical, actuated electrically, we should say, actinicaly (sun rays'3. We have seen that life occurs in cycles, rapidly progressing to maturity, remaining stable and unchanged for a period, thereafter rapidly decining until the end of cycle. We have seen that each individual, during maturity "sheds" a part of itself, thereby giving rise to a new cycle.

We have discovered that each unit of life is composed of many parts, called organs which when functioning in harmony constitute health. It is shown also, that when any organ or group of organs becomes deranged a condition of il health exists, (disease). It remains now to discuss diseases. The question naturally arises what is a disease? How many kinds of diseases exist? We have just seen that disfunction of any organ is regarded as a disease, but the question needs further clarification.

Diseases strictly speaking, originate from two separate and distinct points; from without (infection) and from within (exhausted organs). Those arising from without, are acute and less fatal than those from within. The covering of the body-skin and mucous membrane-forms the body's first line of defense and unless injured affords nearly one hundred per cent protection. Beyond this bulwark of protection, stands an army of devoted and gallant body-cells, destructive microbes, gaining entrance through the skin and mucous membrane must overcome the resistance of these gallant little soldiers, before beginning ther destructive activities. Many virulant (powerful) germs require weeks, even months, to overcome the defensive cells before taking possession of the body and developing characteristic lesions. Malaria, typhoid, typhus, yelow fever, rabies, tetinus and many others equally as destructive, encounter great difficulty in taking possession of the animal body.

BODY FLUID

Much has been said and is being said about microbes, but, little attention is given to chemistry of body-fluid. Only the chemist consider everything from a purely chemical point of view, doctors consider symptoms only--this is indeed strange. The human body is approximately ninety per cent water. The cells of which we have been talking is ninety-nine per cent water. The watery part of the body is normally saline (table salt is saline) and upon this chemical fact, health depends. Extreme variation from the normal, in one direction results in alkalinity. In alkaline fluid, germs cannot survive, but, petrification begins (if the patients lives long enough, he turns to stone). High blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, rheumatism, heart disease, brain hemorrhage, stone in the kidneys, n the gall bladder and other signs of high alkalinity occur. A swing in the opposite direction results in what is known as acidosis (acid blood). This is the most favored condition for germ-growth, and if not immediately remedied, death is inevitable.

Blood chemistry is too important a subject to be disposed of in a single paragraph. Limited space compells the writer to briefly mention the subject and leave its continuance for another article. Acidosis is extremely dangerous and the reader should be able to recognize its presence. For instance, if the patient has been ill for some time, finally taking to bed, and if there is a decided fruity odor from the breath, Acidosis exists. A competent physician should be immediately consulted.

Two Men in Assaults

Three children in less than two weeks have fallen victim to criminal assult by men of well-known and respected Los Angeles families.

Ed Sweet, 45, trusted employee of the L. A. Railway Company, and a well known citizen here was charged with two counts of statutory offense against a 10-year-old child on complaint issued yesterday by the District Attorney's office.

Ironically enough, the child's statement set the time of the assaults as Christmas Eve and Christmas Day when most children are looking forward to better things in life than having their little souls seared and reputations ruined by the savagery of sex mad degenerates.

The girl is reported to have been left in the care of Sweet and his wife by her widowed father. She was assertedly accosted in her sleep on Christmas Eve.

She testified yesterday that after being released from the clutches of the man, she ran to a neighbor's house next door and informed the woman living there of her plight.

Having no place to stay the night, she was forced to return to the home of her alleged attacker and he repeated an unprintable offense.

When Mrs. Sweet learned of her husband's conduct, it is reported that the couple engaged in a violent quarrel, the child's story continued. But no reports of the man's action towards the child was made to the police until the father of the baby was informed.

She was brought to Newton street station where a complete report of her story was made and Lt. Earl Broady assigned to track down the suspect.

Sweet was arrested Monday at 648 Central avenue, where he works and is being held under a charge of suspicion of rape.

The child and her father had come here recently from Missouri.

A. C. Henderson, of 4516 Honduras, is being held on suspicion of rape assertedly committed against a 15-year-old orphan girl who is now an expectant mother.

Henderson was arrested Tuesday by Officers Pettiford and Stanley at 1625 East 46th street.

The assault is declared to have been committed last summer when Henderson was courting the child. She states that she met the suspect shortly after coming to Los Angeles from the south, he took her on frequent automobile rides, asked her to marry him and assulted her on one of the beaches near here.

Henderson did not deny the attack but questioned paternity of the unborn child.

GOLD DIGGERS

TWO outstanding pictures of the 1938 season--one a musical and the other a romantic comedy with music—enter production this week at the Worner Bros. Studios. They are "Gold Diggers in Paris" and "Dude Rancher."

Navy Picture Given Title By Submarine

Hollywood is always being twitted by jokesters for constantly changing title on pictures after they have gone into production, but here's one change that no critic can find fault with.

That's the change from "Submarine 262" to "Submarine D-1", on a thrilling romantic melodrama of the undersea service made by Warner Bros. at the San Diego Naval Base. The picture opens Sunday at Lincoln theatre.

The original title had no particular significance except that the "262" was used because there is no submarine so numbered. However, with permission and full cooperation of the U. S. Navy an active commissioned submarine was used in the picture and it is officially desgnated as the "D-1", with the supplementary name of "The Dolphin."

Since it would almost require an act of Congress to effect the change of name on a warship and it would be contrary to all Articles of War to permit even the temporary hanging of a sign, No. 262, on one of Uncle Sam's undersea craft, it seemed much more simple merely to change the title of the picture to fit the actual name of the submarine on which many scenes were filmed. So long as the Navy doesn't object, Warner Bros. executives were quite certain that the public wouldn't.

Lloyd Bacon directed "Submarine D-1" with a cast headed by Pat O'Brien, George Brent, Frank McHugh, Doris Weston, Wayne Morris, Ronald Reagan and Henry O'Neill.

Merriam for President, Says Bishop

"And we'll make him President in 1940!" declared Bishop Noah Williams in his introduction of Governor Frank Merriam, present in order to extend an invitation to the next AME General Conference at the thronged First AME, 8th and Towne Ave., Sunday afternoon.

The Governor stated in his welcoming address, "I come here sincerely to extend an invitation to that great body of this church to bring its general conference here in 1940 because I feel that it will be an inspiration not only to this church and race, but to all churches and Christian institutions of Southern California." He also said that after seeing and hearing Bishop Williams he would return to Sacramento and reword his formal invitation to the General Conference, making it more urgent.

In his introduction Bishop Williams gave a brief history of the AME church, told of how it had been established four months before the signing of the constitution, and rendered short histories of some of the Church's great leaders.

Statements were also made by Attorney Willis O. Tyler, Rev. Collins, pastor of First AME, and Fred Roberts, former assemblyman, whom the Governor stated had once been his seat-mate in the Assembly.

Home Decoration

Before the dawn of civilization, man gave no thought to the storing and preservation of food. When he was hungry and fate was kind to him, he fell a beast and partook of enough to satisfy himself and then moved on. At other times when herbs served as his meal, he ate off the tree or bush and picked only the amount required to substain him.

Later when men learned to domesticate animals and cultivate the ground, a problem arose. At harvest or slaughter time, he found he had more food than he could consume at once and knowing from experience that food which was not used immediately became distasteful and created pungent odors, he sought a solution but found none readily.

Many centuries before the birth of Christ, a food preservation system which is used to this day was discovered by accident. There is a legend, that in the desert country, in or about Smyrna, a youth gathered fruit which had fallen from the trees that was completely dried out and wrinkled by the intense heat of the sun and that he tossed the fruit ino a pool. The next day, another youth thinking the food fresh, retrieved some from the water and ate them. The first youth upon noting no unfavorable reaction from his friend and upon being told the taste was good, reported the incident to his father. It is said the dehydration of fruits, vegetables and meats began from that accident.

Ethiopian Empress Retires to Convent

JERUSALEM, Jan. 27.—The Empress Mennen of Italian-razed Ethiopia, arrived at Haifa this week on her way to Jericho where she plans to live in an Ethiopian convent on the shores of the Dead Sea.

The prevailing religion of the Ethiopians before the Italian conquest was a form of Christianity, corrupted by errors of various kinds mixed up with superstition and Judaism.

The convent to which the Empress will return is of Coptic faith.

Abyssinian rights to consider their form of Christianity as being more ancient than the Apostolic Church of Rome and earlier than the Alexandrian liturgy, to say nothing of the boast that it is the connecting link between the Hebrews of the Old Testament and its latter day expression in the Timud, engaged the attention of orientalists, linguists and theologians.

OLDEST CHURCH

The Ethiopian or Coptic Church is the oldest Christian church and had, before Italian destruction, the oldest edifice. It was built by Queen Candace after the return of the Eunuch, the Queen's treasurer and an influential man at court.

Extremely devout and believed to have made the move as evidence of the pride, as well as expressing the religious faith of her people, despite the ruthlessness with which their country was invaded and virtually destroyed by Mussolini's vandals, Empress Mennen's entry into the convent is regarded as a pathetic gesture of resignation.

Hobart Blvd., Mr. and Mrs. Jim James, 1562 E. 23rd Street, Mr. and Mrs. Bremer Moore, 9707 Antwerp Street, Mr. and Mrs. Inman McGruder, 1343 Channing, entertained with a lovely party. TO FILM CAFE LIFE

The glitter and glamour of New York night life in the El Morroccos, Rainbow Rooms, and other famed gathering spots for the stay-up-lates will be brought to the screen in a pretentious comedy romance, "Cafe Society", it was announced today by William LeBaron, managing director of production for Paramount.

COMPOSER SIGNED

Augustin Lara, famed Mexican composer who is considered the Irving Berlin of the Spanish speaking countries, has been engaged by Producer Arthur Hornblow to write the musical score of Paramount's "Tropic Holiday," which will feature Bob Burns, Dorothy Lamour, Ray Milland and Martha Raye.

FANCY DOODLER

Fanciest "doodler" in Hollywood is Fred MacMurray star of Paramount's "Cocoanut Grove". The actor took a course in show card writing once, and therefore doodles by making neatly formed block letters instead of the aimless curly-cues scrawled by most people.

RIDES FRIEGHT BOAT

Claudette Colbert has booked passage on a freight boat for the European trip she will take as soon as she's finished work in Paramount's new Ernest Lubitsch production, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife." She likes the ocean so well that the modern liners cross it too fast to suit her.

BUYS FURNISHINGS ABROAD

Most of the furnishings of Gladys Swarthout's new home in Hollywood were purchased by the star herself in Europe on a trip concluded just before she went into Paramount's "Romance In The Dark," in which she is co-starred with John Boles and John Barrymore.

COINCIDENCE

Beatrice Lillie, who plays the "patron saint of New York's finest" in Paramount's "Doctor Rhythm," is the widow of Sir Robert Peel, grandson of the Sir Robert who organized the London police department in Queen Victoria's time. London police are named "bobbies" after the grandfather.

Hold Final Rites for Helena Ford

Final services for Mrs. Helena R. Ford, who passed away at her home, 2114 East 112th street, January 17, were solemnized in the church chapel of Angelus Funeral Home last Friday afternoon. The rites were directed by Mr. L. L. Davis.

The deceased was born in Barzadoes, B. W. I., and had lived in the United States 15 years.

Surviving are her husband, James Ford, a son, daughter and brother, all of Los Angeles.

CHILD STAR NOW STAND-IN

George French, former child star now grown, is working as Olympe Bradna's stand-in in Paramount's "Stolen Heaven", music drama, in which Miss Bradna becomes the first new star of 1938. She is featured with Gene Raymond, Lewis Stone and Glenda Farrell.

BUYS RANCH

Gary Cooper has purchased a 3600-acre ranch in Arizona, which he will see for the first time when he completes his current role in Paramount's new Ernst Lubitsch, comedy "Bluebeards Eighth Wife." The star bought the property through agents without personally visiting it.

IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING

Akim Tamiroff's role in Paramount's "Dangerous To Know" is quite unlike the parts he played in "The General Died at Dawn" and in 'The Buccaneer'. He wears evening clothes and has perfect society manners notwithstanding the fact that he enacts the role of a villain.

LEARNS SPANISH

Bob Burns, famed for his hillbilly accent is taking a course of Spanish for his role in Paramount's new Mexican musical, "Tropic Holiday". The comedian's teacher swears that Bob speaks the language with a distinct Arkansas twang!

By M. L. MILLIGAN

In 1937 there was only a few changes made in the Culbertson system and they are not advocated for use by the average players, like the Two-Way Three and Asking bids they have been relegated to that select few who study and have the ability to apply their scientific knowledge of these apparently complicated bids, however any player will find them very effective weapons if properly used.

The first of these changes is the Two-Way Overcall: Example South bid one Club; West three Diamonds; West bid is a Two-Way Overcall and has from one and a half to five and a half Honor-Tricks and from seven to ten winners with a six card or longer suit, you may vary the winners between the above number according to vulner ability.

East's response to the bid MUST be in accordance with the preceeding table (1) with three trumps and a singleton give one raise.

(2) I honor-trick and a stopper in opponents suit bid three no-trumps.

(3) I H. T. and a rebiddable suit, bid three in a major over a minor.

Without any of the above requirements by all means PASS, for West has applied the rule of Two-Three which permits one to expect three tricks in his partners hand not vulnerable and two vulnerable if he has not bidded or passed, so you see any strength you may hold that was not mentioned in the above table would only help him make his contract.

I have a message of grave importance for the President or the Secretaries of the various Contract Bridge Clubs if they will communicate with me, especially the Contract and Crockford Bridge clubs of L. A.

The Eagle blazed the first colored bridge path editorially in the world and we now stand ready and willing to give you something greater if you manifest the least bit of interest, We await your replies.

NAME MANY BABES FOR SONJA HENIE

In a few years from now, the rosters of American public schools will have a lot of little girls by the name of Sonja—and spelled just that way.

The fan mail department at 20th Century-Fox, which keeps a check of all such things, reports that more baby girls are being named after Sonja Henie than after any other star in the business.

Negro Hour Aids Battle On Paralysis

The Central Board of Trade is happy to announce that the entire program of the Negro Hour will be dedicated to that dreaded disease, infantile paralysis. It is obvious that all will have to sacrifice as much as is possible to wipe out this plague.

The Hour also announces that awards will be offered to the best two talents of each week, beginning Thursday, February 3. That means that there will be two prizes, first and second. Auditions are held each Monday night at 7:00 p. m. at the Board of Trade's office, 4273 South Central avenue.

The Hour is presenting the quartette from Jefferson High school and artists from the David Starr Jordan High school.

Fredric March, star of Cecil B. De Mille's "The Buccaneer" obtained his first big break in films because he resembled John Barrymore, on whom he did a satire in the "Royal Family."

SANDERS SLEEPS THROUGH SCENES

There was one scene in the making of "Shanghai Deadline" that George Sanders, tall and handsome British film star, really enjoyed.

It was that in which he was required to lie prone and motionless on a couch, as if desperately wounded and unconscious, during the rehearsals and actual shooting.

"Boy Meets Girl."

Pat O'Brien will play a featured role with Cagney in the picture which is scheduled to enter production early in March. A nation-wide search is now being made by casting scouts for a leading lady to appear opposite Cagney.

Eagle Advertiser Sells Out in Third of Allotted Time

S. C. JONES "Tells of Sale"

Spurgeon Jones, sales manager of Eastern at 45th and Central avenue, stated yesterday, "The people of the Central Avenue district are to be congratulated on their thrift and knowledge of rare bargains. Since the opening of our Fire Sale, our store has been constantly crowded by people who soon purchased most of our stock of slightly damaged merchandise.

"At the beginning of the sale, we were of the opinion the stock would last ninety days and took out a permit to conduct the sale for that period of time. We were dumbfounded when taking inventory Saturday to find we had not enough merchandise to last a thirty-day period, therefore, for the final clean-up this week we have gathered the goods together and drastically reduced all articles.

"Starting the first of the month, we wish to start remodeling. In doing this we must sell out the few remaining pieces of slightly damaged merchandise, regardless of price, to make room for a complete new line. Some of our new merchandise may be in this week.

"Besides the thrift of my people, I must say in all fairness, the California Eagle in telling of our values did an outstanding job that was instrumental in selling a ninety-day supply of merchandise in thirty days."

SCIENTISTS

Patrick McGeehan, popular favorite of the Federal Theater of the Air, took the leading role in Tuesday's ether offering in the "Immortals of Science" series, heard over KMPC at 2, when episodes from the life of James Watt were dramatized. The story of Watt, whose work made possible the harnessing of machinery to serve the will of man, proved one of the most interesting of these productions supervised by Buckliegh Oxford.

FORD V-8 WINS
in Gilmore-Yosemite
ECONOMY RUN
FIRST! The Ford V-8 Thrifty "60" won the gruelling Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run class B cup with a mark of 50.767 ton miles per gallon, 28.85 actual miles per gallon. In this authentic stock car mileage test made under A. A. A. supervision in competition with other leading makes, the Ford entry made more actual miles to the gallon than any other car in its own or higher price class. Another Ford V-8 economy achievement!

1938 THRIFTY "60" TUDOR SEDAN—BETTER LOOKING—LONGER HOOD—RICH NEW INTERIOR—ROOMY BUILT-IN LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT

WHEN it was introduced it was predicted that the Thrifty "60" Ford V-8 was "going to save America a lot of money." More than 300,000 motorists have bought this car since that time. Hundreds of these owners have reported "22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline" and "no need for oil between regular 2,000-mile changes."

This year, in addition to proved economy, the Thrifty "60" Ford V-8 offers still more style, size and comfort. It is a bigger, smarter car to look at. It is a finer car to ride in, with richer upholstery and appointments. Its smooth, quiet V-8 engine performance is matched with new luxury that belies its low price. See it at your Ford Dealer's!

Burwell Wins Contract With Mae West

THIS WILL BE an all-time record year for film extras.

More of them will be employed—and at more pay per work hour—than ever before in the history of the motion picture industry.

That's the prediction of studio experts, based upon last year's figures together with production schedules for 1938.

Record year for extras so far was 1937, when they earned $2,986,372, an increase of $565,919 over 1936. Total placements were 294,307, as compared to 286,436 the previous year.

NOW THAT we've got off to an impressive start, figures and all to prove it, suppose we let our hair down and take an inside snoop of matters equally as close to home as the prospect of actually getting meat and potatoes this year from the extra files.

That adorable couple, CHILTON and THOMAS, arrived early Tuesday to take a spot in Mae West's revelries at the Paramount, opening today.

BUT . . . before that the town was swarming with topnotchers from over them thar hills out here for the Gershwin opera we hope you'll see early next month.

PERSONALITIES — talent — types — hard-working artists such as we never dreamed of are those thespians. I've sat in on early rehearsals, hobnobbed around a bit with some of the princies and have been convinced that NEGROES can apply themselves to arduous work in a field that best suits their varied talents: musical drama.

Reports of the locals augmenting the New York cast are good, bad and indifferent.

William Gillespie, understudy to Todd Duncan, has won everyone by his sincerity of purpose, a good voice and a will to learn.

BUT . . . LOIS HODNUTT, understudy to Anne Brown, contributed an amusing incident when Miss Brown suggested that they go over the business together and the very difficult score. Ordinarily, to an understudy, THAT would be a break: for the STAR to show such interest. It may mean that the undie had a possibility of actually doing a performance sometime.

"Thank you, but I know the score already," Miss Hodnutt is reported to have replied, stiffly!

And, since ANYTHING can happen in Hollywood, the gal may know it better than Anne Wiggins Brown . . . but it is rather early to admit it.

CERTAIN AGENTS and producers are going quite stark mad over the wealth of excellent talent among the New Yorkers. Early Sunday morning last, over in the assembly room of the YWCA, Ben Carter was obliged with an audition of EVA JESSYE, the inimitable choir director and arranger of Negro music. NEVER such voices, never such interesting types, never such moving effects from the plaintive nuances as we heard from her group singing a program of spirituals, work songs and semi-classics that tell a melodic story of simple, patient, suffering people.

Assisting Miss Jessye is a youngster, only 19 years old. REGINALD BEANE whom Gershwin picked out of a crowd of boys gathered around a piano trying their wares of Harlem tunes. Reginald played the difficult score at first sight, won the composer's heart and a significant place in the famed opera. He is green from Talladega YET, but holds the distinction of being sole popular voice coach on BROADWAY . . . 2 years with CBS in charge of Oleanders quartet . . . accompanies, arranges, coaches . . . has a trio, DING, DONG, DELL, now singing in Havana . . . lives with his mommer . . . because the spirits told him he wouldn't marry until he's 44! Gets very gay after the third lemonade and MUST sing his favorite composition, "Love Did That Certain Something to Me",

SUNDAY AT 3 o'clock on the Mutual network CLARENCE MUSE will broadcast with George Jessel. Fresher than ever, Muse just returned from a VERY successful tour of the Tri-State theatres, presented in grand style, turned away hordes of corn huskers and did some EXCELLENT work in opening these houses to the idea of Negro film releases: in this case, the Joe Louis pic, "Spirit of Youth".

Iowa has funny liquor laws, I was told. You can't buy the stuff on the up-and-up but must get a permit. (Recall that a great many young doctors kept their offices open selling 'em.) If you don't own a permit, you can RENT one for two bits and buy all you want!

CLARENCE BROOKS announced a new western in production this week starring himself, Mae Turner, Jess Lee Brooks, Miller and Mantan, et al. A quickie on Kahn's oday. More later.

FREDDIE CLARKE was rushed by M-G-M and landed a NICE spot in its newest film, title unannounced. Pleased were they with the English-born actor's part in "Tarzan's Return".

FAITHFUL MARY, Father Divine mentor, in the flesh is going in for movies. Ben Carter cast her this week in a flikker.

RAY DAVIDSON, publicity man for Merle Armitage who is presenting the Gershwin opera, after years and YEARS of successful plugging politicians in Negro press, suddenly decides that no exploitation of the artists will be done in sundown papers. BUT nearly $3000 is being spent with Hearst and other dailies that ordinarily only admit the dark faces with criminal light.

"NEGROES WON'T SUPPORT THEIR ARTISTS", is the strange indictment of Jewish Davidson. Reason: a couple of phoney productions he and Armitage handled fell flat . . . would have flopped under any other race banner — because the were PHONEY and the audience knew in advance. Cited MARIAN ANDERSON'S success meant nothing. Cited PAUL ROBESON'S success meant nothing. Because "the Negro Press means NOTHING" so strangely, suddenly to Davidson and Armitage. And . . . if you see any of the money gained from the work of the greatest array of Negro artists ever to come here at once being spent with ANY Negro paper, it is because RAY DAVIDSON had his mind changed and I'll tell you HOW next week.

IN PASSING

ARROWSMITH . . . the Goldwyn pic featuring Clarence Brooks . . . heads the list of (miscellaneous) all-time GREAT pictures . . . Central avenue was gayer than a spinster in a new bonnet last SATURDAY night when we did the rounds with THELMA and MELBRA brown and GEORGETTE harvey . . . the CLASSIC tried out a bit of hollywood premiere stuff with a home-made floodlight heralding first night performance of FOUR CATS and THEIR FIDDLES and the Basin Street Boys led by Herbie JEFFRIES . . . dude cowpuncher with voice like an angel . . . dining or wining were: Dr. Herbert Fairs QUIETLY with pretty boy DON MOORE, South American fancy dancer . . . . . chatty Jean Thompson joined later . . . dribbling with NEW furs was Mariana Cortina (lady, this IS California) . . . GARY ragland prancing about in ten gallon hat . . . THELMA says they have SO MUCH in common . . . no . . . not the ten gallons . . GARY . . . and NITA, the waitress exhibiting tabasco sauce creole temper over cash customers who left crumbs on table . . STOMPY signaled to me that those PAPERS he carries about are NONE of my business . . . . pretty picture were the chefs poking out to hear the CATS . . a jet black one . . . a pink-faced Swedish one . . . heads together . . . this joint is going to popularise STRINGS . . . and that . . . dears . . . is VERY continental . . old personality stuff with kitties is AUSTIN POWELL . . . and we discovered JAY MOSS behind the Hollywood dark glasses disguise . . . Blowing into SWING HI where service and atmosphere and FOOD and courtesies to press are snazzy . . . TONI ANTHONY . . . cutie from Oregon with Midge Williams style minus ale . . . obliged our table with "Mean to Me" . . . with just the right inflections to make us recall an old hurt from the boy friend . . . ROSENAUR . . . genial manager is back at the glad hand from a siege of 'flu . . . OKLEN LEVY, maitre d'hotel . . . invited the p. a.'s to steak dinner and ducked . . . but made it up with funny stories and black label hiballs that wouldn't quit . . . prize snub of the evening came from CURTIS MOSBY . . . at the Big Apple . . . who didn't like what we said about upping the prices on ofays . . . HIS place SWARMED with coppers looking for juveniles . . . and . . . the only junior in the house was RIGHT AT MY ELBOW . . . heh-heh-heh . . . G-men . . . Pettiford and Stanley . . . look PLENTY tough when they're on the sniff . . . JEAN CALLOway em ceeing the show . . . sent a novice flying for first aid when she did the SPLITZ . . . Watts . . . quiet as it's kept . . . those BROWN SISTERS are raking in the pennies . . . good fellowship as only you'll find among yokels . . . peppy music . . . and a man to dance with every maiden.

Stars In Musical

Heading a large cast of artists appearing in George Gershwin's musical play, "Porgy and Bess", are Todd Duncan and Anne Brown in title roles.

Duncan has become nationally prominent in concert, radio and the theatre and each season makes concert appearances thruout the nation. In spite of his success in music, Duncan still retains his chair as professor of music at Howard University, Washington, D. C., which he has held for a number of years.

Anne Brown is a Baltimore girl, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry B. Brown. She had won two scholarships to the Juilliard Foundation to further her music studies in New York, when Gershwin heard her voice and selected her for the role of Bess.

TWENTY-TWO WEEKS WITH COMEDY QUEEN IS GIVEN 'HOT SHOT'

Open at Paramount

When most of the world is crying for "one hour" with the famed screen star and any gal who can get within an inch of her professionally is made, twenty-two weeks on a personal appearance tour of the country is the grand prix falling to Evelyn Burwell, Harlem's "Miss Hot Shot", Central avenue's Princess of Swing.

Shu-ucky Ducky!

Miss West in person on the stage is the offering of Paramount Theatre starting today. She brings her own show, and on the screen her latest picture, "Everyday's a Holiday."

TO MEET HER PUBLIC

This is one of the few times that a top ranking film star has ever made personal appearances. Miss West's versatile ability enables her to present what promises to be an entertaining act and coming close on the heels of a radio controversy in which she was banned from NBC for certain "inflections" placed upon her recital of the story of the first man, Adam, in this case, anything might happen with petite Mae facing her public, still believed as loyal as ever despite the censorship.

Miss Burwell's chance came when Ben Carter, Hollywood casting agent, tried out a score of girls for a maid's part in the show. Burwell's entertainment ability gave her the edge over the rest and she was signed for 22 weeks.

WAS WITH 'PASTURES'

She came to Hollywood 2 years ago with the Hall Johnson singers as an assistant musical director, did a feature part in the screen version of Marc Connolley's "Green Pastures" and was with the stage cast from the beginning of its long term of Broadway and transcontinental performances to the end of the play's run.

Exceptionally talented, Miss Burwell has made interesting arrangements of Negro music and has two promising swing numbers to her credit: "Music Chases Blues Away" and "Shucky, Wucky", which introduces a new dance creation by Paul White, juvenile tapster.

THEATRE of the AIR

The third episode in the fascinating and historic drama, "The Life of Theodore Roosevelt," a new series in the "Presidents On Parade" production for Federal Theater of the Air which was scheduled for last week, had to be postponed due to the illness of Patrick McGeehan, versatile Federal Theater ether star, who portrays the title role Pat's laryngitis is better, however, and the show goes on Friday over KGFJ at 3:30.

BLACK LENA

Adelaide Irving, talented Federal Theater of the Air actress, received her best role to date and "went to town" in the part, when she appeared in the title role of "Black Lena", the "Dramatic Fragment" on KGER Saturady at 9:30.

"Black Lena" was written especially for radio by Phyllis Frederic and is the true story of Adelaide Kleinschmid, a notorious woman shoplifter in New York at the turn of the century.

HAYRIDE

An interesting and entertaining half-hour on the Sunday evening radio schedules is Federal Theater of the Air's top-notch feature, "Louisiana Hayride", the "One Man's Family of the Black Race".

With a smooth moving script by Amos Reese and drama and music by the Federal Theater Negro chorus of 25 trained voices under the direction of Sherman T. Walker, this all colored show was aired Sunday over KHJ and the Mutual Don Lee network from 7 to 7:30. Production is under the direction of J. C. Lewis, Jr.

WORKING ON NEW SCRIPT

With his work in the "Big Broadcast of 1938" completed W. C. Fields has started working on the script of his next picture, "Things Began To Happen."

EM CEE

TEDDYE PETERS

ONE OF THE WEST'S most popular entertainers now mistress of ceremonies with an all white cast at the Virginian Rendezvous, Seattle, Washington. Miss Peters is doing her 159th consecutive week at this gay night club and is still playing to packed houses.

Negro Western On Broadway

First of the independent productions with an all Negro cast to get first run Broadway theatre booking is Jed Buell's musical western "Harlem on the Prarie", starring Herbie Jefferies, which opens February 3 at the Rialto.

Run at the Apollo in Harlem follows.

HOLLYWOOD JOB FORMULA

John Boles' present stand-in Jolly Rawlings, got his job by walking up to Boles' front door and ringing the bell. Boles put him to work the next day in Paramount's "Romance In The Dark", in which the actor is co-starred with Gladys Swartout and John Barrymore.

Big Fete Planned On Kids Theatre Anniversary

Thousands of youngsters and grownups throughout the Southland will soon join with the Federal Children's Theatre in celebrating its first anniversary. Yasha Frank's widely acclaimed unit has entertained more than 100,000 theatregoers during the past year with such musical fantasies as "Hansel and Gretel" and "Pinocchio", which are still playing to capacity houses at the Mayan in downtown Los Angeles on alternate Saturday afternoons.

As a special anniversary gift to the thousands of children, teachers, parents and others from all walks of life who have enthusiastically followed the destinies of the Federal Children's Theatre since its organization, a new musical treat is in rehearsal for early staging.

"Aladdin", thrilling Arabian Nights spectacle, more glamorous even than "Hansel and Gretel" and "Pinocchio" is to be introduced shortly as the unit's third production. The immortal tale of Aladdin and his Magic Lamp is to be enhanced by intriguing glimpses of such fabulous scenes as the home of Sinbad The Sailor; the cave of Ali Baba and the Forty Theves; the Caliph's Chamber; a Street Bazaar during the bedlam of midday activities and numerous other exciting sequences.

LINCOLN PROGRAM

Matinees are now held weekly at the Mayan theatre, 1040 South Hill street, at 2:30 p. m. instead of 10 a. m. "Pinocchio" is slated for January 29; "Hansel and Gretel" plays February 5, and on Saturday, February 12, a beautiful Lincoln-Washington memorial program is to be presented at 2:30 p. m., in tribute to America's immortal presidents. "Immortal Americans" will dramatize, especially for children, events in the lives of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

E. A. Montano, director of the music department, is collaborating with Yasha Frank in staging the Lincoln-Washington memorial matinee. The dramatic sequences of the program will be interspersed with appropriate dances and musical numbers.

Japan Landscape Annoys Wong

In view of current events in the Orient anything Japanese annoys Anna May Wong, Chinese actress.

She had, up to yesterday occupied an apartment overlooking a Japanese garden. The view was a constant source of vexation to her, particularly as callers were constantly calling attention to it.

Last night Miss Wong, currently in "Dangerous To Know" at Paramount moved to a furnished home in another part of Hollywood, far from any landscaping suggesting Japan.

Four Shine With Benny Goodman

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. (C)—"Swing" music hit a new high Sunday night as 3,500 people crowded into Carnegie Hall, 113 W. 57th street, to hear Benny Goodman and his orchestra in a real "jam session". Four colored men starred, being Teddy Wilson, pianist, Lionel Hampton, vibraphone, James Munday arranger, and Count Basie, guest artist. Daily newspaper critics were outraged that jazz should have the nerve to invade the nation's foremost temple of classical music, and succeed!

Muse Supports Lecture Series On Porgy Drama

Under auspices of the Wilshire Jewish Temple, Rabbi Dugan will give a descriptive lecture of the Dubose Heywood drama "Porgy" with dramatizations by Clarence Muse, distinguished Hollywood actor, February 2 and 3, it was announced today.

Due to the popularity of the play and the artists the entire house has been sold out both nights it was stated.

Human Sacrifices On Crocodile Set

Currently the most impressive set in Hollywood, a gigantic subterranean cave has been unveiled in a Paramount sound stage.

Scene of a weird ceremonial by savage Malay islanders in "Her Jungle Love," the cavern is 250 feet long, 75 feet wide, and its massive walls tower 30 feet above the floor.

Dominating the set is a great stone crocodile mounted on an altar at one end—the god before whom his worshipers offer human sacrifices. Through the cave runs a living stream of water, cascading down a pair of waterfalls to form three big pools.

Really fearful effects are achieved when the cave goes into action. Steam spurts from thirteen different outlets, while three other cones on the cave floor spout lava at regular and frequent intervals. An earthquake will wreck it later.

SIGN NEW CONTRACT

Leo Rubin and Ralph Rainger, authors of the musical score for "The Big Broadcast of 1938," already have been signed to a new two-year contract.

UPTON SAYS—

By Charles L. Upton

Every Porter A Reporter

WHAT NEXT?

It seems as though everybody is watching each other nowadays. First, bless your soul, we have the lowly thief who watches his victim like a hawk. Then we have the police who watch the lowly thief. Next, we have a Citizen's Committee of Investigation that watches the police. And now, so help me, we want a constabulary to watch the Citizen's Committee. It seems as though the next move to make will be to hire somebody to watch the constabulary.

Don't be penurious. 'Tis better to live rich and die poor, than live poor and die rich.

Birthday Greetings

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of January: John Bolton, Arthur L. Binkley, Clifton Dussau, one of the best pie makers on the Southern Pacific; William A. Glenn, Forman Griffin, and Samuel W. Lewis. Congratulations.

PORTERS SAY UNION PACIFIC'S NEW STREAMLINE is Young Man's Job

It apparently has taken only one good inspection of the Union Pacific's new streamline train to satisfy the minds of the older porters that it never could be any job for an old porter during these days of modern travel. According to some of the views and opinions expressed by the older men who have given the new train the attention of their eagle eye, it is a first class man killer de luxe. The Rose Bowl has separate rooms upstairs and down and the boys say when you finish preparing those rooms, if you ain't pure in heart, it will surely be your last trip on that car. One porter says everything seems to work backward. All the modern travel inventions in the world are combined in one and it is wonderful for the passenger but slow suicide for the porter if he happens to be anywhere along in years.

Now take that roomette car—it sure is a man killer, what with 18 rooms and all the extra equipment that old man Pullman ever thought of. When a guy winds up an evening in one of them babies, unless he is a mighty good man, he never wants to see that car any more. Then they have another man killer in the shape of a 12-section car. Now don't be fooled, brothers and sisters, this 12-section car is not just one of them ordinary 12 sections with a drawing room at one end. No sir, this car is so arranged that it will work your fair brains out. In the first place they have got 12 slabs which are carried in a locker. You pull out the seats and place them in an upper berth then fit in the slab, tie the mattress back with a cable and the berth is all ready for your passenger to get dressed in. But by the time you do that with twelve lowers and put them all away, you want to crawl in the last bed you make yourself.

So that's the story the old porters tell me and they all say in a very loud voice that they don't want any streamline in their time books even if it hauls President Roosevelt every trip. An effort will be made by the officials to obtain the new line for Los Angeles porters. A conference has already been held with the district superintendent along these lines with the promise that the line will be operated by Los Angeles porters if they out-rank the Chicago porters in seniority.

So you younger porters will just have to sit tight and wait for further developments.

AUNT MARY GIVES THE BOYS AIR with Arrival of Sister from New Orleans

Well, dear old friend, Aunt Mary, the big shot proprietor up San Francisco way, has given the gang the slip since her sister has come back from New Orleans way to take charge of things.

According to reports, Sis brought some things back to Aunt Mary and she says the only way she can keep the gang from stealing some of it from her is to lock herself up in her private room. The boys say, however, that Johnny Moore and Busby must have found the key and got to whatever that is that Sis brought back.

Bill Thedfor says he has not seen Aunt Mary for a week. Now I don't want anything to happen to Aunt Mary because she is one of my best friends, so I think I shall send Bill Asbury up that way to find out the real lowdown. I'll tell you all about it at later date.

CHEF COOK EARL THOMAS CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Among those who celebrated their birthday during January was Chef Cook Earl Thomas, that little veteran of the rails and one of Mr. Southern Pacific's crack cooks. Earl did not say how old he was and I am told he did not place any candles on his birthday cake, so you will

Boy Scout News

By LOVELL ESTELL JR.

Hello, Scouts, here I am again starting the year of 1938 off with the lowdown on you. The New Year will bring many new things for the Scouts. If you are a Scout now, you had better get busy and register. If you are not a Scout and want to get in on the fun that is in store for us, join your local troop in your neighborhood. You can register for 50c.

Troop No. 180 expects many Eagle Scouts during 1938 as well as a heck of a swell time. Scoutmaster Nelson has a fine program all worked out which is very thrilling and I am informed that the troop will have to be reduced considerably.

The Social Cavalcade is composed of the older boys of the troop that are 15 years of age and must meet the requirements of a first class Scout in rank.

During the holidays they gave a grand dancing party in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Taylor. The Taylors are always great sponsors of the troop's activities. Troop No. 617 is supposed to have a bigger and better troop this year, which is fine work. University troop had inspection last Friday night and the Scouts came through with flying colors.

The Girl Scout troop No. 148, is growing by leaps and bounds under the able leadership of Mrs. Louise Taylor. All the Boy Scouts are wishing Mrs. Bass a speedy recovery. A first aid to animal lesson will be given at Lincoln High school in the near future by the Scouts.

Mrs. Louise Taylor of Troop 148 is very proud of the way in which her girls so willingly donated toward the Xmas basket which was delivered on Christmas Eve to a needy family by four lovely girls in uniform, Lenora Kay, Gloria Burchett, Evelyn Kay, Leontine Taylor. See you next week, Scouts.

SHARE OF Doubling in Landslide

Frank Hammond and his crew got their share of doubling last trip when he and his crew, consisting of Bennie Daniels, Constantine and J. Beasley, were caught between Portland, Oregon, and Dunsmir in a landslide. Frank had to transfer all of his passengers along with the nickles to the Los Angeles crews and now he and his crew have formed a quartet of blues singing Pullman Porters.

Also caught on the other side have to make your own guess.

FRANK HAMMOND GETS HIS

were Amos Franklin, Tuxedo club's gay blade; Bailey and A. Hall. Amos Franklin had a fit all by himself because he thought he would miss one of his club's meetings. A Hall, who is an ex-regular soldier, made himself at home because he said he was used to roughing it and any place he parked was home, sweet home to him.

When the boys finally did get back home they were met at the depot by Mr. Ross and told to go home, wash their face and hands and go right back to Portland. Mrs. Hammond says if this kind of a thing keeps up, she is going to look for another papa. Well, that's the way with railroad men.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES GOODWIN CELEBRATE Birthdays

Congratulations were in order for the Goodwins this month when they both celebrated their respective birthdays at a surprise party in which Mrs. Goodwin got all the presents and Jim got the bills and receipts. Many happy returns of the year.

EAGLE CLUB

Dear Rubyann:

I am very much interested in the new club started in the California Eagle.

I had been wondering several times why the Eagle had not started a children's correspondence club. I now belong to the Chicago Bud Billikins club. It is very interesting to receive mail from different states and countries.

I am going to Alabama to school, Oakwood Junior College.

I will be looking forward to my card very soon.

YESTERDAY AND TODAY SUCCESS STORY

Under "Capital Chat" in the Pathfinder, published in the nation's capital, is presented what we might title "Yesterday and Today", or "The Old and the New". Quoting:

"In the big room upstairs, southern Senators were filibustering against the anti-lynch law. Senator Reynolds of North Carolina, looking remarkably like funnyman Jack Oakie, was making a rambling speech. Vice President Jack Garner, looking like a small tufted owl, was sitting alone in an expanse of empty seats.

"In the ltlle room downstairs, the Negro janitors were playing checkers. White-haired, moon-faced Harry Parker, who had just begun his 64th year of service under the Capital dome, was through for the day.

"Though the House last July voted 340 to 0 to let Harry retire on full pay ($130 a month), the old man still guards the door of the Ways and Means Committee and sweeps up the floor when the committeemen leave. When his work is done, Harry pads thru the maze of the Capitol basement, just to make sure all the plumbing is still in place.

"Sometimes he drops in at the janitor's room to kibitz on a checker game. It is a musty little room, smelling of steam pipes and House restaurant garbage. Dusty milk and beer bottles litter the floor. On his visits here, Harry is treated with respect. As one who has won the tribute of a full minute's ovation from the House of Representatives, he is dean of the janitorial corps.

"He enjoys the reputation, not too well substantiated, of being grandson to one of George Washington's slaves. Certainly his manners — the spry bow, the white-toothed 'yas, suh'—are reminiscent of plantation Negroes. He looks back wistfully to his youth, to the days when ladies wore hoop skirts and Congressmen gave lavish parties. Harry was always doorman at those parties. Congress, he grumbles, is not what it used to be.

"In the big room upstairs, last week, serious young Negroes from Howard University listened to the anti-lynch filibuster. Gravely, jotting down notes as they listened, they thronged the galleries—clean-cut young men intent on progress for their race, new-generation Negroes.

"In the little room downstairs, old Harry eased himself down on a dilapidated chair. 'I ain' no Democrat,' he sighed, 'an' I ain' no Republican. I'se just a servant of the people.'"

If this anti-lynch fight shows nothing else, it should show that human rights take precedence over states' rights.

This week's success story:

Ever so often, one hears of a man or woman who perform their duties so well that they are singled out (and rightly so) and given awards of some kind that they might be encouraged to continue their good work.

Such was the case this week as a contributor told us of one Leslie E. Scott, an ex-service man who is a carrier at Post Office Station "D" here. He has received the highest award possible for his Station superiors to give, and in truth, it is the highest award won in many, many moons.

The award, which is coveted by station employes, covers efficiency, non-tardiness, neatness, etc. It all added up to a 100 per cent rating.

Carrier Scott lives at 1810 West 35th street; is married; born in Pasadena; attended the University of Southern California, and has lived in Southern California throughout his life.

It is little things like this which make for big things like SUCCESS.

The family of the late Mrs. Josephine Sims Johnson wishes to acknowledge all expressions of sympathy in the recent bereavement growing out of the death of our loved one.

Talk Is Long, But Rope Is Short

(Reprinted from "Time" Magazine, Article on Anti-Lynch Bill, January 22.)

To Negro Lee Jones, a 31-year-old millhand of Greensboro, Ala., last week's doings in the U. S. Senate were good news. Negro Jones had been arrested, charged with jumping on the running board of a car to kidnap Mrs. Robert Knox Greene, wife of a white planter. When Mrs. Greene's friends began to gather he did not need to be told what familiar, ugly thought they had in mind. At the crucial moment when Sheriff Calvin Hollis was trying to calm the crowd, up stepped Planter Robert Knox Greene himself. How planter Greene, a cousin of Alabama's Representative Sam Hobbs, persuaded the mob to disperse he was soon explaining to the Associated Press. "I told them I was the aggrieved person," said he, with some self satisfaction, "and I ought to have the final say. I also reminded them our Southern Senators were fighting anti-lynching in Washington and violence might hamper them. . . ."

"SKUNK MEAT"

Had it not been for Planter Greene's timely intervention, Millhand Jones might have been the first person to be lynched in the U. S. in 1938. There were eight lynchings in 1937, 13 in 1936. There have been some 5,000 in the U. S. since complete records began in 1882. There have been lynchings in every State in the Union save four—Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and Vermont. But if the practice has been general, the opposition to laws intended to suppress it has centered in the South. For two generations Southern Representatives and Senators have greeted every lynching bill that came up for debate with a reaction as sharp and unfailing as would be produced by a polecat. Snorted Georgia's Richard Russell last week of the latest and one of the most threatening Federal attempts to prosecute and punish lynchers: "Skunk Meat."

Week previous to this pronouncement Kentuckian Alben Barkely had settled down to the bitterest of the many unpleasant tasks hat he has had since he succeeded the late Joseph Taylor Robinson as Majority leader of the Senate. Leader Barkley was paying for a serious mistake. Last August in the closing days of Congress when every minute of the Senate's time was plotted out, he fell asleep at the switch. Senator King who was supposed to rise at a certain moment to present the District of Columbia Airport Bill, missed his cue and before Senator Barkley woke New York's Senator Wagner had the floor. Senator Wagner brought up the Wagner-Van Nuys Anti-Lynching Bill. Although Alben Barkley has cast a good southern vote against anti-lyching bills in the past, he was caught in a legislative trap. To prevent a new filibuster from wrecking the closing hours of the session, he promised Senator Wagner if he would withdraw it for the time, it would be considered second only to the Farm Bill next session.

When the special session opened last November with no Farm Bill in sight, Alben Barkley, like a Confederate General trapped into acting as a front for a group of carpetbaggers, unhappily unloosed the Wagner-Van Nuys Bill and its inevitable filibuster. It was temporarily laid aside when the Farm Bill appeared, but nothing is more important to a legislative leader than to keep his promise to the letter. So no sooner was the President's message out of the way last fortnight than Alben Barkley, still smarting from the abuses of the last filibuster, fulfilled his pledge, produced the Anti-Lynching Bill for what he hoped would be the last time.

Last spring under the spur of the two blow-torch lynchings at Duck Hill, Miss. (Time, April 26) the Gavagan Bill, a similiar anti-lynching measure, passed the the House. Passage by the Senate therefore meant the bill would become the law barring the unlikely event of a Presidential veto. So as predicted, Texas, Tom Connally promptly organized a filibuster. Not as predicted, that filibuster last week rounded out ten days and had gathered so much momentum that Tom Connally jubilantly annouced he would keep it going if necessary until Christmas.

FILIBUSTER

The actual contents of the Wagner-Van Nuys Bill, as simple as they were familiar, would scarcely keep the U. S. Senate busy for that period. Like its predecessors, it provided for Federal prosecution, and a $5,000 fine or up to five year's imprisonment, or both, for sheriffs and peace officers who did not afford criminals and suspected criminals reasonable protection from mobs (any gatherings of more than 3 persons). Its other principal provision, the payment of an indemnity up to $10,000 to the family of a victim of mob violence by the county whose officials are responsible, is already in the statue books of twelve States.

But filibusterers rarely have to talk about bills. As Tom Connally's loyal little band—Georgia's Russell, North Carolina's Bailey, South Carolina's James Byrnes, Tennessee's Kenneth McKellar, Louisiana's Ellender, and Pat Harrison—began their operations they had one stroke of luck. Illinois' porky, cautious William Dieterich had persuaded the Judiciary Committee to tack on an amendment exempting counties (i. e., Illinois' Cook) from liabilities arising from gang murders and labor violence. This gave Kenneth McKellar an opportunity to bait Illinois' Ham Lewis into a voluble debate on Chicago jurisprudence. North Carolina's Robert Reynolds helped out by discussing Europe, the Orient, the British Isles, South America, Africa, the Melay States.

"Whenever the Republican Party, the Democratic Party or the New Deal Party or any other party," rumbled North Carolina's Josiah Bailey, "caters to the Negro vote, it is going to elect to office common fellows of the baser sort." But when Kenneth McKellar began scornfully quoting from the bill in an effort to establish its unconstitutionality, Senator Wagner pointed out that the passage in question was a quotation from the Fourteenth Amendment. "Yes," stammered Senator McKellar, "it is."

DROPPING THINGS

Josiah Bailey rose in Baptist wrath to read from Ferdinand Lundberg's America's 60 Families' the New Deal's current anti-monopoly handbook, a passage that those who bathe frequently experience a subconscious feeling of guilt. "I've heard about the private bathroom in blue marble in Mr. Ickes' office," snorted Joe Bailey, "but I've never seen it and I wouldn't go so far as to say that Mr. Ickes takes a bath." With an angry gesture he raised his arm and wham, flung the book to the floor. In a twinkling Oklahoma Democrat Elmer Thomas scrambled over to pick it up, lay it gently on a desk. At this point tobacco-chewing Cotton Ed Smith, who had no doubt been restrained by his colleagues from giving his standard anti-lynching argument on behalf of Southern womanhood, relieved his feelings by grabbing America's 60 Families, slamming the book to the floor, stamping his big feet on it.

But Jimmy Byrnes dropped the first real bomb. Pointing straight at a small man seated quietly in the gallery, his voice shrill with passion, the wiry South Carolina Senator cried: "The South may just as well know . . . that it has been deserted by the Democrats of the North . . . One Negro . . . has ordered this bill to pass and if a majority can pass it, it will pass . . . If Walter White," and Jimmy Byrnes was fairly shouting his angry tribute, "should consent to have this bill laid aside, its advocates would desert it as quickly as football players unscramble when the whistle of the referee is heard . . .

PALEFACE

The Negro who did not acknowledge this extraordinary attention was Secretary Walter White of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.Not the least reason for Southern hatred of anti-lynching bills is that for the past decade they have been inextricably associated with Walter White and that the gradual growth of the anti-lynching movement had by last week made spunky dapper 44-year-old Negro White the most potent leader of his race in the U. S.

Son of a fair skinned Georgia postman and his fair skinned wife, Walter White is blond and pale faced .He himself does not know how much Negro blood runs in his veins; Harvard's far-ranging Anthropologist Earnest Alfred Hooton computes it at 1-64th. But despite a fair skin that last week fooled fellow guests at Washington's Hay-Adams House, Walter White has always regarded himself as a Negro. He remembers that his father's house was almost burned down during an Atlanta race riot in his childhood. He recalls too that his father died of agony when the surgeons of the white hospital in Atlanta, to which he had been mistakenly taken for an emergency operation, balked upon learning his race and insisted on shipping him in the rain to the Negro ward across the street.

Ironically, Walter White's pale skin got him into the Negro movement. In 1918 the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People wanted an investigator who looked enough like white to circulate among the crowds at lynchings, and young White, recently graduated from the Negro Atlanta University, was well qualified for the job. Founded nine years before as the result of a disastrous race riot in Abraham Lincoln's home town of Springfield, Ill., the NAACP was then a smallish but idealistic organization with a masthead of big names, among them liberal Editor Oswald Garrison Villard and famed Boston Lawyer Moorfield Storey.

The Association published the Crisis to reach its peak of influence under the editorship of Atlanta University's scholarly W. E. Burghardt Du Bois. It circulates a news service to the Negro press, which now numbers over 200 papers and magazines. It lobbied for Negro legislation, and when a post-War wave of lynchings carried off ten returned Negro soldiers in 1919 (two of them burned alive), it began to spend an increasing amount of its energy promoting State and then Federal anti-lynching laws.

Palefaced Negro White did his job well. He talked to members of mobs that executed some 40 lynchings. Occasionally he had to evade such triumphant questions as "Well, how would you like to have your daughter marry a nigger?" Once, while investigating a race riot in Arkansas, he narrowly escaped a mob who had heard he was a Negro investigator, breathlessly boarded a train only to have the conductor say: "You're leaving to soon—they're looking for a yellow nigger." He helped the NAACP publish the first case history of lynching, covering 3,224 cases between 1889 and 1918. And as assistant to NAACP Secretary James Weldon Johnson, he sat in the Senate gallery and heard the Dyer Bill talked to death in 1922.

In "Rope and Faggot" which he wrote in France on a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1927-28, Author White maintained that the long tradition of U. S. vigilantism has finally narrowed down to the Southern Negro not to protect Southern womanhood as was usually claimed (he found rape charged in less than one lynching in five), but to shackle and harry a growing economic competitor. "Rope and Faggot" also maintained that lynch law dated back to Colonial days when a Quaker named Charles Lynch sat as magistrate in an extra-legal court at what is now Lynchburg, Va., to try horse thieves, to the 1830s when a St. Louis judge, aptly named Lawless, advised a jury that mob murder was "beyond the reach of the law." The NAACP record still is that after 99.4 percent of U. S. lynchings, sheriffs had reported with melancholy unanimity: no arrests, no indictments, no convictions.

LOBBYING

When James Weldon Johnson retired to teach literature at Fisk University in 1930, Walter White succeeded to his $5,000 job and a Federal anti-lynching law officially became Item No. 1. on the NAACP schedule. The White argument, ceaselessly drummed into Negroes and White legislators alike, was that while talk is long, the rope is short—that in the 13 years between the Dyer filibuster that wrecked the Wagner-Costigan bill, mobs had lynched with practical impunity more than 290 U. S. Negroes.

In 1935, Walter White was able to get the ear of Franklin Roosevelt. Secretary Marvin McIntyre refused him an appointment with the President, but the President's Negro Valet Irvin H. McDuffie who sometimes leaves notes on his employer's pillow and tactfully gets unofficial callers in through the White House kitchen was able to arrange a private meeting. What effect Walter White's address to the President may have had on Washington last week was not sure.

PAPER VICTORY

As Walter White sat peering curiously down at the Senate from his gallery seat, he had already won a paper victory. He claimed, and neutral observers were disposed to accept his estimate, 73 votes for his bill in the turbulent chamber below. But these were promisory notes, useless until a final role call forced collection. And just as there were Representative willing to bring the Administration's Wages and Hours Bill out of an obstructive rules committee but unwilling to vote for it when they got the chance, so too there were Senators last week willing to vote for an anti-lynching bill but unwilling to take the forcible measures necessary to bring a vote.

On paper the 73 supporters of the Anti-lynching Bill controlled nine more votes than the two-thirds required to invoke cloture and end the filibuster, but the filibuster nevertheless went on. Alert Walter White made increasingly anxious trips downstairs to confer with Senators in the reception room. One of his departures from the gallery was noted by Jimmy Byrnes with sotto voce sarcasm: Barkley can't do anything without talking to that nigger first."

The odds in favor of the White Wagner-Van Nuys Anti-lynching Bill decreased steadily last week, for time works with a filibuster. One serious blow was the refusal of Republican leader Charles McNary, a master of minority strategy, to vote for night sessions or cloture so long as he could hamstring the Barkley leadership by refusing to do so. Another blow was the warning by oldtime Liberal George Norris that a prolonged, bitter filibuster in the face of important legislation might be too high a price even for an anti-lynching bill. Said he: "Perhaps this is not the time to open wounds that may not heal." A reporter asked Tom Connally whether he still thought he and his friends could talk until Christmas. The old Texan snorted: " Why not?"

NEW JERSEY RETURNS YOUTH TO S. C. GANG

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 27. (C) —One of the last acts of Governor Harold G. Hoffman, before he went out of office Monday, was to order the extraditin of Floyd Mix, 19, back to Camden, S. C., to resume a ten year chain gang sentence from which he escaped on August 10, 1934, after serving seven months. Mix had told authorities if they sent him back, to send him back "dead".

A double birthday party was held for Judye Bradford and Billie McFarland on January 13 was one of the gayest of the natal celebrations with their big sister, Mable Gray, as the hostess.

A document against racial discrimination is being signed in this picture by Max Bedacht, general secretary of the International Workers Order, with Louise Thompson, national recording secretary and noted Negro woman leader, looking on. The document is a contract signed with the Fort Pitt hotel in Pittsburgh providing that Negro delegates to the I. W. O. convention in April be admitted to hotel equally with white delegates. The I. W. O. had refused to use the hotel if there was discrimination against the Negro delegates. — CNA.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES
By MIRIAM C. MATTHEWS

The continued improvements in transportation and inter-communication by which the world has shrunk to but a fraction of its former size forces the question of the relation between races and nations into a new significance. Almost overnight humanity finds itself living in the same room. This is why we cannot ignore the present situation in Asia, in Europe, in Africa, indeed, in any part of the world. This is why we must do something about the conditions which threaten the peace of the entire world. To do this we must be reliably informed. To this end the following titles recommend themselves to every alert, intelligent citizen of America and of the world.

H. C. Engelbrecht whose stirring book, "Merchants of Death" first opened the eyes of thousands to the kind of men who were making arms, and their motives, has orought together in his latest volume, "Revolt Against War", all the other anti-peace factors that are now at work. His discussion of the causes, conduct and results of modern warfare includes military creeds and systems, propaganda, war industries, economics, epidemics and crime. In the foreword to this book, Robert S. Lynd, author of "Middletown" writes:

"Our major responsibility as citizens of a democracy is to work for a socialized economy providing more basic security to individuals, so that war may no longer masquerade as a relief from economic impasses and the frustrations of everyday living. And further, to give more publicity to the stupidities that breed war and to the chicaneries that sell the war spirit; to its incalculable waste of human life, of human energies, and of economic resources; and to the many social problems inevitably intensified by war."

MUST WE GO TO WAR—

Another important book on the same subject is "Must We Go To War?" written by Kirby Page, one of the clearest and most effective thinkers on the great problems which perplex our age. With every nation in the world swinging into the fantastic race for armaments, Mr. Page, has surveyed a variety of possible methods for preventing war and lays special stress on the duty of the churches and of the individual citizen. Twenty years experience in thirty-five different countries gives great weight to his arguments.

In his "Japan Over Asia", Will Henry Chamberlain presents an admirably impartial and objective account of the main events of the forward drive of Japan into Asia, the obstacles encountered, and the favorable and unfavorable auguries for Japan's imperial career in the future. This is an important work because the Japanese conflict affects not only the internal politics of all the nations of the Far East but also the international relations of the whole world and demands a greater understanding by the lay public of the amazing political, economic and philosophic paradoxes that mark this major development of the present decade.

'Sell' Southland to Million in '38

To maintain its $216.000.00 tourist business at the present level, Southern California must "be sold" during 1938 to at least a million Americans who as yet never have seen the Southland, directors of the All-Year Club, the area's official tourist organization, were told today in annual meeting.

Exploding the popular belief the mainstay of this area's vastly-profitable tourist business are travelers who return again and again, revealed by a questionnaire survey of 6708 tourists who arrived during 1937, showing:

Fifty-five per cent were making their first visit.

Eighty-seven per cent had never been here before 1936.

CARDUI

Besides easing functional pains of menstruation, Cardui aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more energy and strength from their food.

REVIEW

"AH WILDERNESS"
by Eugene O'Neill
Directed by Charles King
By JOHN KINLOCH

"Ah Wilderness" is one of those family-life affairs which is always pleasant. However, it really is the peer of all such stories. The characters are true-to-life and understandable--in no sense of the word burlesqued.

John Kinloch

Directed by Charles King, the play, as presented at the Mason, has its long barren wastes and its moments of intense interest. Nat Miller, the father, though a bit off in the first two acts, carries the last through to its bitter-sweet climax with beautiful skill. His early weakness was due to over-acting, his latter strength to increased restraint.

The story is a simple one. It tells of the trials and joys of a typical American family over the Fourth of July holiday in the year 1906. The main theme concerns the love-affair of a rebellious high school age son who has given his sweet heart certain choice portions of the Rubaiyat of Omah Kiam, which, of course, her self-righteous father discovers and brings to the attention of the lad's father. To add to the young man's woe, the sweetheart is forced by her irate father to write him a letter severing friendship between them. In order to show how little he cares about this, the young-man almost gets himself involved with a damsel of the streets in a hilarious scene in the back-room of the notorious "Pleasant's Inn".

The chief flaw of the play was the manner in which Richard, the young rebel, and Muriel, his sweetheart, were caricatured. True, O'Neill did satirize his young Richard to some extent, but he was never intended to be the shallow person he was in the Arthur Gardner portrayal. Conceived as a very sensitive and highly intelligent young man suffering merely from a distorted view-point or a lack of perspective, young Richard was shown i nthe Mason theatre version as a hysterical and somewhat zanny young person. Muriel likewise.

Others, however, who did much to save the play from its youthful assasins were Ethel M. Soule, the mother, Robert Lawler, as shiftless Uncle Sid (the Wallace Beery screen role), and Dot Karroll, who had a very small role as Nora, the maid.

The Charles King direction, though consideraby less than inspired, was fairly efficient.

Jeff Hi All-City Star to Play With "Bojangles" Saturday

Coach "Ching" Duhm, of Jefferson High, is all set to send in his All-City center, Francis Garland, to bolster the scoring strength of his AAU basketball squad, the Bill Robinson's Bojangles, next Saturday night when they face the Pacific Coast Team of Long Beach in the Patriotic Hall.

The Bojangles have thus far lost all of their AAU games to make their winning and losing games column balance. However, they have played bang up basketball, to the extent that they have always managed to win the favor of the fans.

Manager Herman Hill, of the Bojangles, feels that with Jefferson hi's Francis Garland in the lineup, the scoring problem will be solved. They hope to turn back the Pacific Coast AAU clubbers. Two interesting preliminary games which promise plenty of zip are carded. The first at 7:30 will see the Goodyear Club pitted against the fast breaking B'nai Brith team. The other preliminary game will go on after the main duel between the Bojangles and the Pacific Coast Team.

RACE TRACK GOSSIP
By Jay Gould

Santa Anita's Saturday crowd of 61,000 paid admissions clipped the record. Money handled thru the mutuel windows was $1,138,000. Walter Green was heard to say: "People in Los Angeles bet like they were using paper for money." All drivers are requested to drive carefully leaving the track as it may save a life. For no one knows what an automobile will do. Race track is policed by the Pinkerton ace men from New York who seem to have very little trouble with the boys. Watch this space weekly for this column as it was missed two weeks as my secretary was on her honeymoon. Bud Chase, manager of the Elks' Temple, picks more winners on the horse races, football games, prize fights or baseball games than anyone else in the State of California.

Pennie Meade, bookmaker on all New York tracks, must be smart on the game to hold his own with the best learned bookmakers in the country. The late Yellow Owens, who passed in Saratoga, New York, a couple of seasons ago and left a half million dollars, was one time the husband of Marie Valdeux now in Los Angeles. Clocker Long Boy Ellerson never knows what he spends a week. Louis Sayluers doesn't drink anything whatever but is no cream puft in timing horses. Eddie Anderson buys more horses. Eddie is booked solid in Hollywood and can afford a string of race horses, same as the other big shots out Movie Town way. He has employed Raymond White as exercise jockey. George Ramsey paid a grand for a race horse which has not won his cost as yet or earned any part of his feed bill.

Bernice Ayers plays her own dope. She generally wins two and sometimes loses one. Lee Thompson made a flying trip to Los Angeles to see his sweetie, who is now cashier at Gibbs' Jockey club. Amerel and hubby James, proprietors of the Dunbar Hotel cafe, are among the largest winners at Santa Anita. It just co[illegible] Brooks, well known chef and race track fan, $25 for running through the red light trying to make the first race. Eddie Atkinson, his pretty missus and Edna Harris, movie star, beat the races and motored away singing "It's Nice If You Can Get It". Alice Allen, Lagatha Lomax, Albertine Pickens, Nora Holt and Arling Slaughter generally leave the track bubbling over with joy. After stretching their necks over the racing form sheets from day break to dusk, Johnny Davis, George Hall, Carl Young, Charley Welch, Maps of Cleveland, generally leave the track singing the blues after the last race. Officer Bennie Ayers, Officer Stovall, Cliff Allen, Black Dot, Paul Lauderdale, Horace Clark can be seen at Santa Anita regardless of the high expense. Robert North, known as Kid North, manager of the Meadowbrook racing stable, won $20,000 in stakes and purses in 1937. Kid has started 1938 by winning several races.

Lucius Lomax and son were at the track. Lucious jr. played $11 on Torobang which paid $92.80 for a $2.00 ticket. Ruth Spates, who passed away in Southern California last week, was one time wife of Harry Spates.

George Butts, Joe Bledsoe, Mrs. Anna Belle Bledsoe, Miss Rosetta Evans and Miss Gussie Jacobs play the night spots after leaving Santa Anita. Everline Costello, Mae Moore, one-time baker; Millard Russ, Lee Hicks and Miss Frankie Doe played their own tips, but were not so hot. Charles Murray, J. H. Young and their missuses of Chicago, on a sightseeing trip to New York by the way of San Francisco through the Panama Canal, were the house guests at a birthday party given by Harry and Pansy Spates in their home. Others present were Mal Brazier, Gurshan Myers of New York, Lucious Lomax jr. and pretty Carmelita. This affair was really tops. Lois Whaley, Elise Teale, Claire Ware, Clarice Hayden, Bee Griffith and Marbelle Watts can be seen after dark in swanky spots on Central. For any information write or wire Jay Gould of the Dunbar hotel, Los Angeles, California.

Economy Liquor Softballers Bid for League Title

Behind the splendid pitching of Buddy Richardson, the Economy Liquor store softball team moved into a tie for leadership After losing the opening game in the Municipal league.

of the season to the strong Grant's All-Stars, the Liquor boys came back strong to badly trim the Hamlin Motor Co. and the California Warehouse softballers.

Manager Joe Hines believes that should his pitching staff of Buddy Richardson, Jimmy Norman and Lionel Alexander (the pitching postman) continue in their present form, the league title is within their grasp.

Sunday, January 30, will see the liquor store representatives crossing bats with the tough Glen's 5 & 10 team at the Harvard Playground at 61st and Denker Ave.

Hines has chosen Alexander to do the mound chores against the eating house team.

VENTURI TOLD "TO GET ON BICYCLE"

New York newspapers last week-end charged that Jimmy Johnson, New York boxing promoter, instructed Enrico Venturi in the strategy to use which "might" have beaten Henry Armstrong.

Writing in the Sunday Worker one columnist claimed that Johnson told Venturi, as he told Bob Pastor in a match against Joe Louis to "get on his bycicle" and attempt to tire Armstrong.

CORNY JOHNSON IN HIGH-JUMP VICTORY

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Corny Johnson, Olympic high jumper from California, came back from last week's slump to take the high jump at 6 ft., 6 in., in the Grover Cleveland Osceola Club track meet Saturday.

Coates Wins But Gets Just a Draw!

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Charley Coates, erstwhile "killer" of the ring, returned to the local wars Tuesday night and with the dispatch of old he decisioned a tough and aggressive foe, but for his efforts Referee Lieut. Jack Kennedy saw to it that he should get no better than a draw.

Fighting the semi-windup of six rounds, Coates punched Dutch Ullmer all over the ring. His heavy-duty mitts had Dutch out on his feet in the final canto. And although he was unable to floor Ullmer, Coates had a clear edge in four of the six rounds. Kennedy was roundly booed by the near-capacity house when he returned to referee the Bob Nestell-Chuck Crowell main event.

Nestell, who unfortunately suffers from a "glass" jaw, bit the resin for keeps in the second round. Crowell caught him near the ropes and nailed him with a left hook to the mid-section. Nestell turned to the referee, holding his tummy, but the "ref" told him the blow wasn't foul and to keep at it. Before Bob could pull himself together Chuck had swarmed all over him with head and body blows. Nestell landed on his back and was counted out in that position.

CASINO LOOKS GOOD

In the preliminaries, Charley Belforte and Gene Garner, heavyweights, battled to a lively draw; Lee Wright didn't seem concerned about winning, letting Elmer Lewis trounce him for the decision; Jimmy Casino looked good in scoring a one-round TKO over Carmen Georgino and Al Grayson won a slugging match from Frankie Rice.

Flash

To all you dear readers and friends of this column, I sincerely wish to thank each and every one for your many fine compliments as well as the "solid" cooperation given me the past year and also the year's past, in making this column a success. As all of you know, this is the beginning of the third year of this column and you can feel sure that I am going to try and do my best to make this column as interesting or more than it has been in the past few years, during this new year of 1938. Not being able to extend my New Year Greetings a few weeks past, I take this opportunity at the present time to extend to all of you my sincere greetings for a most prosperous and happy new year.

Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong and his orchestra after a very successful engagement at Frank Sebastian's New Cotton Club in Culver City and after completing a very important part in Bing Crosby's new picture, left our city this past week for Chicago where he and his band will be featured at the Grand Terrace Cafe. This "cat" Louis is well liked by his many friends here and to them it was rather sad to see old "Satchmo" leave, but when you got to go, you've just got to go, "or don't you". Well to all you "cats" and dear readers, dear old "Satchmo" will be back here in L. A. very soon I am hoping, because he and I have a little jive to swing.

Charles (trumpet) Echols and his swing band is laying some fine jiving in the groove these nights uptown at Papke's New Skyline Cafe, this is Echols' fourth or fifth year swinging for the many friends and patrons who make up the audiences of Papke's foundation. In Charlie's organization he has the following cats, Hugo (sax) Dandridge, Wallace (tenor sax) Bowdin, Jack (drums) White, LeGrand (bass) Mason and that grand little lady of the ivories and mellow singing voice, Mrs. Edith (piano) Turnham.

Welcome back to Sunny California shores my good friend Miss Cleo (piano) Brown who arrived in L. A. a few weeks ago and is at present swinging some fine piano in the groove, at a very popular exclusive night club in Hollywood. Miss Brown returned here after finishing a very successful engagement at a very outstanding night club in the heart of the gold coast colony in the city of Chicago. From inside information Miss Brown is to be featured in a motion picture which will go into production in a few weeks. This column is wishing Miss Brown the best of success.

This past Monday a very solid meeting was held at headquarters of Local 767 to a packed house of members. Much business of importance was carried out and after the meeting the cats present was served a very delicious plate lunch which all of them swung in the groove, then knocking themselves out with that fine beer which made the meeting a solid affair. I wish to extend my congratulations as well as those from all the cats to our brother members of the food and lush committee and the officers of Local 767 for making this affair possible.

Nate king (piano) Cole and his Swingsters Three are really doing some fine business for the Swanee Inn these nights out in Hollywood. King and his cats have been swinging at this popular night spot for the past several months and believe me these cats can beat some fine jive in the groove which is a killer.

Happy (trombone) Johnson and his swing band is the hit of the avenue, packing the Big Apple (Mosby's) Cafe to capacity these nghts. Happy and his band have been laying this swing jive in a solid groove at this spot for the past month. FREDDY.

Olympic Bills Henry for 2 Feb. Matches

Henry Armstrong, the Tan Tornado, featherweight champion of the world, is slated for two matches during the next month at the Olympic auditorium.

Announcement was made this week of the top bouts lined up until February 22. Armstrong will face Chalky Wright, Negro lightweight, next Tuesday in a bout which will be of primary interest to Central avenue.

It is the first time in many moons that two Negroes have been matched in a principal feature on the Olympic card. Wright is a one-time instructor of Armstrong in the art of fisticuffing.

BABY ARIZMENDI

On February 15, Hustlin' Henry will fight again, the opponent not definitely decided upon, but Baby Arizmendi most logical choice.

Ancient Mystery of DeMille Garb Solved At Last!

Cecil B. DeMille today cleared up the long-time mystery of why he wears riding breeches and puttees when he doesn't ride a horse.

Launcher of the legend that all directors wear them on the set—a custom that has passed away for all except De Mille—the producer-director of "The Buccaneer" declared:

"Breeches and puttees are the natural garb for a director. On a crowded set, long trousers are forever catching and tearing. Besides, when I'm on my feet all day, I find that leather puttees support my legs. Directors who direct in lounge suits are missing a bet."

Million Dollar Five Beats Burbank; to Play Glendale

Before a wildly cheering crowd that included a number of prominent Hollywood figures, Central avenue's newest entertainment innovation, basketball game-dances were opened last Sunday night at the Golden West Elks auditorium. Ralph Cooper, motion picture star and athlete led his Million Dollar Five to a hard fought and sensational win over the speedy Burbank All-Stars, 41-33.

The first ball was tossed by Harry Popkin, Million Dollar Production's executive producer, who backed the venture as an encouragement to Negro athletes. Included in his party were Mrs. Popkin, Suey Welch, Olympic promoter; Leo Popkin, distribution head; Sonenshine, Miss Betty Popkin, Paskay, Wallace and Atty. Orloff.

Among others were Miss Edna Harris, Al Duvall, Eddie Atkinson, Willie Covan, and Jay Moss. Also present and aiding in the success of the big affair were A. Hartley Jones, Elks' Exalted Ruler, and many members of the building committee.

Nip and tuck, with the score tied almost constantly, the Burbank team, all big fellows, were a real match for the famous Million Dollar team. Finally, in the last three minutes of the second half, they grabbed off the needed four points and the deed was done. Dootsie Williams and his Harlem Dukes then swung into the snappy dance numbers, and the gay dancers stepped it until after midnight.

A challenge from Glendale's fighting Robinson's All-Stars was accepted and the tilt preceded by a preliminary will take place next Sunday night. In last Sunday's prelim, the Alhambra Phantoms beat 28th St. "Y" 43 to 31.

Game officials were Thurston Davis, scorer; Halley Harding, referee; Johnny Brewer, timekeeper; Buck Jones, business manager; and Harry Levette, announcer.

The Rev. C. B. Hodge has returned to Tucson from his trip to Los Angeles. He reports the major operation of his cousin Walter McCurley as successful. During his stay in California the Rev. Hodge visited the Ministerial Union held in Los Angeles.

The Rev. Charles H. Hampton, pastor of the Bethel Baptist church, San Diego, Calif. and the president of the State Convention, of California, was a visitor in Tucson, January 19. He was the house guest of the Rev. C. B. Honge, pastor of Mt. Calvary church, who for many years has been associated with him, and who came to this state as a member of the Western Baptist State convention, actively engaged as a pastor and member, under the efficient guidance of Dr. C. H. Hampton. He, with the Rev. C. B. Hodge, met the Rev. W. D. Carter, pastor, of the First Baptist church of Pasadena, Calif. and a member of the Board of Regionals of the National Baptist Convention, Inc. on the 10:53 train, and joined him for their planned trip to the National Board meeting in Nashville, Tenn. They are planning to stop over with the Rev. C. B. Hodge on their return trip to the state of California, if time will permit them. Further notice will be given in connection with the return trip.

Services at Mt. Calvary

The Rev. C. B. Hodge chose his Sunday morning sermon from the book of Proverbs. Subject of his text was "I Think I Can". The important thought throughout his talk was "One can do no more than one thinks he can." The word "can't" has broken many a strong spirit and by it many a good purpose has been lost. It is much more elevating to say "I can" since this increases one's ambition and courage.

Contents of the evening sermon centered around the Book of James. Subject of sermon "Keeping Unspotted". Christians in their efforts to keep unspotted, said the Rev. Hodge, "are molested by that abominable little tattle, Slander." These brave soldiers should not be discouraged for Christ, the greatest of men, also had to suffer the torture of slander's forked tongue. A brave will to resist evil and hold fast to good can do much to over come the breath of slander. An unspotted character is the most precious thing in human life. This truth, sublime in it's simplicity and powerful in its beauty is the highest lesson of religion, the first that youth should learn, the last that age should forget.

Mrs. Malinda Cohn, 1411 California avenue was hostess to the club at the meeting Wednesday night, Jan. 19th. A tasty dinner was served and instead of the usual bridge games, the evening was spent in embroidering and discussing club business. Saturday night, Jan. 23, the T. E. social club attracted a nice crowd with a dollar hunt at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Howard, 1028 E. 12th street. Mr. G. Rex Lee, new Long Beach resident from Coronado, was quite the lucky man in finding the hidden dollar and holding the lucky numbered ticket for a set of dishes. Mr. George Cook won a set of six dessert dishes in the hole-in-one game. Dancing was also a feature of this party. Mrs. Oneida Miles, 1140 California avenue, Apt. 2 was hostess at a chitterling dinner for the T. E. Social club, Saturday night, Jan. 15. Mrs. Dorothy Reese will have a chitterling dinner with cards and dancing at her home, 917 E. 10th street, Saturday night, Jan. 24th. The T. E.'s are working toward a grand treat for their friends in the near future. So!

Week-end guest of Miss June Bradley, 472 W. Anaheim street was Miss Lillian Singleton of Los Angeles who is also a schoolmate of Miss Bradley at L. A. J. C.

The Juliette Derricotte Business Girls' club of the YWCA was entertained Sunday afternoon, Jan. 23 by the club president, Mrs. Helen Gwyn-Irving at her home, 1325 E. 48th street, Los Angeles, Miss Elizabeth Knight, a YWCA secretary of Glendale being honored guest. Miss Knight will be remembered by many Negro clubs here in Long Beach as a friend and club aide to the Negroes when she was a Girl Reserves Secretary in L. B. about four years ago.

Local Negro mid-winter Poly High graduates are Miss Corrine Mae Brown and Mr. Zenas Butler. Graduation exercises were held Thursday night, Jan. 27.

The marriage of Miss Lahoma (Teddie) Morris of L. A., formerly of Long Beach, which was to have taken place Jan. 30 will necessarily be postponed on account of the death of the groom's brother. However, Miss Lorena Milligan of L. A. another former resident of L. B. will recite her wedding vows, Feb. 12th, so 'tis said.

In Long Beach, Miss Ella White and Mr. Jesse Wills will wed March 3rd as announced Sunday afternoon, Jan. 16th at a very delightful announcement tea at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Marks, 1407 California ave.

The music of Myart's Southern California orchestra was much enjoyed by those attending the Get Together dance given at the Elks club, 520 Esther street Sunday night, Jan. 23rd. Also enjoyed was the daily featured Southern Bar-B-Q.

Only a little baby. He's only seven months old."

The landlord shook his head. "nothing doing", he answers.

A disappointed ook swept over both of the youngsters faces. "Why my baby can't even walk, mister," the little mother protested, so there's no way for him to hurt your house."

"He cries, don't he?" says the landlord.

"Of course he cries sometimes, all babies do. But he's real good most of the time," she pleaded.

The lad spoke up now. "Mister," he says, "I wish you'd give us a trial. We been looking so long for a place. And the room where we're living now is so close that the baby can't hardly get any air. Please give us a break."

"Nothing doing," the landlord said again, and he turned and walked out on the front porch and started to light his cigar. I took one look at the little mother's disappointed face, and then followed him out on the porch. I talked, and talked, and tried to reason with him but he was colder then chilled steel. So I finally called to the children to come on, and they came slowly out, and we got in my laundry wagon and drove on away.

I saw they were awful downcast, so I asked them where they lived, and told them that I'd drop them home. They told me, and I drove them over on 16th street to the place where they were rooming. The children thanked me over and over again, and invited me in to see the baby, so I went on in.

The ycarried me through a dingy-looking hall into a back bed-room that wasn't much bigger than my laundry-wagon. The red figured wall paper was faded and splotched with water-stains. Over near the one small window, the baby was asleep in his crib; and somehow or other I thought about the play I saw at my church on Christmas morning, about a babe in a manger.

Well, as soon as we walked in, the little rascal woke up. He was the very spit of his mother, and he started to cooing and kicking as soo nas he saw her. She picked him up and let me hold him. And as I stood there holding him, and looking at them two youngsters so proud and happy over their first-born, the tears crept in my eyes and my thoughts race back twenty years, to the time when I was rooming, and used to put my little boy to sleep after I got home from work.

I praised the little mite, and played with him for a short while; but the tears kept crowding me, and I knew that wasn't no good way for a hard-boiled laundryman to be acting. So I laid the baby down quietly, and told the youngsters goodbye, after promising to keep an eye out for a place for them. Then I got in my laundry-wagon, goe something out of my eyes with my handkerchief, and drove away.

I circled all over the Eastside that afternoon, up one street and down another, but I didn't rustle up much laundry business. To tell you the truth, my mind wasn't much on business. I was looking for a house for them children. I didn't have no luck though. I saw quite a few signs, but when I got close enough to read 'em they said "Garage for ent". And finally I got to thinking about how many more vacant garages there were than houses, and about all the great steel and concrete garages that's been built here recently, and the spacious industrial plants that's been put up to house valuable machinery. And all at once it come to me that any stranger who comes here in a car can find a decent place to stow it in less than an hour if he has the money to pay for it. And then I commenced to wonder how long can any civilization last, that places a higher value on machinery than on a tiny human body, the supreme mystery of all creation, made in the image and likeness of God.

RIVERSIDE

By FRANCES M. WILLIAMS

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Harris and daughters, Ida and Laura, attended Bethel AME church morning services and 3 p. m. services at First church, hearing the program featuring Gov. Merriam, introduced by Bishop Noah D. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Culpepper, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Williams and family, attended Ward Chapel, hearing an inspiring sermon by Rev. J. W. Price. After services they spent the afternoon with Mrs. Margaret Clark, sister of Mrs. Culpepper. Table was laid for the family: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Clark, Pearly, Early, Russell and Elijah Clark, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Williams, Frances, Lottie, A. L. jr.; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Culpepper and Mr. Robert Saunders. Other members of the family came in: Rev. and Mrs. Jennie Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Culpepper.

SICK LIST

Mrs. Martha Herrington Williams, Mrs. Mamie Felton, D. S. Stokes.

Little Arthur L. Williams jr. was greatly surprised on his 10th birthday when the Harris family called at the home about 8 p. m. January 22 with a lovely grey broadcloth shirt and while away an hour or two in conversation and fun.

The Grand Lecturer of California and jurisdiction, S. J. Hopkins will be meeting Prince Hall No. 17 and Orange Valley No. 1 in joint session at Masonic hall in San Bernardino, Jan. 25, 7:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Bell of 2086 W. 28th St., L. A., were visitors at the home of Mrs. E. Mayer.

Because of the lack of membership on the part of the Negro mothers at Poly High P-TA, Negro boys and girls attending school there suffered some embarrassment in handling the situation concerning the article published in their school paper by the editor, comparing black snakes, black roosters, black dogs, etc., with Negroes, all are black.

Rev. Wm. Thomas, interested in the affair tried but vainly to get someone to go with him to the school. Mrs. Boyd took up the play and wa successful in getting Mrs. W. G. Williams both members of the Political club. Mrs. Boyd being president to accompany her to the school neither having children in the school. They talked with Mr. Paul, principal of the school, securing the information they desired, but by this time a committee, Misses Ola B. Norris, Laura Harris, Elizabeth Clark students there, represented the race group there, had waited on the editor, results an apology in next issue.

After some conversing between Mr. Paul and the editor, there was some dissatisfaction on the part of the committee of three Mrs. Boyd received a letter from Mr. Paul to call again at the office, at which all matters were discussed and settled.

The president of the Women's Political Study club was not satisfied until she had received all particulars. Mothers and fathers is it all right for us to sit quietly by and let our girls and boys face the issues of life alone? They must learn some day, of course, but we that are years their senior, and Father Time has dealt us experience after experience. Don't you think it back them would strengthen them for the odds of life? Do you belong to the P-TA where your boy and girl go to school? Do you know how your boy and girl is getting along from day to day? Have you personally contacted their teachers? The privilege and pleasure is yours. (An observer.)

WITHIN the past few weeks, we have faced one of the most flagrant abuses of the principles of democratic government in the history of our community. Acknowledged authorities for the enforcement of the law have been ruthlessly pushed aside and slandered by individuals and groups who, it is believed, have placed their personal gain above the common good.

In the several, self-appointed, extra-legal committees formed for the expressed purpose of "blowing the lid" off the city's political cauldron, exactly nothing has been accomplished to substantiate the claims of the crusaders or to justify the shocking loss of faith in elected officials caused by their wild tooting of unconfirmed statements and unestablished facts.

There is no citizen here who does not believe that vice and corruption exist in Los Angeles and, possibly, every other city of its size in the country. That is a sad commentary on our regular law enforcement agencies throughout the nation.

Thousands of dollars are spent each year to elect to office men whose ability to cope with situations arising in community affairs is either established or believed in by their constituents. But the law takes cognizance of human frailties and is plainly and justly written so that when one man fails another may take his place.

In view of these facts, we question the sincerity of purpose of the present "crusaders" who have launched clean-up campaigns to rid the city and county of vice conditions.

It is a known fact that the tactics of politicians and chiselers here are formed with the idea of "fighting first and collecting later". Within the last few weeks of this "campaign" we have noticed, on one day, the ardent appeal to decency by some of the "crusaders" and, on the next, a silence as sure as the grave. A silence, however, which speaks eloquently to those familiar with the personalities involved.

There is only one alternative, as we see it, in regard to the so-called "lid-blowing" in Los Angeles. Either it will have to be done by officials with the legal power to accomplish an effective clean-up, or those officials, refusing to exercise their duties in this regard, must be replaced in office.

At any rate, the people are not fooled by the empty, furtive efforts of campaign candidates to make capital of a serious situation, to attempt to use public funds and buildings in their political build-ups, when they, and everyone else, know that no real accomplishment of the public good will be sustained through the medium of a dress parade of chocolate soldiers.

IN THE scheme of things, whether local or national, political or industrial, if there is a blow up or blow out, the Negro, it appears, is always the most seriously affected.

While county and state relief officials reach a final impasse in the Works Progress Administration sewing projects, some two thousand women are thrown out of work—on three out of 17 of these sewing projects 90% of the women are Negroes. While it is not possible to arrive at an accurate estimate of Negro women employes in the set-up, it is believed that the percentage is about 40%.

Approximately three from every five of these women are responsible for the support of their families. Jobs gone, they will be thrown back on the dole to eke out an existence on about $30.00 a month.

Every man, woman, and child is entitled to food and shelter. After all, the chief business of the state and the nation is to protect its citizens from starvation and dperivation; for these breed not only contempt for law and order, but for government itself.

In the matter of employment, politics should be an unknown quantity, and yet from one quarter we hear crowings and cacklings about what I can do politically and from another, "They put political pressure on and got my job!"

I believe now as I have always that the government's plan of employment meant well, but since its inception politics has played havoc with the people's rights.

"WHITE GROCERS IN COLORED NEIGHBORHOODS CANNOT BE PICKETED TO FORCE EMPLOYMENT OF NEGRO CLERKS"

THE ABOVE is a caption which appeared over an article in the January 21 issue of the Southern California Grocers' Journal. It tells of how a District of Columbia court has ruled that Negroes cannot picket white merchants to employ colored because there is no legitimate labor question involved.

This news item is additional proof of the rightness of the contention which I have held for the past two decades—NEGROES MUST GO INTO BUSINESS FOR THEMSELVES. Now that it is not only illogical but also illegal to picket white businesses to employ colored, this driving truth might be realized: Negro enterprise alone is the medium through which the economic in-

CENTRAL AVE. CLEANUP IS SMEARUP; ENEMIES OF VICE PAYOFF BELIEVED CHIEF ATTACKERS

Eagle Editor in Startling Disclosures

By FAY M. JACKSON

With the same calm deliberation that has characterized her 25 years of successful management of the West's oldest and largest newspaper, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The EAGLE, issued a sensational challenge to what she believes to be an insidious campaign by competitors to besmirch her name and destroy the public confidence in her leadership in Los Angeles, growing out of a supoena served by Baron Lawson on her last Wednesday, to appear before the State Assembly Interim Committee for questioning in an asserted campaign against vice conditions in the city.

"I have refrained from answering the many slurring remarks, veiled and direct, made against me up to this time because I did not consider the source from which they came sufficiently serious to dignify by a reply", Mrs. Bass began.

ENEMIES ENCOURAGED

"With the force that only a lie can gather added to the courage my enemies have gained because of my silence, I feel, now, that I owe it to myself, my business and those whom I have served to challenge my attackers and, possibly, throw a bit of light upon their underlying motives.'

"There is nothing but jealousy prompting this injection of my name into a vice situation in the Central Avenue district in the manner in which it has been linked through subtle and clever innuendo'.

"I believe that it was positively at the suggestion of Baron Lawson, aided and abetted by the editors of the Los Angeles Sentinel, working in the most destructive manner possible for newspaper supremacy here, that I was connected with this situation", she continued.

Describing the apparently carefully laid plans to besmirch her character, Mrs. Bass said that she dated the Sentinel's attack to her appearance before the Mayor with a committee who went to Mr. Shaw's office to ask for increased employment of Negroes in various city departments.

HOUSE CLEANING NEEDED

Misleading and false statements to the effect that she denied the existence of vice on Central avenue was published by the Sentinel, following this meeting.

"Not only did I make no such statement then, but I can frankly say now that I think that social conditions on the Eastside need a general house-cleaning. This applies to all parts of the city and I do not think that any skimming over will do the job!"

"It does seem strange, however", the editor said, "that Mr. Leon Washington of the Sentinel and his associates grew excessively bitter towards me just on the heels of my expose of chinese

Baron Lawson May Face Felony for Perjury

With scores of outraged Angelenos protesting the "crusading" tactics of Baron Lawson, crackpot politician and alleged stool pigeon presently employed by the Clinton C.I.V.I.C. committee on vice investigation, registered on all sides, an investigation of the "investigator" is asserted to have revealed possibilties of Mr. Lawson's prosecution for perjured statements during the investgation last week.

It is a felony in this state to give sworn testimony under an assumed name.

Having lived in Spokane, Billings, Butte and Seattle, Lawson, alias "Nervy Nat", alias "Pus" Lawson, alias "Herbert Lawson", is said to have been christened "Otis Weston".

Unconfirmed reports declared that Nat-Pus-Nervy-Otis-Baron Lawson-Weston has an arrest record for having connections with a narcotic joint in Butte; that he slapped a woman with a pistol in Seattle and was ordered out of Seattle from whence he came to Los Angeles.

From an authoritative source it was learned today that "Lawson" had attempted to borrow money from a Central Avenue merchant, failing, returned Sunday night with two plain clothesmen and acted in an intimidating manner.

A PARADOX

Judging by the photo above one would think that proponents of anti-lynch legislation numbered among them Miss Ella Fitzgerald, torrid crooning sensation in Chick Webb's orchestra; but 'tain't so.

After Miss Fitzgerald paused in her duties at the Savoy ballroom in New York City to don a black arm band and protest against the eight lynchings in 1937, came word from the southern booking agents not to print expressions of Miss Fitzgerald's sympathy as the bill is a sore spot in southern territory.

These armbands will be worn by thousands of persons on Friday, Feb. 11 when the NAACP stages its second Nation wide youth demonstration against lynching.

GIVES SLOGAN

HON. J. FINLEY WILSON, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks, who, at the Emancipation celebration in New York recently, gave the "Slogan of 1938", which is "Become More Race Conscious--Fight Race Prejudice." The dynamic Elk leader said that prejudice has crossed the Potomac from the South, and that unless Negroes form a solid front, regardless of section or place of birth, and fight for their rights, the North will become as the South on the race question. "The Negro must stand together as a unit against race prejudice," the Elk boss declared. (Calvin service)

Vice Inquiry to Shift to Clubs in Hollywood

With the State Assembly Interim Committee, headed by Speaker William Moseley Jones, attempting to make good its threats "to blow the lid off" the city's seething political cauldron, 100 persons alleged to be operators of houses of prostitution, proprietors of gambling joints, bookmakers, numbers game operators and dope peddlers were summoned to the State building Thursday morning last where the committee meeting is being held.

Although the committee action is supposed to have grown out of direct and indirect accusations that corruption is running rife among city and county and state officials, with Metropolitan police receiving the brunt of the finger of scorn as a result of the Harry Raymond Bombing case, the opening probe was confined to conditions in the Eastside district, and the investigation of the source of corruption pointed to by various reform groups here was quietly white-washed in the first skirmish.

Subpoenas for the committee were served on the Negroes by Baron Lawson.

Handed the "John Doe" subpoenas to serve for the purpose of ascertaining what "payoffs" came from whom and into whose pockets they finally landed, Lawson saw a grand chance to "get back at" some of his old enemies, licked his chops and proceeded with the "service".

Number one Lawson Enemy is Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE.

Armed with authority from the state committee, Lawson quickly catalogued his old peeves, forgot all about the purpose of the investigation and began slapping papers on all sides Wednesday last.

Mrs. Bass was represented in the state building by Attorney T. L. Griffith, Jr. who reported her indisposition. Assemblyman Jones declared that her presence was not necessary.

Scores of citizens, incensed over the obviously deliberate personal malice accompanying the linking of reputable persons with prositutes and dope peddlers and the wide-spread publicity capital which is being made of Mrs. Bass' enforced connection with the case by business competitors, declared little faith in the actual sincerity of the committee.

After questioning various Eastsiders, some of which are said to be identified with alleged underworld activities--all of which were give immunity by the Assembly Interim Committee, the inquiry was shifted to Hollywood night clubs.

Death of Assemblyman Jones' mother in an automobile accident delayed the questioning for two days.

Although another session of the full committee will not be held until Monday, Assembly-

Race Resents Action of GOP, Demos

Resentment Follows Defeat of Cloture and Shelving of Lynch Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3. (By Special Correspondent)—A wave of resentment against both major political parties this week followed the defeated cloture and shunting aside of the anti-lynch bill in favor of new housing legislation.

Censure of Republicans who voted against the cloture was sharp and bitter on all Race fronts; while condemnation of President Roosevelt for silence maintained throughout the fight and for his order last Friday that the bill be shelved, was equally as drastic.

In the first voting test on the anti-lynching bill here last Thursday, the Republicans in the Senate joined with southern Democrats from the lynching states and with some northern and western Democrats in defeating the motion which would have shut off the filibuster and brought the Gavagan-Wagner-Van Nuys bill up for a vote. The vote was 51 against cloture and 37 for it.

PRESIDENT ORDERS SHUNTING

Faced by further Southern Democratic filibuster, President Roosevelt, Friday, conferred with Senator Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D. of Ky., and ordered the bill sidetracked to make way for his housing legislation. It is not believed the measure will come up again this session.

Political observers stated that if ever in the political history of the Race the group has been alienated from both major parties, that time is now. Where a month ago passage or defeat of the anti-lynch bill would have allied the group with either one party or the other, Republican betrayal and Democratic silence has broken whatever ties that bound.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas was the only Republican who voted for cloture. He said he would stand by the bill through thick and thin" and he did so.

It was reported that the announcement that the bloc of Republican votes would be against cloture probably swung a dozen Democrats to that side also.

Aside from the Republicans,

WIFE NO. 1 GOES OUT TO SHOP, LEARNS OF WIFE NO. 2--TOO BAD

Hubby to Two Wives Says 3 Days of Week He Had to Drive Truck

Solomon had a thousand wives. But it just took two to wind Clover Hall, alias Joe E. Hall, into the toils of the law, with a bigamy charge filed against him.

Neither Mildred Hall, of 1131 East Washington, wife Number 1, nor Merline Hughes, wife Number 2, of 849 East 46th street, knew of the existence of the other until Merline went a-shopping in a Central avenue furniture store, attempted to charge her account to husband Clover.

"Why you're not the wife of Mr. Hall", the clerk declared as he refused the woman's account.

"The deuce you say", was not exactly how Mrs. Hall put it but rather words to that effect.

Wasn't she living with the man every night--or was she? It suddenly dawned upon the startled woman that she wasn't. Three days out of the week Clover said he had some truck driving to do up the Coast, but otherwise he was 'a home-loving man'.

She questioned the clerk further, learned that Hall's tale was working with another woman. The two wives got together and Hall's playhouse began to tumble.

Bigamy experts, Lts. Conway and Smith, of Newton street police station were called in on the case. Investigation disclosed that the man had married Mildred Hall on March 26, 1935 under the name of Clover E. Hall

On December 14, 1937, he married Merline Hughes, under the name of Joe E. Hall. Two certificates of marriage were produced to substantiate the women's claims.

On complaint of Mildred, a bigamy charge was filed with the District Attorney's office. Hall's preliminary hearing is set for February 8, 2 p. m. in Division 4 of the Superior Court.

Local CMTC is Authorized

Southern California Negroes are going to have a prominent part in the National Defense plans, it was disclosed yesterday, with the announcement that the War Department has authorized a special citizens' military training camp for them at Fort MacArthur August 6 to September 7 this year.

Announcement of the War Department's authorization of the camp, said to be first of its kind in the United States, was made by Baxter S. Scruggs, executive secretary of the 28th Y. M. C. A., who is a member of the city-wide committee for the observance of National Defense Week, here, February 12-22.

Scruggs worked with the Americanism and Community Betterment committees of the American Legion in getting the camp authorized by the War Department. Courses in field artillery machine gun operation and rifle practice will be given at the camp, which will also teach good citizenship, the Y. M. C. A. leader explained.

"Porgy and Bess" seems to be the thought of the day. It is a definite contribution to the theatre, we will all admit, so I feel that inasmuch we are beginning as a group to be concerned about things theatrical, we should find out more about this acclaimed opera based on a certain phase of Negro life. From the artist point of view it has all the elements required to make it an artistic study and I feel that we can see it with open minds, forget our economic struggle and all of our racial prejudices, even our religious doctrines. We can go to the theatre and vision thru this great effort the possibilities of our trained singers. The vocal demands of this piece is far greater than the age old "Aida" or the famous and popular "Il Trovatore". Todd Duncan will inspire many young student of music, because his singing equipment is highly developed and he is a living example of modern musical culture. Anne Brown and Ruby Elzy, both graduates of New York's leading schools of music, trained to sing in many languages, yet unlike most of our so trained artists, they are still Negroid when they are playing a certain type of Negro life. I am saying all of these things in the hope that we will rise up for once and acclaim art. That we will not forever confuse our political, social and economic self with real works of art. Art as I understand it in "Porgy and Bess" is that secret ability to put over not only the real "life of Catfish Row down in Charleston" but the exquisite beauties of the souls of these black folk. Mr. Duncan, J. Rosamond Johnson, the distinguished composer who plays "Frazier", the lawyer of that period, all know how to use their knives and forks at a banquet table after the show is over, and can speak intelligently on world topics in full dress clothes if it is a dinner honoring Paul Williams or Lily Pons. It takes great intelligence and fine artistic training to glorify the great musical gems found in the souls of our forefathers. Art knows no color line. Selah. (Copyrighted by Clarence Muse - 1938.)

lottery joints operating under his nose without a word of protest from him or his newspaper.

"I was called by a group of citizens living in Central Gardens, headed by Mr. Frank Brawley, who reported the nuisance of a house of prostitution operating within their neighborhood and WITHIN A STONE'S THROW OF MR. WASHINGTON'S HOME, yet no word was uttered against this house by the crusading editor, nor his newspaper.

"It is also rumored that an associate of Mr. Washington is attorney for one of the operators of, a large sporting house syndicate but his righteous indignation does not seem to extend far enough to clean house at home before he attacks abroad.

UNCOVERED LOTTERY

"This newspaper," Mrs. Bass continued, referring to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE, "uncovered one of the largest chinese gambling syndicates not two months ago, but despite the courage and daring exercised in this expose, it was credited by the daily press to Mr. Clinton of the C. I. V. I. C. and Mr. Thomas Myles.

"Hiding behind the cloak of respectability, working for the interest of the masses in print and sneaking around corners under cover of darkness exploiting his race by every known device, the publisher I have referred to has carried his whispering campaign just too far", Mrs. Bass exclaimed.

Implying that some unpublished income of her attackers was evidentally interferred with by her newspapers exposes, Mrs. Bass laid the majority of the attacks to efforts towards intimidation.

"Certainly, after 25 years of business experience in this community and on the West Coast, touching the people shoulder-to-shoulder day by day, would have revealed my true character and integrity and interest before Mr. Washington and Mr. Baron Lawson's sudden discovery of a Jekyll-Hyde in me.

"If my acts warrant a trial and I have been so untrue to the public trust, I am willing to be judged by the people I have served in Los Angeles and in this state.

"I am thoroly convinced that the highest purpose of this campaign to "clean-up" Los Angeles is not motivated by the best principles, either on the part of Mr. Clinton, Mr. Jones, of the Assembly Interim committee, or any of the Negro stool pigeons.

"My belief is that there are enough reputable citizens left among the Negro people who want to see good government operating to prevent a resource to men and women of questionable character themselves who have been chosen by Messrs Clinton and Jones."

However, we should not lack appreciation for, or cease to patronize, those white businesses which have hired our boys and girls without coaxing or coercion.

other factors which helped in defeating cloture was the complete silence from the White House, the weakness of certain supporters of the bill and the filibuster.

PRESIDENT DEPLORES JEW PERSECUTION

The White House silence was noticeable because just a few days ago the President sent a message to the House on the Ludlow War referendum, and personally instructed the Speaker of the House to come down to the floor and speak against the proposition. No such action was taken against the anti-lynch bill. Only last Saturday President Roosevelt authorized a statement deploring the persecuion of the Jews in foreign lands.

The silence of the White House was noticed in the speech of Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana who declared that the President had constitutional right to recommend the legislation and had not done so.

Yes! Worry may be cast aside when a seedless orange is chosen for fruit cup, salad or dessert. No thick membrane between the segments! No seeds or pits to be dug out with an orange spoon! Slice it, cut it in small pieces, divide it into segments, or ream it for juice—it's an easy orange to handle and a satisfying orange to serve.

Now that California Navel oranges are on the market, it seems fitting to feature two or three recipes for winter dainties that are both tasty and healthful. The fact that oranges have an alkaline reaction when taken into the system will make these dishes particularly desirable to those who eat heavily of acid-reaction foods in cold weather. They may be looked upon as balancing dishes that are good as well as good for you.

Orange Banana Salad
(Serves 6)

3 California Navel oranges
Lettuce
3 bananas
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup finely chopped nuts (walnuts, almonds, pecans or peanuts)

Peel oranges and cut into ¼-inch slices. On lettuce-covered salad plate place 2 orange slices. Cover with 2 lengthwise quarters of bananas, sprinkled with lemon juice and rolled in nuts. Top with slice of orange. Garnish with mayonnaise and maraschino cherry.

Variation: Roll banana fingers in grated coconut.

Orange Marshmallow Fluff
(Serves 6-8)

1 cup whipping cream
¼ cup sugar
1 cup quartered marshmallows
1½ cups California Navel orange segments (or half slices)

Whip cream until thick, fold in other ingredients. Serve cold.

Orange Ambrosia
(Serves 6)

6 Navel oranges
½ cup powdered sugar
½ cup grated coconut

Peel and slice oranges. Cut slices into halves or quarters. Arrange in serving dish, sprinkle with sugar and coconut. If desired, top with candied cherry.

NEW CRUSADE N. A. A. C. P. BUTTON SALE GETS UNDERWAY FEB. 1

Carry On Fight for Full Citizenship Status for Colored Americans

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—To carry on the fight for full citizenship status for colored Americans, begun 75 years ago with the Emancipation Proclamation, the NAACP has launched a New Crusade for Liberty, Education and the Ballot.

Under the direction of Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin, field secretary, the association hopes to sell 150,000 New Crusade buttons at ten cents or more each, the proceeds to go into a special fund to finance the fight against educational inequalities and for the ballot.

The campaign opened officially on February 1 and closes February 28. To date 75,000 buttons have been distributed to clubs, fraternities, churches, various committees and individuals. Requests for buttons are coming in daily from all over the country and there is every reason o believe that the entire supply of buttons will be distributed within the next few days.

The present fight for the anti-lynching bill in Washington has aroused so much interest that returns are still being made on anti-lynching buttons which were offered for sale by the association last year. During the past week more than $100 was received from anti-lynching button sales. It is hoped that the sale of the New Crusade button will exceed by far the sale of the stop-lynching button.

NAACP Probes Jamaica Riot; 1 Fatally Stabbed

NEW YORK, Feb 3—Homicide charges were lodged against 7 Negroes on Monday night and summons for disorderly conduct were served on 5 white men following a mass altercation early Sunday morning during which one man was stabbed to death and 7 others were injured at 105th avenue and 171 street, Jamaica, N. Y.

Murder charges were brought against the Negroes, but the 5 whites arrested at the same time right on the scene faced charges only of disorderly conduct.

Sensing rank discrimination and unfair treatment of the Negroes involved in the case, the Jamaica branch of the NAACP, through Dr. John A. Singleton, president, is preparing to investigate and fight the murder charges now pending against the 7 Negroes. Counsel for the Jamaica branch has demanded that murder charges be lodged against the whites involved in the fight also. The court hearing will be Saturday morning, January 29.

Splendid Safety Record Made By School Children, Club Says

Proof that traffic deaths need not inchease each year has been furnished by the school children of Los Angeles.

While the older generation has shown an unenviable increase in traffic fatatlities, the youngsters have placed Los Angeles second in the ranks of the safer large cities of the United States for children

This was revealed in a comprehensive survey of city and nation-wide accident statistics of the age group between six and fifteen years just completed by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

LOW AVERAGE SINCE 1927

Since 1927 the accident death rate of Los Angeles children of this age group has remained practically constant for an average of 26 deaths per year. All other age groups have shown a steady gain from 309 deaths in 1927 to 501 in 1937, an increase of 62.14 per cent.

An analysis of 1936 fatalities in cities of 500,000 population and over revealed that Los Angeles' percentage of child deaths in the school age group was 4.94 per cent, the average for cities of this class being 9.11 per cent, with the highest 12.41 percent.

School authorities attribute the low fatality record to the extensive safety first program presented throughout the Los Angeles City school system. From kindergarten through junior college an integrated safety educational plan utilizing posters, classroom lessons, excursions and safety patrols is included in the curriculum.

During the past five years 142 children between the ages of six and fifteen were killed in traffic accidents. Only 17 were killed going to and from school.

Most common accident cause was that of an automobile or truck striking a young pedestrian. This claimed 72 victims. Collisions between automobiles and bicycles were next with 33 deaths and crashes between antomobiles and other automobiles were third with 20 fatalities.

Late afternoon and early evening proved to be the most dangerous hours with approximately 60 per cent of the 142 deaths occurring between the hours of 3 p. m. and 9 p. m.

Claims Frats Foster Prejudice

CHICAGO—Addressing a large body of college students here last Saturday, Prof. Kimball Young of Wisconsin university characterized fraternities and sororities as institutions which prevent the breakdown of prejudice on many of the nation's university campuses.

Declaring that "the problem of prejudice and conflict is two-sided," Prof. Young gave quotations showing that other races consider themselves superior to the white race. A Chinese proverb, he said, defines the white race as "pupils of those whom they call colored."

Referring to fraternities and sororities, he declared, "When they interfere with the larger function of the university, I am opposed to them the same as I am opposed to the Ku-Klux-Klan or any other group that interferes with the broader social functions."

The Boy Scout movement, group camps and athletic events, he named as activities helpful in counteracting racial and religious prejudice.

Joe Louises Reassure Fans They Are 'Ducky-Wucky'

Making headlines again this week were the Joe Louises. This time Joe and Marva re-assured the public that everything in their love life is ducky-wucky, and to prove it, announced that they will go to Europe—together—in June.

The heavyweight champion and his chubby-cheeked wife have been kept busy since Louis' sojourn here in early winter, denying that they had separated. Rumors were started by Walter Winchell, anticipating columnist for the Hearst syndicates.

Mrs. Louis' fondness for clothes will take another form, she announced, as she is making plans to study dressmaking and design in Paris.

Negro Professor Says Anti-Lynch Aggravates

Duck soup for last week's anti-lynch filibusters was a letter from a Negro professor in Mississippi to the Jackson, Miss. Daily Clarion Ledger.

The professor, P. S. Bowles of Alcorn A. and M. college, expressed what many Southern Negroes have thought, but what few would voice: that anti-lynch legislation only aggravated further Southern animosity toward the Negro.

"The Negro is in the South and must make his case with the South, "Bowles wrote.

"Make it in industry: make it in thrift: make it in increased intelligence: make it in honesty and personal integrity: make it in known dependability: make it in better visibly lessened crime, personal worth, social service and civic righteousness.

"Accordingly, let the Negro's home, his church, his school, the Negro press, and all of the agencies that lay any claim to be working for the improvement of his status in this country and in the South become more sensitively conscious of their opportunity in the above mentioned fields and center their fire o nthese objectives; and it is my faith that there will then be small reason to complain of denial of rights in any other matter that counts."

Four Singing Alabama Prisoners Disappear

In Dothan, Ala. last Monday as four colored prisoners—Arthur Dixon and Woodrow Sutton—Hoffman, James Cummings, Otis harmonized with great gusto in their cell at the city jail and sang "Jail-House Blues", and "You'll Be Sorry When I'm Gone", the wardens were pleased, felt glad that their charges were so happy.

But—suddenly the harmony ceased, the silence became ominous.

Investigating, the wardens discovered that while the prisoners sang, they also sawed off one of the four iron bars of their cell window, had made good their escape.

Texan Falls Into Can of Boiling Milk

In San Antonio Jesse J. Wilson, well known Gunter hotel pastry cook, was recovering this week from a painful accident in which he fell into a big pot of boiling milk. It is expected, however, that it will be several weeks before he is able to return to work.

The mishap occurred when Wilson was standing on a table, alongside which was the container of boiling milk. His foot slipped as he started to step off the table and he tumbled into the pot, suffering severe scalds about the hips and right arm. He has since been under the care of a physician.

Beauty Ass'n Prexy Made to Ride in Baggage Car!

Returning to Chicago last week Mrs. Marjorie Stewart Joyner, president of the National Beauty Culturists league relates an interesting experience which resulted from "jim-crow" laws.

In order to make connections and arrive in time for her engagement, she bought a ticket for the "Texas Rocket", a new stream-lined engine run on the Burlington-Rock Island Railroad.

When she boarded the train, she expected to be ushered into the usual jim crow car maintained in the South.

Instead of a jim crow car, however, she was to ride in the baggage car—and with a corpse! The baggage agent explained to her that when the "Texas Rocket" was built it was built to operate in states where there were no jim crow laws, and therefore no provision had been made for colored passengers.

The only toilet available for Mrs. Joyner was the one built for the crew in the baggage car.

Mrs. Joyner had to ride with the corpse, sometimes alone, all the way to Corsicana, where it was taken off.

"It wouldn't have been so bad", Mrs. Joyner said, "if it had been in the day time—but it was night."

State Senator Against Cloture Rule

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—Hiram Johnson of California, Republican, was numbered among the voters against the cloture on the anti-lynch bill, voted upon in the Senate last Thursday.

If the "gag" rule had passed, filibuster on the anti-lynch bill would have been terminated and the bill brought to vote. Supporters of the measure assert that they had enough votes to pass it, should a count ever be taken.

Senators voting against the cloture totaled 51 over 37 for it. Fourteen of the fifteen Republicans in the Senate kept the cloture rule from being enacted. This was assertedly due to their fear that such a ruling would be invoked upon them later in the session.

Dissenting Republicans, in addition to Johnson, were Austin, Borah, Bridges, Frazier, Gibson, Hale, Lodge McNary, Steiwer, Townsend and Vandenberg.

JAIL FARMS PERMITS WORK OUT-OF-DOORS

Operation of jail farms in connection with prisons to permit minor offenders to work out-of-doors has been successfully undertaken by a number of prisons in the United States, according to Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough's statement made yesterday.

In receipt of detailed reports covering operations of these prison farms, Supervisor McDonough declared that the plan of Los Angeles county to establish what he would term "Honor Farms" is not a new venture in the United States. He said successful prison farms are operated by the Massachusetts Reformatory, Oklahoma State Penitentiary, Illinois State Penitentiary, State Prison of Southern Michigan, State Prison of Norfolk, Mass.; the Oregon State Penitentiary, and Maryland State Penal Farm as well as others.

Anti-Lynch Fight Shows Negro as Political Power

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3—Whether the anti-lynching bill fails or is passed, the fight for it "very definitely marks the emergence of the Negro as a great political force in his own right," according to Franklyn Waltman, the conductor of the daily column, "Politics and the eople", in today's Washington Post.

Mr. Waltman declared:

"Entirely aside from the merits of the pending bill, the Senate debate over anti-lynching legislation, which apparently will reach a climax today, presents one of the most interesting political developments of recent years. Very definitely it marks the emergence of the Negro as a great political force in his own right.

"That contention is true irrespective of whether the anti-lynching bill is passed or fails of enactment in the next few days. It is true because the advocates of this legislation have fought persistently for this measure, in the face of a stubborn opposition, for almost one month, not counting the days devoted to the bill last summer."

Mr. Waltman then cited the fight which successfully prevented the confirmation of Judge John J. Parker in 1930, and pointed out that the colored voters of the country in succeeding years defeated every senator who voted to confirm Parker.

RAILROAD CLATTER...

By Charles L. Upton

Every Porter A Reporter

I just heard from a friend of mine back East that an ex-Pullman porter is growing wealthy as result of a patent he has taken out on an invisible tailor-made pocket. The new safe-guard for porter tips and what they call don't-go money makes its debut after many years of study by the ex-porter who was a hen-pecked married man whose wife went through his pockets like a rat wading through a corn stalk. Brother, I am told that woman never missed a dime in twenty years of pocket frisking. This porter, after sticking his don't-go money in the rim band of his hat and the toes of his shoes only to find that the missus had found the stuff almost before he took his bath, rebelled against the highway robbery and finally invented what is known as the Invisible Pocket. You place your tips in the pocket and when you wake up in the morning every single dime is just like you left it. Of course, I know that the sale of such pockets will be light in the Los Angeles district because the wives here meet their men at the train before the boys have a chance to even think of an Invisible Pocket.

Learn to creep before you try to run—but don't stop there.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

"Many happy returns" to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of February: Carter Harris, Robt. J. Landry, president of the Red Caps Union; and Mrs. E. Ollison, popular wife of buffet and club car porter, E. Ollison. Congratulations.

UNION PACIFIC DINING CAR WAITERS AND BUFFET Car Porters Win Over $40,000 in Increase in Wages

Union Pacific Dining Car Waiters and Buffet Car Porters get over $40,000 increase in wages and other punitive rules and better working conditions as a result of recent mediation agreement with Union Pacific Railroad and Dining Car Waiters Union, Local No. 465, A. F. of L.

The local officers, including brothers John E. Hargroves, district chairman; Lovice E. Howell, assistant chairman; Thomas D. Pierce, treasurer; Andrew J. Smith, secretary; Frank G. Smith, editor and photographer; W. D. Greer, Harry W. Reed, John Farrell, Lawrence Cloyd, James H. Dawkins and William Lacey; executive board members and Edward Perry, entertainment committee chairman, have worked tirelessly with the men in the interest of the organization and when the message came from general chairman, Solon C. Bell, from Omaha, there was great rejoicing around local headquarters. Other cities to be benefited by this increase are Omaha, Portland, Ogden, Denver and Oakland.

BROTHERHOOD OF SLEEPING CAR PORTERS WILL HOLD Nomination of Officers at Monday's Meeting; Large Attendance is Expected; Many Dark Horses to Run

Monday will be a date long remembered by the eligible members of the Los Angeles division of the International Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. It is on this day that the various members of the brotherhood will select their candidaes 1or office to head and lead their local division for the next two years. Many are the rumors that have been going the rounds among porters and from all indications, there will be many new faces on the executive board and a possible change in the high office of president which has been held down for many years by the writer, Chas. L. Upton.

Various rumors have been circulated among railroad circles that this is Upton's last year as head of the Brotherhood. In fact the president made a statement in the fore-part of the year that he was serving his last term as head of the organization and would decline any nominations for office for the term of 1938. However other sources of information say that he might be prevailed upon to serve another term under a new set-up. Upton has been the president of the porters' union for the past eleven years.

Many would-be candidates have expressed a desire to throw their hats in the ring for vice president, now held by R. J. Murray; also, new delegates to the Central Labor Council will be appointed.

All members of the Los Angeles division are earnestly requested to be present at this meeting on Monday, Feb. 7, at 11 a. m.

JOHNSON LEAVES FOR TEXAS

Clarence R. Johnson, general chairman of the Dining Car Cooks and Waiters Union, Local No. 582, Los Angeles, and international representative of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes Alliance, departed last Monday night for Texas where he will start negotiations with the Texas and New Orleans Railroad company for effecting an agreement between that carrier and the dining car cooks, waiters and lounge car porters. Mr. Johnson said he probably would be gone two weeks.

WHAT HAPPENED AT AUNT MARY'S LAST SUNDAY?

The above title to this article is what chief investigator Wm. Asbury is asking Aunt Mary, and the incident he is referring to is one that happened in Aunt Mary's last Sunday as he passed through Oakland. Investigator Asbury therefore has requested me to publish a communication to Aunt Mary asking her to forward him the full low-down at once. He further states that if the information is not forthcoming he will shoot the works — which means every tub!

Crockett to drag him by the Brotherhood Headquarters so that he can do his part in paying for the recent increase in wages that A. Philip Randolph got him. Don't all speak at once. You can get a double reward if you bring H. B. Wilson along with him.

J. CARTER NO. 1 O. K.

J. Carter No. 1, former Los Angeles Pullman Porter and ex-soldier, is well, hale and hearty. He was last seen all dolled up in a brand new suit in front of the S. P. depot, waiting for Charley Palmer.

J. ESTORAGE STILL HIGH-HATTING

Joe Estorage put on his high-hatting stunt to the writer the other day as he glided down Central Ave. Mr. Joe stepped on the gas when he spied the writer standing on the corner waiting for a street car.

LISTEN, FOLKS

By Atty. Walter L. Gordon jr.

It might be interesting to you know that no longer do you need to have an overwhelming fear if you are a few payments behind in your payment of your Trust Deed or Mortgage, providing that your Trust Deed or Mortgage was executed since 1935. Because a 1935 Code provision allows a Debtor to tender or offer back payments anytime within three months ofter notice of Default has been entered. That is, suppose you are a couple of payments behind in your payments on your property, and the individual who holds your Mortgage or Trust Deed comes up and declares the whole amount of the Trust Deed or Mortgage due, and tells you that since you were unfortunate enough to get behind that the only way you can help yourself is to pay the Loan off in full because he has started to foreclose. Well you can tell him to read the new law, and offer him his back payments, and a few costs and he must accept the money and stop the foreclosure proceedings. You must make sure however that your Loan has been procured since 1935, for if same dated prior to that time you can not claim the benefits of the 1935 law unless you immediately go to some Attorney and ask that he stop the foreclosure thru the Moratorium Legislation. In these situations the Courts usually require the parties in default to pay the interest and a fair rental value. All in all, the present buyer of property has all the advantage with him. If he is alert foreclosure in the ordinary case. First of all he should consult his Attorney and know wherein he stands. So many of us wait until too late as was the case last week with one of my clients, he waited until the last day of the three months, so close to the expiration period was he that the Titlations!

BOSPEL SINGER IN PASADENA 1ST AME

Mrs. Viola Dale, gospel soloist, will be presented in song Sunday evening, Feb. 6, at three o'clock in the afternoon in the First AME church of Pasadena, Kensington and North Vernon Ave., Rev. J. M. Brown, pastor. The presentation is being sponsored by the Junior Missionary society. Mrs. Dee Lollar will accompany Mrs. Dale.

"SNOW WHITE" sings with her tiny companions, Grumpy, Dopey, Sneezy, Bashful, Sleepy, Happy and Doc, in one of the many surprising sequences of Walt Disney's full-length Technicolor production, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

"Grimm's Fairy Tales were not written especially for children," says Walt Disney. "Few children, if any, could read or write when Grimm wrote his famous book. The 'Tales' were intended for adult entertainment. It was inevitable that the illustrated editions should eventually be classified for juveniles; but many older people today will probably find 'Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs' and the other 'tales' just as fascinating as did the mature readers of 'Grimm's first printing.'"

That this theory is well founded may be verified by the adult interest in Disney's full-length RKO release of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in Multiplane Technicolor. Judging from record-breaking audiences at the Carthay Circle Theatre in Los Angeles, "Snow White" cannot be rated as a "children's picture." The children come in droves, of course, but boxoffice statements show the adult attendance is outnumbering children's admissions by a striking percentage.

It was Disney's contention when he started work on the film in 1934, that adult curiosity and adult memory of the famous "Snow White" story would mean a preponderance of adult patrons wherever the picture played.

"The obvious secret of a successful show," says Disney, "is the element of universal appeal. The story everybody knows and loves is sure to attract the largest crowds. The formula may sound familiar and perhaps hackneyed; but it is still the goal of every theatrical and movie producer."

Hollywood says that Disney went considerably beyond the goal of simply filming a popular, sure-fire story. It is generally conceded that the Disney studios worked overtime to embellish "Snow White" with every conceivable photographic effect. New smoothness of motion and strange new color depth illusions were created exclusively for "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The musical background in itself is declared to be a radical change from the conventional picture score.

Perhaps the news of this spectacular Disney treatment of the old story accounts for "the parents bringing the kids"; or perhaps the parents want to see their childhood favorite, "Snow White," again; for even in Disney's glamorous new setting, she is the same "Snow White," but more fascinating and intriguing than she was when "pop" and "mom" were kids.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is now in the second big month of its two-a-day World Premiere engagement at the Carthay Circle Theatre in Los Angeles.

Armstrong to Start On 2nd Annuity

Henry Armstrong's now famous fifty thousand dollar annuity is nearly paid up, and the champ will start on another early this year, it was reported this week.

Last Tuesday night's battle with Chalky Wright, his one time teacher, which netted him close to $4,000, almost put the finishing touches on the annuity, which is designed to keep Hustlin' Hank and his family in comfortable circumstances after Henry retires from the ring.

The annuity started last year after the Armstrong-Spoldi fight, will bring Armstrong in the neighborhood of $125 a month for the balance of his life.

It is reported that Joe Louis has two annuities completed and with his spring series of battles will start on a third.

Benson, the "Texas Terror", was making his first California appearance in San Diego last Friday night.

Famous Dyckman Oval in New York York, to Be Torn Down

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—Sports enthusiasts grew maudlin this week as workmen commenced the destruction of Dyckman Oval. In a week or so the field, up near the tip of Manhattan, when Negro baseball teams used to play and where many a young fighter got his first chance will be just another empty lot.

Thousands of fans used to troop up there for the fights, the motorcycle races, high school sports, but mainly for the Negro League baseball.

Here was a chance to see real baseball—as good as any you'd find in most major league ball parks—and a darned sight cheaper. It was here that many New Yorkers got their first glimpse of Satchell Paige, the sensational Negro pitcher.

Many is the Sunday afternoon or week day night that thousands of baseball enthusiasts spent watching the New York Cubans, the Black Yankees, the Washington Elite Giants and other crack Negro nines, battling for the Negro baseball crown.

What battlers they were! Bill Holland, Paige, Barney Brown—they were the boys on the pitcher's mound. Fancy Jim West on first— George Canday tearing things up around second—Fence Jenkins scooting from first to third on a bunt—the forever-clowning Ethiopian Giants—they've all played their last game at Dyckman Oval.

And the Brown Bombers crack Negro football team, played there. Many is the great show the Bombers put on for football fans who couldn't afford to go to the Plo Grounds to see the Pro Giants or to a college game.

MARIHUANA

See this astonishing picture shown on the screen at this time, then let all Men give due recognition to Priestess Theola, the greatest Prophetess, the world has, or ever shall know. This picture is the greatest proof of her prophecies, that has ever been published. It shows the absolute truth of the prophecy, she delivered New Year's eve, for the years of 1938 to 1942.

—PROPHECY—

Received by Priestess Theola Dec. 27, 1937 for Jan. 1, 1938 to 1942.

Hear ye all Men, Kindred and Tongues: Thus saith the Lord, Selah. The year 1938, ushers into the world of flesh, the final decree of God, for the complete destruction of all the works of Mankind, who have not the mark of God in their forehead. No building fostered by their own ideas shall stand: whether it be of ships of the air, or ships of the sea. Gross darkness shall cover the earth and none but the children of light shall see their way Selah. This year shall be called and known, as the year of blood. For three years there shall be an increase of blood flowing upon the earth, and until all nations of war, and revolution are broken Selah. The sins of the nations are written in blood, and by the shedding of their blood, they shall tear down all of their unrighteous works Selah. Great Britian, the mighty of the earth, shall be brought low by the hand of Japheth (Japan).

America, the twin nation of Great Britian, shall stand in battle with her, and in the great strife, they shall fall together. As a child inherits its strength or its weakness from its Parent, even-so shall America be controlled by the wicked influence of Great Britian. They have met in secret, and have devised mischief against those who are weak in warfare, but mighty in the eye of God. No nation shall succeed in their oppression against the law-abiding citizens of heaven. Italy has seeked affinity with the Lybians, but to no ayail; the Lybians, and the Ethiopians shall put her to flight: they shall stumble and fall in the gross darkness Selah. France shall turn toward the interior of Africa for help, and shall not find it; help is with God only. The interiors of Africa are reserved unto God: His kingdom shall begin there and spread over the earth. There shall be no more Kings of the earth to rule over Man, beast, or any living thing in the earth. The Lord shall rule as King of heaven and earth, until the completion of all things, as decreed of God. God shall then receive from the hand of the Lord, all things in their true nature and state of life, where God shall rule forever, and no individual or nation shall again be able to destroy. Peace is being implored by all nations, who do not intend to do that which constitutes peace; Peace is found with the righteous only. All who believe on this prophecy, and will turn to the Lord, shall escape the gross darkness, and remain in the light Selah. Blessed are they who shall remain in their mortal bodies during the years of 1940-42, only to see the universal changes of the earth, and its inhabitants; the word peace will be a sacred thing in those days to they who cry peace. The Lord will veil the Church with wisdom from on high, the faithful of the Church shall find rest from a troubled world, when clothed within this veil. Safety is the watch word for those who enter into it. Watch well your ways for gross darkness rapidly approaches. From the Lord Jesus Christ Selah.

As we read in this prophecy, that the rulership of Man over Man is at an end, the proof of same is clearly seen in the picture Marhiuana, as it shows the terrible condition of the Youth of the present generation. The Federal Government has openly declared their inability to curb the marihuana menace, and the colleges and schools in general are completely over run with these addicts. This fact alone enable us to see that the leaders, and rulers of tomorrow are ended because the majority of them are unfit mentally, physically, and morally. The crime wave is the leading factor in the lives of the majority of Mankind. We read in our daily news of how China is paralyzed by the dope habit, and some have claimed that Japan is responsible for it. Anyone that knows anything about the Chinaman, knows that they are the greatest dope smuggers and users of same, that are found among all races of Mankind. Everywhere you find a Chinatown, in America, you can see that they alone are a curse to any community and are the sole leaders of their menacing drug rings and have prostituted the greater part of the American population. This fact proves Priestess Theola's prophecy that she wrote in her book in 1931, of the fall of the American Government, and the unrighteous Governments in general. This book is entitled, "The Hidden Secrets of Creation Revealed." Many have this little book, even some of her bitterest enemies have it only to find that they, like the chief Priests of the Pharisees in their attempt to discredit her, even as they did in the Christ, have only put themselves to shame, while her works like Christ's continues to tear down the ungodly works of evil, whether it is of individuals or nations. This fearless leader continues on praying the Father to forgive for they know not what they do. Her arms are now stretched to her enemies as well as her friends saying, "If you are now able after seeing my works proven true, come unto me and I will lead you on to a sudden victory." See this picture (Marihuana) and even the most unlearned in any race of people will agree with Priestess Theola, that the American Government has fallen and that all you read in her book is equally as true. No book written is as valuable to Mankind with the Hoy Bible the only exception, and the two books are one. Her book plainly tells us that the leaders of today are the end of the leaders over Man by Man. See the afore mentioned picture, and prepare for the rulership of Christ over the nations of Mankind, the time of Man's rulership is ended.

Presented by the Executive boards of the Circle of the Star Church, Founded and Pastored by Priestess Theola, 109 Bryant St., San Bernardion, Cal.

By EDYTHE MEAUX

Walter Winchell has his Girl Friday, Bud Colegrove has his Gal Anyday, so why shouldn't I have My Boy Everyday? No reason at all you say—All right then. Taking over during my seizure from final exams I give you My Boy Everyday—Wilbur Ashford to you.

We don't like to say I told you so if you weren't out to the Patriotic Hall last Saturday night you really missed it. The Bill Robinson's "Bojangles" really went to town in defeating the Pacific Coast club of Long Beach 59 to 44 in one of the most exciting games ever played on a southland court. Sparked by the addition of Francis Garland, local cage artist from Jefferson high school and Halley Harding, veteran player-coach, the "Bojangles" really looked like the money.

Personalities noted among the goodly crowd included Bill Williams-Quida White, Virgil Williams-Nema Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Woods, Henry Feltenburg-Marjorie Shores, Mrs. Julia Clubbs Mitchell, Mrs. Antoinette Atkinson, and Miss Mae Turner.

We advise you to make preparations to be on hand next Saturday night lest you miss another jam up contest between the "Bojangles" and the Bank of America five.

Happened to peek in on the L. A. Hi-Y dance last Saturday night and as I expected found the place topsy turvy with swing, and right in the middle were those men about town Johnnie Brewer and Dunbar Hunt giving the cuties a break in true Hunt and Brewer fashion. Also noticed Warren Eason, locally mailboy gliding all content-like with the lovely Cleo Lewis. Seems to me that I read in a paper the past Thursday that Miss Lewis was that way about Jack "Maier Brew Co." Williams . . . Ivan Cannady and the future Mrs. Cannady enjoying themselves no end. I don't know whether Melvin Nickerson was selling insurance or assurance to the lassies, but you can bet your size twelves Francis Carroll was keeping the eagle eye on Benton.

Doings at the Arcade:

Among the sepia employees of the Arcade post office we notice the following: Tillman "schoolboy" Thomas forever going home to sharpen up so he can faze the girlies . . . Grace Morgan remaining cool and calm inspite her forthcoming marriage the twelfth of February . . . Emniett Ashford and Perry Parks rushing madly home to their darling wives . . . Eddie Atkinson, Gary Ragland, and Marion Forsythe forever woofing about nothing . . Ethel Carter and Oscar 'Esquire' Williams having their friendly chats . . . Adele Matthews keeping on the quiet side of things . . Earl Lewis catching up his sleep at wrong time . . . Sam McPherson taking things in his stride . . Bob Green is all smiles after he has cinched that eight hours . . . Muriel Brewer launching a get rich quick campaign . . . Ida Bowman has the distinction of being the only female on her station . . . Rosebud Brown the winning personality.

A consensus of opinion: The only way to make money following the horses is to don a white coat and get a broom . . . the daily looser.

Well, my lads and lassies the time has come for me to go, you say you're sorry, well I know—

SAN FRANCISCO

Bethel AME: Rev. X. C. Runyon and his congregation thrilled at the wonderful services thru the past Sunday. Four were joined to the happy flock, namely Mesdames K. Fields and M. Sleet, and Messrs. C. A. Thompson and James Little John. Baptismal services were held wherein the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan and daughter of Mrs. Sweet were baptized. At the evening services, Judge Twain Michleson was guest speaker with Rev. MacGruder and his choir in joint services with Bethel. Bethel inaugurates a church orchestra under the direction of E. A. Pierson. The choir announces a dinner under the supervision of Mrs. L. Garrott and Robert Walker, proceeds of which will "paint up" for conference. Mrs. C. A. Mrs. Dela Ware dedicated a poem to the club, an annual event.

Words fail me to describe the eloquence and absolute detail in which Miss Roberts, read the report of the past year's work. All present felt as if the calendar of the past year was unfolded month by month as the activities of the club were interestingly presented Bits of pathos, lots of humor, crammed with devotion, live with love and modesty along with extreme dignity as Miss Roberts read. Breathless were her hearers and co-workers, til she read "On, and On, On and On will the Mme. C. J. Walker Club triumph. A Hope Chest contest was closed with the following young misses and sponsorers reporting as follows, Mrs. A. Carson, Miss Anita Thrasher, Mrs. Ella Meredith, Miss Nelva Smith, Mrs. A. Mrs. Dennis was executrix of the will of the late Mrs. Bady. Many prominent visitors were present, including Mrs. Tarea Pittman, state president of the Federation of Colored Women's clubs, and Mrs. Adah Jackson, parliamentarian, who gave encouraging remarks. One national and four state representatives of the Federated clubs were also present.

Mrs. Tulip Jones is the president of the Walker club and Mrs. Anna Bozeman of the auxiliary. The club announces the presence of Mrs. McGuinn as guest speaker on the regular meeting Feb. 4 at the Home.

Mrs. Guy Huston of Los Angeles, is visiting with Mrs. Gertrude Brown, pending the illness of Mr. Huston, who is in the Southern Pacific hospital.

An impressive candlelight service, under the direciton of the City Federation, was given at Zion AME church, Sunday afternoon, January 16, for the benefit of the Booker Mother's Nursery school. Mrs. Helen Oilar spoke on the progress of the school and several of the youngsters favored with musical numbers. Miss Wretha Green was mistress of ceremonies. Miss Nelline MaGruder represented "Youth" in a very delightful pageant presenting all young girls. Sacred numbers were rendered by the choir with Mrs. Viola T. Phelps as guest organist. Special soloists were Miss Sylvia Belle MaGruder and Mrs. B. Randolph. Mrs. S. Anna MaGruder is the president of the City Federation of Colored Women's clubs.

History and Romance of Civilization's Progress

Preservation and Storing of Food

Another method of preserving food at harvest time for future use which enjoys popularity today, but which is ancient in application, is the pickling system. The use of preservatives is much older than canning and, as a matter of fact, so old, no records are available to show when it became generally accepted.

Primitive pickling was confined to the addition of spices, sugar or salt to the foods to be preserved. It is thought this method originated in Arabia, India or the East Indias as those countries were the greatest source of supply of spices.

Romance was in evidence during the period when pickling was the principle method of preserving certain types of food. In those days, men would murder one another for a small quantity of salt or pepper. It was in seeking a shorter route to the lands of ointments and spices which lead to the accident and discovery of new lands in the Fifteenth Century.

The pickling process, however, has its limitations as the preservatives change the value and taste of the food. In some instances, a more enjoyable flavor is produced such as in corned beef, but on a whole, pickled foods are a far cry from the flavor of fresh edibles. While salt is still in great demand as a pickling agent, chemical preservatives are still steadily replacing the only ingredient available to our forefathers.

Dr. Miller, moderator for the Los Angeles County District Association, brought the message at the 11 o'clock service, in the course of his message, the speaker pointed out that the success of the church was due largely to the acceptance of the guidance of the Holy Spirit on the part of the church and its leader. Mrs. Bilbrew to Narrate for 'The Visitor'

In the absence of Rev. Clayton D. Russell, "The Visitor", who is featured each Sunday morning at 10:15 in a half-hour service especially designed for the sick and shut-ins, broadcast from the main auditorium of the People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, director of the popular Independent choir, is acting as narrator for the program.

Having conducted broadcasts for a number of years, Mrs. Bilbrew has established herself as a favorite with radio fans, which guarantees the continued interest and inspirational value of the service while Rev. Russell is vacationing in the east.

The Angelus Funeral Home, which sponsors the program as a part of its community service, and the church contiues to receive a large number of requests weekly in appreciation of their efforts. William Gillespie, featured gospel soloist, is flooded with requests to sing old-time favorites, to which he responds as far as time will allow.

The program is released by remote control over KFOX, the Hal Nichols station in Long Beach from 10:15 to 10:45 every Sunday morning. War Perkins is the announcer.

CHRCHES OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from Paul's epistle to the Ephesians: "Grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption".

The Lesson-Sermon includes also these words of Paul to the Galatians: "For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another . . . This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye canot do the things that ye would . . . If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit."

Among the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, is the statement: "Mistaking his origin and nature, man believes himself to be combined matter and Spirit . . . No more sympathy exists between the flesh and Spirit than between Belial and Christ."

Bishop Butler Unfrocks Spiritualism

Beginning on Sunday night, February 6th, Bishop Sara L. Butler, pastor of Zion Temple will start a new series of sermons, the first, entitled, "Why I Drew Away From Spiritualism".

In this amazingly frank lecture, the dynamic young leader will reveal the Naked Truth concerning Spiritualism, its virtues, and its defects. On August 19th, 1934--although this fact is not generally known--this courageous pastor after much thought, and prayerful meditation, boldly shoved out from the narrow harbor of Spiritualism, out onto the broad, uncharted Ocean of Occult Science.

With far-seeing vision and tireless energy she has labored unceasingly ever since, to bring to the people of her group the Age-old Wisdom, and Eternal Truths hidden away like precious gold nuggets in the inexhustable treasure house of Occult Studies. Whether you are a Baptist, a Methodist, an Episcopalian, a Presbyterian, Unitarian, Holiness, Christian Scientist or Theosophist, this series of sermons will soon drive home to you the fact that the Wisdom-teachings revealed through the study of Occult Science, are the fundamental principle sof all world-religions; teaching One God the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.

We extend a hearty invitation to all, whether preachers or laymen, to attend this service. Come out and worship with us on Sunday night at the Temple, 1315 E. Vernon Avenue. (Adv.)

The TUSKEGEE club will hold installation of officers for the ensuing year tonight at 8:30 at the Camille Den, 842 East Adams Blvd.

Chatter and . . . Some News

One day one's heart leaps up to meet the sun . . . there is so much of it in a laugh, a happy call, a smile from the heart . . . and another day dawns gray. One would fain hide and nurse unlooked for grief . . . too long . . . so much strength is needed to brook the loss of a dream or of a person dear and close to one's life . . . still no loss is forever, 'less our thinking makes it so . . . To the bereaved family and friends of the late Lee Lewis, who died at the end of last week, I extend sincere sympathy and the hope that you will look upon his going with quiet confidence in the belief that "He's working in another room". Especially do I extend condolences to his daughter, Sylvia Dean, a lovely friend, and to his widow who "stood by" for thirty years.

FORECAST FOR FEBRUARY:

Leap year doesn't give the spinsters a chance until 1940, but you wouldn't think it by the romances a-brewin' . . . Among them that of Ramona Leila Carter to James M. Penn who have definitely settled things to the tune and tempo of Valentine's Day when they will become one (February 14) . . . Happy sailing, ye betrothed ones, and may all your joys come in pairs . . . your blue days in nonentities,

It's love and kisses again for Robert W. Smith, assistant director of agencies of the Golden State Mutual, and his first wife, Christine Page Smith who visited him last summer and returned recently from the City of Brotherly Love (Philadelphia) . . . just in time to accompany her love on a business trip to Oakland . . . they hied out of the city last Sunday night, a week ago, and will be back in another week to receive . . . felicitations, etc. . . . And even the Fourth Estate isn't all ink and paper and nosin' in others' business for news . . . there's news a-plenty right here on ye olde EAGLE staff . . . Almena Davis and Neile Adams lunching together most of the days . . . strictly a "business friendship", Connie, my dear . . . so take it easy . . . I get in on some of those tete-a-tetes myself once in a whlie.

Taking the reins socially this month the Lone Wolf Club is going to have plenty work on its hands to outdo Mi-Ladies . . . it's the strong and boastful male pitted against the femme fatales that know how to give a party . . . anyway, we'll be echoing both dances in the corner of the West's Best.

Guess you're among the thrilled who're on their toes to see "Porgy and Bess" . . . I'm all a-dither and a-beaming 'cause I'm slated to chat with Anne Brown, who has the role of Bess . . . in about forty-five minutes. And we're all looking forward to Marian Anderson, coloratura supreme, nationally and internationally acclaimed.

PERSONALITY ETCHINGS:

Rev. Clayton D. Russell spied in Ralph's Florist Shop buying gardenias . . . for sick members of his congregation before entraining for a trip East. Theo Hampton flashing a diamond on the third, left . . . and answering . . . "Mmm, I don' know when . . . sometime." Ralph Cooper, m. c. at the stage show, on the Tivoli's first showing of "Life Goes On", telling jokes you wouldn't take your minister or Sunday School teacher to hear . . . and horning in on the acts with sundry gyrations, gesticulations . . . and observations . . . loud, too. Reginald Fenderson, one of the "sons" in the interesting flicker . . . elbowing a diminutive chick. Lee Purnell, of Berkeley, in love and slated to wed in the very near . . . soon. Atty. David "Bill" Williams . . . going places as a breaker of the tie that binds . . . judging from the number of divorce cases he's handling; all the ladies creening their necks when he was introduced as a visitor at Eighth and Towne. But Ouida White, stately looking in black, holding her own . . . got plenty of approving looks. Mrs. Edna Perkins, not feeling up to par, shedding cheerfulness in her cozy room while guests congratulate Independent's Choir and Choir Auxiliary at their pretty tea Sunday afternoon in the Perkins' home. Odessa Harris Floyd recovering from a disagreement with a street car three weeks ago, making merry with two guitars and a banjo . . . neither of which she can play . . . ah, well . . . insists on entertaining her guests.

WINDING UP:

Both the month and the column . . . I'm looking forward most much to hearing Dave Sands, Bay City tenor, at Independent next Sunday afternoon . . . better go early . . . the hour is four o'clock, and you know Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew's talent for picking top-notchers for your pleasure . . . Besides, Dave's a nice person to meet. How many resolutions have you broken? Don't forget that you can get forgiven for all of them by remembering the right persons with Valentines. (Just a reminder to several swains who have been prospecting). Lest I forget: Theodore Moss of San Jose, grand master of the Masons, is in L. A. on business . . . Mr. Moss just let the contract for a homesite in San Joaquin Valley. He visited Sunset Lodge No. 2 in Long Beach, Tuesday night and those in the city on subsequent evenings. Don't let a little month with only 28 days get you . . .

ANNE BROWN SAYS CAREER AND HOME - MAKING CAN BE SUCCESS

Famed Star of 'Porgy and Bess' Has Recipe Scrapbooks

Sisters of the needle and sink can lay aside any misgivings or disdain about where the stage idol, Anne Brown, stands on this home-making question. Says Anne, "I look forward to having a home of my own some day and I believes any well-balanced and intelligent person can match a career and home."

We sat in the unpeopled auditorium of the Figueroa Playhouse at the end of a rehearsal watching other players lingering on the stage for instructions or announcements and Anne talked in a low easy tone with her hands loosely interlocked, elbows resting on the arms of the sturdy leather seat. Looking at this smartly attired girl and listening to her frequent and infectious laughter, one easily envisions her behind footlights and hears applause of those enraptured by the swelling rise of song; and yet it is no marvel that she, in her spare moments, turns to the things that are a definite part of every woman's life--recipes and home hints, houses and attracive designing.

Now and then, her eyes strayed to the stage where I had found her a few minutes before in close conversation with Todd Duncan, male star of the opera, and Ruby Elzy, supporting player; the stage from which she bounded easily laughing at my slight trepidation at her taking the jump (at my having to follow); the stage she loved because she was a part of "Porgy and Bess" long before it was completed or the world acclaimed it. For the late George Gershwin took this lithe talented girl into his confidence and informed her of every new score, had her singing the songs as they were created, asking her opinions and glorying in her ability to interpret the emotions of "Bess" and make them her own.

LAUDS TEACHER

Anne Brown is lavish in her praise of both Gershwin and her teacher, Mrs. Lucia Dunham of New York, with whom she has studied for ten years and who has been a large influence in her life. Mrs. Dunham strengthened Anne's belief in the real things of life telling her that a career to be real must blend with living.

Aside from her interest in the stage, Miss Browne is an adept swimmer, played basketball during school days and enjoys attending sport events. She is a native of Baltimore, Maryland, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry F. Brown; has studied in the Institute of Musical Art Juillard, Morgan College and Columbia. She prefers sport clothes which are very complimentary to her good figure.

Vistors Leave Angel City

Among those reluctantly quit the city after extended visits is Mrs. Billie Baker Dennard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Baker in East 33rd street, who left Saturday night for Shreveport, Louisiana to join her husband who is a brakeman in that city. A host of friends showered her with presents before her departure, including Mmes. Velma McCoy of Chicago and Loreen Johnson of Seattle.

Mrs. J. A. Cummings, Houston, Texas, left Los Angeles Thursday evening for her home after visiting here with her sister, Mrs. J. E. Buchanan, 258 North Vernon. Mrs. Cummings who spent the holiday season here was complimented with many sightseeing trips and social affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Pinchback of San Diego visited her sister, Mrs. M. Robinson and Mrs. L. Spiller of East 42nd St. Saturday afternoon. The Pinchbacks were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Glenn of East 42nd St. at the Santa Anita races Saturday.

RECONTS THRILLING MOMENTS

The star numbers among her thrilling moments the opening night of "Porgy and Bess" in New York an dher cross country plane flight to California last summer to sing in the Symphony Under the Stars in the Hollywood Bowl. Miss Browne has screen ambitions but is very pessimistic about realizing them; she doesn't believe she's the type, however, she is not discouraged and promises to keep on doing every part with all her heart.

While in California, Miss Brown, accompanied by her mother, is a guesto f the B. T. Mitchell's and has enjoyed most attending the Gershwin Art Exhibit in Hollywood. She is affiliated with Epsilon Omega chapter of the Alpha Kappa Sorority.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Petty whose romance of school days culminated in awedding ceremony in Memphis, Tenn. on January 23 makes that contention so. After five years in Los Angeles, Edwin Petty returned to the Bluff City to make Linnie Donelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Donelson of Orange Mound, his bride and brought her back to Los Angeles where they will make their home at 405 East 43rd street.

Mrs. etty is a '37 graduate of LeMoyne College where she was active in dramatics there as well as in the city and was runner-up tennis champion for Memphis last season. Rev. Frank Briscoe performed the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman of Memphis were best man and matron of honor.

MAE WEST SAYS SHE'LL KEEP HER PUBLIC REGARDLESS OF HER 'ADAM' OR HER 'EVE'

By FAY M. JACKSON

I'm not given much to hero-worship or star-gazing. Perhaps I've known too many heroes with very clay feet and too many stars whose orbits lead to anywhere but high planes. But, despite this certain sang froid in the presence of the "great ones", I've always thought that some sort of completeness or "yumph" would be added to my rounds of studio contacts if ever I could talk it over with Greta Garbo or MAE WEST.

These two glamour gals must have something 'way back behind all the make-up and make believe that the public has never seen or heard about.

Garbo has hied it away to Sweden, as you know, for the skillionth time and another year has gone by without that suppressed desire coming to the fore.

But Miss West is very much here and not too many Sundays ago I was called from the usual ennui of a gloomy afternoon to interview the Siren of Sequins!

GUARDED

Leaping through several dark corridors of Fanchon and Marcos studios on Sunset boulevard-dark and deserted because it was Sunday—I found my way through an artery of executive offices and rehearsal rooms to Stage 5, wrapped lightly on the padded door and was admitted by a startled Filipino in chauffer's livery.

Proving to myself that if one knows where he's going, it is the easiest thing in the world to get there.

Things were happening all over the room. Disorganized things such as one finds only in rehearsals. A short dark girl was plunking out crazy snatches of crazier tunes on a grand piano. That was "Hot-Shot" Burwell. "Hi, Burwy!"

Mechanics tested various shades of lighting effects. Script men paraded nervously about like lions in a cage. A man before a mike shivvered in an audition of his lines. Five or six men, some with rather menacing expression obviously not actors squatted along the back wall of the room, carelessly fingered an out-of-date newspaper, filed on their finger nails, looked drowsily on the proceedings with total disinterest. Until the door cracked when they stiffened to attention and relaxed again.

The time was just before Miss West and her company were to begin a personal appearance tour that will cover the country. Everybody knows that the old meanies on NBC have banned La West from their air because she cracked about the First Man and his Girl Friend.

"Do you think this censorship will have any effect upon your tour, Miss West?"

DIFFERENT

Sitting before me on a slightly raised platform, in a great chair like a queen on a throne was an inoffensive looking little creature one would never expect to have a naughty thought in her mind, sans rouge, sans lipstick, the bruted sans diamonds, sans the devastating twinkle in her eye and without any of the "sexy" trappings that have spiraled her to a unique place in screen and theatre—and old men's fancies. Except her rather ravishing inch-and a half eye lashes that cut a ludricrous figure under a colonial effect bonnet, there was nothing to suggest the "Come up and see me sometimes" gag.

Miss West blinked hard and fast before she answered in a serious, appealing tone.

"That was one of those things one can't explain without involving other people, so I took the rap."

She looks like a woman who can take it.

IS TEST

"I think it is fortunate that I am beginning this tour now when I can meet my fans and foes face to face and let them judge me, personally, without depending too much on what they gather from mere tone of my voice" the actress said.

And, who can doubt that Mae will win her case if her public does get a chance to judge her personally?

As winsome as any fresh young southern belle; so demure in her manner I thought this woman might have been the "stand-in" or understudy before the introduction. As dignified and altogether lovely as any junior college girl with a smile that is genuine and a hand shake that is honest, this Mae West that I met in an off moment was, indeed, equally as intriguing as the mimic of the Gay Nineties who holds her tongue in her cheek and pokes fun at smug American morals.

THE REASON MAMOULIAN DIRECTS "PORGY AND BESS"

GEORGETTE HARVEY—Rouben Mamoulian declared this week in a radio broadcast is responsible for the famed Hollywood movie director's interest in the Los Angeles presentation of "Porgy and Bess". She is the only one of the cast of a hundred appearing in George Gershwin's musical adaptation of Dubose Heyward's drama to be heard here Friday night at Philharmonic auditorium from the original cast of "Porgy".

Miss Harvey and Mamoulian worked together in "Porgy" — he as director for the N. Y. Theatre Guild's presentation, she in the unforgettable role of "Maria", keeper of the cookshop.

Photos above show the renowned actress in three characteristic poses: "Maria", from "Porgy and Bess"; "Chloe"; and "Georgette". Her work and personality bear a striking resemblance to that of the late beloved Marie Dressler.

SOAPSUDS TO CHAMPAGNE IS LIFE STORY OF GEORGETTE HARVEY IN "PORGY" CAST

By FAY M. JACKSON

Her grandmother was a slave.

She's the St. Louis woman who rose from rags to riches practically overnight; spent 14 years in Russia in the good old days when St. Petersburg set the pace for style and passion; became a favorite in the Czar's court was palsy-walsy with Rasputin and saw her 75 thousand good American dollars reduced to a mere frazzle in roubles when the bolsheviks started the fireworks that ended in Stalin's Soviet Republic.

Quite unlike the prophet who was without honor in his own home town, she returned to Harlem after 16 years abroad to become its ranking character actress--for New York's Theatre Guild, for transcontinental radio programs, for George Gershwin's famed opera of life in Catfish Row: "Porgyand Bess".

She's Georgette Harvey.

MOTHERS CAST

If her name suggests the French coquette--it's a misnomer. Swashbuckling in the role of Maria, hard-boiled proprietress of the cook shop along 'Catfish Row', Georgette in backstage life holds all the secrets of the cast of over 100 in "Porgy and Bess", settles most of their difficulties, keeps a warm heart and a sympathetic ear for the personal trials and tribulations of the young and the old in the famous company.

Miss Harvey is a remarkable person not only because she has lived history in real life and in the theatre, but because, in what some would consider the autumnal period of life, she retains an amazingly effervescent humor and a sense of values that enable her to still look forward to an even greater career than she has already enjoyed. She wears her past success with beautiful humility and relies only upon hard work for future prominence.

RAPS

Of the current crop of colored thespians, she said, during an interview I had with her in her suite in the Dunbar Hotel here, "I think the trouble with some of our talent in the theatre, on he screen and in the music halls is that they get GOOD too soon.

"Many chances have been spoiled for the Negro in the theatre because a first night success went to the head of some actor and he became incorrigible forever after. By the time a really prepared artist whose intelligence, training and experience fitted him better for the role comes along, the producer either doubts his existence or is so worn out with trifling material that he never gets a real chance. That is what holds the Negro back in dramatic work in America."

"But I will say to the credit of the present-day performer", Miss Harvey continued, "that he carries less of professional jealousy than we experienced in earlier days."

BRIDGES GAP

Perhaps no one is more capable of speaking authoritatively of the theatre and the Negro's part in it than Georgette Harvey. She bridges the span between the very earliest period of the race's participation in stage successes and the present position he holds n screen and radio fare. She speaks knowingly but at all times kindly and those are the two intangible qualities—experience and graciousness—that endear her to the cast and the legion of friends she has accumulated in world travel, among all races of people.

She can spin as fascinating a yarn about Europe as one could read in any book. In fact, she has just received notice from publishers that an autobiography she wrote has been accepted and will soon be released.

KNEW RUSSIA

Miss Harvey went abroad in 1906 with a female quartet, disbanded it later and finally went to Russia alone, where she soon became a favorite entertainer for those high in the councils of the Czar. She thus knew the inside of official St. Petersburg as few other persons knew it.

She sung much of the time at Villa Rode, a cafe frequented by the elite of the Russian capital, and especially by the "Mad Monk" Rasputin, whom she knew well.

"Rasputin was all right", she sadi. "He was just a big, sloppy somebody who made lots of noises when he had his soup."

She knew princes, dukes and lesser officials by the score, among them being Prince Yousoupoff, who, with another, finally killed Rasputin.

SAW REVOLUTION

Across the street from her own residence lived the Czar's mistress. When the revolution began Miss Harvey had to flee, taking with her $75,000 and only what she could carry. She was in Siberia one and a half years in he reffort to get out of Russia, and by the time she reached Japan her fortune had dwindled to only $275.

"The revolution was fierce, cruel, but it had to come", she explained, "the aristocrats lived for themselves but the masses of the people were treated less than dogs. It had to be."

She heard the first shot fired in the revolution and figured in many of the preliminary pogroms and riots preceding the war.

After many hardsihps, Miss Harvey formed a class in English, taught Russians exiles in Japan and accumulated enough money to return to the United States. She speaks six languages.

Here she joined "Runnin' Wild" and toured the Keith circuit. Then Rouben Mamoulian, the director of both "Porgy" and "Solid South", who had known her in Russia, gave her the part of "Maria" in the Theatre Guild's production of "Porgy", a show that made them both famous.

Is there any wonder, then, that Hollywood's most spectacular director singled out Georgette Harvey for tribute in accepting the direction of Los Angeles' presentation of the Gershwin opera?

'SPIRIT OF YOUTH' WILL NOT BE DUPLICATED, SAYS REVIEWER IN TIME

With a full-page spread of photographs showing scenes from the film, "Spirit of Youth" starring Joe Louis, supported by Clarence Muse, Edna Mae Harris, Mae Turner, Cleo Desmond, and Jess Lee Brooks, "Time" magazine cinema critic declared in the current issue that the all-Negro movie "will certainly not be duplicated for many a moon".

Favorable comment has been given the film by a majority of Eastern critics after a press preview and widespread acclaim was accorded the production after its first showing in the Lincoln theatre, Washington, D. C. when a real Hollywood premiere was arranged and over 700 turned away.

ADVANCE

Released by Grand National "Spirit of Youth" is an advance over the other colored cast films in the elaborateness of production, and the extreme care with which the large cast was selected.

An early Los Angeles showing is expected with the possibility of a special premiere program at one of the leading Central avenue theatres.

WORLD RELEASE

"Spirit of Youth" is the first all-Negro film to attempt an international release. Briefly, the story is a film version of the world heavyweight champion's life interspersed with suggestions of a "John Henry" flavor, plenty of entertainment, and a mother-love theme capably handled by Cleo Desmond.

Swing Shocks N. Y. Critics

Starring four sepians—Teddy Wilson, pianist; Lionel Hampton, vibraphone; James Munday, arranger; and Count Basie, guest artist—Benny Goodman took swing music into Carnegie Hall 113 West Fifty-seventh street, New York, Sunday night fortnight ago.

A crowd of 3500 heard Goodman and his orchestra in a real "jam session".

Daily newspaper critics were outraged that jazz should have the nerve to invade the nation's foremost temple of classical music, and succeed.

JOHNSON WRITES MUSIC FOR OPERA

J. Rosamond Johnson, now in Los Angeles as a member of the cast, "Porgy and Bess", has been engaged to write the music for an opera based on the Roark Bradford stories of John Henry, the Black River Giant it was learned today.

Closer Union of Stars and Public Sought

Hollywood studios once strove to make their personalities seem ethereal beings, creatures apart, but today they are trying to make them fireside friends of America.

Cecil DeMille who 20 years ago launched the glamour motif in screen exploitation with such stars as Gloria Swanson, recently took the stars of "The Buccaneer" on a preview tour.

"The cities where we made personal appearances, such as New Orleans, Atlanta, New York, Boston, Chicago, and Kansas City, will never forget those players," he said on his return. "They now have thousands of friends who feel they really know these stars and will go to see every picture they make from now on."

STAR WORSHIP

Just returned from a personal appearance tour of Tri-State theatres in the Middle West, Clarence Muse, distinguished film actor, declared that his reception from the theatres and the fans was most extraordinary. No color question arose, Muse said, and he was treated with the same admiration as any other "big name" in the industry.

Louise Beavers, currently starred in the Million Dollar film "Life Goes On", is meeting great success on a tour of far Eastern houses.

While locally, Ben Carter has developed a plan of his own to contact more directly the motion picture's public by giving concerts with his famous Plantation Boys and artists he has under management for High Schools.

Not only are new friends made in this manner, but fan mail is definitely encouraged for the movie performers.

Federal Stage Attractions Number Many Hits Here

A recent Broadway triumph comes to the local stage when "Boy Meets Girl," mad burlesque on the film industry, opens as a Federal Theater production at the Mason theatre February 1. Samuel and Bella Spewack, authors of the amusing play, based the story on first-hand knowledge of the film colony.

Staged as the second production of the Mason Theatre Stock company, with clever Frances Hall as Susie and Arthur Gardner, Roland Woodruff, Millard Vincent and Kenneth McDonald also in leading roles, the play is under the direction of Charles King.

"Days Without End," O'Neill of a man's search for religion, cleverly highlighted with sophisticated dialogue, plays for the last week at the Mayan, closing February 6.

The production is acclaimed as a triumph of fine acting, and Ann Pendelton, Beatrice Newport, Kenneth Patterson, Del Stone, and Roy Winborn are especially noteworthy in their respective roles under the direction of Lorin Raker.

"LOYALTIES" HELD OVER

Held over for an additional week, "Loyalties," Galsworthy's dramatic play of pride and honor, is now scheduled to close February 13 at the Hollywood Playhouse.

Pronounced a smooth, well-performed drama, it has been distinguished by the work of Tony L. Caruso, Patricia O'Callaghan, Hall Taggart, Sharley Simpson, Hal Van Rensselear and Margo Breen under the adroit direction of John Baird.

ADVENTURES OF BABES IN THE WOODS

Containing all the elements of fantasy which delight youngsters, "Hansel and Gretel" will once more trace the adventures of two lost children in an enchanted forest.

Complete with a talking dog, singing flowers and a gingerbread house the merry little comedy will be staged at the Mayan theatre February 5 at 2:30 p. m.

Mayfield Bros. Charm Audience

The Mayfield Bros. Quartet was heard in a splendid concert last Sunday afternoon at the Gray Musart according to John Gray Instructor. These four boys whose ages range from fourteen down, show every evidence of becoming famous performers someday. This first concert was the initial effort to raise money to begin their studies at the Conservatory. Their voices are rich and sweet and they have a natural ear for harmony, he said.

June Stevenson and Roberta Scott, pianists; Charles Earles, saxophonist and Maxine Lee, artistic whistler, assisted with well performed selections.

For up-to-the-minute sports news turn to the second section.

Floyd Snelson Gives Theatre Data, Library

Announcement is made by Kathrine A. Latimer, reference Librarian in the division of Negro literature and History, New York public library, Harlem branch, that Floyd G. Snelson has given the library his entire collection of theatrical and journalistic material.

Snelson compiled the material while he was working on the Federal writers project.

In the collection of the former Pittsburgh Courier theatrical reporter are photographs and programs of early productions, long out of print.

Hollywood Signs Are Varicose Veins to Comic

Bob Hope only recently arrived in Hollywood from New York and one of the things that impressed him was Hollywood boulevard, famous for the multiplicity of Neon signs. On the boulevard one day, he purchased a very beautiful watch. He showed the watch to George Burns on the "College Swing" set today and Burns asked him where he got it.

Hope replied: "At a jewelry store at the corner of Vine an—Vine and—ah—that street with the varicose veins.

Ed Robinson Gets Lead in 'Clitterhouse'

Edward G. Robinson, one of the screen's foremost character actors, was cast this week in the leading role in the "Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," soon to be filmed for the screen by Warner Bros.

Humphrey Bogart, who had previously been announced for a featured role in this screen adaption of the New York stage success, has been assigned the part of "Rocks" the fence who eventually discovers the doctor's identity.

The picture will go into production early in February under the direction of Anatole Litvak who handled the megaphone on "Tovarich."

GRACE MOORE FILM AT RKO-PANTAGES

Presented to six kings and five presidents, honored by twelve command performances and decorated by four nations, Grace Moore takes her place as the top singer of royalty and the world's rulers.

The lovely star whose latest musical film, 'I'll Take Romance' is currently attracting crowds to the RKO-Hillstreet and Pantages Hollywood theatres, is supported in the picture by a distinguished cast headed by Melvyn Douglas, Stuart Erwin and Helen Westley.

in production:

INDICATIVE of the heavy production schedule of 20th Century-Fox is the fact that four more pictures are scheduled to start within the next two weeks.

HOVICK'S ASSIGNMENT

First is "Kentucky Moonshine" with the Ritz Brothers, with David Butler once more directing; "Charlie Chan at the Ringside," which James Tinling will direct; "Island in the Sky" with a cast not yet selected, and an untitled picture featuring Victor McLaglen, Brian Donlevy and Louise Hovick.

On the future production schedule are such pictures as "Passport Husband", "A Trip to Paris", with the Jones Family, and 'Alexander's Ragtime Band'.

TWO START

During the past fortnight there went into production 'Gypsy' wih Jane Withers, Rochelle Hudson, Robert Wilcox, Borrah Minevitch and his Gang and Steffi Duna; and "Josette" with Simone Simon, Don Ameche, Robert Young, Joan Davis, Paul Hurst and Armand Kaliz.

Two of the greatest pictures of the year are expected to get under way during the next two months. They are "Hudson's Bay Company" and "Stanley and Livingstone", in each of which Tyrone Power is scheduled to have the leading role. Starting of these productions is dependent upon the return of Power from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, where he is presently playing the leading role opposite Norma Shearer in "Marie Antoinette".

PRIVILEGED to sit in on a complete rehearsal of "Porgy and Bess" last Monday evening, I was more than amazed at the uniform excellence of its players in a cast of over 100, under the magical direction of Hollywood's MAMOULIAN.

Electrifying is the word for ANNE WIGGINS BROWN'S voice and personality, grace and charm—whom I pick to show the cinema moguls a thing or two in real sepia artistry when the curtain goes up Friday night. She's "Bess" in the play: a heart-breaking hussy who starts all the ruckus that tests the loyalties and superstitions in Catfish Row. In real life, however, the stage's wench is a LADY and that makes ANNE BROWN an ACTRESS in fine.

HOWARD UNIVERSITY'S professor of music is TODD DUNCAN whose astounding characterization of the cripple, "Porgy" — singing, acting the difficult role during the entire 2½-hours on his knees—matches remarkable dramatic fervor with the beauty of his voice.

Not since the old silent film days of Lon Chaney's "Hunchback of Notre Dame" have I witnessed such complete transposition of character as you will see in Duncan as "Porgy". Assuming that Negroes are given to imaginative imitation, seldom is it executed with proper unction, I was curious about this "Porgy" in Todd Duncan.

"It meant something for me to get down on my knees," the artist explained. "First place, I am an upright Negro: militant, defiant, strong and healthy. But, talking over the role of 'Porgy' with the late Mr. Gershwin, I fell in love with the part. The body of this cripple became the soul of my people, to me. Shoved about, distorted through no will of his own, the victim of environmental conditions, 'Porgy' still can fight. He begs for his living but shows a great generosity of spirit by sharing all that he has with his friends. He shoots craps with the rowdies in Catfish Row but he is the only one to forgive the erring 'Bess'. He murders and swears and steals and lies—but he kills for his love; steals to live; lies to save others and crawls through the stench and squalor of a low life to the highest virtues we know.

"To get down on my knees," he continued proudly, "was a challenge to everything that is at once revolting and elevating. I might be either extremely ridiculous or definitely admirable. I hope that our audience here sees my conception of the character in the latter light."

OTHERS IN the cast who are destined to stand out in the skillfully etched musical drama are RUBY ELZY, Georgette Harvey, AVON LONG and Eva Jessye's choir.

Long essays the role, "Sportin' Life" made famous by "Bubbles", of the team, Buck and Bubbles. One will not miss Bubbles from this part for Long injects a sp ality into the "coke-sniffer" that lifts the role above the pale Mr. Bubbles' ovre-emphasis on "naturalness". Long dances divinely and while he is an imp of the first water, he succeeds beautifully in being more of an ethereal devil than a downright ess of a bee.

Finally, let me say that the conduct of these people while they have been in Los Angeles is marvelous, compared with that of other large groups of Negro thespians. THAT is a big item and an important one in the Negro's past and future in the theatre, on screen.

ACCEPTED

Harvey Brooks made ASCAP with "Let's Go Ballyhoo," it was revealed this week.

BRUCE FORSYTHE assisted Philip Moore with arrangements of the musical score for "The Duke is Tops", Million Dollar Productions forthcoming flikker. (The Duke being Ralph Cooper). Ben Ellison and Harvey Brooks wrote the score.

CAN'T TAKE IT

Lady Luck is still with FREDDIE CLARKE as he filled a bit part in "You Can't Take It With You" for Columbia this week. Freddie has joined Gilmor Brown's EXCLUSIVE Playbox Community theatre (joining fee $20), audience capacity 35.

WHAT, NO FLESH?

A new agreement among avenue cocktaileries thumbs down all entertainment during the "quiet season". BUT, aimed to increase the employment of musicians and entertainers is a campaign conducted currently by international officers of the American Federation of Musicians. First victory was limitation of the broadcasting of records, affecting radio stations and transcription companies making recordings.

FOR UNCLE'S THEATRE

HALL JOHNSON has been asked, accepted, direction of "Run Lil Chile," for Federal Theatres, production scheduled for early this month.

LOTTIE GEE is back with Federal Music project on Walker's weekly "Louisiana Hayride" broadcast.

LIFE IN CATFISH ROW—Depicted in this scene of the squalid court from "Porgy and Bess" is not a very pretty proposition, nevertheless it lends itself to an arresting narration — picturesque, primitive, splashed broadly with coloring and a dramatic treatment by the splendid cast of Negro players that make it fairly leap through the imagination of the audience. But the suspense and effectiveness of its moving episodes tell an elemental tale of tragedy and comedy; pathos and abandon, laughter and tears from the time the first curtain ascends on a bit of rowdyism in the black tenement, to the exodus of the cripple Porgy—half a man—to New York with his second hand woman, Bess, as the final one descends.

HAIR RAISING TALES OF 'FIREFLY' LOCATION

Location work in the High Sierras begins in the middle of the night.

Or at least it seemed like the middle of the night to sixty members of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's location troupe for "The Firefly", filmization of the famous Otto Harbach-Rudolph Friml operetta, which brings Jeanette MacDonald and her two new leading men, Allan Jones and Warrent William, to the Tivoli screen Sunday for an engagement of four days.

Hauled out of their beds in a Lone Pine hotel at 4:30 a. m., the startled troupers were given half an hour to shave, eat their breakfasts, and be on their way to Lone Pine Creek by truck, bus and mule.

Between the boulders a rock wall has been built, some hunhundred feet in length, to simulate a Pyrenees mountain road's protective outer edge, and on the opposite side of the road stands a wayside shrine.

Off in the distance a stagecoach, drawn by four mules, awaits a signal from Director Leonard. And behind it, out of sight of cameraman Oliver Marsh who is perched atop a ten-foot parallel, Allan Jones sits astride his Arabian thoroughbred, "Smoky".

The sequence calls for Jones, as Don Diego, swashbuckling young Spanish nobleman, to pursue the stagecoach across the Pyrenees. Inside it sits his light of love, Nina Azara (Jeanette MacDonald), "The Firefly" of Rudolph Friml's operetta, riding from Madrid to Bayonne in Southern France. She is a spy for the Spanish forces and in Bayonne she must learn of Napoleon's plans for King Ferdinand the Seventh of Spain. And Don Diego is merely an annoyance to her.

The signal is given. One shot to get ready. Two shots to go. The mules break into a gallop, coming faster and faster toward the cameras. Now Allan Jones comes into sight riding furiously. And it's a real riding exhibition among the boulders. He begins to draw alongside. The coachman, dropping his whip, picks up a blunderbuss and levels it at the horseman. Jones laughingly bows to the ladies within.

"That's it. That's it," calls out Director Leonard. "Hold it for a test, Allan. Now we've got to get the shot of the mules pulling out of there and you riding alongside."

But there is scarcely space to pull the mules forward out of camera range. They start up, but the lead mule insists on pulling too far over towards the wall. Jones, starting to gallop forward, is caught between the coach wheel and the wall. He tries to pull up short, but too late. The toe is torn right out of his riding obot as it is jammed into the wall and the spur is bent over double.

that naive soul, Anita Louise, sachading around as ingenuous as Snow White would be food for giggle from the start.

Comedy Stars Maintain Top Spot Longest

Hollywood clamors constantly for new faces, but the steady influx of new talent has failed to eclipse many of the stars of yesterday, a survey of producing companies revealed today.

Some stars that first soared over the horizon almost a quarter of a century ago still burn as brilliantly as ever in the film firmament, these veterans who still enjoy star ratings including John Barrymore, W. C. Fields, Harold Lloyd, Charles Chaplin and Wallace Beery.

John Barrymore, for instance, today looms as one of the screen's foremost comedians following his sensational performance in "Romance in the Dark", while W. C. Fields' name tops the billing in Paramount's "Big Broadcase of 1938".

Fred Kohler, for instance, one of the most famous of silent "heavies", pursues his nefarious trade again in "The Buccaneer", while Slim Summerville, of 1914 beginnings, is still going strong at 20th Century-Fox.

After 19 years, Edward Everett Horton finds himself a bigger box office draw than when he started in 1919. He will be seen next in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife".

SEPIANS

On the sepia side of the comic cast one finds quite a few names entering the list for the first time late last year.

Frederick Clarke, the English-born comedian, brought a new giggle to screen fans with his Oxford accent coupled with strange muggings that deem fair to fixing a definite place in the cinematic firmament for him.

Miller and Mantan, two oldsters from vaudeville minstrel days, have invaded the screen's list of funny men, first with the all-Negro western, "Harlem On the Prairie", later in the Joe Louis pic, "Spirit of Youth".

STEPS DOUBLE

Nicodemus, droll comedian, is the nearest approach to Stepin Fetchit, minus some of the objectionable off-stage antics of the latter. He entered films in his best part with Mae West early last year, is currently heard on Eddie Cantor's radio program.

ONE WOMAN

Hattie McDaniel retains her spot among the femmes as laugh-getter number one with only her sister, Etta, the nearest competition.

And that stellar performer, Eddie Anderson who has been quietly mentioned many times as a genius of pantomimicry, may forsake his floor show work altogether, with more persuasion from filmland.

REPORTER REIGNS AS ROMANTIC ACE SAYS STAR IN LINCOLN PIC

According to Carole Lombard, the newspaper reporter has hit the top as the screen's most romantic character.

At the moment Carole is co-starring with Fredric March in David O. Selznick's technicolor picture, "Nothing Sacred", directed by William A. Wellman, current attraction at the Lincoln Theatre. It has a newspaper theme, and has convinced Carole that the screen sheik takes second place when the reported comes into the picture.

"The boys with the pencils and pads", she says, "have left the sheik, the rich playboy, the matinee idol, the soldier and adventurer far behind in romantic interest.

"I don't know why it is, except for the fact that a reporter's life seems to be paced for the fast tempo of screen entertainment so popular today. I'm not going to be one of those women who say it's because a reporter's career is so interesting. He does, however, live a fast, varied life, at least on the screen.

"More pictures than ever before are using either the reporter or the surroundings of an editorial rom for fast-paced material. "Love on the Run" are examples. And just so it won't be confined to one sex, you might also add "Front Page Woman".

You Can Eat Your Cake and have - - - Indigestion!

Motion picture property men are, of necessity, nimble-minded individuals because problems constantly confront them that must be solved immediately so as not to delay production.

In a scene, shot today on Paramount's "Scandal Street" set, a choclate cake, studded with sugar-coated almonds, played a prominent part.

Mysteriously the almonds disappeared one by one when the prop man's attention was demanded on another part of the stage.

Afte rhe had repeatedly restudded the cake and continued to miss the ornamental candies he hit on a scheme to circumvent the sweet-toothed stealers.

He substituted mothballs!

Snow White An The Seven Dwarfs

Expected to gross Walt Disney, Inc., as much as $6,500,000, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" marks an historic step in the advancement of the motion-picture industry.

As a film, "Snow White" is a delicate masterpiece. The beauty of some of the scenes have never been equalled by other cartoons, and the characters are each definite and given certain absolute mannerisms. One of the most amazing feats of the picture, however, is the way in which suspense is held throughout. Many people have enjoyed and been ardent fans of short cartoons who firmly believe that sitting through a feature-length Disney masterpiece should be the next thing to insufferable. They need only view "Snow White" to be converted to just the opposite conviction.

The main reason, we believe, that the cartoon held its interest so admirable, was that slapstick and burlesque were cut to nothing. The wicked queen who sought to kill dainty Snow White was as straight-forward a threat as was any Public Enemy in the G-man cycle of a few months ago. Prince Charming and Snow White were two people in love--fired with an emotion that was not to be laughed at. At no point did they step out of character, indulge in long burlekued kisses, or any of the other comedy twists which shorter cartoons have given the "grand passion".

But "Snow White's" subtle charm is somehow unable to explain. Possibly it is because of the picture's purely visible beauty, or merely the novelty of the thing--a feature-length cartoon. We think it is neither of these, however, for pictorial beauty has often left audiences cold unto freezing ("Rosalie", "The Garden of Allah") and novelty has many times proven too thin an embellishment to cause any hysterical outburst upon a film's merit.

The only real answer is that Disney has given us something of beauty that a blase cinema has never before dared to offer. Although, to be fair, the same script transferred to the other, more orthodox, form of motion-picture entertainment--the plain, photographed opus--would have been a miserable failure. The thought of Crawford or even

Movie Center Starts Film a Day in Jan.

Off to a whirlwind start on its big 1938 production schedule, Hollywood has started a picture a day since New Year's Day, a survey today disclosed.

Studio plans call for maintenance of this average through February, off to an even more active start, with current productions giving definite indications of the type of entertainment which the public may expect from the movie capital during 1938.

That musicals are going to play a big part in the program is clearly indicated.

Heading the list of productions set to get under way at once are two big Paramount extravaganzas, "Cocoanut Grove," with a cast including Fred Mac Murray, the Yacht Club Boys, Ben Blue, Rufe Davis and Harry Owens and his orchestra, and "Tropic Holiday", starring Bob Burns, Dorothy Lamour, Martha Raye and Ray Milland.

Early in February, Paramount starts "Never Say Die," a Jack Benny musical, while MGM gets under way with "The Student Prince" and Warner's goes with "Gold-Diggers in Paris."

HISTORICAL

Inspired by the phenomenal success of Cecil B. De Mille's "The Buccaneer" and Frank Lloyd's "Wells Fargo", epics lifted from the pages of history, dot production schedules of all major studios.

Filming of "Marching Herds," the saga of the Texas cattle barons, will be started in February by Paramount, while De Mille plans to make "Hudson's Bay Company," epic of the Canadian wilderness. MGM plans to start early on "Northwest Passage," and "Gone With the Wind" tops the Selznick schedule.

OPERA

Although no opera has as yet been definitely set for production by any Hollywood studio, it was confidently expected that a picture of one of the great operatic works would be a feature of the year's program.

Light opera is attracting increasing producer attention as Paramount follows presentation of Gladys Swarthout in "Romance in the Dark" with its "Life and Melodies of Victor Herbert and Metro starts the "The Student Prince."

Oldest motion veteran in point of service before the cameras, Bob Milasch is seen in the role of a New York police officer in Paramount's picture, "Doctor Rhythm". Milasch started films in a Gaumount picture filmed in 1893.

Theatres . . . ON THE AIR

Federal Theater of the Air presents the sixty-second in Robert Cummins' series, "Turning Points in Famous Lives", via KRKD Friday at 6:30. Written and directed by the competent Cummins, this week's broadcast deals with Hector Berloiz, the French composer, who was one of the pioneers in the field of romanticism. Berloiz was born December 11, 1803, the son of a country doctor. His early education was in the field of medicine, but in 1882 he definitely gave this up for music. For five years he struggled along hit or miss, and then one day something happened that was to change the entire course of his life— he fell in love.

Joe Hamilton portrays the leading role, while Kent Wallace, Patrick McGeehan and Mary Killdee appear in other principal parts.

Many a hearty laugh is promised in Sunday's script of "Louisiana Hayride," story of the black race, aired via KHJ and the Mutual Don Lee network from 7 to 7:30.

Scripted by Amos Reese and featuring Sherman T. Walker's all Negro choir of 25 trained voices, this week's episode tells of a group of people from Clarksville, Louisiana, who have decided to buy auto trailers and travel to California and describes their activities while they are camped on an Indian reservation in Arizona as honored guests of "Chief Wind in de Face". Production is under direction of J. C. Lewis, Jr.

John Wiley is the author of "Sarah," Sunday's "Living Portraits From The Bible" production, aired via KFAC from 2 to 2:30. Agnes Akers plays the title role of Sarah, the woman eternal —the wife incarnate. Other prominent Federal thespians in this absorbing story are Norman MacDonald and Olga Viglin. Royal Barrington directs.

"Deep In The South," stellar net-work all-Negro show that presents authentic atmosphere of the old South, is heard every Wednesday night locally via KHJ and the Mutual Don Lee network at 8:30.

Next week, Grandpa Rufus loveable old character of this opus, explains to Rosebud and Elijah, the two children, about the "grett voice of The Lawd," and, that God speaks to us in our hearts, not in an audible voice. This saga of the old South is quietly building a tremendous following.

. . . Marie Downing BEAUTY AND ROMANCE

SPONSORED BY LARIEUSE BEAUTY FOUNDATION

The Larieuse Beauty Foundation was established by the Godefroy Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving women's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

Like Walter Winchell, your columnist is begging off today and letting my "Girl Friday" entertain you. Yes, this is the winning letter in my contest for the best letter on beauty hints. It is written by Georgene L. Williams of Detroit (formerly of Augusta, Ga.). I think it is a fine letter—don't you?

Charm and beauty are dominant, highly competitive factors for women in the game of life. Ability to wear clothes that do something for her, skill in coiffeur arrangement, and a sense of perfect grooming all count. Tricks? Maybe—but they are vital.

"CARE" is the secret of beauty! For skin that is dry, dull and sallow, with large pores, I suggest an oil mask massage. Apply a steaming turkish towel to the face. Then, dip strips of cotton in a solution of facial oil, and place these strips over the chin, upper lip, cheeks, and forehead for twenty minutes, and you will be amazed to find even rough, ashy skin smooth and silky. It works wonders!

To remove blackheads and dirt I mix meal with buttermilk to a stiff consistency, and rub this thoroughly over the surface of my face and neck. This is a regular "Old Dutch Cleanser," chasing the dirt and blackheads. For stubborn, deep-seated blackheads—a handful of flaxseeds, sewed in a little bag and rubbed briskly over the face, which has been creamed, will get these rascals. For blemishes and discolorations I "lemonize" by taking lemon ice-cubes, made in the frigidaire, and massage the face. Sometimes lemon is added to my face cream. Remember, the skin is fighting to preserve its natural slight acidity, and lemon helps to accomplish this, as well as to soften and lighten the skin. Cream mixed with lemon, and applied to discolored parts will bleach and remove blemishes.

When my usually manageable hair becomes gummy and drab, I taken an eggnog shampoo. After brushing the hair thoroughly I wash and massage it. Then, I beat up two eggs and add a little rum and shampoo to lukewarm water. Then, with the application of a little hairdressing, I find I have the whitest, cleanest scalp and shining lustrous hair.

Rouge and lip-stick should harmonize with each other and with the skin tone. Avoid a "painted look." It is never smart. Rouge, applied to the upper cheek, gives a youthful, enlivened radiance, and an appearance of glowing health. Oil-cream applied to the lips prevents cracking and chapping. The teeth must be white and gleaming or all is lost, and the nails kept well-groomed with a natural polish. BEAUTY, THY NAME IS NATURALNESS!

When I find I have had an over supply of pie or cake, which makes me bulge in odd places, I take more exercise. My wardrobe includes colors and styles that befit my character and coloring.

Personality! I never forget that a soft voice, a calm, gentle disposition, all spell FEMINITY and BEAUTY. From beautiful people come beautiful words. I select my words carefully because I know I am judged by them. Beauty is NOT luck! It is WORK, hard work, but pleasant and I remember that I am the reaper, and I certainly can't say I didn't have a chance!

In my next column, the winner of second prize, Hilda Jean Paul of Baltimore, Md., will appear as guest author.

Movies Hire All Top Radio Personalities

Radio fans who long for television and a sight of their favorite either personalities needn't wait for science—most of the radio stars will be working in pictures within the next few weeks, a check of production programs revealed today.

The latest radio team to be placed under contract is Fibber McGee and Mollie. They will start work soon at Paramount in "Summer Boarders," which will have Mary Carlisle and Jack Dunn in the leading romantic roles.

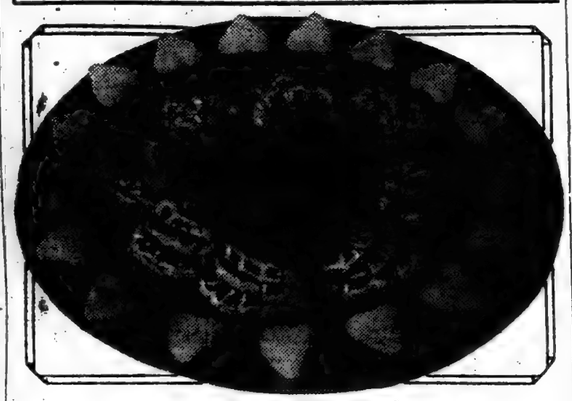
Bing Crosby, of course, is one of the familiar faces of radio through his pictures, latest of which is "Doctor Rhythm." His hillbilly radio pal, Bob Burns, is getting ready to work in "Tropic Holiday". In this same picture are three other radio personalities. They are Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour, and Tito Guizar. The latter was signed after executives saw the rushes of his work in "The Big Broadcast of 1938."

COMEDIAN

Radio's top comic, Jack Benny, is starting "Never Say Die" with Franciska Gaal, before February 1. George Burns and Gracie Allen have just completed "College Swing," in which will be seen other radio stars as well, including Florence George, the blonde beauty from the Chicago Civic Opera; Bob Hope, wisecracking Broadway musical comedy star who is scoring a hit on the Hollywood Parade air show; and Skinny Ennis, crooner with Hal Kemp's radio band.

W. C. Fields has just completed writing the script of his next picture, "Things Began To Happen" but will first be seen in "The Big Broadcast of 1938" with Shirley Ross. Shirley's another radio star who is popular in pictures, and several producers are maneuvering to get her for their respective pictures.

STAR 'GROVE'



Gladys Swarthout has just completed "Romance in the Dark." Edward Everett Horton is busy in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," which he started immediately after completing "College Swing". Cicil B. De Mille is starting work on his next story after completing "The Buccaneer." Harry Owens and his radio orchestra are starting work next week in "Cocoanut Grove."

Several other radio personalities including Laurie Lane, Mary Livingstone and Laurie Lane, also are scheduled to start work soon, but definite assignments have not been made.

CLIMBING THE LADDER

In less than a year Evelyn Brent has worked herself up from extra roles to second leads in her comeback. The former star of silent days is currently portraying a part in Paramount's "Highway Racketeers" second only in importance to the one en-

Recipes for St. Valentine's Day

By BETTY BARCLAY

Orange Cherry Valentine Dessert

Gay days call for gaiety in foods—and this intriguing dessert with a heart motif is particularly gay in red and gold for a St. Valentine party. For the orange slices with which the heart mold is surrounded California Navel oranges with their seedless characteristic are especially easy to prepare. Their firm texture also adds to their attractiveness as a garnish. Oranges are especially valuable in the diet at this time of year when other fresh fruits are scarce.

To make: Make a cranberry mold—with or without gelatine. Pour mixture in heart mold and put in a cool place to set. When ready to serve dip the mold in warm water (never hot) and turn out on a large serving plate. Surround with orange slices which have been dipped in honey and chilled. Decorate the plate with candy hearts. This may also be made in individual molds (fills 6 molds) or in a star or hatchet shaped mold for Washington's birthday.

And here are some other Valentine recipes that you will find equally delicious:

Valentine Squares

1 package cherry-flavored gelatin
1 pint hot water
1 sheet cake
½ cup cream, whipped

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Pour ½-inch layer into shallow square pan. Chill until firm. Cut 3-inch squares from cake. Cover tops with plain sweetened whipped cream and sides with whipped cream into which bits of gelatin have been folded. Place on lace paper doilies. Cut hearts from gelatin with small heart-shaped cutter and place on top of cake. Serve at once. Serves 12.

Magic Chocolate Peanut Butter Roll

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup sweetened condensed milk
1¼ cups confectioners' (4X) sugar
2 teaspoons peanut butter
⅔ teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and blend thoroughly. Remove from fire and add sifted confectioners' sugar (sift before measuring) gradually. Add peanut butter and vanilla. Blend thoroughly. Form into a roll. Place on buttered sheet. Chill. When firm, cut in slices.

Vanilla Rennet-Custard with Grenadine Topping

2 cups milk (or 1 cup milk and 1 cup cream)
1 package vanilla rennet powder
1 egg white
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup grenadine syrup

Set out 4 or 5 sherbet glasses or custard cups. Warm milk until just lukewarm—not hot, (120° F.). A few drops on the inside of the wrist should feel comfortably warm. Remove from heat and quickly stir in the rennet powder. Pour immediately into glasses and let stand until firm, about 10 minutes. Chill in refrigerator. Just before serving, beat egg white until it holds peaks; add sugar and syrup by tablespoons, beating well after each addition, and continue to beat until mixture is very stiff. Drop a puff of the mixture on each dessert and trickle a little grenadine syrup over the top.

ORCHESTRAS & MUSICIANS

By FREDDY DOYLE

Flash

Fletcher Henderson and his nationally known orchestra is scheduled to return to this city around the middle part of this month to fulfill a dance engagement and a possibility of working in a new picture. According to recent information from Gordon and Nickens, those popular young booking agents, they will book this popular band for an engagement at the Elks hall for the dance lovers of the Eastside.

Bob (piano) Brown and his great little "swing" band is packing the crowds into the Moonlight Gardens, that popular night spot out in San Gabriel, Calif. Bob and his cats have been engaged at this spot for several months. The following cats are in the line-up: O. (bass) Robinson, W. (trumpet) Allen, C. (sax) Jefferson.

Uptown at the Donald's Cafe these nights, "Windy" (trumpet) Morgan and his swinging trio is really "grooving" for patrons of this night spot. Morgan, as you have read, is one of our very fine trumpet players. Cats supporting "Windy" are: Raymon (piano) LaRue, who "beat out" piano, and Oscar (drums) Bradley who is rated one of the finest swinging drummers on the Pacific Coast. "Windy" and these cats really "sends" me in their type of "swinging".

Flash

Lee (drums) Young at the present time is out at the Paramount Studio instructing little six-year-old Billy Lee of movie fame who have to be able to swing the drums in the new Paramount picture "Coconut Grove" which will go into production in a few days.

Cleo (swing pianist) Brown at the present time is packing the Club Lorenz to capacity these nights out at this famous night spot in Hollywood.

Emmerson (Sax) Scott and his Wave Cafe Orchestra is doing some fine business at this popular night spot in Long Beach. Emmerson Scott has been leader of this fine group of cats since the death of Claude (trumpet) Kennedy last year. This great organization has been swinging at the Wave Cafe for the past three years and is well liked.

Sylvester (piano) Scott, that grand swinging piano cat is really laying his "jive" on the viories these nights out in Hollywood at the Foot Light Cafe.

I have finally found where the "cas" (sharp) hang ou after their tired nightly swinging, and that is no other place than at the home of that fine piano 'Crusher', Bill (piano) Bailey. It seems that these "sharp cats" find peace and hospitality at Bill's where they can discuss the many interesting problems of the "swing" world.

Paul (secretary of Local 767-Tenor Sax) Howard and his swing band is beating some fine "jive" in the "groove" these nights out in Hollywood at the Club Mildred. Paul between his many important duties at Local 767 is swinging some very fine tenor saxaphone at this popular spot in Hollywood, assisting Paul are the following cats: Buddy (guitar-arranger) Harper, and Freddy (piano) Washington.

NEVER, NEVER GIRL

Anna May Wong, American-born Chinese actress, never has had her hair cut, never has worn glasses, never has worn woolen underwear, never has curled her hair, never has eaten lobster, never has been on a bicycle, never has owned a radio, and, during the production of her latest Paramount picture, "Dangerous to Know", never once muffed her lines.

4000 PROPS

More than 4000 authentic Mexican properties—mostly jewels and objects wrought from silver and copper—have been purchased by Paramount studios for use in the new Arthur Hornblow musical picture, "Tropic Holiday", which features Bob Burns, Dorothy Lamour, Martha Raye, Ray Milland, and Tito Guizar.

BAKER HOPPING BELLS

Benny Baker, Paramount comedian, today began playing a role in "Highway Racketeers" and found himself in uniform again. He has played the part of a sailor in seven pictures and this is his second in the garb of a bell hop.

"Gold Diggers in Paris", which is to be filmed in the new Technicolor, boasts a cast of musical comedy favorites including Rudy Vallee, Rosemary and Priscilla Lane, Penny Singleton and Johnny "Scat" Davis.

"Dude Rancher" stars Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane in leading romantic roles. The supporting cast includes Frank Mchugh in a top comedy spot, Pat O'Brien, Dick Foran, Ronald Reagan and Ann Sheridan.

Both films are scheduled to be completed late in February.

BACK TO THE LAND

Sylvia Sidney, co-starring with George Raft, in Paramount's "You and Me", has just purchased a 114-acre farm in Huntington county, New Jersey.

NONCHALANT

Bob Hope, wisecracking Broadway musical comedy star who makes his screen debut in "The Big Broadcast of 1938" appears at Paramount in startling attire. In dressing, he merely picks up the article of clothing handiest and the color combinations are bizarre to say the least.

PLANS ENTRY

Out of three horses which he has just purchased through an agent in the Argentine, Bing Crosby, now co-starring with Beatrice Lillie in Paramount-Major's "Doctor Rhythm", plans to nominate at least one for the Santa Anita Handicap at Santa Anita race track next season.

SNOW WHITE

However, one of the most striking things about "Snow White" is its delightful "angle shots". Although in a more elastic medium, cartoon creators have been in the past singularly given to viewing the scene of their action from a usual and uninteresting stand, while the photographed, not drawn, film has made tremendous strides in flash-backs, angle-shots, close-ups, and so on. But one of the most important attributes of the Disney feature is its remarkable, at times, almost impressionistic, use of these "tricks of the trade", acted by Mary Carlisle.

In order to better serve the community this fast-growing store, located on the Corner of Adams and Central Ave., has been enlarged and has employed several Colored clerks. FOR BACKACHE KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLE

Stop Getting Up Nights And Feel Younger

Here's one good way to flush harmful waste from kidneys and stop bladder irritation that often causes scanty, burning and smarting passage.

Ask your druggist for a 35-cent box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—a splendid, safe and harmless diuretic and stimulant fro weak kidneys and irritated bladder.

Besides getting up nights, some symptoms of kidney trouble are backache, puffy eyes, leg cramps and moist palms, but be sure to get GOLD MEDAL—it's the genuine medicine for weak kidneys—right for Haarlem in Holland.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest or cold, or bronchial irritatoin, you can get elief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

CLASSES TO TRAIN YOUNG PEOPLE FOR JOBS NEWEST THING BY WPA

Pictured above are classes in dressmaking (upper right and left) and cafeteria management (lower right and left). The dressmaking course provides training in designing, sewing, fitting and repairing women's clothes of all types. Some graduates have opened shops of their own, while other have found steady jobs with established firms. The course in cafeteria management is designed to train students to plan, prepare, cook and serve meals. It, too, frequently leads directly to private employment.

Classes to train young people for jobs are the newest thing in the Adult Education program of the Works Progress Administration. Experts in many types of work, taken from the relief rolls, are hired by the WPA to do the teaching.

...IS MAN IS "HOT" DESERT DELIGHT

We rolled into a gasoline station at 41st and Central avenue the day before yesterday. It's a busy intersection anyway but we had a more than usual difficult time getting into it. As we know the operator we held up one finger. We do that at times—hold up one finger and say, "Fill it up". He knows we want only one gallon.

Ordinarily pleasant and congenial, our service man was "not" this particular day. In fact he has been very much in the dumps ever since workmen have been tearing up the street in front of his station in order to repair the street car tracks. The present condition of the street keeps prospective customers and some regular ones away from his station. Even if they make up their minds to trade with our service man anyway they must make a lot of crazy turns before getting their cars in a position to receive the all-important fluid that makes their cars run.

He has a right to be "hot", all right. As he put it: "If they are going to repair the streets why shouldn't they wait until busness is normal. Everybod knows that January and February are slow months at best!"

We agreed with him, and say herewith: "Attention, City Fathers! There are many small business men who suffer the same way every time those street repair crews begin tearing up a main thoroughfare!"

Palm Springs — long a desert rendezvous for the rich—retired executives, movie stars, and film moguls — is preparing to take care of a situation which is a natural outgrowth of the yearly influx of people who can afford servants.

We have it on good authority that a Riverside couple—Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lockett, have realized the plight of the servants, who, after all are human beings like their employers and who must have recreational moments also. The Locketts have built an up-to-date cafeteria that serves also as a social center.

As our contributor says, "This change comes about naturally. The rich have servants. Many of these servants are Negroes. Palm Springs is some distance removed from any large city where these servants might hie for a bit of recreation or entertain their out-of-town friends."

S-o-o-o, the Locketts sought to do something about it and result: a social center that is said to solve every need of those who want to enjoy the advantages of this world-famed desert spot.

Louis and Manager Deny Reported Marital Rift was Publicity Build-up

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Feb. 3—In a general interview here after his Sunday afternoon bout with sparmates during which he knocked out Pal Silvers and went the limit with George Nicholson and George Payne, Joe Louis in company with Manager John Roxborough formally denied the rumor that any paid press agent had used the recently reported Joe-Marva rift as a publicity build-up for the champion.

"Absolutely not," said the champion. "I have no press agent our only press agent is the publi... itself."

The champion also was frank about the Schmelling bout. "I am going to even all scores with Schmelling", he declared. "I am not afraid of him."

Louis also termed John Henry Lewis, one of the "greatest fighters in the game."

PREMIERS SPIRIT OF YOUTH

Having returned late Friday from Philadelphia where he attended the premier of his movie, "Spirit of Youth" Joe praised the "very nice reception" he enjoyed. He said both shows had been sold out. He was in Philadelphia only a few hours and returned here the same night.

Louis talks every day with Mrs. Louis over the long distance phone. He calls her right after lunch each day.

Asked if an estimate of a million dollar income for Louis during his fighting career could be made, Roxborough pointed out that it canot be stated exactly now much Louis is worth today financially. Although a total of income from fights could be listed, Roxborough pointed out that the United States Government takes a total income tax of 66 2-3 per cent; that from the gross total of income there must be deducted scores of items such as travelling expense, insurance, annuities, real estate, and income of his managers, employees, etc. It would in other words, take a long time to answer this particular question.

COLD WEATHER NO TROUBLE

Cold weather of last week in which the thermometer hereneared the zero mark did not worry the champion. He fared very well, does not mind the cold and can stand as much as 18 or 20 degrees below zero.

Asked how he felt at his premiers all dressed up in evening clothes, Joe said he regarded tuxedos and "tails" as just another suit of clothes. They do not worry him.

No statement can be made of the exact amount Louis will make from his movie. He was paid cash for acting in it and receives a certain percentage of the royalties on the picture. Naturally this total cannot yet be estimated.

PROMINENT CAMP VISITORS

Among the prominent figures in camp here so far are Julian Black, Roxborough, Jack Blackburn, Mrs. Julian Black, Mrs. John Roxborough, Harold Nelson, Pettiford Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall of Baltimore, and Walter White of the NAACP and family. This list includes prominent guests.

Roxborough said Joe eats only twice daily. In the morning he has orange juice or grape fruit oft boiled eggs, ham or crisp bacon, hot tea, milk, fried apples and sometimes veal cutlet.

In the afternoon he eats steak or poultry, celery, fish, baked potatoes, and green peas. He rarely eats pork.

News of the temporary victory of Louis in the Chicago lawsuit of Sheridan Brusseaux vs. Louis, Black and Roxborough did not reach here in time Sunday to arrange for comment by them.

Laundryman Probes Subtlety Of Yellow Journalism

By THE LAUNDRYMAN

Get your ironing boards ready, Folks, because I'm hanging out a Rough dry Special this week, entitled;

"YALLER JOURNALISM" & SHOPPING WEEKLIES

There's a wide space between advertising Hamburger steak and white potatoes at so much per, and the subtleties of "Yaller" Journalism; but a certain Shopping News editor seems to be trying to straddle both the commodity and the propaganda field at one time and the same time. After all though, mebeb he ain't to blame, mebbe straddling issues jest comes natural to him, hailing as he does from Kansas City, a town that straddles two states. And after all, straddling has got its good points I will admit, because it gives a feller plenty time to pick out the yard to fall over in, where the most "Chicken-Feed is laying around.

Getting down to brass tacks, what I'm driving at in a front page article in his last week's issue, headed "Probe Into Local Affairs Slated Today". Immediately under this caption, also in large type, came the following, "Mrs. Bass Ordered Before Assembly Public Morals Committee".

Now the average person reading the above head-lines—and also the paragraph immediately following it—would have at once concluded that the Editor of The California Eagle was the Vice-Queen of the East Side, and that the Morals Committee was going to give her the "works". Her name was mentioned three more times in the body of the article, although there were ten other prominent persons named, all of whom, mind you, received ONE sub-peona the same as she did.

What I'd like to know is; why this subtle, thinly disguised attempt to besmirch the reputation of an established rival Editor... one who publishes a NEWSPAPER, and hires fifteen colored employees to print it in a COLORED OPERATED printing establishment—when the gist of his article, boiled down, simply established the fact that Mrs. Bass was subpoenaed among ten others to be questioned concerning conditions on the East side. It isn't no crime for any person in Public life to be subpoenaed questioning concerning pubilc welfare. Many prominent ministers, reformers, and crusaders have been sub peonaed recently by one of our largest cities to aid in investigating Vice conditions.

Is it because he's so virtuous that this here Vice situation has roused the indignation of his noble, Civic-Loving heart; or is it because he figures that if he can rifle her paper by blackening her reputation, there won't be nobody to Expose Him while he prospects for Gold in the Vice-Mines?

And right here I'd like to ask this certain editor a few point-blank questions—for which I hope You all will forgive me, since I ain't educated, and don't know how to beat around the bush:

Is there any vice on the east side? When you was wearing smoked glasses awhile back (when everything was "Jake" on the Avenue) was you wearing them so you could claim that you hadn't seen nothing going on, Are you FOR Vice, or ag'in it?

By the way, come to think of it, I ain't never seen no article in this particular Shopping News that would let a fellow know just where its High-Minded editor stands on this Vice question. In every article bearing on it that I seen, he simply state that "IT IS ALLEGED that so and so is connected with Vice" etc; but he don't never express his own opinion either one way or the other. Of course this may just be an oversight on his part, due to that "straddling habit" but I believe that us citizens of the East-side is entitled to know just what the attitude of the MONEY— I mean Noble-minded—humanitarian Editor of the "World's Greatest Shopping Weekly" is, in regard to Vice conditions. If there ain't no Vice we want him to say so; and if there is Vice, then we who subscribes for his paper are entitled to know whether he approves or disapproves. And until he makes up His mind as to which yard he wants to fall over into, he ought to quit belly-aching.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By Miriam Matthews

The annual celebration of Negro History Week, February 6-12; the observance of Race Relations Sunday, February 13, by the Federal Council of Churches; the introduction of Inter-racial Week, February 13-20; the recent appointment of a Commission on Racial Amity by the Governor of California; the current debates in the legislative halls of Congress; and the present struggles of the American Labor movement, all point to the need for better racial understanding and co-operation. The general interest in race and race relations which has been aroused by these various movements has been reflected in a wider use of books on the subject which are available at the Los Angeles Public Library.

The Associates in Negro Folk Education in Washington, D. C. have recently begun the publication of the Bronze Booklet Series which give splendid summaries of very vital subjects by recognized authorities. Among those already published are: ADULT EDUCATION AMONG NEGROES, by Ira Reid, a handbook for leaders to be used for the extension of adult education among a growing Negro constituency; A WORLD VIEW OF RACE, by Ralph Bunche which discusses the meaning of race imperialism in the United States and the device of race in world economic and political conflict; THE NEGRO AND HIS MUSIC, by Alain Locke which explains why Negro music is the closest approach America has to a folk music and how important it is to the musical culture of this country, THE NEGRO AND ECONOMIC RECONSTRUCTION by T. Arnold Hill, a new appraisal of the Negro; NEGRO HISTORY IN OUTLINE, by Arthur A. Schomburg, a noted bibliophile; NEGRO POETRY AND DRAMA, by Sterling Brown; and NEGRO ART: PAST AND PRESENT, by Alain Locke which includes African Negro Art as well as American Negro Art with a concluding chapter on the future of this art.

The titles mentioned above are only a few of the many books and pamphlets on the subject to be found at the Central Library, 530 South Hope Street, the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Avenue and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Avenue. A complete list is available for reference use in the library whereas selected lists will be given away upon request. For those seeking information on the Negro which is not published in book or pamphlet form, a scrap book of clippings has been started at the Vernon Branch Library which will constitute a valuable addition to its reference service. Ask to see it on your next visit to the library.

Newspaper 'Ad' Results Lauded at Meet of National Real Estate Men

WICHITA (Kan.) Feb 3—Newspapers are the most effective advertising agents available for sale of real estate, Hugh Potter, Houston, (Tex.) realty man, told the annual south center regional conference of the National Association of Real Estate Boards today.

The Texan urged the real estate men of eight states gathered in closing session of their two-day conference, to put more thought into preparation of their advertising copy and to plan their use of newspaper columns in continuous campaigns, instead of spasmodic insertions, to obtain best results.

SELECTING GRAND JURORS

Just as we expected in the selection of a Grand Jury for 1938 not a single Negro got to first base. Two were drawn in the beginning but were struck out at the plate.

It was never in the cards for a Negro's name to reach the final "showdwon", but, however, the EAGLE'S fight gained an inch and by pulling together we will batter down the wall of prejudice that has encompassed the selection of timber for the Grand Jury for lo! this quarter of a century of which we have personal knowledge.

Names are selected for the jury by Superior Court Judges who make election time pilgrimages to the district, drink red lemonade and tell the denizens how glad they are to "get over here among you people", but when the time comes to hand in names for Grand Jury service are suddenly seized with an aggravated case of "forgettery".

One judge saw the light and stuck in two names that met with strenuous objection, but all the rest forgot "you people" and no names of Negroes were placed for the final drawing. Sensing something further up the road, in the finals, many prepared for an alibi by not submitting any names at all.

Be that as it will or may, they'll have to explain, not how glad they are to get over here "among you people", but why they forget so easily after emerging from a campaign with a handsome majority.

There's no reason whatever that each judge should not place one Negro on his list, which would give us a Chinaman's chance of recognition on the Grand Jury.

We've located the blame, so now united action to remove the cause is the next step.

WAR JUST 'ROUND THE CORNER

Pray, hope and trust as we will, physical signs bring us daily closer to that most dreaded thing—war.

America insisting upon remaining in the battle zones of the Orient; Japanese sinking vessels and slapping the faces of our diplomats and representatives, looks as though the bloodiest conflict in the history of the world is just around the corner. Then, too, the call for a bigger and stronger navy, more airplanes and a full quota of marines and calvary by Uncle Sam all spell conflict.

With all this costly preparation for defense we note Uncle Sam's call for men in the air force, and imperative as it may be, black citizens are excluded. In the navy it's slightly better, Negroes are being accepted as mess attendants and lackeys aboard the battleships.

We fear that Uncle Sam and his color bar on citizens who have never produced a traitor, willing to fight and die for their country will fly back and strike him in the face before it's over.

The Negro has proved his worth on the field of every conflict in which this nation has been involved. Bullets know not creed, color or religion and at this high state of human advancement and education, if our Government thinks young white men are going to the firing line to die while Negroes dig ditches, frolic and feast from well-stocked larders, he has another guess coming.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

Side-tracking of the bill against mob murder comes not as a surprise to us. True, we entertained high hopes of its enactment into law, but since it didn't happen we are disappointed, but not in the least surprised.

First of all, the southern white man will fight to the last ditch to maintain his right to outrage colored women and lynch and burn at the stake a Negro who objects or snatches a white woman's purse to say naught of intimacies to which both parties are willing.

Dixie Senators, aided and abetted by northern Republicans, prated over the Constitution and besmirched the name of white women by saying it required mob murder to avoid a grand rush by them to marry or cohabitate with Negro males.

Speaking of the Constitution the white man cares not a d—— for the flag or Constitution when thrown about the Negro to protect his rights as a citizen.

Several years to the windward, a bunch of Oklahoma and Texas hoodlums invaded Coffeyville, Kansas, in quest of a Negro accused of a crime and the American flag was unfurled from the window of the county jail and courthouse to halt the murderous band. A dishrag would have had the same effect. They tore down the Stars and Stripes, invaded the jail and all that prevented a murder, the prisoner (who later was proven innocent) had been removed.

Be not dismayed by the Anti-Lynching Bill's setback but keep up the fight. Wire and write your Senators!

MERRIAM'S RACIAL AMITY BOARD WON'T DOWN!

Topic of discussion over the weekend has been debate of Governor Merriam's appointment of a commission of 14 to foster racial amity in the state, in which three Negroes were included.

This empty honor, if such it could be termed, fell upon the shoulders of three live, alert, outstanding citizens of our group, namely: ex-Assemblyman Frederick M. Roberts and Atty. Hugh E. MacBeth of Los Angeles; and Dennis V. Allen of San Diego.

This racial "amity" stunt on the part of the Governor falls like a wet blanket upon Negroes throughout the State and expressions are heard on all sides, "If the Governor thinks this dry, meatless bone flung from his table of plenty will suffice to rally the colored vote (which saved him four years ago) he is certainly barking up the wrong tree".

First of all, we've never had much faith in these racial "amity" commissions. Blacks and whites have lived with each other for some 300 or more years, and it is the proud boast of many Dixie whites that they sucked substance from the breasts of Negro women. Many Negroes are half-brothers, sisters and cousins to these whites who think they can fool the Negro with this racial "amity" hog-wash.

Blacks and whites know each other better than any two separate groups on earth . . . the blacks have been a sun-shade for them in summer and an overcoat in winter; but when the colored brother tires of being under and seeks to rise, then they have to get acquainted all over again.

All of the racial "amity" that is needed is generated in the home and all the commissions between now and judgment can breach the exsting gulf until mothers and fathers instill in their children that the fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man is the only way to bring about racial "amity".

The Governor's stall is fooling no one but himself. Inform him here and now, if he expects the support of Negro people he'll have to shake out of his Dixie dream—get next to himself and pass real pie to the group.

Will Merriam do it? Does he want our vote and support? His action will be his answer.

ANOTHER SIT-DOWN

The MARKET PLACE

On our desk one recent morning we noted a copy of "FLASH!", the Race's contribution to the current crop of news-pictures magazines.

Not since bygone days of "The Messenger" have we read a Negro magazine worthy of the name. Consequently, reinforced by a cynical tolerance, we thumbed through the first pages of the folio, then—flash!—read avidly the rest.

While, in truth, a good bit an imitation of its more cultivated contemporaries, the magazine is an improvement over most Negro ventures into the "slick paper" field and makes for an interesting and informative half-hour's reading.

Increasingly popular in the East, it is unknown here in California and with the idea of our daily good turn in mind, we proceed to review its pages hoping that your interest will be awakened to the point of buying a copy.

According to the statement of ownership "Flash!" is published by "Flash Incorporated", 2003 Eighth street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

From the cover through to the final page, twenty-six in all, the magazine is a nine-by-twelve mimic of "Life" and "Look". The outside cover is done in "Life's" gray and red combination, with the shadow masthead. This week's cover is a near life-sized photo of Teddy Hill, young band leader, recently returned from successes in Europe.

But don't get us wrong—in the subject matter, by virtue of its being Negro—lies its claim to "difference" and hence its interest.

Photos of Barthe's sculpture are exceptionally well done, and are doubtless the work of a staff photographer. The pictures of Phillippa, however, were obviously taken by a professional portrait photographer, the group collected over a period by the child's parents. "The 2 Ring Circus" pictures are composed of a full-page photo of the Duck Hill lynching and 12 single column cuts of principals in the anti-lynch battle with clever captions under the cuts.

Exceptionally good single photos include one candid shot of Lightheavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis, making love to his sweetheart, a Pennsylvania society girl, and a composite cut of intercollegiate basketball.

Chief fault of the periodical lies in bad make-up and, of course, it has a lot to bemoan in the absence of choice news pictures.

Chief drawback to the entrance of Negroes in the national magazine field lies in unavailability of national advertising, and that, in turn, is due to lack of cash to carry the magazines until they become self-supporting.

With adequate cash, "Flash!", for example, could carry on a nation-wide advertising campaign, thus gathering readers, thus building a circulation to offer the sacred advertisers.

Comparison Encourages Us

Neither the cold figures of statistics nor the enthusiasm of oratory gives full understanding of what the Negro has accomplished in the United States. It is so much the nation's habit to deride its black citizens, that what they have not yet done, rather than what they have, is used to measure their worth. But a measuring stick is at hand, the Jews in Nazi Germany.

The two groups occupy similar situations, except that the one used to stand on equal footing, while the other has never, even though its citizens rights were guaranteed by constitutional amendments. Negroes cannot be glad that they have company in their misery. But they cannot help observing their fellow suffers and see how they themselves compare.

Last week the Council representing all Jewish organizations told the German government that unless their burden was lightened, their population would be extinguished. Already their property was in process of confiscation, and from their youth all hope was taken. The Negro's plight matches theirs exactly, except that he has never had their chance to accumulate property. Race prejudice has barred him from industry too completely for that.

Yet the Negro faces the future with shining face. Easier to identify than the Jew, and therefore more vulnerable to attack, nonetheless has steadily gained higher levels in industry. has kept on acquiring land though white and night riders dispossessed him. He has taxes, directly and indirectly when deprived representation in a so-called democratic government.

If what the Negro has done against odds making a living was on the battle field, the would call it courage. And in addition he sho be credited with a shrewd tactfulness that is equaled in the annals of history. Only men of tiny survive such as they have endured in United States. Death on the slave ship could exterminate them, nor did the slave system do them for educated, cultured life. Today t make good in the business game though its ev rule favors others.

Negroes have advanced and multiplied, during hardships which make the world cry with sympathy when inflicted on the Jews Germany. No tribute which can be paid the em cipated blacks, who were like children when they entered into competitive life, higher than cold facts about their accomplishments, now t they are seen in comparison with what others similarly handicapped.

The Eagle's Feathers

IN DEFENSE OF KEHE

Dear Editor:

I am writing in regard to the article appearing in the Eagle last week about "The Negro Hour" over KEHE. I have listened to this program for the past two weeks and want to congratulate the M. C. and sponsors for giving some of our group an opportunity to display their talent, for it is such people as Mr. Walter Lawson and his sponsors that give amatuers the chance they need.

I noticed in the letter it was also suggested to send letters to ask for another M. C. Yes, I am sending in a letter, but not like the parties of last week, one of appreciation to the M. C., the announcer and the sponsors and wish them success on the air. One reason more of the younger persons of our group don't do anymore today is because of the knocks they get and no encouragement.

We will admit the program isn't as good as Crosby's or Jolson's or Cantor's; but Eddie Cantor has been an artist for 25 years and our M. C. isn't much older than that.

The trouble with our group is that we don't stick together. Take for instance a Negro grocery store. We will buy there once and find he sells his goods 2 cents more than the other groups. Well we don't go there anymore. We are too blind to see if we continue to spend there as a group in a few months he will be able to sell at the same price as anyone else.

But that isn't enough for us. We begin to broadcast it to our friends also by saying: "I don't go there because his groceries are the highest in town". The same as the committee last week asking everyone to send cards complaining about that program which through no efforts of theirs was placed on the air.

Until we realize "United we Stand and Divided we Fall, we won't get very far.

Respectfully yours,
ETHEL GARNER,

MISSED THE NEWS BROADCAST

Dear Editor:

For the past two weeks I have missed very much your broadcast of news events through Miss Fay Jackson, over station KEHE, the Negro hour.

While I must say the hour is improving weekly, the absence of the news review does not add to the improvement. That was really one of the finest things I have heard within the race, and in my opinion, Miss Jackson's reputation was on a par with any others I have heard.

Hoping that you will return to the air, I am

Yours truly,
EDWINA OGLE

ON THE RADIO PROGRAM

Dear Editor:

Am writing regarding the Negro Hour radio program. I enjoy it very much each week, have been down in person to watch it twice. I enjoyed, in particular, the news broadcast by Miss Jackson, items taken from the California Eagle, which was a stimulus to me to read the paper more carefully.

However I have a beef, and offer it in the hope it will be taken constructively. We always regret that the white man sees us in one pattern, as the dialect speaking darky, but here, when we get a chance to put something before the public ourselves, we do the same thing.

I feel that we can do very well with less of that darky dialogue in some of the skits. We always resent it when whites do it. Why must we keep it up?

I thank you for this opportunity to express myself.

Respectfully yours,
MURIEL L. SPENCER

MORE RADIO

Dear Editor:

This is personal to you and not to the sponsors of the Negro Hour. We sure enjoy the program BUT, IF ETC . . . we are to put on a Negro Hour to be broadcast over Southern California we should put it on O. K. First a radio announcer, some one that can really speak. Why not Mr.—— can't call his name, but the gent that announced for the Golden State program.

Also why not the Negro News of the Country from your paper as read by Miss Fay Jackson on the first broadcast. Here is hoping you all the success and also the Race.

Respectfully by
A Radio Fan and Subscriber

SHELVE THE ANTI-LYNCH BILL

Dear Editor:

Although essentially in favor of passage of the anti-lynch bill, I feel that the measure should be shelved for a time. The present is not opportune for the inevitable battle that must take place before its ultimate passage.

The country is in serious financial difficulty and debate on the measure is losing friends that otherwise would favor it.

May I congratulate you, in passing, on the fine way in which you have kept us posted on progress and aspects of the bill.

Very sincerely yours,
PROCTER JOHNSON

TURN-TAIL REPBLICANS

Dear Editor:

Knowing you are a staunch Republican, I could not help but call to your attention this editorial in the Daily News. In my estimation it gives you a real insight into the kind of men your support helps to put into office.

Please excuse me if I seem a bit biased in my criticism, but I believe that the Republican party has been dealt a severe blow by Senator McNary and his renegades, and I am certain that there are many Negro citizens of the U. S. who are going to leave the old G.O.P. tub to do the best she can.

Although it is mainly the Negro who is concerned with the passage of the anti-lynch bill, sympathizers of other races readily agree that if the G. O. P., the cradle of Negro sufferage sells them out, what is the Negro to expect in the future?

"Let's Go Roosevelt". At least the outlook's a bit brighter.

W. A. N.

P. S.: What do you think?

Ed's Note: The editorial referred to by W. A. N. will be run in the Guest Editorial columns on this page next week.

HAPPENED IN SAN DIEGO

Dear Editor:

After attending a meeting Monday night, Jan. 16 at Bethel Baptist Church and listening to one of the Scottsboro boys tell of his suffering while in jail at Alabama, I felt it was a sad story told by Eugene Williams. How he suffered!

Then a Negro minister, who is traveling with him got up and told how well the boys liked chicken and how far away he could smell chicken!

Lord hasten the day when some Negro preachers will stop making jack-asses out of themselves and trying to make monkeys out of their congregations. If this had been a white man or white woman making such a remark, this same preacher would have had his mouth stuck out far enough to give a worm a draw.

If the Negro National Baptist board is going to see that this boy gets an education, it would be wise for the preacher to go along and educate himself along some lines. I don't like Uncle Toms.

W. P. A.

Dear Editor:

I recently resigned my job Project No. 6337-W. P. A.-- because the work was so very tolerable, but, because of back fence politics, uncle t mying, and double-crossing. I countered. I was assigned un a Race supervisor, who is try to make a record, and keep job, at the worker's expens seems that if the worker does bow down to the individ whims of this official, by an sidious and elaborate underco build-up, the worker's job threatened. This state of affa is not the intention of the WP as any sane and fair-minded son knows; for the Work P gram was designed to give nee people work, and on work me alone hangs the reason for kee ing or losing one's job.

The root of the trouble, is t way complaints are handled, this particular project, as t manner employed heretofore h not been fair to the worker, a gives the Supervisor too au ratic power, which used by inscruplous person, wre havoc among the personnel, a will soon destroy the democra nature of the program.

Visiting Housekeeper's P ject, later changed to Hou keeping Aides Proj. has be going three years, and is acco plishing one of the most o standing services to the co munity of any of the emergen work programs. Now, where this work being a Personal S vice type, the Human Equati must be reckoned with, and t manner in which complaints a made and handled against t worker, has been too loose a irregular.

My case in point:—

Dissatisfaction of the work by the client is told to the i mediate supervisor--who eith threshes the matter out on t spot, or advises the client write the complaint into the he office--this according to t workers standing in the Supe visors, estimation and if any d like has been incurred, AN THING GOES, regardless past merits or capabilities of t worker. The complaint may eit er be written or telephoned headquarters and filed. S comes a notice of separation fro the project for 1, 2, or 3 da without pay. It's according the seriousness of the alleg complaint, and the reputati that has preceeded you to the fice. This autonomy smacks yester-year employer-employ relations, and is in direct oppos tion to the spirit and the lett of the W. P. A. set-up.

And, because of this inner fice politics, this uncle tommyi this lack of the worker's chan to relate her side of the story, the presence of a disinterest party, before a notice of separ tion is given, demoralising fluences and conditions are lowed to grow unmolested.

Stooges, uncle toms, bac fence politicians job worshippe and holders at any price Mu Go—in order to save the Dem cratic work program.

I, thank you for this opportun ty to express myself.

I am, yours truly,
ELEANOR P. BROOKS.

APPRECIATION

In deep appreciation and gratefulness to all my friends for their supreme loyalty to me during my illness. Especially for the many gorgeous bouquets from the different churches, missionaries, deacons and trustee boards, Sunday schools and individuals; again for their donations and service including cards of cheer and consolation. Always remembering prayer changes things.

Many, many thanks.

Slowly improving.

Mary Valenzuela closed the program with an earnest plea for a better understanding and relationship between the United States and Mexico.

The Girl Reserves gave a tacky dance last Wednesday evening. During the entertainment prizes were given for certain features of dress, vocal and instrumental skits, and dancing skits. The decorations were elaborate and presented an interesting study. They were intended to be ideally tacky, but in most instances turned out to be ultra modernistic.

The monthly issue of the Douglass Chronicle appeared on the campus last Thursday. The Chronicle improves with each issue. Editor Jingles and his staff are quite deserving of the commendations that are being given them.

TUSCON NOTES

Business Meeting at Mt. Calvary Church

Realizing that his success as a pastor of Mt. Calvary could only be obtained through cooperation, Rev. C. B. Hodge called a business meeting on Tuesday.

He stated that "Peace" was the first requirement of all business meetings. Next he proposed to keep peace in the church by having a systematic record of dues paid by each member. Three checks will be kept on this financial record: First, by the captains of the tribes, second, by the secretary of the church, and thrd, by the treasurer of the church.

The second item taken up in the meeting was the adoption of a "pledge" card system by which each member of the church would be allowed to decide the amount of dues he should be taxed. This plan was adopted by the members.

The Rev. C. B. Hodge took his morning sermon from James the First chapter the 17th verse. Subject of text: Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above. All the time that James wrote this epistle the people's hearts were filled with doubt, temptations, and deceit. James' letter was an endeavor to give the discouraged and scattered tribes new hope and patience. He told them that God gives us all our necessities and it is our duty to be worthy of them. God only furnishes for us the things which we are unable to furnish for ourselves.

Subject of the evening sermon: "Life and Light", taken from the first chapter and fourth verse of St. John. This message of Life and Light said the Rev. Hodge, was brought by John the Apostle. He came to testify of the Light, that everyman might come to believe in it. It was through God that everything began and that which began in him was life itself. Through the light he gave to all the right to become children of God. The Rev. Hodge further stated that those who follow God will never have to walk in darkness. Amount raised Sunday $67.75.

The Lucky Strike Club met at the home of Mrs. Thelma Whaley, 534 N. 5th avenue. With Mr. and Mrs. George Jenkins, as host and hostess. Ten members were present. Four new members were admitted into the club. They were Misses Mildred Singleton, Miss Margarite Green, formerly of Navasota, Texas. Mr. Willie Blaylord, of Ludbuck, Texas and Mr. Artie Phelps of Sweetwater, Tex.

Miss Vera King and Mr. Willie Blaylord, will be host and hostess, next Thursday night, Feb. 3rd. One visitor was present, Mr. Henry Smith. Mrs. Young is the reporter of this club.

Smell Set-up In Cooper Casaba Farce

Million Dollar Win 'Smells'; Garland Stars for Bojangles

TO PLAY EACH OTHER SUNDAY

By ALMENA DAVIS

If Mr. Ralph Cooper and his Million Dollar Productions Inc. expect to hold John Q. Central Avenue's confidence and support, they've got to produce something a lot less "stinky" than the basketball game staged last Sunday night at the Elks' auditorium.

Not withstanding all the fan fare of movie stars, a swing band, cameramen and resplendent yaller and black suits, last Sunday night's game was a complete flop—the reason, it smelled ludicrously like a set-up.

Ludicrously, because the Million Dollar team, seeing what was placed before them, did their best to give the customers something for their money, and put on a good show—that is if you want slap-stick comedy when you pay to see a basketball game.

SECOND OF SERIES

Before a fairly good house the Million Dollar Productions slated the second of its entertainment innovations, basketball-dances, white, from Hollywood.

playing the Western Costumers,

The game ended in a shambles, score 48-33.

Cooper's team is one of the best in the country. The players, veterans and about as simon-pure as a burlesque. The team played was of pint-sized youngsters, and this was their second game.

These youngsters say the Million Dollar people knew how inept they were when they made the engagement—and that's why I'm so maudlin. Cooper says they didn't know.

TO PLAY ALL-STARS

Originally the Million Dollar quintet was to play Robinson's All-Stars, a team that could have matched them, trick for trick; but that was called off and to save the gate, THIS was shoved in.

Cooper's boys, as I have said, are vets. They can do anything imaginable with a basketball.

Their tactics are simple, razzle-dazzle with dexterous passes, shooting just enough to stay in the lead—which was enough to bring the Caucasian blood to the boiling point, and bring a wry grin to the faces of lovers of sportsmanship.

Center of the razzle dazzle play is "Father" Miles, pot-bellied runt from Chicago's all-Negro Wendell Phillips High School back in 1930. "Father" Miles, called that because he looks so old, is like Henry Armstrong, inch for inch, one of the greatest player on the hardwood courts.

FAN DANGLERY

He'd take the center position in last Sunday's fiasco, and the ball would be snapped, flipped, handed and pushed from player to player until a lucky miss, or until the fans got too bodacious and demanded a basket.

In addition there are Bert King, elongated and agile, former all-state center in 1930 from Chicago's Englewood High School; George Eastern, also from Phillips, Lank Price and Sug Morrison. Lank is a dead shot, a most rambunctious guard and the dirtiest player I've seen in many years. These five were earlier in this season, the Globe Trotters and are augmented by Cooper, no slouch at basketball (if he doesn't have to remain in too long), Chas. Cook, and Bauman.

The week before, the Million Dollar Five played the Burbank All-Stars in a thriller that ended 41-33. That was a game, in anticipation of which, the fans came out last Sunday.

BOJANGLES

However, Cooper, with proper apologies, announces that he will have Bill Robinson's Bojangles for opposition next Sunday, and if he does, he'll be forgiven, for there will be a game.

The Million Dollar Productions are to be congratulated for the novelty of their game-dances.

For an evening of riotous good time, with gay convivial people, and the swing of Dootsie Williams' band during intermission and after the game for dancing, they can't be beat.

A crowd that made up for its size by enthusiasm, saw Bill Robinson's Bojangles win a game for a change last Saturday night at Patriotic Hall.

Playing the Pacific Coast club from Long Beach, Robinson's group, ill-fated for the past four or five games, downed their opponents 57 to 46.

Despite the score, it was no walkaway. The P. C. C. team put up a good fight and spurred the Bojangles on to the dizziest game they've played yet.

HALLY ON

Maybe the addition of rotund Hally Harding to the team's roster accounted for the new spirit the fellows had . . . Hally's presence certainly didn't account for any of the score. At any rate, the boys had come out of the decorum of their past and played a "woofing", heckling game that kept the grandstands in stitches.

A newcomer and a playing substitute at that, was responsible for the largest tally. He is Francis Garland, long legged All-City forward from Jefferson High School. Playing only at intervals, Garland hung up thirteen points. Next in line were Spot Thornton and Wilbur Ashford with eight points each.

Playing in the AAU circuit the Bojangles have been unfortunate enough to draw the cream of the crop in their first games, having been defeated twice by the M. G. M. team, composed of former Olympic champions.

Line-up: King, C, 5; Thornton, F, 8; Ashford, G, 8; Chism, F, 6; V. Harding, G 2; Substitutes: Kilgoren Garland, Harding (Hally), Courtney.

Bray to Meet Lenglet Tuesday

"Big Boy" Bray gains the top spot at the Olympic next Tuesday night. Joe Waterman, Suey Welch, Harry Popkin and Co. announced this week that he will meet Andre Lenglet, heavyweight champion of France in the ten-round main event.

HENRY ARMSTRONG ADDS WRIGHT TO K. O. VICTIMS IN THIRD

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

They hung out the SRO sign at the Olympic Tuesday night!

Over 11,000 pushed and jammed their way into the Grand Avenue Fistic Emporium to see Henry Armstrong in his first local appearance since he won the world's featherweight title in New York's Madison Square Garden some months ago.

They wanted to see him in action against any one, but this particular occasion it was one of the ranking featherweights on the coast, "Chalky" Wright, who, at one time, WAS (note caps) an instructor of "Hustlin' Hank". And when Chalky entered the ring for his big moment he received a rousing ovation. He seemed unmoved by the applause, apparently sensing, as everyone else did, the package of dynamite sitting in the opposite corner known as the Chocolate Dropper.

It was a great night. The setting was perfect. They had said anything might happen. And as Chalky is no slouch when it comes to throwing leather himself, the crowd expected anything to happen. Something happened all right! It struck suddenly, decisively, and left no doubt of its effectiveness, either in the minds of the crowd or Chalky.

It lasted almost three rounds. Wright took care of himself very well for 30 seconds of each one of these cantos. And then, a barrage of rights and lefts to the head and body in the Armstrong manner would send him to the ropes. He tried to cover up, did Chalky. All of Henry's opponents try to cover up. But it always proves a mistake. Blows rained on the head and body sap away the strength and when Chalky did straighten up a hard right hook to the head spun him half around and he fell to the canvas in the second round on his head and shoulders but was up without a count. He weathered the round and came out for the third.

Wright, still trying to meet this hurricane with strength and power, had to return to his customary position on the ropes. A hard blow sent him to one knee he was up, but shaky. He was chased all along the ropes and then it happened! Hard rights and lefts sent him down with a thud and the crowd knew it was over. As Referee Abe Roth reached the count of ten Wright reeled to his feet, apparently ready to continue but Roth motioned him to his corner, saying it was all over. And it was — for Chalky. He put up a game stand.

It is our opinion that "Hustlin' Hank" will go on to gain two more titles—lightweight and welterweight. We get out on the limb and say that he can whip any man who doesn't outweigh him more than 20 pounds.

HART WINS

Immediately after the main event, Tommy Hart caught up with Ray Vargas often enough to hammer out a six-round decision in a non-exciting bout. Jimmy Brent upset Bobby Yannes in a four-rounder, taking a close decision. Odell Polee, a substitute, punched out a lopsided decision over Jack Riggi. Mike Martinez was too much for Frank Lujan, Golden Gloves lightweight champion, spoiling the latter's pro debut. And in the opener, Jimmy Liddell, son of Dr. E. B. Liddell, fought a thrilling battle, winning over Louis Bobbs in the latter's local debut, having just been added to the Armstrong stable.

It was the first time the Olympic has been sold out for a Tuesday night card in over a year. Fans were lined up four and five in a row for over a block, many being badly jostled because only one door was open for entrance.

DOWN IN FRONT

With the Staff

Here is more about the subject opened up in these columns last week on Negro entrance into the major leagues. The following letters were received by Sam Lacy, Washington Tribune sports writer who interviewed the big-wigs on the matter and the results of which interview we published last week.

Y'r Honor, I Object!

I suggest Saint Elizabeth's Hospital for any man, woman or child who goes out to a ball game, sees a player lying on the grass, another pouting at his manager and comes away convinced that neither man is a ball player. There aren't a dozen men in the major leagues who have not done both of these things and things much worse.

Arthur Shires, a former Chicago player, slapped his manager on several occasions. Dizzy Dean has pouted at his boss so much that Frisch has become right used to it. Babe Ruth never took orders from Joe McCarthy, and any number of players remain out on the sidelines.

I think I recall seeing the "game" of which Edward Parnell speaks. It was nothing more than a "scrub" game which nobody paid much attention to in the first place. There were only two worthwhile players on either team, and they gave a fine performance. They would no doubt do better in a league in which players get the proper food and rest that is necessary to good ball-playing.

"Mule" Suttles is one of the finest of living players. With the proper coaching and under strict management, he would be an asset to either of the major leagues.

In conclusion, I wish to say that there is nothing better than a good argument. But when some stuffed shirt begins to "view with alarm," then is the time to quit. I'm through.

JAMES DODSON.

Best Friends Won't Tell 'Em

Upon receipt of your letter I sat down, read and digested the contents of the enclosed controversy.

True, we, the Negro, are not represented in the major leagues, but, as per your letter, there was a time when Negroes had no place in the larger circles of track and field, in college football and basketball, and were hampered on all sides when advances were made among the boxing topnotchers.

Now, Lacy, let's look at this thing fairly and squarely:

There was a time when our boxers were not permitted to enter big-time circles. All right, what type of pugilists were they?

1. Half of them could be bought for a little or nothing.
2. The other half had not the tact nor the personality to sell themselves.

Would not the race have been set back had they been given a chance? As soon as the clean, dependable and gentlemanly type of boxer that characterizes Joe Louis, John Henry Lewis and Henry Armstrong came along, look how they advanced.

Are you convinced that there exists in Eastern baseball circles a man who would do credit to himself and his race both in caliber of play and character? Personally, it would be hard to find a player in the Western League possessing both of these qualities. And I am not proud of the fact; no, not the least bit!

And yet, despite this fact, I feel within myself that 100 per cent cooperation would be given by me personally and through the columns I have charge of if it were possible through these mediums to send a Negro player to the big leagues.

You know yourself that during the past season Negro ball players showed what regard they had for contracts. I need not designate what incidents I refer to. You know.

Suppose such occurrences developed in the big leagues? Terrible!

Throughout the Mid-West it is not only difficult to find sleeping and boarding places for traveling Negro ball clubs in white places, but such has been their conduct that they find difficulty in getting these accommodations in NEGRO places. Fathom that.

ERNEST L. BROWN, JR.

I for one cannot hold the players entirely to blame. Poor pay (when they get paid), poor supervision and very seldom any rules governing their actions are partly the cause.

Sepia Track, Field Aces Boost UCLA'S Chances

Sepia standouts at Westwood are slated to be the usual thing for the next two years, observations of the candidates for the Varsity track team revealed this week.

Paralleling Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode's performances on the gridiron last season will be the feats of several when track season rolls around, this spring, foremost among them being Strode.

Groomed last year for the decathlon and the discus, Strode was kept from competition by a appendectomy, but this year he has boosted hopes of Harry Trotter, Bruin track coach, sky high.

Has 60 Min. Endurance

Possessed of endurance, which fans saw in his consistent sixty minute playing last football season, Strode will be key man on the squad. He will be used in as many events as possible in order to drill him for the decathlon on the 1940 Olympic team.

His main event will be the discus, in which his coach expects him to best the country. (Get the mental picture of Strode's streamlined figure, letting go the platter in ideal Olympian form).

In addition he will broad jump, put the shot, hurdle, his specialty in high school, and take on a sprint or two. His best fling of the discus thus far is 163 feet and his shot putting has hit 52 feet in practice.

Strode's hurdling, however, bids fair to be put in the shade by the performances of another big fellow, Tom Berkeley, one time Fullerton ace. Last year Berkeley did pretty well for U. C. L. A. at 23.3 in the low hurdles. Others are Hal Sinclair, transfer sprinter from LAJC, Tom Bradley, and Bill Lacefield, quartermilers from Polytechnic and Jefferson high school.

Wet Grounds Leaves Soft Ballers in Tie

The teams of Economy Liquor Store, Grant's All-Stars and Glen's 5 and 10, softball teams remained tied in the Municipal Softball League race, due to wet grounds last Sunday morning.

Economy Liquor and Grant's All-Stars were put through a five or six inning practice scrimage by their respective managers.

Buddy Richardson and Lionel Alexander (the pitching postman) of Economy Liquor, took a few kinks from their pitching arms, while Geo. Taylor, 'Lefty' Simpson and Earl Batty of the Stars loosened up a bit preparing for coming games.

Tangle Sunday

Sunday morning at Harvard Playground the Economy Team will tangle with the strong "Diamond Club" with Joe Donchess on the mond.

Donchess is rated as about the best pitcher in California softball, so the Liquor boys will have their hands full in winning.

Manager Joe Hines will start either Buddy Richardson or Lionel Alexander, with Jimmy Norman former Lincoln hi sprinter in reserve. The game is rated as the feature game of the league, as it is a struggle for league leadership.

For up-to-the-minute sports news turn to the second section.

All-Stars Set for Softball Tilt at Slauson Sunday

In preparation for a municipal softball league tilt with Hamlin Motors next Sunday at Slauson playground, Grant's All-Stars went through a nine inning practice game with the Economy Liquor team last Sunday at Ross Snyder.

The practice session gave the All-Stars an opportunity to give their pitching staff a much needed workout. Although Earl Batti, rated one of the best colored softball hurlers on the coast for the past 14 years, has proved to be in excellent condition George Taylor and Theodore Simpson, who complete the All-Stars active pitching staff, have suffered from lack of sufficient workouts and in past games have had to be replaced by the afore-mentioned Mr. Batti.

A recent release of the Municipal softball league standings revealed that Grant's All-Stars and Economy Liquor, the only Negro teams in the league, are tied for first place with one loss each.

Spencer Out for Bear Track Team

Making for one of the strongest spots on the California at Berkeley track team is Leonard Spencer, former Los Angeles Junior college half miler, whom Coach Brutus Hamilton signed up for his second term of track at the Northern University.

Spencer, who was a consistent winner at Jaysee, and who at one time had the state junior college record, was clocked in practice at better than 1:55.

Los Angeles will have a glimpse of the local boy on April 2, when Berkeley meets UCLA here.

EX-PRIZE FIGHTER ATTACKS WOMAN

Speeding Driver Loses Life

by c. a. b.

IN THE past few years, whenever there has been some great crime or vice flare-up, the Central Avenue district, out of all the sixty miles of Los Angeles bound in the clutches of prostitution and gambling, is picked out to be held up to scorn by the various investigating "committees" and certain metropolitan papers.

The California Eagle is ever-willing to join the march of a sincere effort to make Los Angeles, from Central avenue to Hollywood boulevard, free from vice; however, we do object to the Negro section being made the goat in each so-called clean-up.

As far back as the history of black man and woman goes in these United States, some two hundred and fifty years, they have been noted for their high moral standards. Even in the popular novel, "Gone With the Wind", written by an Alabaman, the black character, "Mammy", is shown to be constantly guiding the moral tendencies of her white mistress on to high planes which the white woman, in her looseness and lack of character, could not even visualize.

Throughout the literature of America, black people have been shown to tend always to the moral and religious. Only, however, when forced by the adversities of circumstance have they stooped to that which in white civilization is the "oldest profession on earth". Not until denied the inalienable right of all Americans, guaranteed in the Constitution—the right of making a fair and decent livelihood—have black people of this nation been found in the cesspools of vice and corruption.

I have before me the case of a young woman, a creative cook such as Oscar of the Waldorf, who, because of her black skin, is offered one-third that which a white culinary artist of the same ability would receive. This is but one case of thousands upon thousands.

If, then, the Daily News and a certain radical sheet which have piously and exclusively tossed verbal bric-a-brac at the Central Avenue district in this vice "clean-up" would agitate more for granting Negroes equal rights and opportunities to make a decent living, perhaps their editorial comment would lash out more frequently at the other, better protected, sections of our fair city where the root of prostitution is really sunk the deepest.

DEMOCRATS HAVE been subtly attempting to throw the blame for the non-passage of the Wagner-Van Nuys Anti-Lynch Bill on the Republicans because of their failure to invoke cloture, which would have stopped the filibuster of the southern Senators.

However, the reason for the Republican failure to burst the filibuster through this medium was that the party, itself a minority group, has every reason to believe that filibuster may be their own most effective weapon against coming New Deal legislation. It is evident that if the Republicans set the cloture precedent now, it would be invoked against THEM on any issue they might contest for the remainder of the session. With the Republicans thus at their mercy, Democrats have cleverly conceived of killing the Anti-Lynch Bill and shifting the blame to the opposite party.

Black America, however, is not fooled. We know that a word from President Roosevelt would have assured Anti-Lynch passage.

YOUNG SAM LANGFORD, WOMAN TELL VERSIONS OF ATTACK TO POLICE

Ex-Fighter Denies Attack; Held on $25,000 Bail

Arrested Wednesday on complaint of Mrs. Daisy White, 1226 Compton, Willie Tucker, alias Young Sam Langford, an ex-prize fighter, is held in jail on $25,000 bail on a charge of suspicion of rape and assault with a deadly weapon. Mrs. White said she was attacked Sunday night.

Questioned by Detectives Clark and McGruder, of Newton street station, the woman gave the following statement of her attack:

I was going home and I had just crossed dow nabout Naomi I heard a man whistling. I looked around and walked real fast. I screamed. I fell down on account of having a weak ankle and this man came up to me. He had a knife in his hand and he said 'shut up, what are you trying to do to me?' I was screaming.

He had this knife and grabbed me by my right arm, demanded me to go with him and he pointed the knife on my neck at the same time. He said if I made another sound he'd kill me. Then he took me up to near Birch Street near the pool hall and in between the pool hall and the house is where he attacked me.

After that he caught me by the arm and said, I am going to take you to my house. I was frightened and said 'wait a minute, we will go out and buy some drinks and then we will go.' We walked up to the liquor house, 12th and Central avenue and I went in. He wanted me to go across the street instead but still he came into the store where I was. I jumped across the counter, told the clerk in there this man had just raped me and asked him to call the police. This man ran out.

Langford denied the woman's charges.

"I met the lady about 1:30 at night", he told police.

From 12th and Central. We walked down to Hemlock and she asked me would you buy some beer and I says 'yes, I'll buy you some beer'. A big tall guy came across the street and she started to holler and scream and she ran in a whsikey store on the corner of 12th and Central.

She ran in there yelling and I went there behind her and this man stood at the door and asked what is the matter and I said I don't know. She gets behind the counter and says 'I have been raped. I have been raped, he put a knife on my throat.'

She didn't say who raped her, she kept saying she got raped and I told the boy who was in the store 'I want you to call the cops.' I'll call the cops and the other guy say, 'iff you call the cops while you are drunk you will get put in jail with her and I said, you call the cops.

My name is Young Sam Langford and every police in town will know me.

Langford was easily apprehended by Newton police at 22nd and Central avenue, yesterday.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass
Editor-Publisher, The California Eagle
Los Angeles, California

My dear Mrs. Bass:

I have just read my edition of the EAGLE, revealing the startling information that a campaign is now being waged by certain unholy forces to cast aspersions on your good name, and to attempt the breakdwn the established reputation of confidence and veracity that you have built up over a long period of honest, faithful and useful service to the public.

Having known you for nearly thirty years, and knowing, too, that, like Caesar's wife, you have always been above reproach, my silence, now, would be criminal if I did not lift my voice in protest against these sinister elements who find it easier to criticize than to create.

I quite agree with you, that jealousy, the deadliest of all hates, has prompted this unfounded and ungrounded movement against you. Any strong character develops enemies; but some enemies, like some reptiles, are more deadly than others.

To your own self and to your own individuality you have always been true, and it therefore must follow, as the night the day, you COULD not have been false to any man, or to have drawn a card from any man's crooked deck. Our character may be our own, but our reputation belongs to any busy-body who enjoys gossiping more than telling the truth. An old adage and a true one. Your first care, as I have known you, has always been to avoid the reproaches of your own heart, and knowing you were RIGHT, have always forged ahead, regardless of any unrighteous opposition.

I have always thought the mothers of Roman emperors must have had your bearing, imperious, executive, unbending, and long after a shaft has been erected to your memory in the city of monuments, men who never heard of you will be moving to the measure of your thoughts.

Therefore, my friend, I am proud to find in you that dominant, fighting nature, left you, as a glorious heritage, by your late, lovable and lamented husband, "good old J. B." He, too, was a fighter. One who asked no quarter and gave none. Hence, I have no fear of you failing to get through, and in the final analysis, will emerge simon pure, leaving your accusers caught in the web of their own weaving.

Keep your courage. If you can't break a man's spirit, you can't break the man.

Yours whenever needed,

Sen. Wagner Demands Vote On Anti-Lynching Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 10—A demand for a vote on the anti-lynching bill was made Thursday by Senator Robert F. Wagner, co-sponsor of the Gavagan-Wagner-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill, in a speech in which he vigorously defended the constitutionality of the measure and cited the duty of the federal government under the 14th amendment to the Constitution "to protect citizens in their right to due process of law.

Senator Wagner's speech was the first formal one on the bill itself and the second that has been delivered for it since the filibuster began January 6. Senator M. M. Neely, of West Virginia, spoke 30 minutes for the bill on January 27.

Senator Wagner emphasized the provisions of the 14th amendment that "no state shall . . . deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process

Second Big $ Day Planned for Central

Central avenue will have the second annual Dollar Day February 24, 25, and 26.

That announcement was made this week following a meeting of Eastside merchants. Encouraged by the success of last year's sale, the business men expressed confidence that this one will far exceed that held last April 3.

Goods will be offered at cut prices for three days instead of one. The introduction of Spring goods is expected to inspire the biggest spending spree Central Avenue has had since Christmas.

Originated by Eagle

The Dollar Day was originated by John R. Williams, newspaperman, then a member of the California Eagle staff. It was sponsored by the Eagle and managed by a committee composed of R. D. Morris, manager Woolworth's Central avenue store; H. Jacobs of Lady Betty shop; and L. Bluestein, Western Dry Goods co.

The California Eagle will especially feature the wares of Eastside merchants each week until the sale.

Merchants interested in displaying their goods in the California Eagle, the circulation of which guarantees complete coverage on the Eastside and in all other Negro sections of the city, may cal lthe office ADams 9362, for a solicitor. Said Lawson in a brief address: "During the week of February 6, there will be brought to your attention the story of one of the most thrilling and inspiring race developmens in the history of the world. It is known as "Negro History Week" and it is altogether fitting that one week in the year should be dedicated to the study of the growth and development of this important part of America's population, so that our youth will gain confidence, self-reliance and courage."

He related the story of the foundation of the Association for the study of Negro Life and History by Dr. Carter G. Woodson.

NAACP BRANCH TO MEET SUNDAY

The local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will hold its regular meeting Sunday, February 13, at the Hamilton M. E. church, 18th and Naomi avenue.

The public is invited to be present and take active part in the program.

No Decision On Carline Hearing

As the Eagle went to press last night, the L. A. Raliway Company reported that no decision had been handed down by the State Rail Board Commission regarding the hearing held last Friday on the service of the "G" Carline with representatives of the Company and Eastside citizens.

The hearing grew out of protest registered against an alleged report that the Company considered abandoning service on the line from 12th and Stanford Ave. Such an action would affect citizens of the Eastside attending three major churches as well as the YMCA. Rev. T. L. Griffith, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, was among the representatives.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

This thing called character! A very elusive and deceiving fellow, but an important requirement if all of the virtues we claim as a race are to mean anything—the keeping of one's word, loyalty to friends, good habits and above all, a champion for our constitutional rights, especially the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments. It is difficult for me to understand how an intelligent citizen who has lived among a group of real honest to goodness people for a number of years can, for a few slices of bread, find time and energy to make another Negro unhappy. I say character, because I am a strong believer that character will assert itself and find the best in any man or woman. I have learned that on our celebrated way, called Central avenue, we have thrown character to the winds and our better citizens are being called to court to answer questions that are humiliating and contrary to their established characters. All of which, I am told, has been brought about by a few without character trying to blacken those with great character. It is a very simple subject with an easy moral. The person with a foul mind can't last long! I feel at this writing that our local organization that has for its purpose the advancement of colored people, should be most concerned. Our Urban League, our any kind of group of good characters should come to the aid of our fellow citizens who are being dragged into the mud by petty food hunters. Are there so many skeletons in our closets that we can't speak or act? Or is it just a lack of interest in our brothers and sister under the skin. Leaders, you we have elected to office, wake up! Let's protect character above our other earthly possessions. "Uncle Tom", as you call it, rides again! What price character? (Copyright by Clarence Muse - 1938)

CLARENCE MUSE

GOP Leader for Cloture Most of Time

Sen. McNary Refused to Vote for Cloture on Anti-Lynching Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10.—A search of the records of votes which have been taken on the drastic cloture rule in the Senate, which is the only method by which a filibuster can be shut off, reveals that Senator Chas. L. McNary, leader of the Republicans, voted for cloture in 9 out of the 11 times it has been attempted.

Not only did Senator McNary vote for cloture on 9 occasions, but on 5 occasions he signed a petition asking for cloture.

Senator McNary, however voted against cloture on January 27 on the antilynching bill and took the entire Republican bloc with him with the exception of Senator Capper of Kansas. In a speech explaining his vote Senator McNary said: "Mr. President, I am not willing to give up the right of free speech and argument."

His record dug up by the N. A. A. C. P., shows that he voted for cloture on the Peace Treaty, Nov. 15, 1919; for the Tariff Bill, Feb. 2, 1921; for the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Bill, July 7, 1922; for the World Court, Jan. 25, 1926; for the Migratory Bird Refuge Bill, May 28, 1926; for the Banking Bill, Feb. 15, 1927; for the Colorado River Basin Bill, and the Disabled War Officers Retirement Bill, Feb. 26, 1927; and for the Bureau of Customs and Prohibition, Feb. 28, 1927.

In view of this record the N. A. A. C. P., through Walter White, secretary, has written Senator McNary a letter citing his record on cloture and stating: "We have been perplexed to reconcile this record with your opposition to cloture on the anti-lynching bill debate."

"Friends of the anti-lynching bill, although bitterly disappointed at the actoion of the Republicans under Senator McNary, were inclined to accept as sincere the G. O. P. excuse that it wanted to protect the right to unlimited debate. But the record of Senator McNary has changed the picture and the plain indication of it is that Senator McNary has no great principle at stake in opposing cloture and, indeed, is willing to ask for and vote for cloture on a variety of measures; but is not willing to vote for cloture on an anti-lynching bill to secure the human citizenship rights of Negro Americans." White continued.

Register and License Bicycles to Assure Boys and Girls Protection

Assuring boys and girls of protection for their bicycles, Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz this week began enforcement of a new county ordinance requiring registration and licensing of "bikes". The twelve sheriff's substations throughout the county were furnished with blanks for registration of bicycles, and arrangements were made for licensing of the vehicles.

With a license fee of only 25 cents, each bicycle will be registered and tagged by deputy sheriffs, insuring against theft and resale, Sheriff Biscailuz explained. The cost of the license and tag, he said, does not cover the expense of protecting the childrens' bicycles. He explained that during 1934, 4000 bicycles were stolen in Los Angeles city alone, and that after registration the thefts dropped to 1300 in 1937.

Bicycle owners were asked to communicate with the Sheriff's Juvenile Detail, Hall of Justice, MUtual 9111, for further information.

Planter's Attempt to Sell Laborers is Told at Trial

CLARKSDALE, Miss, Feb. 10. (CNA)—The trial of J. S. Decker, white cotton planter charged with peonage, opened this week in Federal District Court here. Prosecution witnesses accused him of having chained Negroes and forced them to hoe cotton at gun point.

The government called five witnesses, James W. Wiggins, share cropper, Ethel Lee Davis, two white officers and Joe Hyde, a white planter to present its case against the Tallahatchie County farmer.

Wiggins testified that he was paid $12 a month to make a crop on Decker's 200 acre plantation. When he received his money on July 3, 1937, he said, he and the Davis woman fled to the home of a relative. Decker traced them, he testified, forced them to return at the point of a gun and chained them to a tree.

Later, Wiggins testified, Decker took them to Hyde's farm and attempted to "sell" them for $175 which he claimed they owed him. In his testimony, Hyde supported Wiggins' assertion.

Sheriff Henry Dogan testified that he went to Decker's farm and found the Davis woman chained to a bed. She told him, he said, that Decker had chained her five nights, had beaten her and that Decker's wife had forced her at gunpoint to hoe cotton.

U. S. Deputy Marshall C. W. Whitehead, who arrested Decker, testified that the planted had admitted having chained the couple and attempted to "sell them for the $175 they owed me."

APPRECIATION

Hughes Sees Spanish Loyalist Win

NEW YORK. (CNA)—Returning to this country this week after a stay of six months in Spain, Langston Hughes, internationally famous poet, expressed the conviction that the Spanish Loyalists will ultimately defeat the Fascists.

In an interview, Hughes told of the courage of the American Negro fighters in Spain.

"Several Negro Americans were decorated for bravery, among whom were Ralph Thornton and Otto Reeves."

Hughes deplored the suffering behind the lines and urged agencies interested in child welfare to make contributions for food and medical supplies for the refugees and orphans. He told of the immense sacrifices made by the Spanish people.

"Madrid is a city of living poetry--living heroism without false heroics," he said. "The people of Madrid don't complain of cold, lack of fuel or food. No nervous excitement there. They carry on their daily activities beneath the thunder of shells.

GOP Big-wigs of '14th' Hold Meeting

Republican big-wigs of the 14th Congressional district, met Thursday last at the apartments of Howard Crandall, former district chairman, to plan extensive organization for the coming political fracas.

At the meeting were outlined plans for the rehabilitation of the Republican machine in the 14th district and stands taken on issues coming up at the state convention to be held Saturday in Riverside. At this state-wide confab it is believed National Republican Chairman Hamilton will be present. The California Republican convention takes on added significance when it is remembered that this state is the only one in the Union which has remained under the guiding hand of a Republican governor.

It was opined that George Newhall, former Ventura mayor, is chief candidate for the state presidency.

Present were Dan Patrick, chairman of the 44th district; Richard L. Newton, chairman, and Burton T. Ellis of the 64th district; Joseph I. King, chairman of the 55th; and Van de Hogan and George Morrison, also of that district; William D. Campbell, popular former Congressional candidate; and Howard Crandall, along with representatives of the local 62nd district.

Liberty Loan Gets Federal Backing

LIBERTY BUILDING AND LOAN QUALIFIES FOR FEDERAL INSURANCE

Many Opening Accounts As Step Assures Protection

bank holiday declared by President Roosevelt in 1933. Since that time, however, it has remained continously open, operating judiciously within the limits set by state and Federal regulations. With the issuance of the desired insurance to the Liberty, the retrenchment period auomatically ends, and guarantees to investors in this the only financial institution of its kind west of the Rockies the greatest possible safey for their money.

Best Protection Assured

"Insurance with the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation removes the last shadow of doubt as to the safety of funds invested with the Liberty Building-Loan Association," said President Blodgett. "No greater safety than this could be asked by the most skeptical ndividual."

Besides this important connection, the Liberty is a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank and is also approved to make loans under the Federal Housing Act.

Remains Complete Race Institution

Beginning in 1924 as the largest financial venture of its kind in the entire west promoted by Negroes and backed by leading local citizens, the Liberty has continued until today to be owned, operated, and controlled wholly by members of the Race.

When the crisis was reached some time after the beginning of the retrenchment period, which threatened complete loss of the original capial stock, the president, Mr. Blodgett, never lost courage. Instead, he told his associates that he was determine to save the Liberty for the Race at any cost.

Wins Long Sruggle

Threatened with the possibility of the doors of the Association being permanently closed because of frozen assets, the president held conference after conference with state authorities in an unyielding fight to continue operations and save the deposits of more than 800 colored men and women who had shown their confidence in the integrity and honesty of the members of their own race by investing their money in the company.

During all this time, the doors of the Association remained open and business went on. In the end, President Blodgett and a small group of fearless, race-conscious men were victorious.

Federal Insurance Final Step

"Having been successful in saving the Liberty, of which all of us are proud," said the institution's head, "we were determined to give the greatest protection possible to old and new investors. We, therefore, bent our efforts towards qualifying for this insurance, and were rewarded by receiving a telegram from insurance headquarters in Washington early last week notifying us that the application of the Liberty Building-Loan Association for Federal insurance of its accounts had been accepted."

Pays 4% Interest

Throughout the depression, the Association has never paid less than 4 per cent on its investment certificates, which is one of the attractive feaures of its investment program.

The purpose of the Liberty has always been to encourage thrift and cooperative saving among colored people. In addition, it aids them in purchasing or building new homes and in re-financing loans in Negro districts. In general, the purpose of the Liberty is to make the Negro more economically independent.

Loans Over $50,000 in 1937

During 1937 the Association made loans totaling more than $50,000, and holds first mortgages to the amount of over $200,000. The goal for 1938 is $500,000. The program includes having every Negro in the community open an account with the Liberty, whether that account be large or small; making it much easier to secure loan on Negro homes; and aiding Negroes in obtaining benefits under the National Housing Act.

Many Opening Accounts

Following the announcement that the Liberty had qualified for Federal insurance, many have already opened accounts with the Association, being assured that their money is as safe in the Liberty Building-Loan Association as in any other financial institution in the country.

"Having saved the institution for our people after arming for your years for this insurance, it is up to them to develop and build it up as a monument to racial achievement," the president observed. "We are confident they will respond with enthusiasm."

Other officers include: Dr. George D. Taylor, vice-president; W. C. Blodgett, secretary; M. G. Blackwell, J. L. Taylor, Samuel Flory, directors.

Golden Gate Chairman Visits L. A.

W. R. WINGFIELD

W. R. Wingfield of Berkeley, spent the week-end in the city on business and for a consultation with Paul R. Williams, the noted architect, on behalf of the Colored Citizens Committee of the Golden Gate International Exposition. Also while here, he completed arrangements for the entertainment of the Pacific States Association 1938 session to be held in the City of Oakland the last week in June.

Mr. Wingfield is the general chairman of the Colored Citizens Committee of the Exposition and is also cooperating with Golden West lodge of Elks in helping them secure the 1939 session of the National Grand Lodge of Elks in Los Angeles, by getting the Exposition authorities to finance transportation of some of the crack bands of the organization in the East to the coast at that time.

Mr. Williams has pledged his support to Mr. Wingfield and is going to form a sub-committee to cooperate with Mr. Wingfield in his efforts for the Exposition. Mrs. Charlotta Bass also will be connected with this committee.

There is an elaborate program being prepared which will cost in excess of $50,000, and the first Saturday in September, 1939 will be designated as Negro Day at the fair; the entire day will be given over to them. The program will be broadcast from coast to coast at that time, and Mr. Wingfield is asking the moral support of every Negro in the country in helping to put this provram over as this is the first time in the history that such an oportunity has been afforded the Negro.

Senate Refuses to Lay Aside Anti-Lynch Bill

WASHINGTON, February 10—The Senate refused Friday afternoon by a vote of 52 to 34 to lay aside the Gavagan-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill and take up other business.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia made a motion that the Senate take up the House Independent Offices Appropriation bill. A majority vote in favor of this motion would have put the anti-lynching bill on the shelf.

The southern filibuster bloc struck swiftly following the speech of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, hoping to stampede the Senate into shelving the bill.

The 52 votes against laying the bill aside did not include six known friends of the bill who were absent from the floor and who would have voted with the 52. Also among those who voted to lay the bill aside are four or five Senators who were friends of the bill and will vote for it when it is brought up. Therefore, observers declare that the greatest possible opposition to the bill is about 30 votes, with the votes for the bill running between 59 and 64—a two-to-one margin.

ROSTER

Those who voted "No" on laying the bill aside were: Adams, Ashurst, Barkley, Bone of Michigan, Brown (N. H.) Bulkley, Bulow, Capper, Chavez, Clark, Copeland, Davis, Donahey, Gerry, Gibson, Gillette, Guffey, Holt, Hughes, Johnson, (Cal.) Johnson (COl), LaFollette, Lee, Lewis, Lodge, Lonergan, Lundeen, McAdoo, McGill, McNary, Maloney Milton (N. J.), Minton, Murray, Neely, Nye, Radcliffe, Schwartz, Schwellenbach, Smathers, Thomas (Okla.), Thomas (Utah), Townsend, Truman, Tydings, Vandenberg, Van Nuys, Wagner, Walsh.

Those who voted "Yes" for laying the bill aside were:

Andrews, Bailey, Bankhead, Berry, Bilbo, Borah, Byrd, Byrnes, Caraway, Connally, Ellender, Frazier, George, Glass, Hale, Harrison, Hayden, Herring, Hill King, McKellar, Miller, Morris, O'Mahoney, Overton, epper, Pittman, Pope, Reynolds, Russell, Sheppard, Smith, Wheeler.

The main speech of today was delivered by Senator Borah who gave his usual argument that the bill is unconstitutional. However he was questioned and interrupted frequently by Senators Bennett Clark of Missouri, and Sherman Minton of Indiana.

Senator Clark was especially alert and engaged in several sharp parlimentary debates with opponents of the bill. It will be remembered that Senator Clark was the chief defender of the constitutionality of the bill during the argument in the spring of 1935.

SIDELIGHTS ON Anti-Lynch Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The presence of a goodly number of colored people in the galleries during the debate on the anti-lynching bill is having a good affect. The southern senators try to pretend they are not aware of the attendance, but it is easy to see that they are keenly conscious of the support for the bill.

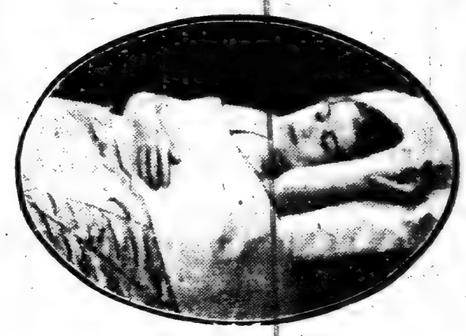
The complete frankness with which newspapers and especially special columnists for the dailies have exposed the behind the scenes plans to ditch the anti-lynching bill is worrying the politicians of both parties. The columnists have brought out the secrets behind the filibuster, have inimated that the White House is totally indifferent have charged that the supporters of the bill are weak and are secretly hoping that the filibuster will win, and have predicted a graceful side-tracking of the bill to fool the Negro voters.

Deliberate Discourtesy

During Senator Wagner's speech, Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina was deliberately discourteous, walking around the Senate chamber, talking loudly to any senators who would listen. Obviously he was trying to distract attention from Wagner's speech. Senator Bankhead of Alabama walked over and stood in front of Senator Wagner as he was speaking and glared into his face. The New Yorker continued in a calm and forceful manner.

Senator Borah, opponent of the bill, was one of the first to shake hands with Senator Wagner and congratulate him on the speech. Others who rushed over were Senators Minton, Logan and Bailey. Barkley, Davis and Borah, Lewis and Clark were among the most attentive listeners to the hour and a half speech. Senator Smathers of New Jersey moved from his usual seat to sit by Senator Wagner to show exactly how he feels about the bill.

Spoke Under Strain



Senator Wagner spoke under great strain because he is still weak from his recent attack of the grippe. After his long speech he was so worn that he had to go to his office and lie down for a few minutes, but after a time he returned to the floor where he conferred earnestly with Senators Barkley, Ashurst and other friends of the bill.

On Wednesday Senator Bilbo of Mississippi made a long, filthy speech against the bill on his favorite subject of rape and the necessity of shipping all Negroes back to Africa. The chamber was empty. When Bilbo was governor of Mississippi years ago, 40 lynchings took place during his term of office. He is author of the statement that no colored man is worth calling out the National Guard for. After the lynching of four Negroes, including two women, at Shubuta, Mississippi, some years ago, Governor Bilbo was asked what he would do about it and he replied: "Not a damn thing".

Balanced Budget in 1937 Accomplished By Tuskegee

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., Feb. 10.—A balanced budget, despite the recession and its consequent reduction in public gifts, was the accomplishment of Tuskegee Institute during the last fisical year.

In his annual report to the board of trustees, just made public, President F. D. Patterson states that this was accomplished by "economical operation" and "extensive productive efforts to supply our own needs".

"Don't buy it, make it" was the slogan adopted by department heads to meet the necessities of decreased income. "For the first time in twenty years," the report says, "the Institute farm grew enough feed to supply the horses and mules on the farm." The farm also supplied 36,000 pounds of beef, pork and mutton for the Institute boarding department.

Service and production groups of the 600 students enrolled for trade training did 762 jobs including structural repairs and maintenance of buildings and plumbing work on rural works on rural schools in several adjoining counties.

PROVIDED STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

Such economics not only reduced operative costs, they also provided "much needed sudden employment" which offered them valuable practical experience and, according to Dr. Patterson, "lives up to the highest traditions of Tuskegee Institute." Losses sustained in the necessary curtailment of some activities were thus partially offset by the sterner application of Tuskegee's character building principle of "making ends meet with what you have."

Special emphasis was placed upon the newly organized course in Commercial Dietetics which trains chefs, bakers and other workers for hotels, restaurants and institutions. A recent grant of $20,000 for "instruction material and equipment for this course "has been the means of greatly strengthening the program."

1744 STUDENTS

During this fiscal year which ended May 31, 1937, 1744 students were enrolled. This was an increase of 246 over the previous year. More than 7,000 visitors from 28 states and 19 foreign countries came during the year to inspect various activities at the Institution. in the

Through extensive travels in the South and other sections of the country and through association with various state and national groups including President Roosevelt's Commission on Farm Tenancy, President Patterson observes "trends in regional and national development" which promise increased opportunities for the Negro. Tuskegee's largest service he says is to combine vocational and technical training with the broader practical application.

With such training Dr. Patterson is confident that Tuskegee graduates will be prepared for these opportunities and those "who fail to find jobs will not be entirely helpless in their efforts to make them."

6000 Italians Slain By Ethiopians

LONDON, Feb. 10. (CNA)—More than 6,000 Italians and Askaris have been killed in fighting in Ethiopia during the past two months, the Ethiopian Legation announced in a statement this week.

The Legation, which represents Haille Selassie, declared that Ethiopian resistance to Italian forces was continuing with renewed vigor.

It detailed Italian dead as eleven senior officers, five junior officers and 5,993 men. One senior officer was made prisoner, according to the statement, and eighty-three wounded were picked up. It further declared that three battalions of Eritreans and "a number of Italians had deserted to the Ethiopians, in the northern regions."

"Italian staff officers are in despair", the statement adds, and there is general discontent among those compelled to remain in Ethiopia."

Massacre of Officers

The Legation also told of a massacre of eighteen Italian officers at Debra Marks, in Gojjam Province, because of "non-observance of certain conditions" by the fascist invaders.

Efforts in Italian quarters to discount the Legation's statement were fruitless in the face of reports from Jibuti, French Somaliland recently, as well as the news that 4,000 Italian troops left Naples Saturday for Ethiopia.

History of the Negro to Be Heard at Jeff

Truth crushed to earth will rise again in eloquent array when Willis O. Tyler, local attorney, J. C. Banks, and Loren Miller, attorneys, take from the annals of history the achievements of the Negro and present them to citizens of Los Angeles in a Negro History Week Program to be heard Friday evening at the Jefferson High School auditorium.

The program is sponsored by the State Department of Education in cooperation with teachers in the Division of Adult Education.

The unique feature of Friday night's program is the presentation of the three outstanding speakers who will cover three distinct periods of Negro History. Negro achievements before the Emancipation Proclamation will be recounted by Mr. Tyler; Mr. Banks will present Negro achievements from the Emancipation Proclamation to the beginning of the World War; and Mr. Miller will leave no Negro achievement of importance unheralded that has been attained during the last twenty-three years.

Music for the occasion will be in keeping with each period. Mrs. Minnie Albritton will direct a choir of teachers in rendering Negro Folk songs and spirituals. Mr. Archie Hairston, teacher of music, will act as Master of Ceremones, and pointed remarks will be made by W. A. Easter, State Supervisor of Adult Education.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock and the public is cordially invited.

The funeral of Edward Birch, who died at his home, 1238 W. 35th Street, February 2, was held from the church chapel of the Angelus Funeral Home last Monday morning. Rev. H. B. Hawes, pastor of Westminister Presbyterian church directed the obsequies.

The deceased was a native of Titsville, Pennsylvania and had made his home in Los Angeles for the past ten years. For 25 years he has been employed as a dining car waiter.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Hazel Burch, a son, Edward Jr., and other relatives. Interment was in Rosedale cemetery under the direction of the Angelus Funeral Home.

Night School Offers Many Advantages

1. Why should I go to Night School?
2. How much does it cost?
3. How long do classes last?
4. Am I too old to learn?
5. What can I learn?
6. Will I be happier
7. Can I earn any more money?
8. Will I be a better mother, father, citizen?

These and many other questions are asked every day, not only at Lafayette Adult Evening School, East Twelfth and Naomi, but at every night school in the United States.

It would take at least a column to answer some of these questions.

Learning is a life long process. The human brain that doesn't work soon becomes entirely inactive. No one is too old to learn.

It is a human trait to enjoy the companionship of others. In school, each class room is filled with others studying the same subject. You can't be lonesome.

With the exception of churches, the happiest people in the entire community are to be found in the evening classes at school. They are learning, improving, too ambitious to allow themselves to grow stale.

There is no cost. Classes are free.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Typing, Shorthand, Power Machine Sewing, Dressmaking, Beauty Culture, Spanish, Woodship, Art Work, Leather working, Decorating, Citizenship, Cooking, Chef Training, Cake Decorating Piano, Voice Trainng.

These are some of the subjects taught.

Lnroll for the second semester begnning Monday, February 7th, 1938.

A busy person is a happy person. Time spent in night school will be both happy and profitable.

Classes Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

First period, 6:30 to 8:00; Second period, 8:00 to 9:30.

Any one seventeen and over may enroll.

Vehicle Dept. Thumbprints Drivers Despite Lack of Law

Fingerprinting of applicants for drivers' licenses is being carried on by the State Department of Motor Vehicles despite the fact that the plan was rejected by the 1937 Legislature.

They are fingerprinted without first being informed that the procedure is entirely optional, and are given the impression that it is necessary to be fingerprinted to obtain a drivers' license when such is not the case.

These assertions are contained in a statement issued yesterday by the Automobile Club of So. California.

"This is not a question of the merits of universal fingerprinting nor of thumb prints on drivers' licenses," the statement continued. "It is a question of the Department of Motor Vehicles doing indirectly that which the 1937 Legislature refused to authorize.

Killed by Legislature

"A measure requiring all applicants for drivers' licenses to be fingerprinted was killed by the Legislature. It was conclusively established at that time that the proposal had little or no merit from the traffic safety standpoint. Setting up the plan and properly classifying fingerprints, it was shown, would involve great initial expense and a heavy annual charge, all to be borne by the motoring public.

"In the face of the Legislature's disapproval of the plan, the department has adopted a form of license application with a space designated in type, 'Right Thumb Print.' When filling out the form applicants are asked to place their thumb print in the designated space, the implication being that this is regular procedure.

"Applcants are under no legal compulsion to submit to fingerprinting and they should be so informed."

Account Card Holders Must Correct Old-Age Records

Brides of 1937-38 who obtained social security account cards before they were married were requested today by the Social Security Board to send in their new names to prevent confusion in the keeping of their wage accounts for Federal old-age insurance.

A card for this purpose, designated as "Employee's Request for Change in Records" is now available at any one of the Board's 323 field offices located in strategic centers.

This card provides space both for the newly acquired name and that used in applying for an account number. Corrected account number cards will be sent to those who report their change of name.

Kept in Workers Name

The Board explained that since wage accounts are kept in the name the worker gives the employer, individuals who change their legal names should correct their records to insure the accurate recording of their wages. Wage-information reports filed by employers and transmitted to the Social Security Board indicate that many employees have gone to work on new jobs under their new names without notifying the Board of the change. This, it was explained, complicates the keeping of their accounts and might make it difficult to ascertain the full amount of the benefits to which they will ultimately be entitled.

Social security account card holders may use this new application form also to correct misstatements as to age, address, or any other inaccurate declarations that may have been made.

The Board stated that while it would accept without question a new age declaration, the acceptance should not be regarded as final since an employee may be called upon to furnish proof of age on filing a benefit claim.

By making available the new card the Board believes that thousands of persons who have neglected to correct their records will now take advantage of this simplified procedure.

Cars Entering State Average Two a Minute

Entering the state in a steady stream at an average rate of about two cars each minute of the year, motor tourists established new records for California during 1937, according to official figures reaching the Automobile Club of Southern California touring bureau.

Final tallies revealed that 946,434 passenger cars with 2,588,435 pasengers entered the state at the various border stations during 1937.

Increase Over 1936

Southern California played host to a banner number of out-of-state motorists, showing a 10 per cent increase over 1936. An estimated total of 668,174 visitors entered the state through the five Southern California border quarantine stations of the State agricultural department, exceeding the number entering at the remaining 18 stations in northern and eastern California.

June, July and August were the favorite vacation months for eastern and northern visitors while California motorists returned from vacation trips in greatest numbers during July, August, and September.

And Simon's wife's mother was taken with a great fever; and they besought him for her. And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she arose and ministered unto them. Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on everyone of them, and healed them."

The Lesson-Sermon presents also these words from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Like the great Exemplar, the healer should speak to disease as one having authority over it, leaving Soul to master the false evidences of the corporeal senses and to assert its claims claims over mortality and disease."

RAILROAD CLATTER...

By Charles L. Upton

Every Porter A Reporter

It begins to look like a showdown with Adolph Hitler and his gang from what I can understand. Inasmuch as Hitler is now on the outs with his standing army whom he expected to do great things in conquering the world. A civil war is very likely to be the result of this latest purge and if this should ever happen, Nazism will be a thing of the past. It begins to look like the persecution of the Jews and the Negroes is at last near an end.

Few wise men have been learned, and few of the learned wise.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of February: Henry Howard, Isaac Starks and E. C. Campbell, congratulations.

BROTHERHOOD OF SLEEPING CAR PORTERS HAVE BUSY WEEK

One of the largest union meetings in Los Angeles was held last week at the Brotherhood headquarters when the nomination of officers came up before the members. About 7g members were on hand when the gavel was pounded by the president for the opening of the meeting. After the general routine of business was transacted the main event was the nomination of officers. The officers presiding over the meeting were as follows:

Chas. L. pton, pres.; C. L. Dellums, nat's vice-pres.; R. J. Murray, local vicepres., W. B. Holland, sec.-treas. C. L. Dellums, national vice-president, down here for his periodical visit, made a splendid talk on preserving the union and stated that it was useless to change officers who know the setup and were familiar with the general outline of the Brotherhood's national program for someone who is green in the field. From general observation it appears if it had not been for the timely talk of the national vice-president, members of the organizatino who had been filled with adverse propaganda against the present officials would have ousted the incumbents forthwith.

However, Dellums outlined the program the Brotherhood is expecting to pursue during the next year and made a plea to retain the present staff of officers. Chas. L. pton was nominated president by acclamation, R. J. Murray, and H. L. Armstrong will run for vice-president. The executive committee now in office was nominated as an entire unit with the exception of King Johnson and F. D. Brock who will be on the ticket in opposition against present members of the Board now serving. The following members were nominated for delegate: H. L. Armstrong, R. J. Murray and W. B. Holland and Upton. Upton declined the nomination for delegate and thereby left the field to Murray, Holland and Armstrong, and J. W. Richardson who was nominated after the closed nominations had been voted re-opened. Frank Hammond and Oscar Soares were nominated for recording secretary. W. B. Holland was nominated for secretary-treasurer by acclamation. Many of the prospective candidates were disappointed after being advised that they were ineligible because that they had not kept up their dues for two year period outlined by the constitution. According to comments obtained from various members after the meeting was over they were satisfied with the pre set-up and would vote accordingly.

BROTHERHOOD OF SLEEPING CAR PORTERS PLAN TO RETIRE W. B. HOLLAND

W. B. Holland, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles Division was slated to be retired on pension at the General Convention of the Brotherhood which is scheduled to be held at Chicago in September. Holland has been a faithful servant to the Brotherhood for many years and is deserving of every consideration it can give him.

Of special interest among the athletic activities on the Wiley College campus was the appearance of the football players wearing their newly awarded Varsity "W" sweaters which were presented in chapel in an impressive program early during the week. As is customary at Wiley the sweaters are heavy ribbed purple in color with white service stripes. The big "W" is purple with white border.

SOCIETY

In compliment to the Senior and Junior high school graduates a delightful reception was given at Bethel AME church Friday night by the Sunday school of the church, of which Wesley Harris is superintendent.

The senior graduates present on this auspicious occasion were the Misses Opal Young, Elizabeth Pickens, Carolyn King, Florence Chapman, Augustine Millee and Melvin White. With Mr. Albert King as master of ceremonies a musical program of merit was rendered. Mr. Aubrey Hackshaw, district superintendent of the San Diego branch of the Golden State Insurance Co., was the principal speaker. A strong message of courage and perseverance was given to these young people who are just beginning to glimpse the real life. The graduates were presented by Mrs. Alberta Harris very acceptably. Mrs. Octavia Young and Mrs. Bertha Pickens, mother of Miss Opal Young and Miss Elizabeth Pickens, respectively; Mrs. Nadine Redmon, assistant superintendent of the Sunday school and Mrs. Elsie Perry, well known cateress, did themselves proud in the splendid service at this long-to-be remembered event.

Zorrita Meets Peter Jackson

Leon Zorrita, classy welterweight, and Young Peter Jackson, veteran lightweight; and Georgie Crouch and Al George, feature the double 10-round main event at the Olympic next Tuesday night.

Both fights should prove thrillers. Zorrita is seeking a shot at Ceferino Garcia No. 1 challenger of Barney Ross, welterweight titleholder, but must take care of Jackson, Garcia's stablemate, first. Crouch gained a close verdict over George in a ten-round thriller some weeks ago and will seek a more conclusive victory, come Tuesday.

Matchmaker Joe Waterman, in announcing the card, believes he has another sell-out on tap.

Amateur Ball Gains Impetus

Quinn J. Gilmore of Kansas City, Mo., who heads the movement to organize Negro League baseball throughout the country stated this week that he has received hundreds of inquiries from every section of the country for further details concerning this new movement. He said that that he is more than surprised to learn that there are still so many people still ready to give their time and help to see Negro baseball take its rightful place in this great pastime.

For the benefit of the many inquiries, the organizer wishes that all the owners of Negro Semi-Pro clubs in each State, start now to form their State Leagues.

Chatter and . . . Some News

Sometimes life is just getting along somehow . . . making the best of what you have and finding that you have much more than you ever dreamed you owned . . . Then you decide to move and find that you have two truckloads when you swore there weren't more than three pieces of furniture worth moving. That isn't half as bad as overestimating, finding yourself grossly lacking. So much so that you don't even have half a chance . . . That's the way it was with ye scribe betting on Chalky Wright answering the fourth bell and realizing in the first that he didn't have a chance . . . Anyway, you were there or read about it . . . so nuf's enuff in times like these . . . Only, I wanted you to know I was there rooting in both corners . . . before the fight! So were J. D. Crawford, Helen Pleasant, Ted Morgan, Kenny Washington, June Bradley, Bonnie Adams (dark eyes flashing 'neath a colorful scarf), Charlie Martin, and the Henry Holidays. Also Edgar Thompson in a gray fedora parading up and down the aisle looking for a seat . . . his reserved one.

MOVING ON:

To Thursday when that handsome lad, Carl Dent, was deservedly honored by a testimonial dinner sponsored by the Women's Political Study Clubs with dynamic Mrs. Betty Hill, in black velvet dinner gown, as toastmistress . . . Through all the rain an' everything they came . . . the assuming, the unassuming, the greats and the would-bes (always with us). The reason was Carl's admission as interne to the General Hospital. With him was charming sister Thelma, in pink, who aspires to be a nurse . . . and his proud mater, so happy to be there and hear the nice things . . . along with scores of others . . .

The Jones sisters (Edith and Gwendolyn) of Pasadena, Thelma Scott, with an up and adorable coiffure . . . Crispus Wright, law student at USC, who gets the stuff in June . . . and whose eyes I like more than I care to admit . . . tsk. The WPSC theme song has one line that some of the swains didn't relish — "Your girl is my girl, and my girl is your girl"—the first clause is very acceptable . . . the latter, never. Huh? The speeches I liked most . . . Dr. Ruth Temple, whose soul is wrapped in her work . . . and the pathos in her voice. Atty. Loren Miller, who reminded folks that it's high time we took rightful opportunities as a matter of course . . . Atty. Lloyd Griffith, who challenged listeners to think ahead two years . . . Rev. Rodgers, who set the aim for Carl at being a fellow in the Royal Academy, Edinburgh . . . and on into the evening.

TO SUNDAY:

Trekked to Bethel AME on the Westside for food for the spirit to strengthen ye olde flesh and was so inspired to see the great strides . . . the new and young prelate, Rev. Moore, is making . . . he'll probably threaten some other pulpiteer's place in the sun (?) if he keeps it up. Saw there for the first time in many moons, Lieut. and Mrs. Cleveland Morrow, friends who helped to make many a moment pleasant during the days the good understandings (feet, for clarity) beat the pavements for news . . . and history.

Sunday afternoon to be carried on wings of song away from all things mundane and feel the pulse beat of all things divine in one melody, "Dear Little Boy of Mine", interpreted by Dave Sands, whom Independent presented Sunday afternoon . . . Spent Sunday evening getting two hundred pages farther in "Gone With the Wind" and getting mad . . . Sorry I can't say the word here.

South Angelenos . . . an affable bunch of them, took in the mountains Sunday and are heading for Big Pines soon. What I wouldn't give to throw a snowball. The party: Goldie Sims, Clara Phillips, Addie Sims, Venora Howard, Imogene Gibson, Minnie Sims, Edward Daniels, Wakefield Phillips, Theodore Edwards, Jimmie Sims and Danny Frazier.

AT THE DEADLINE:

The prospective "Kats" (Kappas) are distinguished from greater and lesser members of the Greek world by their bright red bows and the red bricks they're getting a "kick" out of toting . . . for the pleasure of saddists. Wesley Chapel at Eighth and San Julian is host to the city Sunday night with Negro Achievement Day . . . fitting climax to a week of historical concentration. Hearing some interesting and arresting views and reviews of "Porgy and Bess", which I'll lamp at the end of the week. Congratulations to the grads—both high school and college—particularly to Georgia Williams, who received her M. A. from USC . . . lucky girl, and a sweet one . . . John Carter of the Tuxedo Social Club is seriously ill at home . . . Dr. A. J. Booker is attending him.

Condolences to the surviving wife and friends of Thaddeus T. Hudson, who quit this realm quietly Sunday after 79 years of making others happy. He is the father of the prominent Dr. H. Claude Hudson.

Scores Honor Carl Dent at WPSC Dinner

Despite the inclement weather, scores of civic, church and social leaders responded to the invitation of the Women's Political Study club to honor Carl Dent, recently admitted as an interne in surgery to the General Hospital of Los Angeles County and Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough of the Second Supervisorial District on Thursday evening, February 3 at banquet in the Second Baptist church. Mr. McDonough was honored because of the militant stand he took in getting Carl into the instituion; this marked the first time in the history of the city that a Negro has been admitted for internship.

Following many glowing tributes to both Supervisor McDonough and Mr. Dent a scroll of the W. U. S. C. was presented to the former by the executive secretary, Mrs. Betty Hill whose leadership of the organization was praised by the Supervisor and many preceding speakers.

McDonough Pledges Equality

"The real spirit of America is the spirit of justice and equality to every man. When prejudice and race hatred are put aside, this flag will not be the flag of the white race, but of America, your flag and my flag." Mr. McDonough promised that as long as he was in public office, he would fight for all rights of all of the people he served. His address, brief and brilliant, climaxed and epitomized the sentiments expressed throughout the testimonies.

Flags and fern alternately placed lined the middle of tables giving a civic as well as social significance to the celebration. The speakers' table was more elaborately adorned with baby chysanthemums twined in the sprigs of fern and a mound of cut flowers in the middle flanked by three flags on either side.

Among those paying tribute to the honored guests were: Titus Alexander, Judges McCoy and Taplin, Drs. H. H. Towles and H. C. Hudson, Attys. Loren Miller and Lloyd Griffith, Prof. A. W. Easter, Mmes. Foustina Johnson and Jessie Terry, Drs. A. C. Garrott and Ruth Temple, S. P. Johnson, Dr. Bowlin of Pasadena, and Dr. Emerson of the L. A. County's sheriff's office.

"MORE THAN 260 MILLION PACKAGES OF BLACK AND WHITE BEAUTY PREPARATIONS HAVE ALREADY BEEN SOLD"

Angeles Society... Pasadena and Los

By GEORGE GARNER
(Staff Correspondent)

NOTE: The writer of this column, in behalf of countless persons, Pasadena neighbors and friends of the beloved Bertha L. Turner, foregoes the inclusion of social news in this week's California EAGLE in the sorrowful memory of an irreparable loss.

All of Southern California, the high and low in both racial groups, mourn the passing of our own Bertha L. Turner, mother, friend, businesswoman, social leader and philanthropist. That Mrs. Turner goes to seek a rich reward--justly deserved--is our only comforting knowledge. Her life, a signal inspiration to all of us, was one of unbounded selfishness, indominitable courage and all-encircling friendliness. There are no words to employ that might measure the extent of the loss that California sustains now and forever after; for hers was a niche that she alone could fill. Bertha L. Turner's life, now having been beautifully and gracefully lived, has been imprinted indelibly as such upon our memory. To me she was aymbolic of the splendid friendships that life in the Southland includes in its gifts; and I can only say that I am distinctly happy to have been accorded the privilege of that friendship.

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTHE MEAUX

The week end tolled the knell of parting friends and we were so glad that the period of drinking black coffee, cramming, and burning the midnight oil was over for at least another four and months—and just to prove how glad we were that we wouldn't have to stay up all night anymore we went out to celebrate and tried to see just how much more midnight oil we could burn. "What fools ye mortal be!" said Shakespeare's Puck, and I'm inclined to agree with him—but tha's life so I guess tha's fun.

Out Troy the lads on the campus decided to hold a post mortem out at Nolan Payton's abode. Present to participate in the last rites over the dead finals we spend the inseparable Kenny Washington-June Bradley and Woodrow Strode—Lois Evans quartet enjoying the oh so "quiet" atmosphere.

TROJANS MAKE MERRY

Most jubilant over the nonexistant finals was T. J. Jackson, who was in the best of spirits. Cato Robinson also radiated that relaxed spirit as he whirled his date of the evening (a cute little lassy from Watts) around though he didn't have any exams to contend with was looking relieved just on general principles.

In the card room we spied host Nolan Payton giving Georgia Williams a few pointers in bridge while sister Ethel Payton and partner Benny Shaw looked on most indulgently. . . Charles Ray and Thebaud Jeffers. . .looking all smug because they suspected that they passed that Old English final. . .were seen comparing notes with LAJC's Lillian Singleton.

AKA's STAGE CIRCUS DANCE

We ran in on the AKA's out UCLA hills way the other night as they held forth with their circus dance up at Ross Snyder.

Peeping through the window—on account of for some reason or another they wouldn't let us in until we had almost banged down the door—we spied Mable Hawes and Merriam Maxwell—Earline Chase and an off-campus fellow—Georgia Williams and Noland Payton most busily engaged in watching the antics of the Kappa pledges in the middle of the floor . . . Likewise in the circle around the poor pledges were Willa Gene and Emmett Ashford and Dorothy Arnaud and George Lee who were enjoying our uncomfortable position on the outside most immensely.

KAPPAS INITIATE

Looking all nonchalant as he wielded his paddle most gracefully on the eight pledges who were going through initiation that night was Bob Green. . .Arthur McNeeley, whom we hear is engaged to Cecelia Dye, was getting a huge enjoyment as the pledges squirmed under his tormenting . . . Dunbar Hunt was most busily engaged in the course of the evening as he solicited lipstick to tattoo the pledges with . . . Orville Akers and "Drippy" Williams, both from up Howard way where tormenting is an art, had their heads together thinking of new torture for the hapless victims. . . Jack Bratton looked in on the proceedings just before the party broke up just to be sure the boys were being taken through all right.

Although it was hard to see who was who so far were their heads held down in shame or agony, we recognized among the befrocked Kappa initiates Johnny Simmons and Johnny Randolph and the Leon Coleman-William Sharpe quartet as they waltzed around the floor together... Harold Garibaldi as a huge red bow was being tied under his chin. . . Frank Tillie as he bowed to Allah and got a good paddling. . . and Oscar Bradley and Joseph Morris as they were havinging Kappa Alpha Psi lipsticked on their foreheads.

CIRCUS AIR PREVAILS

Seeing that her wares were well sold was Edith Jones who was offering the circus "pink" lemonade for sale. . .while Jimmy LuValle kept Gwen Jones busily whirling around the floor. Sitting beneath the umbrella we ran across Ed Boyd-Cato Robinson and Emily Mason who were evidently enjoying the shade.

On the door to see that nonpaying guests were kept out we caught a glimpse of Lavalia Colter as she performed her duty between bites of a hot dog sandwich.

Inez Hamilton looked most happy over the fact that she can now rightfully claim her A. B. from USC as she glided over the floor with Bo Johnson.

In the cloak room we ran into Steve Roland who was belittling columnists or rather would be columnists in his most charming Rolandian manner. . .Anna Rosa Broyles and Bill Beverly, who were a little late in getting to the dance. . .and Josephine Blodgett and Otis Davenport...

HISTORY AND ROMANCE OF CIVILIZATION'S PROGRESS
Preservation and Storing of Food

CHAPTER V

Although refrigeration is generally looked upon as being a new departure in the preservation of food, the idea is erroneous. True, it has reached a state of perfection only in the last few years, still, many attempts although mediocre in results were tried centuries ago.

Ancient Persians and Egyptians hung skin water containers in the breeze, around which they placed wet cloths. Exposure to the breeze caused some exaporation. The evaporated part was heat laden leaving the remainder somewhat cooler. This system, while improved upon, is used today by engineers, campers, etc.

Brooks, streams and springs have been used by man as a place in which to place food to keep the heat as low as possible, but as temperatures are rarely low enough, to retard bacterial growth by this system, running water has little value.

It is recorded in early history how kings and emperors sent their slaves into the mountains in winter to bring back baskets of snow for the palaces. The snow was usually put in holes and trenches in cellars which were lined and covered with wet bark, moss and straw. Many of these impoverished refrigerators stored fresh leaf vegetables, meat and wines for the ancient kings' banquets, the splendor of which is not surpassed in our present day. Later, ice was chopped out of ponds and streams and put in the cellars as a substitute for snow, as it was found it did not melt and distintegrate as fast.

PREMIERE HERE of "Porgy and Bess" at Philharmonic Auditorium Friday night was a REAL first night with ALL the celebrities (except Garbo and she's in Sweden) from cinemaland; ALL of the white Russian colony in pre-revolutionary splendour; 395 of Society's 400 from Bel Air, Pasadena, Wilshire and Palm Springs packing the orchestra from pit to loge. And, darlings, YOUR people did you PROUD smartly strolling through the foyer BURIED in orchids, ermine, white tie and tails.

Only the first night at the opera rivals P and G's opening in El Lay.

Most of the girls we know had NEW men and I think I've discovered a new Fad: select your man to match your hair or your gown.

OF COURSE we can't exactly snitch on the gals who did this but here's the formula: if YOU'RE short, light and tending towards the Westish plumpness, perhaps your hair is graying in all the right places — find a TALL, smooth BLACK man; rig his perfect form out in the newest cut tails. The snow white shirt and tie will take care of the contrast. If you're a DARK, teasing brown yourself, very slender and cute, pick a Sugar of olive hue, crown his pate with a mass of curls; he may be portly, he may be not too tall, he must NOT be too fat; he may wear tuxedo. If you're in between black, white or brown—that indefinite complexion we see so often, get a man as white as the driven snow or as black as ebony, extremely tall, extremely finely carved from face to feet and you wear white or gold!

BUT . . . BACK to the premiere. Between acts we saw CHAPPIE BLODGETT resplendent in black: ALBERTINE PICKENS' gorgeously draped in red fox against her bluish white hair: the most beautiful woman in Sepialand; blonde NORA HOLT, her glamorous self in silver fox and diamonds: CORNELIA LEGGETT-BRADFORD, stunning in semi-formal attire; DOROTHY VENA-JOHNSON, eager and interesting in gray and black; HATTIE McDANIELS with the white ermine and orchids that are a tradition now; graceful BILLIE (Mrs. Clarence) MUSE serenely sophisticated in a long red fox coat, interesting Parisian coiffure; school marm ETHEL ASBURY BELL so busy flitting between CHARLES BOYER, BOB MONTGOMERY and DOUG FAIRBANKS JR., I couldn't catch her costume. (As a society reporter, I make a good sports editor) but one sweep of the loges, balconies and "way up yonder" the sea of dark faces was one GLORIOUS panorama of delicious color splashes and beaming pride in the work of those extraordinary players.

Backstage, MARLENE DIETRICH tried for several minutes to say how she felt over the opera: "But what can I say to these ARTISTS" . . . JOHN BARRYMORE bent low before TODD DUNCAN . . . ELAINE BARRIE stood by exultant . . . DOUG JUNIOR wiggled on first one foot, then the other. The cast received with admirable dignity (and nobody asked for autographs) as Eddie Cantor, Robert Taylor, Deanna Durbin, Franchot Tone, Adolphe Menjou, Joan Crawford, GLADYS SWARTHOUT, Verree Teasdale, Boris Morris, Edna May Oliver and scores of others paid their respects to the finest group of Negro artists ever to come West.

ACADEMY

"Deep South", RKO's short co-directed by George Randol-Lester Goodwin, starring Clarence Muse and Hall Johnson Choir, featuring Lucky Stewart and Daisy Bufford, received excellent rating in the Shorts Quarterly, is reported to have been selected among 45 shorts for Academy consideration.

IT IS SAID TO BE ONE OF THE THREE IN FINAL RUNOFF for Academy Award of 1938.

SWORN TO SECRECY, I cannot reveal the name, but ONE of the leading characters of "Porgy and Bess" cast is being considered for a rôle in "Gone With the Wind".

PEGOT WOLFE, Hollywood sculptress, made busts of Todd Duncan, Anne Brown, Georgette Harvey, displayed two of them in the foyer of Philharmonic during run of the opera here.

TIVOLI THEATRE would appreciate your knowing of its NEW policy featuring high class, BIG name acts along with their pics at regular admissions.

ORPHEUM THEATRE'S GUEST STAR night Monday was a WOW! With "Tarzan's Return" screening, stars from the jungle opus took a bowie. Big Man JOHN LESTER JOHNSON, frequently seen as African chieftain, plays "Cokie"; FREDDIE CLARKE is the Sultan's right hand man. BOTH pleased in personal appearance but PAUL WHITE, called from a box to stage, broke it up singing, dancing "Shoe-Shine Boy" and "Shine" which made him famous with Ted Lewis' aggregation. BEN CARTER cast the flikker.

Leading Lady Here for Filmusical

Attractive Lena Horne, top-notch dancer before her retirement from footlights after marriage, arrived here this week to play a leading role in Million Dollar Productions forthcoming filmusical, "The Duke Is Tops".

Hiss Horne discarded her bungelow aprons and left a baby daughter to come to Hollywood for tests for the flikker. Successful, she was given a contract by the all-Negro cast company to star in its first musical.

She is said to be one of most beautiful girls in the race and for many years held the spot among female hoofers.

Negro News Film Ready for Release

News shots of Negro life, made by George Randol-Rinaldo firm during a four of the southland, are ready for release, Randol announced this week.

The scenes include the Negro exhibition of the Texas Centennial, Wiley-Tuskegee football game, a pictorial survey of the Excelsior Life Insurance company and high school activities in Dallas and Oklahoma city schools.

Local showing is being arranged for an avenue theatre, Randol stated.

TOGETHER AGAIN

George Raft and Slyvia Sidney who co-starred a few years ago in "Pick-p", are teamed again in "You and Me" which Fritz Lang is producer-director for Paramount.

HAS TITLE

Beatrice Lillie, co-starring with Bing Crosby in "Doctor Rhythm," which Emanuel Cohen is producing for Paramount, is Lady Peel in private life. Her late husband, Sir Robert Peel, was grandson of the Sir Robert who was prime Minister of England under Victoria, and who organized the London police department.

AVON LONG PROVES SENSATIONAL FIND

By Fay M. Jackson

The stage and screen laid down the hatchet Friday night when George Gershwin's American folk opera, "Porgy and Bess", was performed before a brilliant first night audience of stage and screen celebrities, dignitaries from social and civic circles and throngs of regular theatre patrons.

Swift-moving dramatic action was perfectly coupled with rich voices beautifully trained in an unusually difficult score without a sacrifice of any of the values of either art.

Striking photographic figures were cut with every gesture the players made but at no point were they consciously posed. Natural abandon to their roles was effected in the performance of every actor, no matter how small his part, yet back of their interpretations one sensed as much of actual head work as of emotional fervor. Old taboos of the theatre were swept aside, the best of cinema technique was skilfully woven into this production of the tragic, humorous portrayal of a group of folk who lived in "Catfish Row".

First mention must go to Ruben Mamoulian, the director who was ably assisted by Frances Harriet and Burton McEvilly. One senses that without the Mamoulian pattern, "Porgy and Bess" would lose its significance as a story of people and human experiences; of emotions that are more universal than racial. His groupings and lighting effects bring into bas relief the subjective, intangible qualities of this drama with excellent intensity that moves the audience into the immediate spirit of the play.

CONVINCING

While "Porgy and Bess" is being performed, everyone lives the life of Porgy and Bess and Catfish Row. The players remain in character, the audience lives the story of love and hate and poverty; jollification and sorrow.

If there is an actor-singer who can play the part of "Porgy" with the same convincing interpretation, with the same excellence of vocal production, with the superb fusion of art and naturalness, dignity and sympathy-inspiring skill as Todd Duncan, we should like to see him.

At once a creature of the most delicate and rapid responses, helpless anger simmers in the lowly cripple, surges forth into violence that strikes a murderous blow at the bully, Crown, who steals his woman. , "I Got Plenty O'Nuthin'" sung flat of his back was a triumph for Duncan.

Anne Brown as Bess is a revelation. Her performance easily won a top place among dramatic actresses of America, regardless of race. Her glorious voice, perfectly controlled, was handled with compelling ease as the coarse, tantalizing wench of the 'Row', as the reformed woman in Porgy's house.

One of the highlights of the evening was Duncan and Brown's duet, "Bess You Is My Woman Now".

Jack Carr as "Crown", a callous, conscienceless brute of a fellow, sang well, acted creditably.

"NIJINSKY"

But it was left to Avon Long, a new member of the company taking the part, "Sportin' Life" made famous by Bubbles, to capture a lion's share of the honors. Blithely darting about his wicked way, Long drew storms of applause from the sophisticated Hollywood audience for the grace and artful combination of ballet and tap dancing.

Ruby Elzy's singing of "My Man's Gone Now" in a wake sequence before the "saucer-burial" of her man, Robbins, superbly interpreted Serena as a piteous aspect of woe.

HODNUTT PLEASES

Lois Hodnutt, as "Clara", a local girl little known here, acted and sang her role with the confidence and finesse of a seasoned trouper. Her voice is full, rich, warm and exceptionally well controlled.

Georgette Harvey, who runs "Catfish Row" as "Maria" delighted her old friends, added hundreds of admirers to her score in an amusing characterization of the pipe-smoking, yet kindly keeper of the cook shop who somehow manages to keep things straight in the turbulent affairs of Charleston's black ghetto.

Others whose work stood out are: Helen Dowdy, "Strawberry Woman"; J. Rosamond Johnson, "Frazier"; Jester Hairston; "Undertaker"; James Middleton, "Crab Man"; Henry Davis, "Robbins" and William Gillespie, "Jake".

For the entire cast of "Porgy and Bess" and the splendid chorus ably directed by Eva Jessaye, there is nothing but praise.

Los Angeles and Hollywood have long dreamed of, but never have seen Negroes combining the richness o fsoul with the genius of lyric and dramatic art such as was witnessed in the spectacle, "Porgy and Bess".

The engagement here terminates with Saturday night's performance. A touring schedule takes the company to the Curran theatre in San Francisco for three weeks and northward up the Coast.

'First Lady' is Played By Kay Francis

Quite appropriate just now, with Washington, D. C., as a seething news center, is a comedy picture dealing with a phase of the capital's life that hasn't been presented on the screen before—namely, a story of the "parlor politics" played by the wives of governamental office holders.

KAY FRANCIS

Just such athing is "First Lady", which opens Sunday at the Lincoln Theatre, with Kay Francis in the leading role. She portrays an ambitious wife, who wants her husband Preston Foster to be resident so she can enjoy all the social privileges of being Mistress of the White House.

The sly maneuverings of Kay and Verree Teasdale plus a young romance between Victor Jory and Anita Louise—make up the story, which was based, of course, on the successful Broadway stage play of the same name.

"First Lady" was directed excellently by Stanley Logan, from a screen play devised by Rowland Leigh. Besides those named, the case includes such notables as Marjorie Rambeau, Louise Fazenda, Henry O'Neal, and Grant Mitchell.

'Submarine D-1' Comes to Tivoli Sunday

Proclaimed as the greatest motion picture ever made with an undersea boat as its subject and locale, "Submarine D-1" has been booked as the feature attraction at the Tivoli Theatre, opening next Sunday.

It is a Warner Bros. melodrama co-starring Pat 'Brien and George Brent, and featuring Wayne ("Kid Galahad") Morris. In the making of it the United States Navy Department deserves as much credit as the movie folk, for it threw open to the Warners its submarine establishments at San Diego, Cocas Coco in the Panama Canal Zone, and Newport, R. I.

The most modern of submarines, officially called the D-1 and also bearing the title of Dolphin, was used in all diving and surface-running scenes. It was impossible, of course, in the limited space aboard a real submarine, to find room for camera and light crews. So the movie-makers built at the studio a duplicate of the D-1, cut into ten different sections, and ouside the ends of these sections the technicians were able to operate their apparatus for closeup shots.

THE BUCCANEER

The Buccaneer, starring Frederick March and the new importation, Franciska Gaal, is a good picture, but not the epochal, rousing film it was intended to be.

The power that was so evident in Cecil B. DeMille's former efforts--"Mark of the Cross", "The Crusaders", "The Plainsmen"--is not to be found in his latest work. Somehow, the film gives the impression that it was produced in a careless, offhand manner.

Chief power is derived from the excellent portrayals of Fredric March and Akim Tamiroff. March, at first a bit clumsy with his French accent, makes the dashing pirate, "Jean Lafitte", a believable bad-man. Tamiroff was equally successful as "Dominique You", Lafitte's soft-hearted first-lieutenant, and has already been accredited with stealing the picture. Franciska Gaal is not beautiful, but at times is very cute as "Gretchen", the little Dutch girl in love with pirate "Lafitte".

PIRACY

The story, as you may have guessed, centers about a pirate, Jean Lafitte, by name, whose by the way, is the picture's most thrilling scene.

Ian Kieth, villain A No. 1, is his usual leering self. He gets killed in a very stagy and unconvincing sword-fight with Hero No. 1 March. Beulah Bondi "Make Way for Tomorrow", and Walter Brennan, supporting-role Academy Award winner, are suffocated in minor roles, while Spring Byington has a rather effective bit as "Dolly Madison" who saves the portrait of George Washington and the Declaration of Independence during British loyalty to the United States at the battle of New Orleans during the War of 1812 turns the tide in favor of the Yankees. The battle firing of Washington.

Photography is fairly good with a highly succesful blue tint thrown in for the night scenes in the swamps.

MUSIC

Chief technical flaw is the wholly inadequate musical score. At one point, when Lafitte's weird band were being called from the recesses of a dark and dismal swamp--slinking from over-hanging trees in long strange canoes--when there was every reason for an accompanying score of low, minor chords and long moans in the base-viol-what was there? A rousing chorus chanting something in the tempo of Yankee Doodle!

All in all, however, if you like your cinemafare on the melodramatic side, "The Buccaneer" will be to your taste.

Treat 10,000 Social Disease Cases

EAGLE Advises More Negro Nurses in City's Health Department

Dr. Parrish said there were not enough employes in the department to "safeguard the public health", and invited the City Council to attend a luncheon tomorrow in the Health Building to discuss the department's needs.

He said venereal cases alone, since announcement the department had received funds from the Federal Government for treatment, had more than doubled, and the department now is approaching the emergency stage in their handling.

PROVED WORKABLE

Negro health projects, established by special funds from the Rosenwald Foundation to campaign against the great scourges of tuberculosis and syphilis in southern states have proved that it is possible and financially feasible to control these plagues.

Heretofore, the race was discriminated against by white insurance companies because of the asserted risk of those diseases and misdirected propaganda that attached them to Negroes as something innate and incombatible, rather than the saner view of them as by-products of environmental conditions.

ALL ARE AFFECTED

With the enlargement of public health appropriations which are already apparent, campaigns against these diseases are now being encouraged nationally with telling effect.

In the control of contagious diseases it is especially clear that the well-being of the whole population is dependent upon the health of each group.

The success with which Negro public nurses in other parts of the country studied and treated cases of these diseases among Negro people encourages the idea that more of them should be added to the City Healtht staff in Los Angeles for assistance in Dr. Parrish's forthcoming campaign here.

BIRTH OF LINCOLN

This week on Fsbruary 12 America honors one of her greatest sons.

Certainly the life of Abraham Lincoln-a lanky, genial Kentuckian of immense physical strength, rich, earthy humor, and simple, eloquent speech--is itself an epic in miniature of America's own growth and rise to power.

And his career, from humble grocery clerk i nan Illinois frontier town to head of the nation's government during the darkest crisis which has ever assailed it, offers vivid and imperishable proof of the democratic ideal made real. Born of migrant, impoverished parents, he achieved the richest honor the country could award him.

A great deal of the genius which was Lincoln's-and which still stirs us today--was the penetrating skill with which he pierced to the core of great and complex problems. While Abolitionists talked much of "rights", and engaged in theoretical dissertations on liberty, he opposed slavery simply because it was inhuman, and because this nation is "dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." What more need be said?

Though far afield from Gettysburg and Appomattox, California was no stranger to the slavery question. It is inextricably threaded with our State's history. During four years Congress wrangled fiercely over its admission to the Union as a free or slave state. When Congress made up its mind in 1850, California was admitted as a fre state--and remained one.

New times bring new views, but democracy's high goal remains constant. And who has expressed its aim more eloquently than Lincoln who led a heroic and successful "people's contest" to preserve it? With him, we affirm that democracy is a ceaseless effort to maintain "that form and substance of government whose leading object is to elevate the conditions of men."

John Henry Ford, age 52, died at the Dunbar Hospital February 5th. Funeral services were held at the South Los Angeles Mortuary Thursday afternoon. Interment at Lincoln Memorial Park.

Sen. Wagner Demands Mob Bill Vote

equal protection of the law against state denial or invasion, if not prohibited, is brought within the domain of congressional power . . .

"The prohibitiuons of the 14th amendment are directed to the states, and they are to a degree restrictions of state power. It is these which Congress is empowered to enforce . . . Such enforcement is no invasion of state sovereignty. No law can be, which the people of the states have, by the Constitution of the United States, empowered Congress to enact."

"The decisions which I cite", Senator Wagner declared, "should serve as a complete answer to the arguments that the anti-lynching bill would destroy state's rights."

On the point that state action under the 14th amendment includes acts of state officers contrary to state law, Senator Wagner cited from a recent supreme court decision in which Justice Brandeis rendered an opinion as follows:

"The prohibition of the 14th amendment, it is true, has reference exclusively to action by the state as distinguished from action by private individuals . . . When a state official, acting under color of state authority, invades, in the course of his duties, a private right secured by the federal Constitution, that right is violated, even if the state officer not only exceeded his authority but disregarded special commands of the state law."

The Scottsboro Cases

In contending that the 14th amendment applies not only to acts of commission, but acts of omission, Senator Wagner referred to the Scottsboro cases decided by the U. S. Supreme Court.

"In Powell v. Alabama," he said "the supreme court found . . . that the failure of the trial judge in the state court to make a sufficient or timely designation of counsel for the accused violated the 14th amendment. And in "Norris v. Alabama", the supreme court likewise held that the systematic failure of state officers to include Negroes on the jury lists in state trials violated the 14th amendment . . . .

"If the Constitution guards zealously the attributes of the trial itself, as shown by these cases and many others, and prohibits the conduct of a trial dominated by hostile mob sentiment, then obviously it would protect against a denial of any trial whatever. That is exactly what it does here under the anti-lynching bill, to the extent that the state is shown to be responsible for the denial through the wilful and negligent failure to protect persons accused of crime."

"Repugnant to Common Sense"

"All I say is that the validity of the anti-lynching bill is supported by a wealth of precedents, and by the opinion of a respectable body of constitutional lawyers in and out of Congress. All I ask is that this body exercise its constitutional function by voting upon the measure, so that in due course the supreme court may exercise its constitutional function of passing upon the validity of the measure.

Landlord Denies He Made Advances to Evicted Tenant

Answering charges of asserted spite in evicting his tenants because the woman in the case had repulsed his advances reported by neighbors of Gladys and Lester Cruise, evicted tenants of George Wagner, white, age 70, of 1425 East 25th street, Attorney Joseph Lewis, counsel for Wagner, stated this week that Wagner's reputation in the community was 'very good and his judgement and integrity unblemished'.

"Mr. Wagner did not evict Mrs. Gladys Cruise and family; however, the action, on record in the Municipal Court reads: George Wagner vs. Mr. Lester Cruise, and others, No. 465514, Mr. and Mrs. Cruise were, on the 31st day of December, 1937, personally served with a notice to pay rent from November 19,, 1937. The Cruises failed, refused, and neglected to comply with client's written demand and therefore, on the 5th day of January, of this year, Wagner filed an unlawful detainer proceeding.

"Wagner, up until the time the Marshal had the Cruises leave the premises, offered to allow them to remain in possession of the premises as long as they paid the rent up to date, which rental was a sum in excess of $50, plus the court costs expended in a sum in evcess of $16. This, the Cruises failed and refused to do. At no time did Wagner, the attorney claims, refuse to accept the rent owing to him; however, in order to meet his taxes it was necessary for him to insist upon his rent".

Refuting the statement made that he had attempted to make advances to the woman. Wagner's counsel said hat his client was a grandfather of three children and five daughters of his own.

An EAGLE reporter was on the scene of the eviction, January 27, witnessed the moving of the Cruise household effects from the house into the street by Wagner while a representative from the Marshall's office guarded the proceedings.

Woman Tries to Settle 'Old Peeve'

Revenge for an old peeve she held against Elizabeth Gunn, 1114 East 55th street, was given as Peggy Harvey's motive in a knife wielding spree that severely injured the former and landed Miss Gunn in the City gaol with a charge of Assault With Deadly Weapon.

According to investigating officers McGruder and Smith, Peggy was mysteriously slugged over the head several weeks ago but refused to identify her assailant. Returning to "work" from the hospital where she was taken for treatment, Peggy and Eliabeth argued over respective "stands" for trade. A fight culminated the argument and Peg was pounded again, this time with a shoe heel, allegedly in the hands of Eliabeth. Peggy retaliated by threatening to slay Eliabeth on sight if she caught the later soliciting her cash customers.

Bail for the suspect was set at $1500. Arraignment for trial on a charge of criminal assault with intent to commit murder will be held today at 2 p. m. in division 4 of the Superior Court.

HIT-RUN VICTIM HISTORY WEEK PEOPLE 'N' THINGS

Was driving down a street just off Central this week and when we reached the end of the block what should we see but a dead cat, lying in a pool of blood in the middle of the street, apparently a victim of some careless driver. The thought struck us that humans aren't the only ones who have to combat hit-and-run motorists — dumb animals do, too!

There was no doubt about it. The cat sensed the danger, but wasn't quick enough. Just like some people who see a car coming, yet can't seem to move fast enough to get out of the way of the death on wheels.

Maybe our dead friend was on her way to her kittens. Or maybe to some cozy corner in some family's kitchen. Or maybe to do her daily chores of running the mice away. That old saying, "When the cat's away, the mice will play", holds good only too well in this case.

At any rate, the killer of small things may some day do the same for big things. The end is the same for them all.

Negro History Week should offer much material for silver-tongued orators this week. And as usual, their thoughts will be pondered and remembered for a time and then forgotten by their hearers.

Until Negro History is included in American history in all its ramifications we may well expect such a condition every year, from now until doom's day. School children know their Ancient, European and American Histories, the latter as it is now, but Negro History? Don't make us laugh!

The Negro has a place in the colorful pattern of United States History — a place won by hard work, loyalty and sacrifice. And because his history is that of America is plenty reason for its inclusion in the textbooks.

School children, studying day by day, will profit more from AMERICAN History than those who once a year hear silver-tongued orators recite a record any race would be proud to have, but which is soon forgotten as something set apart.

We could listen to that resonant contralto singing voice of Dorothea M. Williamson any day in the week . . . the same goes for the sweet soprano voice of Violet Aldridge . . . They are honoring Paul R. Williams, the famous architect, next Tuesday evening at a banquet. A better subject would be hard to find . . .

Boxing moguls find that a match between two good colored boxers is an attractive dish . . . first it was Henry Armstrong-Chalky Wright and now it is Leon Zorrita-Young Peter Jackson. The latter will produce more fireworks. Rather hard to pick but we will string along with Zorrita, mindful however, of Pete's potent right duke . . .

It's raining, a steady, sleep-producing rain that makes us feel like relaxing and take things easy. Did you ever run out of gas as you drove out of your garage into a downpour? Well, we did! And if we ever felt like cussing (and did) we did then . .

"ARMAGEDDON"

Is the white man nearing the end of his cycle? Is he like the salmon-fish during a salmon run? Rushing madly upstream, hurdling over waterfalls, dashing madly through swirling rapids, driven by some Super-urge to return from whence he came? Has the Lord sent for him?

A bizarre spectacle greets the eye of anyone who pauses long enough from grubbing for bread, to take a bird's-eye view of the white man's world. Every white civilization of any size is arming feverishly. Europe is one vast munitions factory, and the fever seems to have reached the U. S. A. At this very moment Congress is engaged in a feverish debate over a twenty per cent increase in the navy building program; and together with Great Britian and France, is demanding that the Japs tell them whether they intend building some 40,000 ton warships mounted with 14 inch guns. Just as if they think that the wily little yellow men will vary from the standard of diplomatic procedure laid down by the white man and tell the truth about it. It simply shows to what absurdities Hysteria can drive nations.

PLAYS, AND PLAYERS

I took a night off last week and went to see "Life Goes On". And if as Mr. Webster puts it . . . a play is supposed to portray a cross-section of real life, Real Life passed up that play like some of do a grocery store where we owe a bill. Now get me right, there was nothing wrong with the players. They were Top-notchers, everyone one of them. And it is a crying shame that such high-class talent was given such a clumsy vehicle to express through. It was just like giving a pennant-winning base ball club a broom stick and a rag to play with, and expecting them to bring home the bacon.

Instead of having one plot, and developing it to a logical conclusion, the mechanic who wrote it, grabbed up material enough for three plots, and threw it together like a crazy-quilt. At times, I forgot myself and imagined I was seeing "Imitation of Life" in which Miss Beavers starred so notably, then I'd rub my eyes, and presto, I'd be looking at Edward G. Robinson (in the person of Lawrence Criner) starring in a red-hot gangster scene; then just as it commenced to getting good, I'd be whisked away down South to a "Swanee River" close-up.

But the crowning insult to the intelligence of our people . . as I saw it . . was the break-down of Criner upon the witness stand when Thompson flashed a black cat watch charm on him. There is not a Negro Big-Shot racketeer in America who would be fazed for a moment by such childish procedure. And the white han who wrote it (or directed its writing) knows this as well as we do. But he simply followed the traditional propaganda of the white man . . .from which he has not deviated a hair in the last forty years—of always portraying the Negro as being devoid of the power of rational thought, or logical reactions.

Thoughtful Negroes resent this imputation keenly, but resentment alone is not sufficient evidently, judging from the type of plays they invariably present to us. There seems to be only one sure way to convince Mr. George that we don't care for them, and that is by not patronizing them. A man's heart is his most vulnerable spot, and the white man generally carries his in his pocketbook. So if the box-office receipts don't come up to par, you can bet your life that his heart will have been touched. We have some peerless actors among our race, and if we will only exert proper pressure, the day will come when they will be given an opportunity to display their matchless talent. So long folks.

The Laundryman

The lovely Misses Lillian Cornish, left, and June Pruden, right, are inspecting a pile of skates that will be used at the American Advancement League Festival at the Shrine Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, February 13th from 2 till 5 o'clock. We'll just bet they are also thinking of the grand prizes, races and fun that will be witnessed by throngs from the Westside, the Eastside, the Northside and Watts.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By Miriam Matthews

Every year we see numerous lists of "best books" selected by the publishers, booksellers and literary journals, not to mention the many prizes awarded in various and sundry ways. This year the Los Angeles Public Library wishes to discover what Mr. Average Reader considers the "best books" of the year 1937 and is conducting a survey throughout the city to determine the reader's choice. You are invited to register a vote for your five favorite books, either fiction or non-fiction at your nearest branch, the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 S. Central avenue or the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi avenue.

Have you read any of the following outstanding titles? Perhaps some of your favorites may be among them.

THE CITADEL, by A. J. Cronin, a scathing indictment of certain aspects of the medical profession and a sincere account of a man who tried to be a good doctor, but thought it didn't pay.

THE IMPORTANCE OF LIVING, by Lin Yutang, a personal guide to enjoyment by a wise and witty Chinese who offers what he and the Chinese sages of thirty centuries have learned about the salt and flavor and tang of daily living.

MADAME CURIE, by Eve Curie, a definitive biography of the greatest of all women of science, translated by Vincent Sheean and illustrated with many photographs.

NEW FRONTIERS OF THE MIND, by J. B. Rhine, the history of the experimentation conducted at a large university to determine whether or not man has ways of knowing other than through his five senses.

A WORLD HISTORY OF ART, by Sheldon Cheney, a complete history of the arts of painting, sculpture, architecture in every land with many sidelines, from the earliest times to the present.

DOCTORS ON HORSEBACK, by James T. Flexner, a new chapter in the story of man's quest for medical knowledge which contributes new details to fill out the picture of America in the years between the Revolution and the Civil War.

THE TURNING WHEELS, by Stuart Cloete, the story of the great Boer Trek in South Africa dealing with the ruthless elements of both man and nature.

NORTHWEST PASSAGE, by Kenneth Roberts, telling of the career of Major Rogers, a great but little known figure in Colonial history.

This Man Relishes Termites with Millet Mush in Season

Marius Forie, author of Black and Beautiful, the African odyssey to be published February 28th by The Bobbs-Merrill company, has a word to say about what he and his safari-land people eat instead of frog legs and caviar.

"I relish termites with millet mush," he says. "Termites are best eaten in the rainy season, when they swarm. A frame of sticks or reeds is built on the anthill and when the swarming begins, usually at sunset, cloth is laid over the frame to force the insects into pits or vessels full of water, where they are gathered in the morning. Out of season, some natives know how to coax from their underground nests the large winged termites, the only ones that are eaten, by wetting the anthill, drumming on it with sticks, and singing in a low monotone:

'Thunder is pealing,
Mushrooms are sprouting,
Mother is hoeing.
Come out, come out.'

Probably that makes the insects 'think' that it rains, and draws them out. All there is left, after the wings are shed or plucked, is bits of fat, good eating roasted or saute."

But, strange though it may seem, Mr. Fortie says that he "couldn't stomach grasshoppers and certain tree caterpillars eaten roasted with goat fat and salt". It is scarcely likely that anyone will begrudge him this inconsistency!

Redlands U. Man Makes Great Scholarship Mark

William A. Dickerson, 23 year old son of the Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Dickerson at 149 Mundell Dr., Pasadena, has just completed his college education at the University of Redlands, leaving a most commendable record of scholarship.

Because of faculty decision to defer the mid-term graduation exercises until the regular commencement season in June, Mr. Dickerson's formal recognition of outstanding achievements will not be had until then.

Dickerson will enter the legal profession. His major studies at the University of Redlands terminated with high honors in the eld of Political Science. He has manifested unusual ability in the fields of History and Philosophy, and is now making preparation to enter the Berkeley School of Law at Berkeley, Calif. this fall.

While at the University Dickerson won distinction as a two year letter man on the Varsity tennis team.

School Children Serenade Mother

Primary children of Wadsworth Street school under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Rhine have been giving serenades to the mothers of the Eastside neighborhood for a half hour each morning. The songs chosen are American folk and Negro spirituals.

The leaders among the many children are those with the softest, truest voices. Little Maxine Strauther of 1182 E. 34th Street is first among the leaders. Sally Henderson of 1345 E. 34th Street, Billie Jean Brannon of 883 E. 40th Place, Morris Moore of 3501½ McKinley Ave., Donnie Mae Thompson of 869 E. 42 Street, Doris Thierry of 644 E. Santa Barabara, Maxine Campbell of 986 E. 32nd Street and Marietta Jones of 903 E. 41st Place and Willetta Swader of 918 Santa Barbara are all beautiful little songsters.

The children have been made welcome by the women of the neighborhood. Mrs. Mabel Gray, prominent club women and Mrs. Ellen Robinson invited the singers to call upon them again. Miss Birder Johnson was pleased with her dooryard concert.

Negro Welfare

TULSA — A committee on Negro welfare was formed in this city last week to look into discrimination against Negroes in the Works Progress Administration.

Lafayette Jr. Hi to Observe Founder's Day

The fathers, mothers and friends of Lafayette Jr. High school will celebrate the founding of the Parent-Teachers association on Wednesday, Feb. 16, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Jessie V. Grayson, chairman of program, has prepared an excellent musical program for the occasion. The Tenth District chairman, Mrs. W. W. West, will be guest speaker. Refreshments will be served to all who attend.

Pasadena Co-Ed Wins Essay Contest

A Pasadena girl, coed at Atlanta University in Atlanta Ga., is one of the winners of the National Tuberculosis Association 1937 Essay contest, it was announced today by Mary Dickinson, executive secretary of the Atlanta Tuberculosis association. The young lady, winner of third prize in the competition that had over 50,000 entries, is Miss Anthony Moreland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Moreland, 765 Sunset avenue, Pasadena. Miss Moreland's reward was a five dollar check.

On May 19, 1937 Miss Moreland was first prize winner in the Georgia State and local branch of the Tuberculosis Essay contest. Miss Moreland's paper on "Tuberculosis Problems in the Negro-Past, Present and Future," won her ten dollars.

A graduate of Pasadena Junior college the young student is a protege of Mrs. Mae Reese Johnson, superintendent of Pasadena's Scattergood club, which organization sponsors the activities and advancement of young people.

California Democ Clubs Back Lynch Bill Fight

The Los Angeles County Committee of the Young Democratic Clubs of California in a resolution adopted last night urged the passage of the Anti-lynching bill now before the United States Senate.

Condeming the undemocratic filibuster which is holding up the passage of this bill, the Committee has sent letters to the California representatives in Congress urging them to get behind the bill.

David V. Gill, State President of the Young Democrats, said he believed the law will prevent mob-violence as occurred in California not so long ago.

Andrews, acting on the report of the laundry minimum wage board. Most of the women in the industry are colored.

Atlanta University to Pay Homage to Dr. DuBois, 70

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 10—Homage will be paid to one of the outstanding thinkers of the age on February 23, when Atlanta University and the affiliated colleges, Morehouse and Spelman, will join with friends and associates throughout the nation in celebrating the 70th birthday of the distinguished Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, internationally known scholar, writer, and speaker, who since 1933 has been chairman of the department of sociology at Atlanta university.

Dr. DuBois is a graduate of Fisk and of Harvard universities. From the latter institution he received the degrees of A.B., A.M., and Ph.D. He also has studied at the University of Berlin. From 1896 to 1910—he was professor of economics and history of Atlanta university, and edited the "Atlanta University Studies of Negro Problems". From 1910 until 1934 Dr. DuBois served as director of publications for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and was the editor of "The Crisis", the official organ of the Association.

A Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Dr. DuBois was the founder of the Pan African Congresses, the recipient of the Sixth Spingarn Award, and in 1924 was Special Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Liberia. At present he is working on an Encyclopaedia of the Negro, under the sponsorship of the Phelps Stokes Fund. Among his publications are "The Suppression of the African Slave Trade", "The Souls of Black Folk", "Darkwater", "The Gifts of Black Folk", and "Quest of the Silver Fleece". His latest work, "Black Reconstruction", was published in 1935.

During the last 30 years, Dr. DuBois has lectured at nearly all of the largest American universities and colleges, and at international gatherings in London, Paris, Brussels, Geneva, Lisbon, and Japan. In 1936, he went to Germany for an intensive study of German life on a grant-in-aid from the Oberlaender Trust, of the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation, established to enable men and women who have attained national prominence to become better acquainted with the achievements of German people.

THE HOUSING LAW

The Federal Housing Act, passed by the Senate, has been signed by President Roosevelt and is ready for the people, to start the greatest building boom in the history of the nation. Business and industry will speed up and the country will enjoy an era of prosperity along all industrial lines.

The Housing Act has rescued the country from a greater slump than that which we passed in 1932, and had Congress failed to enact this legislation we were headed for the rocks.

Negroes, especially, should avail themselves of the fine opportunities created by this legislation and modernize their property.

THE VICE PROBE

The California Eagle is in hearty accord with any movement or plan that will make Los Angeles and California a better, cleaner place in which to dwell. All of our resources and influence will be exerted to the fullest extent to assist the officials in every way possible.

The California Eagle is an institution in which we have over $25,000 in good American dollars invested and we'd be foolish to sit idly by and see the savings of a life-time, gained thru privation, yes, at times hunger, jeopardised by racketeers, thugs and thieves. You can't expect anything different of these soldiers of fortune who seek to live on flowery beds of ease by throwing mud on legitimate business institutions, while at the same time they are fingering dollars collected for keeping quiet and protecting the very evils The California Eagle and decent, respectable citizens seek to drive them from our midst. This gentry that has muscled in on the Los Angeles public during the past few years has but a stomach filled with guts, a loud mouth and a lust to obtain something without honest toil. They'll stoop to anything that will net two bits, get the cash and peddle the man who paid them.

We have always maintained a high regard for the honesty and integrity of District Attorney Buron Fitts, Chief Davis, Sheriff Biscailuz and Mayor Frank L. Shaw and will cling to that faith and trust until substantial proof is presented to the contrary.

We believe that these officials will not whitewash anything, but hew to the line and let the chips fall where they will. We further believe that every resource at their command will be put into action to run down and punish those guilty of transgressing the laws.

The vice probe is in excellent hands and the citizenry has naught at which to be alarmed.

WILL BRIDGES BE DEPORTED?

Charges of being an active Communist has brought forth a widespread demand that the Australian labor agitator be deported.

Bridges may be a thorn in the labor world, but his deportation will not check the Red doctrine that is eating its way into the ranks of labor like a cancer. Backed by powerful Red journals that are circulated daily upon our streets, spreading Communistic poison, Bridges has been able to carry forward a program that otherwise would have fallen like a wet blanket. Bridges would be as helpless as a babe if these Red sheets were barred from circulation, but to deport Bridges and leave these Red-baiting papers to spread the poison is like cutting off one's nose to spite the face. Let Bridges stay but kill these Red rags.

MERRIAM'S HEAD STILL BURIED IN THE SAND

Some half dozen more boards had new members appointed thereon by Governor Merriam this week, but not a single Negro was considered by the Chief Executive. He is not only overlooking our group but is charged with turning the back of his hand to the Democrats in making judicial appointments.

The judiciary is non-partisan and then, too, the Democrats, along with the colored vote, landed him in the gubernatorial chair. All of his judicial appointments have gone to Republicans as Negroes and Democrats look on, wondering "Where do we come in?"

Just what the Governor thinks he has done to win the support of the colored people we fail to see, nor can we imagine his viewpoint, unless he does not want our support. However, if the Governor thinks the selection of three Negroes to a "no salary" commission, and his invitation to the A. M. E. General Conference to meet in Los Angeles will win him the support of the group it's high time he pulled his head out of the sand and did some thinking, followed by action.

It won't down, Governor! No sir!! It just won't do the trick.

THE NEW GRAND JURY

Tuesday, Feb. 8, the new Grand Jury for 1938 was sworn into service by Superior Judge Kincaid.

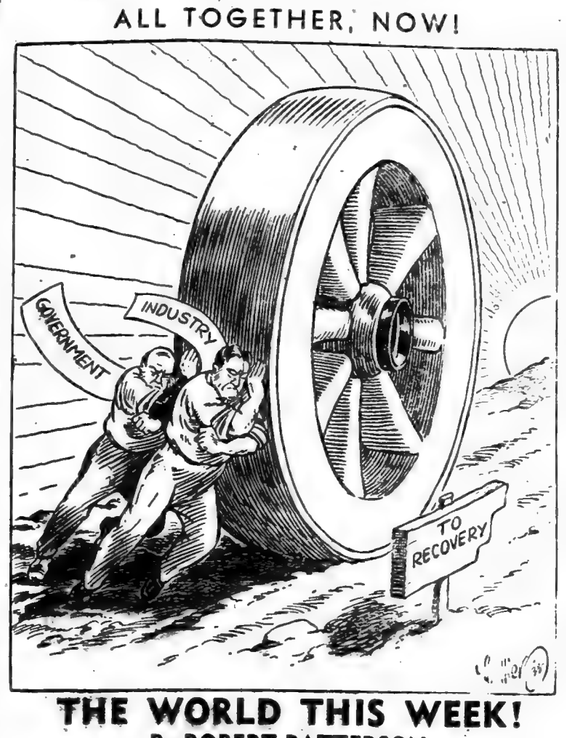
As has been the custom for lo! this quarter of a century, we have been in business in Los Angeles, not a single Negro was among the 19 men and women who will decide whether or not those suspected of transgressing laws shall come before a court of justice and be tried for the offense charged.

With a heart bubbling over with "love" for "you people" and a tongue coated with oratory, Superior Court Judges visit the Eastside when the soft cushion is about to be removed from under them and plead for votes and support. We, in turn, for the "salve", roll up handsome majorities, but when a Grand Jury is to be selected, "you people", for whom so much "love" was expressed, never once enter their mind unless it be in ferreting out a scheme to keep Negroes off the County Grand Jury, and in this they have succeeded in getting away for all these years.

Few people know the procedure of selecting these jurors. They are unaware that each Judge selects a certain number of names from which the jury is drawn.

Strange as it may seem in this procedure, none of 'em ever think to include a Negro in their list.

From now on, we're going to know the why of this and refresh a few memories by retiring same to the private practice of law.



Our people have become thoroughly aroused over this matter and during the coming campaign, instead of expressions of "love" the people are going to ask for an explanation of what seems to be a "gentleman's" agreement to keep blacks off the County Grand Jury!

MITCHELL AT IT AGAIN

As per usual Congressman Arthur Mitchell has tossed another bone into the legislative arena on which the filibustering South can feast for a season.

The latest Mitchell bill proposes to do away with segregation on railroad trains.

We recall that Mitchell has never exerted himself in any cause where the Negro is concerned since taking office. In his stated opinion, he was elected to Congress to represent a certain district in Chicago— and not the Negro race. Therefore, ironical it is, that when old Jim Crow clamps down on him and he hustled out of a comfortable Pullman berth to the company of his racial brothers, he then realizes that he is a Negro and that his kind needs his help.

SINGAPORE TEA PARTY

Highly significant is the visit of America's fleet to Great Britain's mighty $75 million naval base at Singapore. Crouched at the Malay Peninsula's tip, this almost invulnerable guardian of Britain's Far East empire is bulwarked with anti-aircraft guns, underground batteries, huge drydocks, refitment stations, and practically every weapon and device known to naval and military science. Inaugural ceremonies are due, and the American fleet has been invited to drop around for tea and crumpets to help celebrate. This, however, was not the casual invitation it appears to be. No other foreign nation has been asked to attend the festivities. Obviously, the presence of America's fleet, nestled snugly between the British lion's paws at Singapore, is meant to show certain interested powers that when it comes to defending their interests in the Orient, Great Britain and America are inseparable buddies.

SPECTRE ON THE PLAINS

The ominous spectre of drought is again laying its shadow across the Great Plains from Canada to Texas. A black blizzard has already kicked up its tail in the Oklahoma Panhandle, sending thick curtains of soil swirling into the heavens. Across parts of the great belt of the Middle West, low rainfall gauges are telling in figures much the same story they told preceding the droughts of 1934 and 1936. And gales, lashing across the loose topsoil of America's dust bowl zone, are again uprooting the young shoots of the 1938 wheat crop as streams dry up and farmers are driven to haul water for themselves and their livestock. The threat of hard, blustering winds which usually make their unwelcome advent along with Spring is another foe which may assail the indomitable farmers of the Great Plains whose luck has run so low during the past five drought years. Drought and erosion—these are enemies against which America should wage relentless war!

STRANGE SACRIFICE

Man's capacity to sacrifice himself for an idea, or an ideal, has filled the book of history with many a strange, heroic, and incredible episode. In proof of his idea, a Tennessee clergyman, after a several months' fast on a highly restricted diet, proceeded to make his fast absolute. For 22 days he shunned all nourishment, including even water, until he collapsed last week. Friends and physicians alike have been amazed by the flame-like energy burning in his starved body which set him on the road to recovery. It recalls the spectacular, strength-draining feats which covered America like an epidemic a decade from those of this clergyman. Remember those inago, though the motives involved were far different from those of this clergyman. Remember those indefatigable flagpole sitters, those tireless tree sitters? They appeared to enjoy themselves hugely, although their feats proved nothing—save that trees and flagpoles can take a lot of punishment.

SILENT A, B, C'S

It's always been a proud day for Dad and Mom when Junior falteringly, but successfully, read his way through the first sentence of his primer. But now Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of Chicago's schools, is changing all that. Taking for his motto that silence is golden, and for his explanation, that reading aloud slows down mental processes, some 3000 of Chicago's first and second graders are today learning to read—with their mouths shut! Now the next step is to educate the more vociferous politicians to do their heavy-duty thinking the same way.

Guest Editorial

"Yesterday and Tomorrow"

By R. R. K.

THE men whose job it is to write the Washington scene while Congress is in session have witnessed many amazing and amusing cat-hops, but I challenge the eldest observer in the Senate press gallery to match the spectacle now presented by the Republican minority in the filibuster on the anti-lynching bill.

Ever since the Civil War, the G. O. P. has been the Negro's house of refuge against the boys who never recognized Lee's surrender and who consistently and flagrantly violate the constitutional amendments snatched from the flame of war to give the Negroes the full rights of American citizenship.

Because of this more or less mythical protection, the only substantial following the Republican Party has had in the South the last 70 years has been drawn from the Negro race. Denied the right of suffrage and in many states not even daring to exercise it, the Negroes stuck loyally to the party of Lincoln—to the men who set them free.

The only function they have been able to exercise in political affairs has been to appear once in four years in national Republican conventions, closeherded by a white boss, to cast their votes for a presidential candidate for whom they could never vote at the polls and who rarely carried a state south of the Mason and Dixon line. In successive Republican administrations they were rewarded for this loyalty with occasional crumbs from the piecounter. Even such a wretched pittance kept the Negro vote fairly solid for the G. O. P.

Then came the New Deal and an awakening of the Negro to the bunco game he had been unwittingly playing. In 1932 and 1936 the NEGROES BROKE RANKS AND SWARMED OVER, WHEREVER THEY HAD A CHANCE TO VOTE, to the Roosevelt camp. Now they are being CHASTISED by the G. O. P. BOSSES and by the men who for more than half a century have been PROMISING them relief against such monstrous inhumanity as lynching and the deprivation of their rights as citizens to a fair trial by a jury of their peers.

For the last 24 days, the business of the 75 Congress has been practically side-tracked by filibuster of southern senators against the anti lynching measure sponsored by the Roosevelt administration and, as part of the Democratic program, entitled to the support of the Democrat senators and congressmen.

Now comes Senator McNary, leader of the Senate minority, with no apology or explanation for the volte face, and announces that his REPUBLICAN COLLEAGUES WILL AID THE FILIBUSTER BY OPPOSING the cloture rule whereby the bill could be brought to a vote. That should be the last touch to drive the Negro voting population of the United States out of the camp of their BETRAYERS. Shrewd politician that he occasionally is, McNary plans to trade the Negro support of the South for what renegade Democrats the party may pick up by its opposition to the anti-lynching bill.

To understand the position of the Senate Republicans we have but to follow the course of the filibuster: to hear a blatherskite like Russell of Georgia declare that the bill is "a conspiracy of northern Democrats to sell their southern colleagues down the river." If enacted, he maintains, the bill "would destroy white civilization in the South and perhaps in the entire country."

I haven't a great deal of admiration for the kind of civilization which advocates child labor does not tolerate collective bargaining, is willing to trade human liberty with reactionary politicians for a mess of pottage, but if its existence depend upon the prepetuation of such crimes as burning Negroes at the stake and denying them constitutional rights they might enjoy in countries with the lowest standards of civilization, then no honest American can have a shred of respect for it.

I can understand McNary's desire to drive a wedge deeper between the warring factions of Democracy, but such old masters as Boies Penrose, Jim Watson and Charlie Hilles would know better than to alienate millions of trusting people by a cheap political trick.

The Eagle's Feathers

LAUDS MRS. HILL

It was my happy privilege last Thursday evening to attend the dinner given by the Women's Political Study Clubs, as a mark of appreciation to Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough for services rendered in securing the appointment of Carl R. Dent, as interne at the Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Some 500 guests, from every walk in life, regardless of creed, color or nationality, representing the best in our community life, were present. The absence of politics or political discussion served to keep the meeting on the high plane of its objectives.

Seated at the guest table, on the right and left of the mistress of ceremonies, our own Betty Hill, the dynamic leader of the study group, were the families of McDonough and Dent, no greater tribute of respect to Mrs. Hill's leadership could have been given than was shown by each speaker.

Every mention of her name, was the occasion of continuous applause, as a further mark of the esteem in which she is held and loved for her worth and work.

Both guests of honor and their families were deeply appreciative of the many expressions that came from a grateful people whom they tried to serve, and they were encouraged to continue on until all un-American restrictions against the rights of citizens were removed, so said Judges Gates and Tappin and others.

No member of our group is better known by the powers that be in city, county and district, than Betty Hill, and none is held in higher esteem, or treated with greater respect than she; among the many things that has served to endear her to all who come in contact with her, either in a social or business way, is her unselfishness. During all these years she has been going to the front, battling for others, she has never asked or received anything for Betty, but always for some one else.

Betty Hill's leadership, is the type of leadership needed in every community, if Negro citizenship is to be effective as such. The Woman's Political Study club has a constructive get-somewhere program. And I would like to commend it to our group throughout this entire nation. With such a program it would take them out of the class, especially in the political world; as being looked upon as a liability.

The National Republican committee, seeking to rehabilitate the party, would insure its success so far as our group is concerned if they were to add to Dr. Glenn Frank's committee (which at present has only two members of our group) the name of Betty Hill.

This will account for a large following of red-blooded young people and they have an organization known as the Junior league of the Woman's Political Study club. Here again, we take off our hat to Betty Hill and her loyal followers for they are building for the future by investing in the training and helping young people to prepare for definite service in life.

Yours for a bigger and better year in service for others.
ELBERT W. MOORE

LIKES HANDLING OF MERRIAM

I am delighted in the way your editorial handled the Governor for neglecting to put his political pie in reach of our group. It must have taken him a long time to consider that we need a piece of pie, from his bountiful hand.

I am surprised to note that his "Pie" failed to mature until just before the election. I am afraid it is too late for the banquet.

I was at the Capitol and our friend Senator Wagy of this city after being informed that I wanted to see the Governor, accompanied me to his secretary's office. The governor came out and I was introduced to him by the Senator, and he said I could have a conference with him the next day at 3:30 p. m. I was there according to his request and remained until 4:30 without seeing him.

I wrote him asking the cause of no reply. I had spent three days around the Capitol, and I think I found only eight of our group employed. Not a one was employed by him.

He may invite the General Conference to California, but I think had he done this two years ago, and invited us to his Pie table, it would have been life to him, but not now.

As to the Anti-Lynch Bill I am sending you a copy published in the "Bakersfield Californian" and will send Senator Johnson a copy, and inform him the colored voters are more than surprised at his voting against the Cloture which would have brought the Anti-Lynch Bill to a vote. Please print this in connection with the above statements.

Yours truly,
Rev. F. T. WALKER,
221 L. Street,
Bakersfield, Calif.

APPRECIATION

Allow me to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the space extended to me for my article concerning the new movement to organize Negro Semi-Pro and Amateur Baseball Clubs throughout the country into a National Organization.

In less than two weeks after the release, I am proud to say, that I have received nearly two hundred letters concerning the same and each day brings more requests for further information. I fully realize that we have thousands of daily papers (white), but there is only one way to reach the members of our race, and that is through the Negro Press.

I have heard from the owners of Negro Semi-Pro clubs, from Local Negro Amateur clubs, from Negro Colleges and Schools, from WPA Camps and from ball players and still letters come from every section of the country. I am swamped with mail and will be forced to send circular letters to answer the information desired.

Louisiana, Texas, California, Kansas, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Indiana, North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Missouri, Oklahoma, Georgia, Michigan, Maryland, District of Columbia and Alabama have taken the lead to help form this great movement. I am more than gratified for the numerous replies and requests for more information. One of the first things that I hope to impress upon the members of this new movement is the value to them of the Negro Press. Without it we cannot succeed.

Again thanking you and the members of the Sport Writers Association, I beg to remain,

Yours in cooperation,
QUINN J. GILMORE,
Organizer . S. Semi-Pro and Amateur Baseball Ass'n

CRUSADE FOR LIBERTY, EDUCATION, BALLOT

In our continuous struggle for citizenship rights during the last 18 years there have been three remarkable crusades in which colored women leaders have played a leading role: There was the campaign through women's clubs led by Mary B. Talbert later Spingarn Medalist, in which crusade the largest sum to fight lynching was raised, nearly $15,000. Dr. W. E. B. DuBois aptly termed this women's crusade, after the fashion of the middle ages, "The Ninth Crusade". Then during about 8 years of the 1920's clubs and committees and other colored women's groups all over America co-operated with the NAACP official in Baby Contests and other forms of contest in friendly rivalry, raising at least $100,000 in that period for freedom. That we termed, remembering the women's campaign "The Tenth Crusade" led by the brown babies! An inspired woman of California, Mrs. J. M. Scott, even founded a "Baby Fraternity" among the prize-winners of that section.

In the year 1938, seventy-five years after the issuance of the Proclamation of Emancipation, we have a woman leading our Crusade for Liberty, Education and the Ballot. Mrs. Daisy Lampkin, of Pittsburgh, Field Secretary of the NAACP, headed a sale of anti-lynching buttons in 1937 which netted over $10,000 for the fight of that terror. And it was decided that 75 years after Lincoln had proclaimed freedom a special effort should be made to reach the rank and file, even the individual who cannot take a one dollar membership in an organization, by selling for 10 cents a special button which can be pinned upon the breast or coat lapel. So in 1938 this special Crusade Button is being sold. This by no means is Crusade of the NAACP branches and members but of colored people of America: social organizations, universities, colleges, grade schools, churches and other religious organizations, fraternities, sororities, business concerns and special committees of men and women.

Mrs. Lampkin is making an effort to sell as many of these Liberty Crusade Buttons as possible by February 12th, 1938, which is the birthday of Abraham Lincoln and of the NAACP. The very fact that we can make such an effort 75 years after being freed from physical chains is proof enough that we can go

Snupee Suzee:

Well, I have recuperated from the fall I had from my flag pole. I know you sympathize with me as I hit the ground on the bot- tom--you know sitting up. Um hum--I heard some of you have been moaning my departure and the majority of you who resent- ed my column have been sorta inquiring as to me well-being. Well, I am O. K. after feasting on the bread and honey from my neighbors kitchen--and don't think I haven't been keeping my eye on you. Just listen to this . .

This week introducing to you one of Ensteins Men--Take it away Mr. W. B.—We hear you took a certain lady to the dance on another certain ladies money. We thought you were so inde- pendent, but Miss V. is certainly dragging you around body, mind and soul. They tell me there's no interest, no down payment and no carrying charges.

Act 2 of this dramatic little epi- sode opens with Delectable Ida singing "All over nothing at all" and her prize song never did she think six (6) weeks ago that she sang "I'll get along somehow", that she would be really meaning it. Well that's life I guess.

Did anyone see a sign in the "Snuggle Inn Cafe" on 4th and Pico advertising for a waitress (Or was it a stooge) to work dur- ing high school lunch hour? I didn't and neither did you, but C. F. did and they tell me she "Just wanted to be close, very close to Buster.

What fools these mortal me . . . Sorry M. W. has to wear out a perfectly good pair shoes walk- ing all over town looking for John. Turn about is fair play Maxine.

True love never runs smooth Cindy Dumas--That's a phrase of experience. Just give the dog a little more hope, he'll run until he gets hungry and then he'll come back just hoping we saved something for him. You know home-grown is always enjoyable.

Bob Campbell's not going so bad for himself. Venita isn't such a bad little chick . . . and how— That's a rather nice little four- some—Bob, Venita, George Al- len, Rosie Mitchell—All I can say the chicks are tops, but the cages, well not so . . .

Hear there's going to be a bang up graduation party—Menu (Exclusive to A. S. P.) Soup to nuts--You know--no babies allowed.

They tell me we have quite a bevy of sepia colored so called "learned kids" getting their cow hide, Oh! pardon me, I mean "Sheep Skins" (Mine was cow- hide) up at Sa Mo Hi this week. Anyway if you don't know as much as I do keep your eyes, ears, nose, mouth, pen and in a week after graduation you'll know more than you learned in all three (3) (or was it 5) years you were in high school . . . No slams kids . . . just fun—Con- gratulations to: Ruth Andrews, Althea Collins, Clora F. Whitley, Thomas Maxwell, Bob Burns, Wally Carter, Jr.

Well, I guess I'll make my exit not because I've run out, but 'cause I am hungry. You see a scavenger is never late. So I'll trot along and make my social call right at meal time . . .

The Gumshoers

Have you noticed how nice and clean 4th and Pico is since the cafe has opened, we mean the school corner . . . Services at Williams Chapel, A. M. E. Church were well at- tended this past Sunday due to the appearance of Sister Tucker, a well known woman evangelist who is conducting a revival meeting during the week of Feb. 7 to 13. Sister "Tuck" as she is better known by her many friends delivered a wonderful sermon and from all indications, the meeting will be a success.

Our pastor, Rev. Glover, D. D. has worked to put Williams Chapel out in front where it should be. After prayer and a few closing remarks, services were over, and the congregation departed for their homes.

Mrs. Lester Gatlin is in the Hospital although her illness is not considered serious, her friends wish her a speedy recov- ery.

Mrs. Francis Jackson gave a birthday party for her many friends and acquaintances Sun- day night at her home at 211 S. Mesa street. Mrs. Aida Sanders and Mrs. Lula Cambell acted as hostesses. A beautiful three lay- er cake was cut and served along with turkey and wine. Each and every guest had a very enjoy- able evening. SCHMELING - BRAY BOUT 'GONE WITH THE WIND'

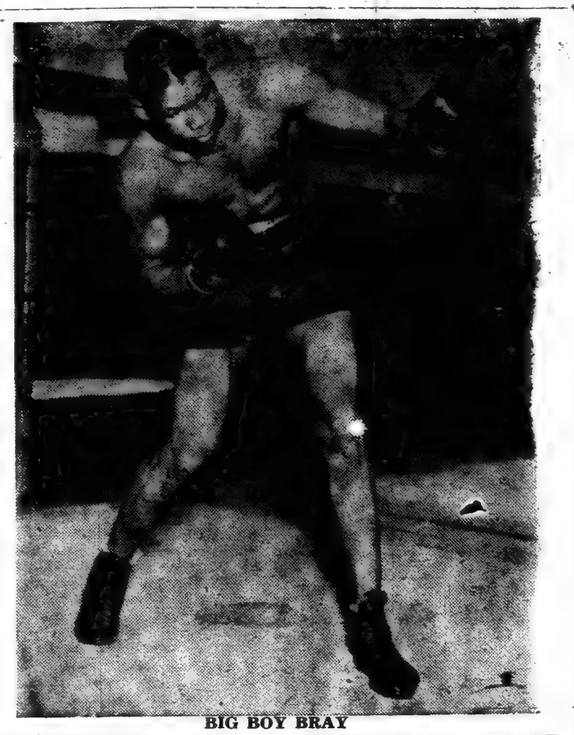
Lenglet and Bray in Poor Display of 'Manly Art'

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Big Boy Bray and Andre Lenglet, two heavyweights who are supposed to be pretty good, put up the sorriest exhibition of pugilistic warfare at the Olympic auditorium Tuesday night we've seen in some time.

For ten rounds it was miss and hold, and mostly hold, at that. Fully 40 minutes of agony inflicted upon a comparatively good crowd, considering the rainy weather, who deserved a better fate. This same crowd would have gotten a greater kick out of seeing "Jiggs" konked by "Maggie" or thrilling to the daring of "Don Winslow" in the funny sheets.

Referee George Blake and two judges decided the affair was a draw — not that the crowd cared, one way or another. It was a good decison, one missed and held, as much as the other.



The winner was also supposed to be in line for a shot with Max Schmeling. Max could have taken on both Tuesday night and if he hadn't been loved to death he would have been a cinch to score a double kayo victory.

MOBLEY WINS

Clowning Henry Mobley, the former Golden Gloves lightheavyweight champion, toyed with Sal Herrera, the Mexican trialhorse, for six rounds in the semiwindup, to walk away in a Stepin Fetchit manner with a lop-sided decision. It was all Mobley from gong to gong. Although he wasn't able to stow Sal away, he hit his tough foe at will.

Tino de Rama, punched out a close victory over Bobby Siegal, "Pop" Foster's classy featherweight who is being touted as another Jimmy McLarnin. Siegal took a nine count in the first round of the six-rounder. Bobby was steadily evening things up when the bell ended the final canto.

Eddie Norris was a TKO winner in the third over Marcus Rey; Wirt Ross' Haystack Sloan was an easy victor over Buster Alexander, a substitute; and Ernie Carter, adjudged the best of the boys in the preliminaries, slugged out the nod in the opener. They were all fours, with Frankie Van referee.

BIG BOY BRAY

Million Dollar Five Tackles All-Star Team

F-L-A-S-H

The Alma Joven Lodge team of Mexican girls basketball champions will play one half of a big double bill next Sunday night featuring Million Dollar Productions' '5' against Hollywood All-Stars. The speedy tricky, far-shooting squad of Old Mexico's classiest Senoritas are matched against the California Eaglets, a well experienced club that was carefully selected from the stars of the former eight team Girl's Basketball League that used to make history at Patriotic Hall.

Bill Robinson's Bojangles Five and the Million Dollar Productions Quintet were featured in a double header last Sunday night at Golden West Elks courts. The Bojangles beat the Aztecs 40-33, from Mexico City, and Million Dollar defeated the Mexican Olympics, 45-36.

Included in the Bojangles' lineup were Williams, Ashford, Garland, Chism, King, Thornton, Hardin, Reeves, Courtney, Kilgore, Harding, coach and guard, and Herman Hill, manager.

In Million Dollar's line-up are Morrison, King, Myles, Burns, Easter, Cook, Bowman and Ralph Cooper, coach and forward.

Touring California, the Million Dollar Productions Five Hollywood will tangle with a crack ocal team of All-Stars next Friday, February 11. Basketball fans are in for a real treat as Million Dollar all crack colored cage artists are recognized as champions all through the east from which they recently returned. They have followed this up with an unbroken string of wins since returning to play almost nightly in Los Angeles and vicinity.

Economy Store Softballers in Tie for League Lead

Economy Liquor Store Softball team held to their share of the Municipal League tie by defeating the very aggressive "Diamond Club" 19 to 8 after 12 innings of play last Sunday.

Economy's "murders row" of Wade, Johnson, Macon and Direaux, hit when hits were needed to send Harry Diamond to the showers in the seventh inning. He was replaced by Joe Donchess who rates as one of the best of the softball pitchers. The Diamond Club boys jumped into an early lead by scoring two runs in the first inning, however, Economy's "murderers row" came through to put across three tallies in their half of the same inning "Grouchy" Direaux hit a homer with two "children" on.

Things went along entertainingly as Buddy Richardson and the celebrated Harry Diamond matched pitch for pitch. In the fifth inning the Diamond Club's bats began to ring. When they were silenced the scoreboard read Diamonds 6, Economy 4. Again "Murderers row" went to work as Direaux hit his second foursacker of the day. In the seventh inning the "Sparklers" pulled away from the "Hooch" boys by the tune of 8 to 6. Lionel Alexander (the pitching postman) replaced Richardson for the wine house gang. At this point Harry Diamond was replaced with Joe Donchess, by this time the afore mentioned "row" came up in the last half of the ninth inning trailing by two runs. The "row" got to Donchess for two runs knotting the score, forcing the game into extra innings.

Things went interestingly along until the 12th inning when Cleve Macon, Economy shortstopper hit a line drive into left center for a home run scoring Johnson ahead of him. When the smoke cleared away in the 12th inning, Alexander was credited with victory while the great Donchess was charged with defeat.

Xavier Leads Southern Casaba Loop

If you think the West coast is going mad about basketball, take a look at the sports pages of the nation's weekly newspapers for an indication of the frenzy the rest of the country is in over casaba-cavorting.

Interest in the sport locally is of minor proportion compared to the enthusiasm of fans in the southern sections of the country.

No indoor track, golf, winter league baseball, ice hockey, or boxing matches divert the attention of the sports fan in those regions during the interim between football and baseball, so King Casaba occupies the throne.

In southern college loops, Xavier university, at this date, leads the way. The Louisiana university, according to newspaper stories, has the strongest team in many years. Incidentally it is noticed that Xavier is going in for athletics in a big way ever since Ralph Metcalfe cast his lot with the coaching staff.

To date Xavier has had only one defeat, that at the hands of the Alabama State college Hornets.

Standings of the colleges in the loop are as follows: Xavier, Clark, South Carolina State, Le Moyne, Morehouse, Tuskegee Fisk, Alabama, Talladega, Knoxville, Morris Brown and Florida.

Philadelphia Cagers Win Seventh Straight; Tag Kentucky State Five

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Feb. 10—The Philadelphia Commandeurs put on the spot two weeks ago by their sensational showing against Kautsky's Big Five of Indianapolis, Indiana, for three years the National League Professional basketball champions, looked forward today to a winning record that may place them on the top of the heap before long.

The Commandeurs won seven straight games, against seven outstanding teams in six different states, in seven consecutive days. After traveling some 3100 miles to play them ought to be some kind of record.

Defeat Tucky State

With Charlie Young and Jimmie Wood playing an excellent brand of basketball, the Commandeurs nosed out the Kentucky State College Five Saturday night by the score of 48-46. Edwards, Patton and Moore starred for the Thorobreds.

The Commandeurs travelled 3100 miles to play these seven games. The average attendance was 600 people per game. In every town except Evansville where they have an exceptionally large hall, the hall was packed to the doors. The popular Philadelphians have achieved the seemingly impossible so often during the years they have been on the road that it is no longer news when they hang up another record. They have registered so many underdog conquests during the last seven day winning streak, over the great road hazards, hours of steady driving, and against other big odds that it seems their only worry is the chance of going on the floor some night with the proper sleep and rest in their favor.

Throughout the week Charley Young and Jimmie Johnson bore the brunt of both the offensive and defensive attack.

PRAIRIE VIEW WHIPS WILEY FIVE, 31-19

Friday night the Prairie View Panthers outclassed the Wiley Wildcats on the Wiley court in a game that saw the purples go down before the state team 31-19. The first half suggested that the score would be piled up in swing time as each team took turns in getting the lead and even though Prairie View led 18-14 at the half the tussle still looked like anybody's game. However, it wasn't in the cards for the Cats.

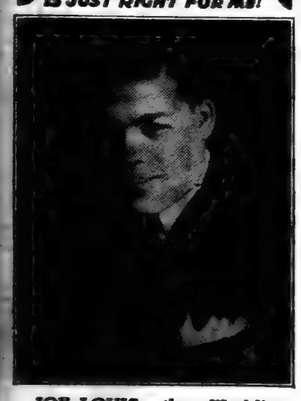
Metcalfe, one time 100 yard dash record holder is coach at Xavier, which is located in New Orleans, La.



Metcalf told the press that he brought the boys north for the experience against keen competition would give them; however, he says he would not be surprised if some of them should place in some of the events.

With him is Lloyd Thompson, National junior high jump champion of 1937, who won his title in Milwaukee. Others are Gilder Farrow, 45 ward hurdler, who finished third in the 110 meter high hurdles last year, Willard Woods and Enos Hicks, dash men.

down in front WITH THE STAFF

Basketball and boxing are occupying the limelight of the current sport season with brilliant talent on display in many arenas. Henry Armstrong, king of the featherweights, is making boxing the favorite pastime this winter here in the world's year-round playground. With King Henry leading the local sports parade after chalking up another kayo victory over Chalky Wright at the Olympic Tuesday night of last week, we turn the Sports' Beacon on glamorous Fistiana.

We salute the two boxing moguls of the State Athletic Commission, Bill Smith, Chief Boxing Inspector, and Tom Cox, Amateur boxing executive. We doff our hats to Tom O'Grady, president, Amateur Coachers Association of Southern California, and John Lemar De Lavallade, secretary.

In making the rounds of the fight clubs, we temporarily halted our road work at the All-Nation Boxing Gymnasium, 1046 E. 29th Street of which John De Lavallade is manager and trainer. 'French' maintains the largest privately operated gym for boxers on the Coast. The gym is equipped with a standard boxing ring, showers, heavy and light punching bags, double and single swivel bags, speed bags, ropes for climbing, rowing machines, and various other facilities for physical conditioning. In the dressng room are lockers for 50 boys. De Lavallade, a former contractor, gave up building cement and brick structures to devote his full time to building strong bodily structures skilled in the manly art or self-defense. Listed on the books in his "stable" are:

Here, the popular fight manager and trainer, Charlie Williams and his partner Art "Iron Duke" Holloway, the former sailor pugilist, have a bee-hive of boxers working out.

LIKE COLD, damp air that seeps in through your warm clothing and chills you through and through, the American mob spirit has slowly but surely seeped into Mexico.

This morning's news states that three have been slain and 14 wounded as a Mexican mob attempted to seize the killer of a little girl from a Tiajuana jail.

The American newspaper headlines take a different attitude from that which is assumed when a similar incident occurs in our own United States.

Many investigations by the National Association have pointed out that men who commit such acts, which have been prevalent in this country, first black their faces, then the newspapers in glaring headlines tell how a Negro has raped a woman or child. There is no doubt but that this Mexican mob action has been promoted and stimulated by American newspaper propaganda.

In civil, religious, and even in love-affair quarrels, Mexicans set little value on life — apparently they consider killing the easiest manner of settling a dispute; but never before have I heard the cry coming out of little Mexico, "Lynch the Killer!"

Realizing that much that goes on across the border is first watched on the American side, General Contreras, in an international radio broadcast, assured the people of Mexico that the full strength of the law will be thrown in this case to the end that justice will be meted out to all concerned.

So, the United States, nearest neighbor and big-sister to the Mexican Republic, has been left, in the matter of lynch law, far behind by that progressive little state which demands justice in lieu of mob-rule.

IN THIS age of change, when systems and conditions automatically seek to readjust themselves with the hope of equalizing things, many reformers have come forward. They aim to revolutionize business and the social order. Looking out of the windows of our own consciousness, we wonder if the approach is made in confusion rather than in a calm facing of facts.

In all walks of life, a great crime check has started. Cities have been protected against floods caused by swelling tides in a process of water-daming; but, occasionally, the dams break and life and property losses are great. This is just about what is going on in our so-called crime clean-up at the present — a certain political element wants to get into power — so, it proposes to dam the crime wave until it gets in; then, if the dam breaks, "they should worry".

None of these selfish, periodical reform movements benefit the people who are the victims of crime. There is an old adage, "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure". However, I am prone to the belief that our present day crime crusaders are not honest in their desire to make the world a cleaner place in which to live, or they should go after the cause rather than the effect.

I really would like to call some names, but I realize I would risk my very life by so doing; so I will just ask this question — "When is a man honest?"

There are people here in this city of Los Angeles who owe the California Eagle cash — American dollars — for printing and publicity who, because they rank high in either church or society or both, are not to be questioned insofar as their honesty or integrity are concerned. They are outstanding, fine folk, not because they pay their debts, but because they are who they are.

Now, tell me, please — who is the bigger thief? The man who robs a bank or the dicty dude or society lady who, because she feels protected by her social standing, steals and cheats by not paying honest debts to this and other Negro-owned businesses.

Jesse Holmes Jailed As 'Wildcat' Taxi Operator

"Laying in jail with my back to the wall,
A 'wildcat' taxi was the cause of it all:
Oh tell me how long must I have to wait?" . . .

This was the "prison song" sung by Jesse Holmes, 36, of 1268 East 49th street, last Friday when officers of the law finally caught up with him and "deposited" him in the city bastile for "safe keeping" on a charge of operating a "wildcat" taxi and jitney service without first having obtained a permit from the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation.

"General Nuisance"

Police Sergeant Tom James, and Inspector Edwin W. Hively, working under the personal direction of Captain James Gunn, veteran Chief Motor Vehicle Inspector for the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, who made the arrest of Holmes declared in their reports that the fast talking "man about town" and self-styled "politician", had been operating a wildcat taxi for hire without a permit for months and had been a general nuisance in and around the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe depots. The two sleuths also declared that Holmes had been warned many times, and subpoened a long list of witnesses to back up their charges.

Thousand Dollars Bail

When the case was called before Judge Charles Newell Carnes' night court Friday, Holmes asked for a jury trial at which time the case was set for Feb. 21st at 9:30 a. m. in Division 7 of the Municipal Court. When Sergeant James addressed the court and told the Judge that

JESSE HOLMES

Holmes had been operating a "wildcat" taxi for months in "flagrant and arrogant" violation of the law, and asked for a bail "consistant with the charges so the defendant won't go out

Traffic Dead Numbers 119 Since Jan. 1st

Woman Struck While Attempting to Push Stalled Car; to D. A.

An elderly Eastside woman was added to the roster of traffic dead that now numbers 119 since January 1.

She is Mrs. Dora Simmons, of 700 East Vernon avenue, who succumbed to injuries received when she was struck by a drunken driver, speeding north on Hooper avenue late Sunday evening.

Archie Terry, 1314 East 12th street, 39-year-old chauffeur, was held to answer on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter following the woman's death in General Hospital.

According to investigating officers Clark and McGruder, Mrs. Summons was attempting to push her car which was stalled at 56th street and Hooper avenue when Terry's machine collided into the rear of the victim's car.

Both legs of the woman were broken below the knee, her body was badly mangled with bruises, lacerations and contusions and severe internal injuries inflicted upon her by the crash as she was caught between the two cars.

Terry admitted that he had been drinking and failed to see the car or the woman until he was within ten feet of the fatal scene.

At a Coroner's inquest held yesterday, the jury brought in an open verdict, leaving the case to be referred to the District Attorney's office. "Negligence" on the part of the driver and "carelessness" on the part of the victim was the opinion.

Stricken On Way to Work

While driving his car to work Tuesday morning of last week, Samuel Johnson, 1404 East 49th street, was stricken with a heart attack. Turning the machine to the curb at 42nd and Western, he died.

Last rites for the deceased were held from the church chapel of the Angelus Funeral Home last Friday afternoon, Rev. F. H. Prentice officiating.

Johnson was born in Tennessee and came to Los Angeles 17 years ago. He was employed for eleven years as butler for an executive of 20th Century-Fox studios.

Mrs. Myra Johnson, his widow, and a large number of relatives in Los Angeles survive.

PASADENA MATRON SUES THEATRE, WINS

Mrs. Eva Williams, 32 West Claremont street, of Pasadena, was awarded a judgement of $125.00 last week against the United West Coast theatre corporation, owners of the Fox West Coast Tower theatre of Pasadena for alleged unlawful eviction and violation of her right of admittance to the theatre.

Mrs. Williams, through Atty. Thomas L. Griffith of the firm of Griffith and Griffith, stated that on June 27, 1937 she was standing in the foyer of the Fox West Coast theatre with other persons waiting for a seat. The manager asked her to move to another spot in the foyer. As he gave no reason, Mrs. Williams told the court she refused, whereupon she was evicted.

No discrimination was charged by Atty. Griffith because of the presence in the theatre and foyer of other Negroes, who were undisturbed. A Joe Louis fight picture was being showed at the time.

Solons Reject Cloture On Mob Measure

Relief Appropriations Message May Complicate Fight for Passage

B-U-L-L-E-T-I-N

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—The Senate yesterday rejected another attempt to break the anti-lynching bill filibuster as Republicans joined with the filibusting southern senators in vetoing the proposed cloture 42 to 46. It was noted as significant, however, by the bill's proponents that the vote for the cloture was five more than at the last tally.

Debate, in which advocators of the measure took part, preceded the vote on cloture. Minority leader Charles L. McNary, Republican from Oregon and Majority Leader Alben W. Barkeley, Democrat of Kentucky bandied words on the attitude of President Roosevelt toward the bill.

"Doesn't the Senator believe that if we had had a little help from the White House this bill might have passed?" McNary asked.

"Oh, the senator is trying to play cheap politics," Barkeley retorted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 17. — The message of President Roosevelt to both houses of Congress urging an additional appropriation of $250,000,000 for relief threatened yesterday to complicate the fight for the passage of the Gavagan-Wagner-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill.

After five weeks before the Senate, the anti-lynching bill appeared definitely waning in favor.

In the beginning with the filibusters monopolizing all the time, the supporters of the bill adopted a policy of watchful waiting, confident that they had the votes to pass the measure. As time wore on, the filibusterers gained some public backing. The fact that the Senate refused to sidetrack the bill on February 4 by a vote of 52-34 however, indicated that even after four solid weeks of debating, support of the bill was somewhat firm.

The introduction of the relief measure has caused the organizations supporting the anti-lynching bill to go into a huddle. Two brief conferences have been held here between representatives of the NAACP and senators who are sponsoring the legislation on the floor.

Home Brewer Claims Still

A huge copper still with all the trappings to make home brew, two gallons of alcohol and over 200 gallons of mash in various stages of fermentation greeted police officer T. B. Washington, of Newton street division, when he answered a call to 1546½ E. 22nd street late Tuesday night.

But the operator of the home brew factory was missing. So Washington decided to wait around and see what happened. About 3 o'clock in the morning in crept Chester Bonner, aged 40, stealthily, cautiously. Flicking on an old gas light, the man was confronted by the officer who questioned his ownership of the still.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

"Every person lynched is guilty" are the final words of the respectable citizens who are enroute to their homes after a night of dealing justice with a rope. This type of logic is as dead as yesterday's gingerale. Hatred and fear foster this kind of inhuman thinking. If there is some doubt afterwards, then they reason, the nature of a Negro, Mexican or Jew is such that if he did not commit the crime, he nearly did or at least he might have, and in any case he was just about to commit a crime which was even worse. And as they sip their strong black coffee or corn liquor, they religiously look to their God and say he must have been guilty or else he would not have been lynched. United States Senators, our gentlemen of culture, are willing to let a southern procedure known as a filibuster defeat the cry of millions for justice. Minority rises in a democratic government and attempts to defeat the majority. The world interest in lynching is spreading and today as I write, Mexico has caught the spirit at Tiajuana. Just 'over the border, Mexican soldiers fired on the citizens. Looks like a failure; they need instructions from some of our liquor-guzzling southerners who know their ropes. Even good southerners have cussed these gentlemen of the Senate. America is on trial. I still feel that Walter White and his great faith in the majority group will finally win the world's greatest battle for justice. "All night a bright and solitary star, hung pitifully o'er the swinging char. Day dawned, and soon the mixed crowds came to view. The ghastly body swaying in the sun: the women thronged to look, but never a one showed sorrow in her eyes of steely blue; and little lads, lynchers that were to be, danced 'round the dreadful thing in fiendish glee." — Claude McKay cries as the Senate sighs! The Eastern Begins 47th Year of Business in L. A.

This week The Eastern, one of California's leading home furnishing institutions, begins its 47th year of business in Los Angeles. Celebrating over 4 decades as California's Home Store, this event is taking the form of a series of 46 Super Sales, according to Mr. J. M. Sieroty, vice president and son of the founder of the firm.

Spurgeon Jones

"At this time it is fitting that we state again my father's plan for the growth of this business", said Mr. Sieroty. "His creed was that at all times Eastern should maintain a position of stability in the community, growing and working with the community and contrbuting everything possible to the common good. It was his aim to offer families in all circumstances the convenience of budget payments in the purchase of things that were necessities in a happier home.

EXTENSION OF CREDIT

"It is significant", the executive said, "that, whereas in recent years the extension of credit has been adopted by almost all businesses, Mr. Adolph Sieroty pioneered this system of planned buying on budget terms in Southern California some 46 years ago. Up to that time the average man had been unable to buy many of the things he needed without a long delay."

"Time has proven this policy of convenient budget terms to be just as sound and practical as Mr. Sieroty believed it to be n 1892. It is our aim to carry on this policy backed by the lowest possible cash prices."

A series of 46 Storewide Super Sales celebrating this Anniversary will be carried on in all of Eastern's Los Angeles County Stores.

Mr. Spurgeon Jones, sales manager of Eastern at 4500 South Central Avenue, who states unheard-of-values are to at his store during the anniversary event.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

"Reading maketh a full man; conference a ready man; and writing an exact man." — Francis Bacon.

A number of well-known authors have recently published some interesting new books. Instead of bringing you reviews or criticisms of their works we shall permit you to enjoy what the authors themselves have to say.

The wise and witty Lin Yu-tang in his book of essays on "The Importance of Living" has this to say about Reading:

"One doesn't read 'to improve one's mind,' because when one begins to think of improving his mind, all the pleasure of reading is gone. He is the type of person who says to himself: 'I must read Shakespeare, and I must read the entire Five Foot Shelf of Dr. Eliot, so I can become an educated man.' I'm sure that man will never become educated. To be thoroughly enjoyed reading must be entirely spontaneous."

An interesting character in Robert Nathan's new novel, "Winter In April" speaks the following lines about writing:

"Perhaps the art of writing is not dead after all. Perhaps there are still somewhere in the world young men who are not afraid to be humble and modest, and who are at the same time proud to be men and brothers. Not that modesty is what one looks for first of all in a writer; but it does him no harm to be a little humble. Just imagine, if the young men of the future were to be men of good will. That would be a good joke on their parents."

Burton Rascoe speaks on Authors in his small volume called "The Joys of Reading."

"Authors are people. Take them away from their books and you have as miscellaneous a lot of rogues and heroes as ever tormented or ennobled the human race. Except for their books there is no way to classify them. They come out of garrets and basements and even, occasionally palaces. They stay exactly where they are born, and they travel to the ends of the earth; in imagination they range the universe."

Visit the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Avenue or the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Ave. for books by authors who are worth-while.

Local Boy has Spot in 'Porgy, Bess'

Selecting talent for his musical play, "Porgy and Bess" the late George Gershwin, author, was so charmed by the rich baritone voice of Luther Carpenter that he was chosen to play the part of "Jim".

Mr. Carpenter is well known in local musical circles, a member of the Music Art Association and is considered one of the country's outstanding baritones.

A legion of friends are glad to see Luther get a break and he is measuring up round and full to all expectations. He is son of Mrs. Fannie Carpenter, one of the westside's most prominent citizens.

Rosenwald Greatest Benefactor of Negro Since Lincoln, Says Noted 'Y' Secretary

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 17—The late Julius Rosenwald was called "the greatest benefactor of the Negro race since Abraham Lincoln" in a statement by Channing H. Tobias, Senior National Y. M. C. A. Colored Secretary in connection with the Colored Y's annual observance of Rosenwald Day and Race Relations last Sunday. In paying tribute to Mr. Rosenwald, wealthy Jewish philanthropist, Mr. Tobias extolled him as the finest example of a citizen who served humanity beyond racial lines.

"It is fitting," said Mr. Tobias, "on the occasion of Race Relations Sunday, established to show the need for friendly cooperation among the different races, that our 196 city and student Y. M. C. A.'s honor the man who continued Lincoln's concern for the Negro. Furthermore, Mr. Rosenwald typifies to us the finest example of one who transcended racial lines to aid the under-man, whether white or colored, Jew, Catholic or Protestant."

5,000 Schools in South

"Today 5,000 rural schools in the South are giving a chance to over a half million Negro boys and girls to learn their 3 R's, home-making, simple farming and mechanical industries because of Mr. Rosenwald's interest in the underprivileged. Modern YMCA's offering a recreational and cultural center for populations in 25 cities have been erected through his generosity. Through the Rosenwald Fund, schools, hospitals, clinics and colleges for white and colored and of all faiths, have known his benefactions.

"Mr. Rosenwald believed firmly in removing the causes of suffering and poverty. He also was an advocate of the principle that interracial differences will yield to mutual understanding and goodwill when the different groups are involved in a common task. This prompted him to offer $25,000, to any city that would raise $75,000 for a Y. M. C. A. Twenty-five cities took advantage of this, Mr. Rosenwald contributed $637,000.

CONTINUING CAMPAIGN

National Y. M. C. A.,

"The Colored Department of the Y. M. C. A.," Mr. Tobias continued, "is now launching a $125,000 campaign to conserve the investments made in Colored Y. M .C. A.'s. The campaign which is being carried on in connection with the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the Colored Y. M. C. A. Work, also includes projects for establishing Associations in Southern States, where there are still 3,000,000 Colored Boys without Y. M. C. A. service.

Child Burns to Death Trying to Keep Warm

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17. (CNA)—Because the landlord of the tiny apartment in which she lived refused to furnish enough heat to keep her thin body warm, little Mary Thomas, nine-year old girl was burned to death this week.

The child's dress caught fire when she attempted to warm herself before an electric burner which her mother used to provide heat in the apartment. Her twenty-five year old mother, Mrs. Nannie Thomas, was just returning when she saw her daughter afire. The little girl was wrapped in blankets and rushed to the Women's Homeopathic Hospital but she died shortly after her arrival.

The apartment, if it could be so named, is on the third floor of a typical Philadelphia Negro slum neighborhood. There are no lights in the hallway and air could be felt as it rushes into the places from the many holes in the building.

"I'm moving out as soon as I can find anything", her mother declared between sobs. "I've about walked my feet off trying to find a place. But you know it's hard to find anything if you are on relief and especially if you are colored."

Mrs. Thomas was worried about the funeral expenses of her little girl. It cost $80 to bury Mary, and that sum has to come from the $11.80 a week she gets on relief.

There are six other children in the family.

Following the tragedy the Tenants League of Philadelphia called upon Mayor Wilson and demanded that he indict on a charge of mansluaghter, Whitfield Nottage, white owner of the building.

The organization also plans a meeting "to protest the rotten conditions which made the death of Mary Thomas possible and endangers the entire Negro and white population living in the notorious Philadelphia slums.

France Increases Forces in Africa

PARIS, Feb. 17. (CNA)—Steps to guard the French African colonies were described this week by Albert Sarraut, Minister of the Interior and French North African Affairs.

Speaking before the Senate Foreign Affairs Commission, Sarraut said that measures had already been taken to strengthen France's position in North Africa. Declaring that the government was giving the colonial governors a freer hand in the administration of the colonies, Sarraut indicated that the "defense" measures were directed against the rising national liberation movements in the colonies as well as against agents of fascist countries seeking to subvert those movements to their own ends.

Sarraut explained that the tension between Italy and France in the Mediterranean had developed to the point where the government considers such measures necessary.

ROBERT C. WEAVER GETS FEDERAL JOB ON HOUSING SET-UP

Outstanding Economist is Special

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Nathan Straus, Administrator of the United States Housing Authority, today announced the appointment of Dr. Robert C. Weaver as Special Assistant to the Administrator as Adviser on Negro Relations of the United States Housing Authority.

Regarded as one of the outstanding economists of his race and recognized as an expert in the low-rent housing field, Dr. Weaver has been advisor on Negro Affairs in the Department of the Interior for the past four years. In this capacity he served also as consultant to the Housing Division of the Public Works Administration, aiding n the development of 21 low-rent housing projects for Negro slum dwellers.

A native of Washington, D. C., Dr. Weaver received his Bachelor's, Master's and Doctor's degrees in economics from Harvard University. He taught economics at Agricultural and Technical College in Greensboro, North Carolina, and was one of the founders of the Negro Industrial League.

HOUSING PROGRAM ACUTE

Negroes face an acute housing problem in every city where they form an appreciable part of the population, Dr. Weaver asserted today.

"The most significant post-war social force among colored Americans has been their urbanization," he said.

"The migration of Negroes from the South to northern and western cities has been emphasized in the past. The less spectacular movement in the South of Negroes from rural to urban areas has occasioned less publicity and comment. However, largely as a result of these movements of population there is an appreciable Negro population, Negroes face an acute housing problem.

"While the Housing problem is for the most part the result of low wages, in the case of colored persons there is, in addition, a peculiar scarcity of decent, low-rent shelter. Negroes, as the most recent migrators, are forced to live in old, poorly designed and dilapidated buildings which have been discarded by other groups.

"In many cities colored citizens are further handicapped by legal restrictions and property covenants which artificially limit the supply of shelter. Obviously, a program designed to benefit low-income persons must concern itself in large measure with Negroes.

Infantile Paralysis Clinic at Tuskegee Considered

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. — One of the first places being considered for the establishment of an infantile paralysis clinic for colored children is at Tuskegee Institute. Out of the campaign being waged by President Roosevelt in behalf of funds for a foundation designed to combat infantile paralysis may come help for the thousands of Negro children afflicted by the dread disease.

Negro children have not been treated at Warm Springs. This institution is a private sanitarium which has served as a laboratory to demonstrate what can be done in combatting the disease. Fees are high in Warm Springs and due to the location in Georgia and there are no separate accommodations, Negroes have not been admitted.

BELMONT, Mass. — Mrs. Cordelia Howard McDonald, white, who as Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin", the famous play protesting slavery, won the applause of Abraham Lincoln, began her 91st year of life Wednesday. She retired from the stage at the age of 62, but is still active.

Introduces Lynch Bill in Mississippi Legislature

JACKSON, Miss. — An anti-lynching bill that would make mob members liable to charges of murder was introduced in the Mississippi legislature Wednesday by Rep. Hilton Watts of Greenville, who asked assemblymen to enact a statue of their own "to checkmate federal intervention in state's rights".

Watts, who also said the bill was designed to show the North that Southern states "could handle their own affairs," defined lynching as "any act of violence by a mob which shall result in death".

Persons charged with participation in a lynching would be subject to prosecution on a murder charge and prosecuting attorneys would be required to investigate and prosecute lynching cases immediately.

The Watts bill classified a mob as "any collection of people assembled for the purpose of committing an assault upon any person without authority of law."

Well Known Evangelist "Blows" into Houston

HOUSTON, Texas. — George Anthony, the nationally known diamond tooth evangilist and successful spiritualist of Philadelphia, blew into Houston last week, sporting a new Lincoln Zephyr and accompanied by his Chinese bride of six weeks, Jeneice Wong, reputedly the cousin of Anna Mae Wong, the famous Chinese actress of Hollywood.

His visit to Houston is a part of his tour of Texas which will take him to all the principal cities of the state.

While here he has been holding public meetings and private readings. Mobs have jammed the meetings to hear his message on spiritual psychology and hundreds have flocked to the home of Mrs. Annie Cole, where he is a guest, to tell him of their woes and seek his advice. His retinue of assistants have been kept constantly on the alert.

New Drug Restores Mental Faculties

CHICAGO. — Through the use of Metrazol, a new drug, psychiatrists at the Chicago State hospital have been able during the last eight months to restore mental faculties to about 95 per cent of the institution's dementia precox patients, according to Dr. F. S. Rankin, state psychiatrist and resident physician at the Chicago State hospital.

The new treatment, according to Dr. Rankin, can be accomplished in from six to eight weeks.

The drug, administered twice a week intravenously, acts on the cardio-respiratory center of the brain and causes the patient to undergo a convulsion similar to an epileptic seizure. This brain shock has the effect of strangely correcting the abnormal conditions which had previously existed, restoring the patient's sanity in most cases.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Indignant denials that Bishop H. Y. Singleton, local attorney, as published in several newspapers last week, were issued by his friends here this week.

$1 Opens An Account at Liberty

Following announcement last week by the Liberty Building-Loan Association that it had secured insurance of its accounts up to $5000 for eacl individual by a $100,000,000 corporation, which is a permanent agency of the United States government, inquiries have been pouring into its offices at 2512 South Central avenue daily, officials of the institution said in an interview yesterday.

Letters have also begun to come from those living outside of Los Angeles asking for more detailed information as to the terms of investment, and the amount needed to open an account, it was revealed.

In reference to this particular inquiry as to how much one must have to start an account with the Liberty, the secretary said:

"One dollar is all that is needed to open an account with us. And we are glad to say that the first dollar a depositor invests has the same insurance protection as the maximum amount of $5000.

"One of our main objectives is to put forth every effort to have every Negro in Los Angeles demonstrate his pride in this institution of his, and his race conscousness by investing his savings in the Liberty. To anyone who will take the time to stop in to see us, we shall be only too glad to prove to them that their money placed in the Liberty has a maximum safety, at the same time giving them maximum earnings."

CONGRATULATIONS

The more than 800 old investors in the Liberty Building-Loan Association since it beginning in 1924 have showered congratulations upon the company for its remarkable progressive action in insuring its accounts, the management said, adding that they have pledged themselves to encourage all their friends and acquaintances to immediately start an account with the Association.

As a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank, and approved to make loans under the Federal Housing Act, the Liberty Building-Loan Association is now in a position to render the highest type of investment and home-financing service, it was learned.

HODGE GETS HITLER'S ASSURANCE OF 'NO PREJUDICE' ON TOUR

Visiting Parties to Germany Enjoy Hospitality Extended to Guests

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (C)—Assurance from Adolf Hitler of no prejudice and no embarrassment on his proposed tenth annual tour of Europe next summer, when he will visit Germany for the eighth time, came to Adolph Hodge, Brooklyn, N. Y., Friday, from the American representatives of Chancellor Hitler in New York.

Mr. Hodge had addressed a letter to Chancellor Hitler, pointing out that from press reports he was much concerned about the treatment colored people would receive on a visit to Germany, but adding that on several previous visits, he and his parties had received the utmost courtesy everywhere and that their trips had been enjoyable. Mr. Hodge told Mr. Hitler that he wanted personal assurance that his party would be shown the same courtesy and respect. In reply Mr. Hodge received the following letter from E. Schmitz, Representative of the U. S. A., German Railroads.

Text of Letter

"The chancellery of the German Fuehrer has forwarded to us your letter of December 19 addressed to Mr. Adolf Hitler and expressing concern about your welcome in Germany and what the official attitude in regard to your reception would be.

'We beg to advise you that whoever comes to Germany as a guest or visitor enjoys in Germany the hospitality extended to any and all guests.

"This spirit has always prevailed in Germany. Allow me to quote from an editorial of the famous sports writer, Bill Henry, which was published in the Los Angeles Times very recently, or to be correct, on January 7, 1938. Mr. Henry, who was an observer in Berlin at the time, writes about Jesse Owens:

Owens "Most Popular"

" 'Owens became the outstanding Olympic hero of modern times by winning four gold medals at Berlin. He was not only the outstanding athlete of the Games but the most popular with the crowds. He was swamped by autograph and camera fiends outside the stadium, cheered and applauded inside, and was invited on postseason trips to all parts of Germany . . . They asked him on his arrival (in the United States) about the snubbing and ill-treatment in Germany and Owens quite frankly told the world that he not only had not been snubbed but that he'd never been treated better in his life."

Sailing in July

Upon receipt of the letter Mr. Hodge was elated, for he said his tour of Europe this year, on which he will sail in July, will touch England, France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Holland, Hungary, Belgium, Switzerland, Yugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia, and will proceed with greater confidence of a happy vacation as on each of his nine previous tours. Mr. Hodge added that he has received letters from all hotels where his party will stop, and has been assured of a courteous reception at all points. On previous trips to Germany, the last of which was made in '36, Mr. Hodge has visited Berlin, Cologne, Heidleberg, Mainz, Nurnberg, Bonn, Munich, Leipzig, and Hamburg.

UPTON SAYS—

By Charles L. Upton

Every Porter A Reporter

A porter came in the office the other day and related a rather funny story about a bad porter. He said that this porter dropped in on the gang one day with his face all full of razor cuts. One of the other porters in the bunch made the remark that the porter with all of those bad scars sure must be a mighty bad guy. Another porter spoke up and said, "Oh, no! He ain't so bad. If you want to see the bad guy you just yook up the one who put all those scars on him. That's the bad guy."

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

PULLMAN SUPT AGAIN WARNS PORTERS

In a private conference with Brotherhood officials last week, Mr. J. Leach, Dist. Superintendent of Los Angeles again sent a warning to porters operating out of Los Angeles to cease drinking on penalty of losing their jobs with the company. Mr. Leach stated that the DRINKING MUST STOP and that no porter regardless of his length of time in the service, would be given any mercy if it was proved he was drinking on duty or came down to the cars with whiskey on his breath. He further stated that he had on several of such cases within the past few weeks in spite of the fact that he has certainly warned and cautioned porters at every service meeting. Officials of the Brotherhood are in accord with the Superintendent on this issue and are again issuing warning to all of their members that no member found guilty of violoating this rule of the company need expect the Brotherhood to protect him. The Brotherhood insists that its members living up to the rules and regulations of the Pullman Company and does not condone drinking, stealing or discourtesy. We sincerely hope that all of our members will judge themselves accordingly.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC RED CAPS RECEIVE $1,700 IN BACK TIME

According to R. J. Landry, President of the Southern Pacific Red Caps his organization was awarded $1.700 in back time as a result of negotiations with officials of the Southern Pacific Company. Since the red caps have been organized they have improved their working conditions a hundred per cent.

DELLUMS LEAVES FOR OAKLAND; UNION MEETINGS RAINED OUT

C. L. Dellums, Pacific Coast Supervisor of the International Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters left Los Angeles for Oakland early Sunday morning after a week of rainy weather which greatly hampered a series of valuable service meetings containing much valuable data and information. The first meeting being the regular monthly business meeting and nomination of officers was packed to the rafters. Many were there for no good purpose as is always the case when election of officers comes up. During the week Mr. Dellums was the breakfast guest of Harvey Graves and the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Goodwin. He will conduct the nomination of officers meeting in Oakland this week.

DISCONTENTED CLIQUE GETS BUSY, AGITATORS CIRCULATE PROPAGANDA

The same dissatisfied few are at it again this year in their efforts to wreck the Brotherhood. Last election of the Brotherhood the clique circulated the propaganda among innocent members that W. B. Holland was crooked and getting away with the money, and that Upton, the president was a Communist and many other lies which were stopped only after much hard work, failing to put over their program at the last election because the real members of the Brotherhood would not pay any attention to them, they are now at it again. One of the would-be agitators even went so far as to lay of from his run in order to keep the pot boiling, however, if the various ones he has contacted will just stop long enough to compare the records of their present president with the Brotherhood against the record of those who are seeking his office they would soon see the difference.

CHARLEY WHITE ILL

Charley White, veteran Pullman Porter of the Los Angeles District, lay ill in bed at his residence, 1315 E. 48th street last week in a serious condition. Porters are requested to pay Brother White a visit.

J. CARTER

SEVEN DAY ADVENTIST

Pastor Rodgers of the Adventist Church at 40th Place and Wadsworth ave., will speak this Sabbath (Saturday) at the 11 a. m. service, which follows the Sabbath school session at 9:30 a. m. He will compare the blowing of trumpets of the days of ancient Israel with the lesson to be understood by Gospel believers in this day. Sunday night at 8 p. m. there will be an illustrated sermon on "How many Priests can really forgive sin?" and there will be used about eighty of the finest screen pictures to make the subject clear to all.

MUCH IMPROVED

J. Carter, ace buffet porter on the coast lines, is showing much improvement from a recent illness. Drop in and see him.

BOLD THIEF STEALS STARKS AUTO

Mrs. A. W. Starks was the victim of an automobile thief recently when she went into Smith's Market to make a purchase. Although the Buick is of ancient period when she came out of the market the old bus was gone, however, we are glad to inform you that it was recovered and she is again on rubber.

CLARENCE JOHNSON STILL IN EAST

Received a post card from Clarence R. Johnson last week stamped St. Louis, Clarence is back there battling for the working man as usual and the gang sure misses him here.

COAST LINE TRAINS ALL WASHED OUT

Porters operating on coast line trains last week were delayed by landslides caused by the heavy rains. Porters got into Los Angeles many hours behind schedule. James Goodwin had a big dinner party at his house which was tied up several hours waiting for his arrival.

ON THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

It seems as though we have a number of porters who joined the Brotherhood some time ago when Mr. Randolph got them their increase in wages. However, they have been rather hard to find ever since, among them are L. High, Sam Parks, Cliff Lair, A. Crockett, L. C. Dials, H. B. Wilson, and a few others whose names I shall publish next week. How soon we forget our benefactors.

DAN HOOD PPBA DELEGATE CRRECTS RUMOR

In a letter from Las Vegas written while enroute to Chicago, Dan Hood has the following to say regarding rumors that have been circulated that at the last convention he signed for 30 cents more to be deducted from their pay for their monthly dues, making 265 total. It is known to most members, says Mr. Hood, who have investigated and found out when they received their checks how much is deducted therefrom, and for what. I wish to say further that this increase was agreed upon some two or three years ago and did not pass and I did not sign for it at the last convention that I was delegate to the convention.

Commentator Says Mob Bill Fraud Against Negro Voter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—Calling the Wagner-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill an insult to the intelligence of American citizens, colored and white, Fulton Lewis, Jr., news commentator on Station WL, in a letter to the Central Northwest Civic Association called the measure a fraud against the colored voters.

Lewis said:

"The bill now in hand, is not sincere, it is so plainly unconstitutional as to be an insult to the intelligence of American citizens, colored and white, and after very careful study I consider it nothing less than a fraud against the colored voters of the country. If passed, it cannot possibly be effective.

"It puts grave liability on county enforcement officers who fail to prevent mobs from taking prisoners from jails, which is certain to mean that county enforcement officers, in order to avoid that situation, will steer clear of arresting offenders at all and leave the mobs to do their evil work before the law takes a hand.

"This act is certain to be declared unconstitutional. Every competent constitutional expert agrees to that, but the politicians who want to exploit the colored race know that the Supreme Court can't prove it a hoax until after the elections when it is too late for votes to be taken back.

"Apparently, the politicians have been able to sell the colored race on the idea that this is a real attempt to cure the cause of lynching, and the average colored citizen seems to be completely taken in by the beautiful gold paint on the outside of a clay brick".

Sees 2 Million Boys, Girls Need U.S. Aid

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (CNA)—Declaring that more than 2,000 000 boys and girls are now engaged in child labor to the detriment of themselves and of the nation, Mrs. Charles S. Whiteman, white, member of the State Committtee on Child Labor of the New York League of Women Voters, this week urged public support for the Federal Child Labor Amendment.

Simultaneously, the Council for Council and Social Action of the Congregational and Christian Churches took exception to a statement by Colby M. Chester, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers that child labor, had "almos seased to exist in manufacturing.

Mrs. Whiteman's included the child labor, had "almost ceased to agriculture the latter particularly prevalent in the South where hundreds of thousands of Negro children are kept out of school during the cotton-picking season to supply the demands of the planters for cheap labor

STAR DROPS OUT OF SCHOOL

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Feb. 17—Fritz Pollard, Jr., of Chicago, Olympic hurdler and star halfback at the University of North Dakota, has dropped out of school.

No reason for his leaving was given. Pollard had registered for the second semester and attended classes last week, which indicated his decision was sudden. The athletic director of the school did not know of it until the star athlete had gone.

"Pollard was a junior and had two years of track competiton and one year of football remaining at the university.

Jim Crow Flops as White Team Dates Lincoln U.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—One after another!

No sooner had the reverberations of the first collegiate game between Negro and white college teams died away than another was arranged to help sock Jim Crow forever off the athletic map.

St. Francis College of Brooklyn, a white Catholic school, was host to Lincoln University of Philadelphia last Saturday in Brooklyn.

The Saturday before jim crow was flaunted when Hampton University played Brooklyn College at the latter's gymnasium.

Instrumental in arranging the Feb. 11 game were Manuel Rivero, ex-Columbia football star now coaching at Lincoln, and Father Cullen of the St. Peter's Claven church of Brooklyn.

"Drunk Farm" Advocated By Municipal Judge

Drunk "repeaters", who are haled into court time after time and given jail sentences, seldom are cured or improved or even taught a lesson by this method.

Expressing this view, Municipal Judge Harold B. Landreth, who presides in Master Calendar Misdemeanor Court and handles hundreds of such cases, yesterday advocated establishment of a "drunk farm" for the rehabilitation of such persons.

"The cost of housing drunks in the City Jail time after time should be applied to the more useful and sensible purpose of rehabilitating these persons," Judge Landreth said.

"These persons should be given drunk cures, exercise, fresh air and a real chance to get the liquor out of their systems in a way that will encourage them to stay on the wagon."

Historian Accused of Insult to Race

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (CNA)—Dr. Willis N. Huggins, Negro historian, was accused this week of insulting the Negro race by Mrs. M. F. McQuire, secretary of the Parents-Teachers Association of P. S. 5, Manhattan.

In a letter to Dr. Huggins, Mrs. McQuire took issue with various remarks he made at a recent meeting of the Associaton, and asserted that his speech was "almost a half century behind the times."

No Progress Made

Dr. Huggins is alleged to have declared at the meeting that no progress has ben made by the Race in its seventy-five years of freedom, and that the youth of "our people" are so ignorant that they "walk around with their heads down, not even ambitious enough to know or see City College on the hill."

He is also said to have stated that nothing has been done by Negro leaders to further the passage of the Anti-Lynching Bill now before the Senate, nor have any steps been taken to improve the conditions of our people in general.

Pointing out that the Parent-Teachers Association has been an active force in bettering school conditions in Harlem, and that out-standing Progressive Negro leaders of the country and such organizations as the National Negro Congress and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are the driving force behind campaign for anti-lynching legislation, Mrs. McQuire told Dr. Huggins that she hopes the next time he goes to the public, he will "find some of the good things of your people with which to greet them".

'Mind' to Be Christian Science Topic

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "O Lord, how great are thy works! and thy thoughts are very deep."

A Scriptural selection in the Lesson-Sermon cites these passages from Isaiah: 'Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, The LORD, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? here is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength . . . But they that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Mankind will improve through Science and Christianity. The onecessity for uplifting the race is father to the fact that Mind can do it; for Mind can impart purity instead of impurity, strength instead of weakness, and health instead of disease".

Bishop Wright In London To See Doctor

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (C) — Bishop R. R. Wright jr., of the AME church, on his way home from Cape Town, South Africa, stopped in London last week for medical treatment, according to a special statement received a few days before he landed in New York. Writing at sea, the bishop said:

"We land tomorrow (Jan. 28) in Southampton, proceed at once to London where I am to speak before the League of Colored People on 'The Melting Pot of South Africa' — at least that is what they've asked me to talk about though, I confess, I haven't seen South Africa as much of a melting pot; but my main object for stopping in London is to get medical treatment. I am very much improved though I still do not have the free use of my hands. I cannot write nor cut up a beefsteak.

VOYAGE PLEASANT

"Our voyage so far has been very pleasant. We're on the finest boat of the Union Castle Line, the Athlone Castle. The air-conditioning is such that we slept under blankets as we crossed the equator. We have had absolutely no inconvenience from the heat in passing through the Torrid Zone. In fact I'm beginning to feel cold now as I enter winter for the first time in two years. Just thirteen days ago when we left Cape Town on the 14th of January we were in mid-summer, eating peaches, watermelon, grapes and all sorts of summer fruits. The young people were bathing on the beaches while the old people were seeking relief from the heat, and now we are approaching snow-clad England in the middle of winter. Fourteen days ago we saw the sun rise in Cape Town at 5:47 a. m. and set at 8 p. m. and we were enjoying the long summer days. Now the sun rises at about 7:30 a. m. and sets around 5:30 p. m. for a short winter day.

"I am bringing some things from South Africa for exhibit in America."

Christianity is Dangerous Business -- Trinity Pastor

In an exchange of pulpits with Rev. Mr. Edgar Wollam of the Cochran Avenue Baptist church, Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, West 36th and Normandie, departed from the beaten path of "Negro laudation" on Race Relations Sunday and preached a challenging social gospel. In the course of his sermon, Dr. Caston contended "To live like a son of God is dangerous business. See how such living has martyred and crucified all who have tried it."

He pointed out that "Historically such living has collided with slavery because slavery puts its stamp of approval, not on human personality as being sacred, denied it. It rebelled against imperial tyranny, generation after generation, because imperial tyranny set up a standard, not of the essential worth of all human life, but denied it. It has come to grips with economic inequality not because it loves sinful exploiters, but primarily because it denies that human beings and their welfare are worth 'far more than sparrows'."

Dr. Caston flayed America's system of denying the privileges of citizenship to eight millions of its voters including the right to exercise franchise, the right to public education provided out of the treasury of the taxes of all the people, the right to safety and trial by jury, and the right to employment on the basis of labor return rather than color.

The scholarly preacher reached a climax in "there must be jobs in America for Americans. Americans must be free from the terror of mobs. Americans must not be humiliated, segregated and discriminated against. America must be Christian.

M. E. Church Members to Vote in Favor of Merger

CHICAGO, Feb. 17—Negro members of the Methodist Episcopal church who were here last week to attend the Methodist Council on Faith and Order at the Stevens hotel met in a preliminary meeting at the St. Mark's M. E. church last Tuesday and decided to vote in favor of the proposed merger of the three principal Methodist bodies.

The meeting was not official, but was simply a get-to-gether of those interested in the status of the Negro if the unification plan is adopted.

Many of the most prominent M. E. pastors and laymen attended the meeting with Bishop R. E. Jones and Bishop M. W. Clair sharing in the presiding. Dr. J. W. E. Bowen of New Orleans served as secretary.

There was no discussion pro or con as far as unification itself was concerned, but a united front presented in an agreement for the program of tomorrow. A committee was appointed consisting of one from each conference and five at large to consider important matters that may arise between now and the consummation of unification.

Bishop A. P. Shaw of New Orleans addressed the meeting at the Stevens hotel Thursday afternoon and the Rev. Carl Downs of Pasadena, California, representing the Negro youth, spoke Friday morning.

Those leaders in the church who have been outspoken in their condemnation of the proposed merger agreed at the gathering of colored representatives to withhold their fire and go along with the proposal for the good of the church.

Among these was the Rev. Lorenzo J. King of New York City, who some time ago petitioned the NAACP to bring suit in opposition to the plan. Bishop A. P. Shaw of New Orleans has been a consistent advocate of the merger.

Bishop R. E. Jones is reported to have been apprehensive regarding the movement but has voiced no opinion for publication.

The M. E. Church, South, holds its general conference in April this year, at which time it will vote upon the merger which has been approved by a majority of the various annual conferences.

The opposition is headed by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., famous as a lily-white Republican. Bishop Cannon is a brother of the head of the Coca-Cola Co. and has great resources at his command. Recently he took page advertisements in a number of southern daily newspapers opposing the merger.

The framework of the regional conference in which Negroes will be said to include the making of two more bishops which would give the denomination four bishops in all. If the M. E. Church, South, passes favorably upon the union, a setting-up conference to put the merger into effect will be held in 1939.

LOUIS' TITLE AT STAKE IN GARDEN BOUT NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

First Time Crown On Block Indoors Since Dempsey-Brennan in 1920

When Joe Louis defends the heavyweight championship against Nathan Mann at Madison Square Garden next Wednesday night, it will be the first time a heavyweight crown has been at stake in an indoor match since Jack Dempsey knocked out the late Bill Brennan in the old Garden in 1920.

The Brown Bomber is going through final training paces at Pompton Lakes, N. Y. Incidentally Joe has never lost a fight for which he trained at this spot which bears the sign--"Where Champions Train". This is a camp tradition and the Bomber has pledged himself not to break it.

Louis' showings in training have been reported good and bad. Seldom has he broken loose in a sparring match to show any of his murderous technique. After a particularly bad session Trainer Jack Blackburn was asked for comment on Joe's showing. He said:

"I want Joe to save his fighting instinct for Nathan Mann. I'd rather have him look bad in training and do his stuff in the fight, than otherwise. Joe is in excellent trim right now and that's all I ask."

Observers of training sessions of Nathan Mann say that he is a weaver of the Dempsey type. A mediocre boxer, Mann, nevertheless is no loafer, rather a puncher.

To his credit is a defeat of the back-pedalling Bob Pastor. In 46 pro fights he has won 39, 27 by knockouts, draw 3, and lost 4.

The only flaw in his record is the licking administered to him in 1936 by Steve Dudas. Nathan is in training at Madame Bey's camp in Summit, N. J.

YOUNG PETER JACKSON

Georgie Crouch Steals Olympic Spotlight from Experienced Jackson and Zorrita

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Cool, calm and calculating Georgie Crouch, one of the finest lightweight prospects in the country, battled his way to a thrilling ten-round decision over Al George, classy easterner, in the first main event of a double windup card at the Olympic Tuesday night.

The Crouch-George bout stole the main event spotlight from the more experienced and better known Young Peter Jackson and Leon Zorrita. The latter bout ended in a draw.

Crouch, shifty and the master boxer type, won six rounds, his opponent two and two were even. Never in serious danger, Georgie left no doubts in the minds of the fans as to who was the better man. This bout was a rematch of a thrilling draw the two boys fought some weeks ago.

PETE, LEON DISAPPOINT

For ten rounds the crowd waited for Jackson's famed right fist to explode on the jaw of Leon Zorrita but this same crowd waited in vain, for Zorrita danced rings around Jackson and had him missing badly most of the time. Although the two judges were divided in their opinions as to the winner and Referee Abe Roth voted for a draw, we thought Zorrita had a shade the better of the milling.

The bout wasn't sensational but it did have that element of suspense that holds the onlookers tense.

In the prelims, Manny Mosko, the so-called Mad Russian, made his pro debut with an easy decision over Carmen Georgino in four. Benny Goldberg, Detroit southpaw, appeared for the first time here and scored a convincing two round TKO over Young Speedy. Goldberg was adjudged best of the preliminary participants. Earl Nore and Chuey Solazano boxed a draw in the opener.

EASTSIDERS TRIPPED BY BOJANGLES FIVE

Bill Robinson's Bojangles basketeers defeated Peter's Eastsiders, 58-40 in a game played Saturday night at Patriotic Hall. Chism and Garland of the Bojangle tied for high point honors with twelve points each.

Alexander Pitches No-Hit, No-Run Softball Victory

Economy Liquor Store Softball team defeated Grant's All-Stars 1 to 0 behind the no hit, no run, no-body-reach first-base-pitching of Lionel Alexander (the pitching postman) last Sunday. Almost equally as brilliant as Alexander was the air-tight defense the "Booze Boys" presented. The infield was as follows: Summers, catcher; Hines, first base; Macon, second base; Johnson, third base; with Dunn at shortstop. this infield is rated as the classiest in the Municipal League. In the outfield, Fillmore "keeper of the left garden", did his share of better than ordinary fielding when he made a neat running Sam Miller's fly to weep left-field in the fourth inning. Again in the seventh, Miller caught one of Alexander's slants on the "fat" of the bat and drove it deep into centerfield. Wade, guardian of the "center garden" came to the rescue by actually running the ball down and catching it a sensational way.

In the last half of the first inning "Grouchy" Direux broke up the game (as far as the Stars were concerned) when he hit a line drive to left center field, scoring Macon who had walked for the only run the "Nip House Gang" got. He was thrown out at the plate by a very neat job of relaying by Fleming to Green to Martin. Alexander got the other hit when he singled off of Batty's leg. The All-Stars put up a stubborn defense behind the brilliant "two hit pitching" of their ace, Earl Batty.

Another Falls

Another win was notched up for Henry Armstrong Wednesday night of last week when he scored a technical knockout over Al Citrino in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium.

Negro League Ruined By Short 'Sighted Magnates

By BUSTER MILLER

(Reprinted from the Daily Worker)

With more fans than ever waiting to see the Negro National League develop into what it should be, the recent meeting of the team owners in Pittsburgh has instituted another wave of "economy" and wage slashing that threatens to run the league into the ground.

Salaries of players were reduced, the number of traveling umpires was reduced and publicity was placed in the hands of each club as a precaution against spending too much money for the one thing that will do Negro baseball more good than anything else, PUBLICITY.

Supervision of the League was placed in the hands of a trio of club owners, Greenlee of the Pittsburgh Crawfords, Manley of the Newark Eagles, and Wilson of the Washington Elite Giants.

Lower Pay This Year

Lower salaries in 1938 than in 1937 will certainly arouse a storm of protest among players many of whom were not satisfied with their 1937 earnings. This is borne out by the fact that several players broke their contracts last year and went to Santa Dominco to play. Even now some twenty of the best players are in Cuba playing with the Almendares, Habaneros, and Santa Clara of the Cuban League. Among them are Josh Gibson, Stone, Bankhead, Williams, Dihigo, Day, Duncan, and Spearman. Satchel Paige, now in Pittsburgh, may join their ranks at any moment.

All this comes at a bad time for those fans desirous of seeing Negro players admitted to the major leagues. With the favorable publicity being given by liberal sports writers to the campaign to admit Negroes in the majors, the fans will be flocking to the parks to see Negro players in action. Chasing the best players away by cutting salaries will not help the fight to end Jim Crowism in the majors nor will it make money for the owners.

A need for greater publicity is in this writer's opinion the real cause for the decline in gate receipts. A competent newspaperman or two turning out publicity releases to all newspapers would clear up much of the obscurity that surrounds N. N. L. activities. Big league owners draw the customers in by a well planned and executed publicity campaign.

Bojangles to Play Crack '5'

B-U-L-L-E-T-I-N

Bill Robinson's Bojangles will be featured in the second half of a double header Saturday night at the Patriotic Hall, 18th and Figueroa avenue against the crack Hollywood Athletic club five.

On the first half of the bill the Los Angeles ost Office team will play the San Francisco postal representatives.

Games start at 7 p. m.

Rated as one of the best squads in the local casaba field, the classy Bank of America team is due to give Million Dollar Productions five real opposition next Sunday night at the Golden West Elks' court. They play the final of the popular two-game series that, followed by dancing, has drawn capacity crowds for the past three weeks.

In the preliminary game, a clever, speedy, well experienced team of Chinese girls will play the California Eaglets, who defeated the Mexican girls, 41 to 16 in their debut last Sunday night.

Led by Ralph Cooper, famous movie star, who is also one of the best guards in the country, the line-up of the studio team is as follows:

"Father" Myles, "Lanky" Price, "Sug" Morrison, "Battling" Hert King, "Easy" Easter, "Pigmeat" Cook.

On the roster of the Eaglets are Willie Moten, Carrie Parks, Gwendolyn Davis, Gwendolyn Valentine, Armena Davis, and Barbara Bartholomew.

AAU Suspends Jesse Owens' Touring Cagers

CLEVELAND, Feb. 17. (CNA)—The Northeastern Ohio Association of the AAU, this week suspended the Jesse Owens' Olympians, a touring basketball team on charges of "professionalism." The charges were based upon the participation of Owens who had accompanied the troupe on its cross country tour.

AAU officials in imposing the disciplinary measure, claimed that the disbarred track star, had contaminated the amateurs by appearing in the lineup. The suspension will stand indefinitely pending an investigaton, an official said.

Crowell, Roper Head Olympic Card Tuesday

"Chuck" Crowell, the human skyscraper, and Jack Roper, the vicious veteran, square off at the Olympic auditorium next Tuesday night in a heavyweight natural, according to Bill Miller, p. a. for Matchmaker Joe Waterman.

Crowell flattened Bob Nestell in two rounds at the Olympic his last time out. And Roper, a real trial horse, whipped Sonny Boy Walker, at Hollywood, the last time he donned the gloves for dough.

JEFFERSON HOOP STAR NAMED GUARD ON ALL-CITY '5'; DAVIS ON 2ND

Francis Garland, Jeff Senior, May Cast Lot With U. of C. Bears

By J. Cullen Fentress

Lanky Francis Garland, three-year letter man and star center and guard on the Jefferson High Democrats basketball team, ended his high school athletic career in a blaze of glory last week when he was named all-city guard by the All-Southern California Board of Basketball.

Eighteen, and six feet, four, Garland averaged 14 points per game in the tough Southern league. The Democrats ended the season tied for second place with Fremont. He was elected team captain by his mates at the conclusion of league competition.

Thurston Davis, of Manual Arts, was named forward on the all-city second team, just being nosed out in the balloting for first team honors. He and Garland were the only Sepipans named on the three selections.

Although the regular league season is over, Garland continues his high-scoring sprees as a member of Bill Robinson's Bojangles. His all-around floor ability has added the necessary punch to this aggregation and the Bojangles are considered one of the strongest amateur fives in the city.

MAY ENTER U. C.

The Jefferson star graduates in June and the University of California seems to be first choice as he looks about for an institution of higher learning. Still undecided, he is also considering the southern branch of the institution, the University of California at Los Angeles, and Loyola university.

He began his hoop career at McKinley Junior high, and credits Ching Duhm, Jefferson coach, with doing most to develop his uncanny "eye" which, together with his exceptional height, have combined to make him a prize any coach would be glad to have.

He lives at 773 East 52nd Pl., with his mother, Mrs. Connie B. Garland.

Chatter Styles Home Hints

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

Said a conservative sage . . . "When life is vulgar, it is a sign that we have invested it with the coarse habits of our thinking" . . . so much for the gentleman. But Somerset Maughn definitely has something here as well as there when he contends that life itself is often vulgar (in the sense of commonness, of course) . . . You believe it, too, if you sat on the edge of your seat taking in "Tobacco Road", or waded through endless "flights of propaganda" in Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind". However, if you saw "Porgy and Bess", you are reminded that even in the midst of so much of this commonness, there can be cleanliness . . . there can be mirth and abandonment of care without destroying fundamental emotions — passion, hate, deference to the deity — none of which any people live long without . . . And 'cuse please this flight into the theatre and books . . . Really, no harm was meant.

Among those attending the matinee showing of "Porgy and Bess" Saturday were sub-debs Dorothy and Gertrude Cherry, Emily Josephine Brown, who arrives at the sane age of seventeen Friday (and never been kissed, Josephine . . . many times?), Bootsie Collins, Rosa Mae Sweeney, Melenee Temple, and Nell Clease, all of them in smart afternoon modes.

TEA AND ART, TEA AND WAR:

The first combination you will receive at the Avalon Christian church . . . Sunday afternoon from four to seven when the best works of Negro Americans will be shown. The music department will be pouring the tea . . . and bidding you welcome. The latter order will prevail at the home of Mrs. Lloyd C. Griffith . . . 443 East 46th street. Miss Ruby Jefferson, fresh from the "Cause and Cure of War" conference in Dee Cee, will be the honoree. The membership committee of the YWCA, under the leadership of Mrs. C. D. Frederick, will superintend your polite sips there.

Striking a swifter tempo: The Kappas are swinging their neophytes into the social spotlight along with new officers at a formal Friday night . . . in the Elks' ballroom . . . and now the lads and lassies will twirl the "fantastic toe". Maybe I'll trip with 'em and maybe I won't . . . uhm-m! . . . Mi-Ladies are capping the week's social doings in their long talked of dance . . . Saturday night . . . and from the elaborate preparations ladies of class are making, there'll be some gowns there . . . well worth Vogue's approval.

IN LIGHTER VEIN:

And it doesn't matter if a tiny artery is punctured . . . Going by the gossip of the younger set . . . Take the Hattie Hopgood-Harold Scott romance. 'Member in and 'round Hallowe'en time ere reading about their engagement . . . anno on Hattie's birthday . . . and all that. Well, it's o... off now and "Sugar" (name later) of the Million Dollar basketeers has the beautiful Kohinoor's heart in tow. And we don't hear that Harold is weeping . . . so it goes.

And hewing to the beaten road: Miss Olive Dean was hostess to twenty-four friends Tuesday at a bridge luncheon in her home . . . West 29th St. . . . Prizes to Mmes. Bernice Morrow, Claudie Belle Parker . . . Dr. and Mrs. Albert Baumann's Sunday guests at their Val Verde home were Miss Mary Williamson, Dr. Sarah Brown, and Miss Jessie Wormerly of the Capitol City . . . Mrs. Roena Muckleroy Savage, San Berdoo school lady, week-ended in L. A. to attend the Deltas' banquet . . . Mrs. Mamie King breakfasted thirty-two ladies Monday morning and finished it off with bridge for which Mmes. Beulah Baber, Nellie Jones, and Emma Holt walked off with the choice prizes . . . Marzella Armstrong, co-ed at UCLA, followed the lead of her schoolmates who live in her dormitory and entertained the eighteen young ladies in her home in Pasadena. Miss Armstrong is the only sepia lady in the group.

RACING AGAINST TIME:

Five minutes until five bells . . . threatening rain . . . and a ride I'm trying to hook growing impatient. Must take time to tell you that Miss Buena Kelley, so sumptuously feted by the Elks last week, left us Monday afternoon to visit in San Diego and El Centro . . . two capable ladies will share her pleasure there . . . Mrs. Lela O. Murray, of the popular dude ranch; Mrs. Adele Ashford, of the EAGLE who is on a vacation; and Mrs. Edna Valentine Elgin. San Diego will be socially tipped off on the pace Angelenos set for the Grand Secretary by Mrs. Augustus, prominent in the state organization, who preceded Miss Kelley and her retinue there . . . Sunday will be the day of days in this season of Elkdom when the antlered ones and the Daughters journey to Murray's Dude Ranch for a whole day of the kind of fun that the popular pleasure oasis of the desert is famed for.

Sincere condolences to my friend and erstwhile schoolmate, Lorena Milligan, whose mother, Mrs. Fannie Milligan, died Friday. Lorena braved a similar experience three years ago when her father "crossed the bar" and we know that the same fortitude will bring her through.

Harkening back: Many happy returns to Mrs. C. A. Bass, our pilot of the EAGLE, whose birthday was St. Valentine's Day and who received the good wishes of her staff graciously in the annual banquet of the "West's Best's" employes in the Dunbar Hotel patio . . . Beautiful, beautiful table . . . thanks to Ralph Porter, Dunbar florist . . . and the most delectable of viands. Orchids to Miss Beavers, capable manager of the Dunbar Grill . . . Adios.

Publisher is Hostess to Staff, Board of Directors in Annual Dinner Meeting

Members of the editorial and mechanical staffs of the California Eagle, along with the board of directors of the "West's Best", quit their ink, paste pots and typewriters Monday evening to groom themselves for the annual dinner meeting to which Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE, was hostess in the patio of the Dunbar hotel from eight-thirty to half after eleven o'clock.

The smartly appointed table was enhanced by a floral centerpiece designed and arranged by Ralph Porter, Dunbar florist; carrying out the Valentine motif, red roses, chrysanthemums, and gladiolas were deftly placed in the diamond-shape design. Reservations were designated by tiny cards bordered with red hearts. The occasion also marked the birthday of Mrs. Bass and directly in front of her was placed a beautiful birthday cake presented by Mrs. Susie Edmonds.

The Rev. Mr. S. M. Beane, a member of the board of directors, was the genial master of ceremonies and from the time he arose until the cutting of the birthday cake, an exchange of gay repartee and proffering of felicitations prevailed. The climax of the program was a prophetic newspaper skit created by John Kinloch, brilliant young nephew of Mrs. Bass; the skit brought peals of laughter and applause both for the participants and the author.

ANGELENOS HONOR PAUL WILLIAMS WITH TESTIMONIAL BANQUET AT Y

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

"The good people of Los Angeles started me off, my wife kept me going". These words uttered in the genial manner that marks the nationally famous Paul R. Williams, architect, in his appreciative response to the tribute of Los Angeles citizens, carry much significance. For, on Tuesday evening, February 15, more than two hundred prominent civic and social leaders gathered at a testimonial banquet in the 28th St. Branch YMCA to honor Mr. Williams "for accomplishments and service rendered locally and nationally, and for his inspiration to youth" which climaxed with the presentation of a plaque by Baxter Scruggs on behalf of citizens of this city.

LIFE RECOUNTED

J. H. Shackleford, general chairman and master of ceremonies presented speakers close to the life of Paul Williams who eloquently recounted his rise from an ambitious boyhood to a nationally famous character. Prof. T. A. Greene discussed the boyhood and YMCA association of the honoree; Mrs. Bessie Bruington Burke and Frederick M. Roberts, ex-Assemblyman, elucidated on his schooldays. "Paul Williams, the Churchman" was portrayed by Rev. J. M. Brown, while Atty. Willis O. Tyler spoke on "Paul Williams and His Profession".

"Paul Williams, The Man", principal address of the evening, was delivered by The Rev. Mr. S. M. Beane, who recounted the architect's association with all organizations for the upbuilding of the Los Angeles community; the awards won by him, three national and two local, one of the latter being the Los Angeles Examiner prize for which three thousand architects competed; his attitude toward life and people pointing out that despite his fame, "Paul Williams has not lost the common touch." In a brilliant conclusion, Rev. Beane cited Mr. Williams as a leader because "he is an individual who fills his soul with ideals and throws his service on the doorstep of the world." In a final tribute he employed the Biblical proverb: "Seest thou a man diligent in his ousiness, he shall stand before kings, he shall not stand before mean men."

PLAQUE DESCRIBED

The plaque presented to Mr. Williams bore the inscription "Paul R. Williams in appreciation of his accomplishments, contributions and inspiration to youth. From the citizens of Los Angeles. February 15, 1938." The plaque's design was a raised "T" inside a triangle--the architect's implements. Mrs. Williams, beautiful wife of the honoree, was presented with a gorgeous array of flowers by Mrs. Seth Lee on behalf of the women of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Aside from J. H. Shackleford, chairman, members of the committee in charge of the testimonial were The Rev. S. M. Beane, secretary, Baxter Scruggs, L. G. Robinson, George A. Beavers, Jr., Dr. H. C. Hudson, Norman Houston, Prof. T. A. Green, J. L. Hill, Frank Harvey, Mmes. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards, Seth Lee, Jessie Terry and Frank Harvey.

Musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. Lillian Dinkins and Mr. Sloan with Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew as accompanist.

OUTDOOR ASS'N TO LAUNCH EXTENSIVE MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

J. H. Shackleford, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced an extensive membership drive for the Outdoor Life and Health association which will be launched on Tuesday evening, Feb. 22, at the installation of officers meeting to be held at the 28th Street Health Center, 903 East 28th St. The drive will be conducted by ten teams made up of different auxiliaries and committees of the organization.

The work of the association in outfitting the rest home in Duarte will be furthered by a linen shower being planned by a committee headed by Mrs. Hattie Baldwin. Appeals will be made through various organizations and clubs of the city. The shower will include: pillow cases, blankets, sheets, and towels. It is the hope of the committee to supply the rest home with enough linen for its first year of operation.

HAMILTON YOUNG WOMEN'S CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The regular meeting of the Young Women's club of Hamilton M. E. church, met at the home of Mrs. Lillian J. Fentress on Wednesday, Feb. 9. The election of officers for the new year was held and the following elected:

Mrs. Fentress, president; Miss Carmelita White, vice president; Miss Nettie Gresham, recording secretary; Mrs. Georgia Brown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Marjorie Lewis, treasurer; Gladys Collins, financial secretary; Leona Drake, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Daisy Brooks, reporter; and Mrs. Sidonia Wilson, chaplain.

Plans were discussed for the tea to be sponsored for the Outdoor Life and Health association to be given March 2 at the home of Miss Ruby Jefferson, 2134 W. 30th St.

Obituary

A beautiful life ended.

The passing of Mr. Samuel Johnson Tuesday morning, Feb. 8, 1938 at about 7:30 a. m., came as a shock to everyone that knew him.

Mr. Johnson was born in Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 26, 1888. In 1919 he came to L. A., Calif. and in the year 1929, he met and married Mrs. Myra Swanson on August 29, 1929.

Public Warned of "Wildcat" Danger

Holmes, according to the arresting officers, "freely admits that he picks up railroad porters and waiters and hauls them about from place to place in his "wildcat" taxi, which the officers describe as an "old rattletrap Auburn sedan".

In this connection they point out the danger to passengers who may hire "wildcat" taxis or jitneys. The operators of these "wildcat" taxis carry no liability insurance filed with the Board of Public Utilities and in case of accidents where passengers may be either killed or injured for life there is no protection or legal recourse for the victims, such as is provided by all legally authorized carriers such as the Black and White and other permitted "independent" taxi operators.

TUSCON NOTES

Sunday was a big day at Friendship Baptist Church. We had with us Cole Carter, of the 25th Infantry, stationed at Ft. Huachaca, Arizona, speaker for the morning and evening services.

Chaplin Carter, as he may be best know to most of us has a very pleasant and pleasing personality, and the force and the ability with which too deliver his messages to the general public.

Having heard any number of our great pastors, I can truthfully say that Chaplain Carter ranks with the best of them.

We also had the honor of having the Charles Young American Legion Post, off the Tucson Chapter in attendance during the evening services.

We are very glad to have them turn out in such a large body and attend our service.

The talk by Commander E. R. Patterson, was very much appreciated and also Mr. Williams, who followed him. The services of the entire day was under the auspices of the Women Home Mission. Mrs. Bertha Young, feature soloist, rendered two numbers. We are more than glad to say that our rally went over big, and we are glad that our pastor has recovered from his illness.

Sunday, Feb. 6th, was a high day with Mt. Calvary and it's officers and members. Crowds thronged both morning and evening service to hear our pastor, Rev. C. B. Hodge. He produced in masterful art the morning's message, using for a subject, "No Room For Christ". He depicted a picture of the hearts of men and women in this age in which we live as having crowded Christ out, with destructive decisions of doubt and denial, having their minds filled with biased debate and destructive criticisms. Sunday night he took fifteen minutes in discussing the subject, "Love."

Rev. C. B. Hodge made a business trip to California Tuesday.

The visitors to our city were Mrs. Rowe Smith who came over from Los Angeles to visit her brother, Mr. Lonnie webb and Theodore Webb, who are now residents of Tucson. Sne will return to Los Angeles next week. While in Tucson she attended an afternoon tea invited by Mrs. Fannie Evans who is a member of the beautiful Club the Renezevous. H. B. Wild Bill Webb will join the American Legion Charles Young Post [illegible] B. Wild Bill Webb caretaker [illegible] of A. in Tucson, Arizona.

At 3 p. m. Rev. G. W. Ford, Choir and members of the C. M. E. church had charge of the services.

Rev. E. G. Hodge of Mt. Calvalry Baptist church delivered a fervent prayer. At 8. p. m. the presiding elder brought another forceful message: subject: was taken from the book of Jude 12th verse. "These are spots".

The services throughout the day and evening were well attended. Monday at 8 p. m. Quarterly conference was opened with devotional services, after which the presiding elder called for the roll. Sister A. L. Brown was elected secretary, Brother W. M. Matthews, Marshall, Sister Louise Campor, Reporter.

The Sophomore Class of Douglass high school presented as their assembly program last Friday a 'Broadcast' of six scenes of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables." The young actors executed the feat in fine radio style.

Messrs. W. A. Payne and DuBois McGee were guests of the recently organized Calexico Breakfast Club. R. W. Bostick is president of the organization. The members are enthusiastic and under his presidency and the advice of the Rev. Harold Wilson, the club is destined to grow into a serviceable organization of the community.

Misses Leonore Cooper and Gervassie Jones visited relatives in Los Angeles during the week end, returning last Sunday evening.

Dr. W. R. Carter of Los Angeles was a business caller in the city during the past week.

The Women's Home and Missionary Societly entertained with a sumptuous turkey dinner served in the club rooms of the Women's Civic Improvement Club last Friday evening. The affair was given honoring the pastor Rev. I. N. Whitten and Mrs. Mary Neal Burton, retiring president of the Missionary Society. The dinner was the more enjoyable because its motif was kept a secret until the introductory speech of the Mistress of Ceremonies, Mrs. W. A. Payne, "Why We Are Here?" The resident, Mrs. Hazel Graham gave "The Welcome Here". Besides the guests of honor there were in attendance the deacon, trustee, and deaconess' boards, E. P. Peru, DuBois McGee, and Mrs. Eugenia Kirkpatrick responded to "We Are Glad We Are Here". Dr. W. R. Carter, responded humerously to "I'm Here Too". The responses of the guest of honor may be summed up in "We're Surprised to Be Here". Community singing and a violin solo by Mrs. Lucille Culberson enlivened the occasion. The valentine decorations were used.

Eureka Lodge No. 23 F. and A. M. is making preparations to entertain S. J. Hopkins of Riverside, Grand Lecturer of this jurisdiction, Saturday, March 5. The local organization is making very definite plans for the entertainment of Mr. Hopkins and his party.

Phyllis Wheatley Temple Daughters will entertain their Grand Secretary Miss Buena Kelley at a banquet to be given in the Elk's Lodge room, Second and State streets. Mrs. Irma Laurence, Daughter-Ruler and her committee are busily consumating plans for the Grand Secretary's entertainment while here.

JOHNSON'S CHAPEL A. M. E. CHURCH, Rev, H. H. Hayter

The Sunday School opened at the usual hour, Mr. J. C. Fair presiding. There was a large attendance taking an active part in the lesson.

At the morning worship the pastor preached a splendid sermon based on the life of that nobleman, Bishop Richard Allen. The celebration of Founder's week was grand success spiritually, intellectually, and financially. Each evening an excellent program was presented by our home talent and much good was accomplished. We are grateful to the young people for the program presented by them on Friday evening touching on the lives of the great men—Allen and Lincoln, and also the meaning of Negro History Week. At 2:30 p. m. the Ministers' Alliance met with Johnson's Chapel, Rev. J. Q. Maples was the speaker using as his subject "Who is Worthy?" The next meeting will be February 20, Quinn's Chapel, Brawley. The public is invited to attend these services. The pastor delivered the message during the evening services.

The Junior Choir wishes to thank all who assisted in making their dinner a success. Mrs. Geo. Venerable is the supervisor.

Mrs. Hayter has been added to the staff of volunteer workers assisting in the clinic that is being conducted in the club house of the Women's Civic and Improvement Club. The clinic is far reaching in its ministrations. The parents are asked to bring for registration all children under school age.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. I. N. Whitten, Minister.

In the absence of the superintendent, the assistant John Allen conducted the services Sunday. The special musical feature was a vocal solo by Mrs. Hazel Graham.

At the morning worship Troop 22 Boy Scouts of America were the guests of the church. Special music for the occasion consisted of two selections by the Douglass High School Male Quartette; a violin selection by George Cleveland; a vocal selection by Thomas Craig. The Rev. Whitten preached a most excellent sermon, stressing the pledges in the Scout oath and emphasizing their meaning.

A spirited BYPU session was conducted by the Devotional Commission. Is America Christian? and Is America Un-Christian? were discussed by the young people in their meeting. Visiting ministers during the day were Rev. G. W. Davis of the local C. M. E. church, Rev. N. Osborne of Calexico, and Rev. George E. Davis a local minister.

During the week Rev. Whitten accompanied Dr. W. R. Carter on visits to the churches in Brawley and in Calexico.

REDLANDS, CALIF.

By ALICE FREEMAN
1109 Merald Street

The Second Baptist Sunday school opened at 9:30 a. m. with the superintendent in charge, Mr. James Burton. At the 11 o'clock service the pastor, Rev. J. L. Foster, preached a wonderful sermon.

The St. Paul AME church opened its Sunday school on time with a large attendance. Closing services in the evangelistic series at St. Paul's African Methodist Church of Redlands ended Sunday night. Evangelist Lucy L. Baskett has been conducting the services for 15 days.

Seven members have been added to the church during the campaign, the pastor Rev. Ulysses V. Green said.

The rich heritage of the Negro race and its record of progress in America from slavery to material independence in the past 75 years was reviewed last Friday at a banquet concluding of Negro History week.

The event, held in the YWCA building, was arranged by Mrs. Roena Muckleroy Savage and is part of the thirteenth annual Negro History week, designed to popularize the work of the Negro race in the United States.

Dr. H. D. Inghram served as master of ceremonies. The program opened with the singing of the Negro national hymn, Lift Every Voice and Sing." Mrs. Savage then spoke on the significance and purpose of Negro History week, after which the Negro chorus of Redlands and San Bernardino evening high school, under direction of Mrs. Savage, sang 'Go Down Moses," "I Am Seekin' For A City" and "My Lord's a-Writin'."

Dr. Elbert W. Moore of Pasadena, then gave the principal address of the evening, speaking on "The Life and Work of Frederick Douglass."

W. T. Jones next sang two selections, "Deep River" and "On Mah Journey". This was followed by a short talk on "The Role of the Negro in Trades and Vocations," by Mary L. Phillips. 'It Can Be Done" was the topic of an address by the Rev. Lewis Foster, Jr., of Redlands, who traced the accomplishments of the colored people from ancient times to the present.

Culminating impressive rites in commemoration of the 129th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, Mayor Mancha Bruggemeyer Sunday accepted on behalf of the City of Redlands, the completed Lincoln Shrine edifice, donated by Dr. and Mrs. Robert Watchorn to honor the Great Emancipator and his services to mankind.

Musical numbers were presented by the Redlands high school orchestra, the University of Redlands A Capella choir and a chorus of Negro singers under the direction of Roena Muckelroy Savage. The program was concluded by the showing of a motion picture depicting Lincoln at the time of his Gettysburg address, entitled "The Perfect Tribute", and the singing of the 'Star Spangled Banner."

The breakfast club meets the second Sunday of every month. Marian Anderson Sings

Long since have music critics, renowned voice teachers and commentators in general depleted their store of superlatives to laud the acme of vocal magnificence and rarity of gift that is Marian Anderson's . . . Tuesday's Philharmonic concertgoers, crowding the starcases the ramps and the foyer entr'acte were as one in their accord . . . within this vast throng of be-jeweled and soignee fashionables one caught instantly in the awed conversation that adoration that Anderson enjoys . . . and so richly justifies . . the world over . . . the luxurious souvenir programme, from cover to cover, is a concentrated offering of word pictures all shouting the praise of our greatest artist alive today . . . it is filled with handsome photographs . . . of the artist and several of her European admirers . . . Marian Anderson in costly evening gowns, a richly brocaded Mandarin coat, another depicts her thrilling an audience in the rococo salon aboard the Italian boat M. V. "Augustus" . . . . . Marion Anderson waving farewell aboard the luxury liner "Normandie" . . . swathed in the rich pile of mink, orchids at the right rever . . . what pleased me most was the great number of our own Southlanders who came on to enjoy the season's most important concert . . . always, Marian Anderson's.

PENN-CARTER BANNS SOLEMNIZED

A faint gust caused the altar tapers to flicker uncertainly: and in the dimly lit chancel of St. Barnabas, not un-like an historic mission for all its quaintness, a wedding pair stood before the altar . . . that was just this Thursday past: and the hour was close to six when Ramona Leila Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bunch plighted her troth to James Meredith Penn, well-known young asadena businessman . . . for her marriage ceremony the new Mrs. Penn wore a beautifully cut gown of white satin, her flowers, a graceful sheaf of calla lilies . . . an elaborate veil of handmade lace fell from a cap encrusted with seed pearls, the veil loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Ada Irby Brownlee, who fashioned the exquisite treasure . . . the Reverend Alfred Wilkins pronounced the vows . . . Mrs. Arnett (Florence) Heath and James Price served bride and groom respectively as matron of honor and groomsman . . . Mmes. Jack Barrett and Haskell Davis, intimate friends of the family executed the floral decor which further heightened the beauty of the simple ceremony . . . immediately following the ceremony the wedding party motored out to the spacious manse of the Brockwod Grants, 300 North Vernon Avenue, there to take their places in the receiving line . . . from seven o'clock until nine more than two hundred and fifty reception guests called to felicitate the newly married pair . . . there were innumerable costly wedding gifts, among them a fragile Japanese tea service, presented as a gift from Mr. J. J. Bunch . . . the elder Mr. Bunch secured the ceramic treasures many years ago while visiting the historic San Francisco International Exposition . . . a handsomely chased servce of flat and tall silver, delicate Spode and rich linen stuffs were among the remembrances that filled the living and dining rooms and the den beyond . . . cocktails, ices and tiny cakes after the Valentine motif were served the never-ending stream of guests . . . Mrs. W. J. Bunch, beautifully gowned received in line with the bridal party . . . following a short wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Penn will be ensconced in their new home at 340 West Mountain St. . . . in effect, just about as "story-bookish" a cottag as any young couple, with the ring of wedding chimes yet in their ears, could wish for . . .

Los Angeles' and Pasadena's socially eclat danced away the hours last Friday evening within the ballroom of the Musart Salon . . . guests of the "M. F. C.'s" . . . and despite the rain, which kept a number of the less venturesome ones away . . . the affair lacked nothing in brilliance, in verve . . . my sincere regrets are extended to the Ivan J. Johnsons III . . . no end of sorrow for my (and the "esposa'ss") inability to go along to another of the definitely important dances that the officers, Mrs. Eva A. Skanks, Mrs. Mamie Waugh, Charles Cameron; and members, Attorney and Mrs. Ivan J. Johnson III, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brothers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rufus Portwig give each year at fashionable Musart.

On the twenty-second of the month society will once again do a "passe-a-pied" 'neath the palm branches that give the Riverside Drive Breakfast Club ballroom its tropical atmosphere . . for then the well-known Ma-Po-Fi Social club will regale the elect with its annual formal dancing party . . . the sixth of such affairs; and one to which you may be sure Southland socialites will go along to enjoy en masse . . . especially when due notice is taken of two irresistible incentives: the high position of the "Ma-o-Fi's" in the social life of the Southwest, and their immeccable choice of ballroom . . . incidentally, the selection of the Riverside rendezvous, last holiday season, by swank Colorado Club members, set society into such a dither that practically all our top-notchers have joined forces to make it the "accepted place" . . . I have just received a very very important letter--I hasten to include:

Dear Daddy,

I want to tell you about our Linger-Not Club Valentine tea party. All of the club members sang "By the Bend of the River", Yvonne (Cole) played two piano pieces and Roberta Scott sang two solos accompanied by Elizabeth Garrott. Jenard (Worsham) played two piano solos also; and Florence Cole delighted all the club members and their parents and friends with a song. Both of the Glorias (Gloria Roberts and Gloria Russell) were on the program. The first one played the piano; and the second one gave two readings; and, you remember Nancy Balch? Well she played her violin--two very nice solos they were too. After that we presented our play "A Dozen Pink Roses". Florence Cole, Elizabeth Garrott, Gloria Roberts, Gloria Russell and your daughter Paullyn were all in it. Then we all sang "Sylvia" and served tea and cookies. We wore the Vaentine aprons that some of the club members mothers had made.

The End

By Paullyn Garner

P. S. Oh yes, I gave two readings also.

Pasadena's St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, headed by its vicar, the Reverend Alfred W. Wilkins, will have held its Pre-Lenten Benefit Dance by the time you read this . . . the affair, always an important Pasadena social highlight, is given traditionally each year . . . just before social activity lessens for the observance of Lent . . . yesterday's affair, held as always in the Gold Room of the "Civic", attracted a sizable quota of our well-known Pasadenans and Angelenos.

PASADENA BRIEFS:

Miss Vivian Snow entertained last Thursday in the Yale Street home of her sister, Mrs. Walter Perry . . . in effect a charmingly intimate little supper party . . AND on Sunday just past, members of the Chicago Club met in the rooms of their club house in Morton Avenue, Pasadena . . . Mrs. Robertine Simons, Chicago, entrained on Wednesday evening for El Paso, Texas following a five-week's stay in asadena . . . from El Paso Mrs. Simons will go to New Orleans in good time for the Mardi Gras season . . . this witnessed, she will visit in Alcorn, Mississippi where her daughter and son-n-law are member sof the land-grant college faculty . . . young Arthur Callier and the Misses: Dorothy Perry, Gloria Mims, Jean and Dolores Carroll, Caroline Callier, and Mary Louise Grooms, dropping in on Paullyn Garner to surprise her on her fourteenth Valentine's Day birthday, raising excited chatter about everything in general while enjoying the ice-cream and cake . . . Mrs. Anna Baptiste, Pasadena's "first lady" attending the Marian Anderson concert, Tuesday night at the Philharmonic . . . . . Mrs. Ollie Ann Robinson and visitor, Mrs. Wilburt attending the brilliant Paul Williams Appreciation Banquet on Tuesday night . . . and doing the honors for my wife and me in our more than regrettable inability to attend this thoroughly important laudatory function.

...GLAND SHOWS WHITE FEATHERS TO ADOLF ...TLER'S DEMAND FOR COLONIES IN AFRICA

By Fay M. Jackson

...Africa is the pivot upon which hangs the peace ...e world today. Prime Minister Neville Cham...in, frantically working to bring Germany and ... together with Britain and France, into a 10-...act of peace and security, has offered his gov...rnment's willingness to return one of the African colonies she ...from Germany after the World War, if Hitler agrees to come into this system of pacification, it was learned this week.

...rther projection of the blacks into the question of international peace and the use of them as bait—and possibly the only bait by which England can save her face from concerted attacks from Germany and Italy which would, with other complications growing in India, Egypt and some parts of Africa destroy completely her tottering strength as a world power of first rank, is seen in the efforts to draw Premier Mussolini into the four-power pact by holding out the prospect of Anglo-French recognition of the Fascist domain in Ethiopia.

FORESEEN

Exactly one year ago this month, almost to the day of the present pronouncement of England's apparent willingness to accede to Hitler's demands, while stationed in London as Foreign Correspondent for the California Eagle, the writer predicted that colonial possessions would actually be the efficient (or underlying) cause of war and that Great Britain's high talk of a humanitarian interest in maintaining control over the black people would eventually force itself into a definite show of diplomatic bargaining for the maintenance of her own security.

USED AS TOOL

Despite the patronization of France towards her colonials, and many outward shows of equality she, too, hides the cloven fist of actually using them as tools in her army forces, in her chief sources of natural wealth.

In February of 1937, when international peace was even more seriously challenged than it appears to be today; when America's stand in the event of another world conflict had not been clarified by President Roosevelt's now famed "Chicago speech"; before African, Indian, and Egyptian leaders had been salved by the spectacle of the Coronation and attendant "diplomatic moves and agreements" effected during their sojourn in the center of the United Kingdom, indeed, before England knew exactly where India and Africa stood, whether for self-rule or a continuation of Protectorate government, Britain played a hidden hand of suave affability with the blacks and threatened Hitler with them as her trump card in the event of any unforseen tricks up his sleeve..

Germany's dictator read the ultimatum in a world-wide radio broadcast in which he implied that he intended to press his claims for the restoration of the colonies obtained after the World War.

National holiday for the purpose of listening to the speech was declared by Germany. England and France unofficially called a halt in work-a-day affairs to hear Herr Hitler.

Clarifying the implications expressed by Hitler, the controversy was established to be over who shall and who shall not rule the blacks.

Colonies directly involved are: Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika, Nyasaland and North Rhodesia.

Shortly after the German threat, the House of Commons was shocked by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's request for increased armaments fund.

But Hitler, somewhat quieted

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 58—NO. 45 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1938 PRICE FIVE CENTS

PRIZES TO BE AWARDED FOR ESSAYS ON RACIAL MINORITIES; EPIC POEM PRAISED

The New History society offers three prizes ($300, $200 and $100) to the people of the United States and its outlying possessions and territories for the three best papers of not more than two thousand words on the subject: "How can cultural and social values of racial minorities in the United States and its outlying possessions and territories be adjusted and harmonized?" The competition closes on Mar. 15 and the announcement of the prize winners will be made during the month of April.

Among the judges are Dr. Jacques Barzun, Dept. of History, Columbia University; James Weldon Johnson, visiting Professor of Creative Literature at New York University; Dr. Herbert A. Miller, Sociologist, Bryn Mawr College; Dr. Donald Young, Professor of Sociology, University of Pennsylvania; and Dr. Haridas T. Muzumdar, Sociologist, formerly a member of the faculty, University of Wisconsin and Howard University.

...nstituted in 1931

Since 1931, through successive competitions, the New History Society has sounded out the opinions of the youth of the world on World Peace, The United States of the World, the Reconstruction of the Human Commonwealth, Universal Religion, and Harmonious Relations among the Races.

In the present competition the problem is to assess the present status of the Minorities in terms of their racial, cultural, economic, educational, political and religious backgrounds and to explore ways and means through which to make possible an intelligent, harmonious and reciprocal cooperation which shall serve as a model of practical and spiritual efficiency. Implicit in the theme of the present competition is the question: "How can Democracy be made more vital by the intelligent participation of every citizen in the affairs of the nation?"

Further information and the free literature of the New History Society will be supplied upon request from 132 East 65th St., New York City.

For several months parts of the poem, which in its original form runs to some 350 pages, have appeared in "The Modern Monthly" of New York, where they received the high praise of literary critics.

"A Gallery of Harlem Portraits" contains contrasted characters and gives the reader a panoramic view of the Negro in the United States. V. F. Calverton literary critic, declares: "the poems possess extraordinary

LAUNDRYMAN LAUNCHES "NEGRO DOLLAR DAY"

Dear Folks! The spectacle of the masses of my people being daily ground to pieces beneath the Juggernaut of Economic Law, has driven me to God in earnest prayer, asking that he might use me, as he did Moses, to help lead my people out of this American wilderness. To one who pauses a moment to lift his head above the horizon of Self-interest, the present outlook of the Masses of our group is indeed dark and gloomy. Everywhere they are being displaced in the realm of Labor.

In the South, jobs which have been our unquestioned heritage since the days of Slavery, jobs for waiters, bell-hops, even porters and stevedores, are being appropriated by white competitors, forced thereto by the inexorable Law of Necessity. Right here in our Angel city where employment for our women has heretofore been plentiful, one rarely sees an ad desiring a colored girl. And the few openings that are available, offer pitifully neagre wages.

For this condition of affairs no thoughtful person attaches any blame whatsoever to the white man, for it is only natural and instinctive for him to look out for his own, First. And the fact that he IS doing so, may prove a blessing in disguise, causing us to WAKE UP and begin doing something constructive for ourselves.

Along this line I present to you for thoughtful consideration, my inspiration for the creation of a "NEGRO DOLLAR DAY". My plan is very simple. No unwieldly organization, no Big Shot presidents, secretarys, or treasurers to wax fat off other peoples' earnings, and NO DUES. Simply a banding together of us plain people for a common cause: that of stimulating such Negro Businesses as are already in operation, thereby enabling them to expand, and resultantly employ more members of our own group. This end can be achieved without a nickel of ex-

"SUFFER LITTLE CHILDREN"

Italian school children, by decree of the Secretary General of the Fascist Party, must offer a prayer of "thanks" to Premier Mussolini for the mid-day meal. The prayer, as prescribed by the Fascist official, must be as follows:

"Il Duce (Mussolini) I thank you for what you give me to make me grow healthy and strong. O Lord God, protect Il Duce so that he may be long preserved to Fascist Italy".

In Germany, school children were required to kneel in worship last January 30—the fifth anniversary of Nazis' seizure of power—and join in this chant of prayer and praise:

"We don't want rest. We loathe quiet. Waiting is death. He who is unfaithful and leaves the flag of Der Fuhrer shall lose honor forever. Unfaithful, be accursed! Fuhrer, we salute thee!"

Russian children—taught to worship no God but Lenin and his "prophet," Stalin—are taught that this is the highest manifestation of faith:

"If your father or your mother are not loyal to The Cause, report them to Stalin—so that they may be shot."

georgette harvey tests for 'gone with wind' picture rol

star of porgy-bess may play great film role

Stepping out of the cast of "Porgy and Bess", witnessed last week by George Cukor, producer for 'Gone With the Wind', Georgette Harvey, renowned character actress, who plays the part of "Maria" in the Gershwin opera, was interviewed Saturday morning by Selznick executives for the role of "Mammy" in the southern epic.

Recommended to Cukor by Rouben Mamoulian, Miss Harvey had been previously sought for the coveted role by Cukor during his visit to New York, it was learned.

"I thought I was a bit light and my features not enough 'negroid' for this part", Miss Harvey said. "But present plans of the studio seem to demand more the ability to act than merely to look the part of a southern Mammy."

Makeup will take care of any deviation from the conventional flat-featured Negro, Cukor explained. The role requires an especially versatile actress who must be able to express all of the emotions from pathos and sorrow, humor and broad comedy, to the dignified, commanding character who eventually takes complete charge of the white family after the death of its head.

"If its acting they want, I am certain that I can deliver", Miss Harvey said confidently.

LOUISE BEAVERS — Famed for her role, "Delilah" in "Imitation of Life" depicts most successfully the melodramatic, tearful, softer type of Negro mother and is being strongly considered for the "Wind" opus.

GEORGETTE HARVEY —was interviewed by George Cukor for the role that calls for a commanding, dignified type of woman to dominate the affairs of the O'Hara family. A philosophical soul, at times, her humor relieves the chaotic situations following the death of Scarlett's mother. As a character actress, Theatre Guild's Georgette Harvey is unquestionably tops. Cukor saw her performance in Porgy and Bess as "Maria", sent her the script for "Mammy".

HATTIE MCDANIEL — Who led all sepians in quanity performance for 1937, rates number one box office as the outstanding comedienne of the screen, and enters the EAGLE lists for the role of "Mammy" in "Gone With the Wind."

MEMPHIS—More than 500 were turned away from the exclusive Orpheum theatre on the showing of "Stepin Fetchit", the celebrated featured star of Harlem Hit Parade which opened here for a three-day run.

Sharing the spotlight with Stepin Fetchit was Erskine Stepin Fetchit Hawkins and his orchestra from the southland, supported by an all-colored cast of stars from Harlem, including Velma Middleton, vocalist and dancer; Johnson and Jeanette, dance team; Harry Thomas, tap dancer who recently completed a 32 week run with Rudy Valee and his orchestra.

Stepin Fetchit broke the attendance record esetablished recently by Duke Ellington and his orchestra when they appeared here. Patrons were standing in line awaiting the opening of the ticket office to witness the showing. Step's performance drew about 25 per cent more attendance than the Duke.

JENI LEGON

KEEN BUT FRIENDLY rivalry marks the tests for casting in the forthcoming "Froo-Froo", a Merriam Cooper production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer after more than a hundred colored girls failed the preliminary tests and finals have narrowed down to two of the most outstanding younger actresses in Hollywood: Theresa Harris and Jeni LeGon.

Every state in the union had been combed, schools canvassed by talent scouts for a girl answering the original description given out by the studio. She must be about 5 feet, four in height; slender, black, between the age of 18-25 to look 17; neither singing nor dancing required and previous experience was not necessary.

As is the custom in Hollywood, however, ideas about this girl, "Pix", who will undoubtedly have the greatest part yet offered to a sepian, ranking third among the stars featured, all previous requirements were knocked out when it was decided an impossibility to locate a young woman who looked like Stepin Fetchit, possessed the mind of a Sappho.

Yesterday Miss Harris and Miss LeGon made tests for the part.

Each admires the other as tops in her own sphere. Miss LeGon is favored for her youthfulness, her spriteliness, her dancing ability and the chance that remains to be proved that she can measure up for dramatic acting.

Theresa Harris, slightly beyond the age limit, can with the aid of makeup, easily assume the role of a girl of 17, it is thought. She ranks highest among the dramatic actresses in Hollywood and has a long string of successes to her credit, noteworthy of which is the picture, "Jezebel" which she has just completed for Warners.

"If it's pure acting they want, I can not hope to surpass Miss Harris", LeGon said.

"If it's the child of grace and charm and rhythmic beauty they want, I am no competition for Jeni LeGon" Theresa Harris said.

With such splendid material from which to choose, Cooper is still scratching his head bald for a decision. But "Pix" is waiting to make the lucky girl the outstanding younger star of the year.

THERESA HARRIS

closed shop sought by film actors' guild h

Because the Screen Actor's Guild is being swamped with new members who fall into the "extra" or "bit" player classes, with 12,500 junior members already registered and only calls for 800 a day come in for these players, it has been decided to replace "guild shop" with "closed shop" among actors at Hollywood's 71 motion picture studios.

Thousands of would-be actors and actresses who flock to Hollywood in search of jobs and fame may not be able to work unless they secure membership in the Screen Actors' Guild.

Announcement of the "closed shop' action was made by the guild's board of directors after a meeting of the personnel in Hollywood Stadium Monday night.

Since there is no provision for a closed shop in the present working contracts between studios and the guild, Kenneth Thompson, executive secretary of the guild, informed the producers that if amajority of them objected the matter probably would be rescinded.

No serious objection from the producers is anticipated, however, since only guild members are allowed to work in the studios now except under certain mutually agreed upon conditions.

singer to take offer at end of 'porgy' run

Close on the heels of his West coast success in "Porgy and Bess", came a wire late Saturday from his New York representatives that Todd Duncan had been offered the leading role in the London production of "Children of the River"

Duncan was suggested for the part of "Bosambo", originally written for Paul Robeson.

The libretto of the opera is based on a story from Sanders Books by Edgar Wallace.

Rehearsals are scheduled to begin in March and the opera is definitely set for the famed Drury Lane theatre in the Empire's capital.

Concurrent with the offer to Duncan came a similar one to Anne Wiggins Brown, "Bess", for the role of "Fitema".

Both artists indicated their willingness to accept the roles.

luther king off on tour; wins wide acclaim in northwest

With the gratifying praise of critics of the great Northwest and British Columbia to strengthen his determination and the applause of appreciative audiences to inspire him to greater versatility, Luther King, risng young tenor, of Cleveland and Los Angeles, left Thursday on a tour which will take him throug the middle west, south and finally the eastern coast under the Behymer Artist Bureau of Los Angeles.

Pheonix, Arizona and Albequeque, New Mexico were his immediate destinations, both places being on his schedule for this week. After March 10, he will proceed through Texas, thence to the Carolinas and to the Prarie States, reaching Ohio by May.

Luther King is described by the music critic of the Vancouver, B. C. Daily Province thusly: "Here is a modest singer with a voice of excellent musical textures, extensive in compass and the ability to express himself with real intelligence." Prominent dailies of the west devoted whole columns to his musical prowess. The Salt Lake Tribune: . . . his forte passages of power and his pianissimo rich and lovely;" The Desert News, Salt Lake City, Utah,: "He spared no pains to master the emotion and intellectual content of his song. versatile valaida veers into 'peck of trouble'

According to unconfirmed reports from Europe, assertedly sent to the drama department of the Pittsburgh Courier in the form of a letter. Valaida Snow, one-time topnotcher in Lew Leslie's "Blackbirds", well known entertainer in Continental nite clubs, is in trouble "up to her neck".

Alleged to have been barred from England, Miss Snow was likewise involved in difficulties in Sweden that are said to have been due to falure of her sweetie, Earl, to return a rented automobile to its owners

The letter states further:

"Valaida while working at Jimmie's Bar in Montparnasse, a section of Paris like Harlem here signed contracts to appear in Holland. On the strength of her contract, she borrowed money from those who had issued same, but when time came for her to take the job, she did not accept. Still working at Jimmie's she was advanced the money to pay the Holland employer back. Nevertheless she did not pay the money back nor continue to work at Jimmie's. As a result of this Jimmie had her arrested along with her man, Earl.

"At the time of her arrest the police found in her luggage some silver ware which was reported stolen from either Jimmie's Bar or a hotel in which she had once lived. Since being arrested the couple have been moved from jail to jail and friends here in Paris can't find any trace of them.

"On the heels of all this, the proprietor of the Hotel De Turin where she lived, said that the former band leader, singer, and dancer left his hotel without paying her past due bill and that he will present this and several morphine bottles to the court when her case comes up.

EXCEPT, HOWEVER, for the short by M-G-M, "Life of Dr. C ver", NONE tell a new story of the other side of the Neg "Imitation of Life" hinted but immediately played down the c flict of a mulatto's problem. Metro's short emphasizes more "God-fearing" quality of Carver suggesting something of the "ra bit-foot" luck attending the scientist's discoveries than a play up actual successful pursuit of laboratory technique and scientific re soning.

HERE LET ME hasten to inform you that THAT point is N M-G-M's fault but actually is it true of Carver's personality a Tuskegee's PRESS AGENTRY. AND IF YOU CAN'T READ B TWEEN THE LINES for what I am driving at: it is this — To scribe the work and worth of this great scientist as VERBAL I SPIRATION; to discount the long hours of WORK, the innate qu ties of superior reasoning powers for the maudlin sentimenta and superstition attached to his accomplishments is to play direc into the hands of race-baiting propagandists who claim that Negro is but half a man, his achievements purely a matter of ext ordinary LUCK.

I cannot say — after more than seven years of investigation a study of the question, during that period of contact with mot pictures and their players, how this hokum started. I DO KN THAT NEGROES THEMSELVES are doing more than anyone e at the moment to EXTEND it.

ONE NEED GO no further than A. Philip Randolph's years struggle in the long labor battles that he fought for black A white workers for a dramatic tale of unusual worth. Typical of MODERN SCENE, filled with conflict and contrasts necessary screen or theatre treatment, Randolph's story is fit for appreciat by any audience. Incidentally he is black, primarily he is hum but fundamentally he exemplifies the strength of character, honesty of purpose and the achievement of his aim that would to the universal heart and head.

I do not, for a moment, believe or suggest that films depic "the other side" of the Negro's part in America's development sho be all-Negro cast. How could they be and tell the story truthfu I am not pulling for racialism half as much as I am pulling for r ism.

FEW PEOPLE, and the Negro is certainly no exception, have d much by themselves. The point of skill in living is how one gets along, ACHIEVES, with OTHER people. I cannot say well the Negro has done in this regard. But WHAT he has has been interesting, indeed. It is an entertaining bit of busi that may be shockingly unique, once we strip it of the "pose veneer of a super-godliness", and the sacchrine sweetness of U Tomism. (I have always believed that the Uncle held a wi weapon under the hat in his hand, perhaps hoped so.) Desert soppy sentimentalism that has been attached to "Negro" by Tin Alley and "Hallelujah", depict him as the earthy wretch of s fighting a terrific battle against odds and he will win respect. erybody sympathizes with Uncle Tom, a few LOVE him, but ONE RESPECTS HIM.

Now, back to the original idea: the present opportunity to a the current cycle of historical southern films. FIRST, instead much back-wash CRITICISM on what the white folks HAVE DONE for the race in this regard, let there be more CONSTR TIVE effort to do something for OURSELVES!

LET OUR WRITERS direct their literary powers beyond th ments of downtrodden souls or the useless protests of last y wrongs. Let somebody debunk the bruited "religious fervor" "sweet humility" of the Negro people. Let the Negro tell his story and everybody knows that NOTHING IS STOPPING HI not even Hollywood. Tell how he connives to live; that his are not a supplication to heaven for Grace and Mercy but the culated code of release from carnal urges of the escape from li tions of environmental barriers that restrict him in a land makes a goddess of Justice and then blindfolds her!

His work is evenly balanced in lyric or dramatic songs. An enthusiastic audience applauded him. Miss Robert V. Edwards accompanied him capably at the piano.

Madame Elizabeth Ford, dramatic reader, demonstrated her claims as an artist of high repute. She has been well schooled and is at her best in the heaviest dramatic numbers. Those who have never heard her, have missed a grand treat.

AWAIT COMPLETION OF OPERA

Completion of a new American opera with libretto by Langston Hughes, noted poet and playwright, and music by William Grant Still, famous composer, is eagerly awaited in New York music circles. "Troubled Island" is the name intended.

Hughes has based the story on that of his own prose play, "Drums of Haiti", staged several times during 1936, which tells the brief glory of Emperor Dessalines of Haiti and his downfall. Some of the poetry with which Hughes has embellished the plot is understood to be among the best he has ever written. The libretto was finished before he went to Madrid some months ago.

That part of the music already composed by Still is considered fine and imaginative and promises to be one of his most effective works for the stage. He has created his own musical idiom using, on the whole a harmonic scheme different from any of his other compositions.

Festival of Music at Belasco

Painting a melodic panorama of native American music from pre-revolutionary days up to the present, the Federal Music Project will stage three consecutive evenings of chorus, soloists, and symphony Orchestras, colored chorus, and light opera unit, February 20 to 22, Harle Jervis, project manager, announced today.

All programs will be presented in the Federal Music Theatre (Belasco).

Opening with William Billings' "Lamentation Over Boston," written about 1750, sung by the light opera chorus, and other songs by the same composer, the program for February 20 will also include "My Days Have Been Wonderous Free", and "Enraptured I Gaze", by Francis Hopkinson, plantation songs by the colored chorus under Carlyle Scott. "Bandanna Sketches," and "Old Folks At Home", by the light opera orchestra, and conclude with the entire light opera unit in excerpts from DeKoven's "Robin Hood".

SHE'LL REMAIN NOW

Louise Campbell from the New York stage, who came to Hollywood to appear in one Paramount picture and remained to portray leading roles in four others, has been signed to a long-term contract at that studio. She last appeared in Cecil Be De Mille's "The Buccaneer".

NYDIA WESTMAN'S NICHE

Nydia Westman whose "dumb" portrayals won her a featured spot in several Ziegfield "Follies" enacts a similar role in Paramount's "Bulldog Drummond's Peril," in which John Barrymore, Louise Campbell and John Howard share leading honors.

"CUT" THIEVES

He who obtains something for a specific purpose and holds it over in wait for an opportune time to villify and strengthen a malicious attack; to drag into the gutter the fair name of those in the ranks of the profession he is disgracing is nothing more nor less than a common, every-day, small-time thief.

The act in itself shows that the property was not obtained for the intent and purpose claimed, as has been admitted in a published statement that because of lack of space, the cut was held over and saved for an opportune time for its use.

First of all, the cut in question was and is the personal property of the individual of the party who bought and paid for same and should have been returned to the party from whom it was obtained for delivery to the rightful and legal owner.

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn;
'Cut' thieves are among us just as sure as you're born."

Nestle a snake in your bosom and when he "thaws" out and comes to life he'll fasten his poison fangs into your flesh everytime. We've nurtured, given bread and paid dollars to such inrates when they had not a chance to earn a dime otherwise, and in the way of gratitude we receive stones in return.

Nigh on 25 years since we dropped anchor in Los Angeles and mounted the seat in the pilot house of this craft which has been afloat upon the journalistic sea for 58 years. Many winds have rocked and tossed the old ship but proudly she sails on. Her reputation as clean and spotless as a hound's tooth. She has and is today, leading the van for a cleaner life and advancement to higher heights for all humanity. So then:

What care we for a soldier of fortune who toils not and spins not?

What care we for a Negro who "fronts" for a newspaper owned bodily by a white man?

What care we for a rat who hollers morality from the housetops and sneaks in the back way of lottery joints and collects "protection" dollars for keeping quiet?

What care we for the Communistic bombast thrown upon porches and stuffed in trash cans weekly?

What care we for a so-called publisher who organizes picket lines to harass merchants who are fair and tolerant to force the employment of Negroes while at the same time his paper is cut-up, made-up and printed in a white shop that refuses to have a Negro wash the windows or sweep the floors?

The EAGLE, with a $25,000 plant manned throughout by Race men and women will continue the march of progress, small-time racketeers to the contrary notwithstanding.

THAT FILIBUSTER

When the Republicans, for more than 50 years had a majority in both houses of Congress, a bill against mob murder and disfranchisement never reached the floor in either House or Senate.

Comes now, in these days of Democratic rule, a measure that has been put thru the House against mob murder which is hanging fire by a filibuster waged by 13 unreconstructed rebels from Dixie.

Failure to enact such a measure into law puts the stamp of approval of mob murder upon the United States Congress and shows cowardice on the part of those who would vote for the bill but refuse to vote for the application of the cloture rule.

One bold, brave, clean, manly Senator, Arthur Capper of Kansas, a Republican of the old school, came out bold for the cloture gag on the Dixie rats, while all others tucked their tails and got from under.

Walter Lippman, in a syndicated article on the subject, speaks truthfully when he says:

"If we ask ourselves how we are to know when a minority is justified in using the mechanism to obstruct the majority, the answer is, I think, clear enough. Only a minority with deep convictions facing a majority with weak convictions can under the present rules conduct a filibuster. If the yeas were as sure that the anti-lynching bill is right and necessary as the minority are that it is wrong and unnecessary, the majority could pass the bill in forty-eight hours."

BILBO AT IT AGAIN

In his filibustering speech before the Senate last Wednesday against the anti-lynching bill, Senator Bilbo of Mississippi, who, by the way, is the goat of white civilization, declared:

"It is common knowledge that some white girls employed here by the Government are living with Negroes."

This alleged condition, he pointed out, was due to the fact that the Government permitted Negroes to mingle freely with white persons.

Thus, white womanhood is traduced and held up to scorn by a man who holds a seat in the highest law-making body in the world. It wouldn't be a bad idea for a committee of white and black women to wait upon this ignorant old polecat and treat him to a dose of the medicine he is filibustering for.

If the truth was brought out doubtless some of the mulatto kids in Mississippi could be traced to the door of this foul-mouthed monstrosity.

MERRIAM AND THE NEGROES

Just now it looks as though the Iowa-born Governor of California cares naught for the Negro, his vote, nor his place in the economic, social and political set-up of the State.

If past actions are to be taken as a criteria of future acts, black citizens have nothing to hope for at the hands of the Governor who owes his election to them and Democrats who bolted Sinclair and landed him in the gubernatorial chair.

Merriam's latest affront to the group and doubtless shows that he is ungrateful and cares not for Negro votes and support, happened several days to the windward.

An influential and highly respected Negro journeyed to the Capitol (not in quest of a job) but to take up a matter with the Chief Executive that was of grave importance to all the citizens of his community. He was introduced to His Excellency by a State Senator which was graciously acknowledged by the Governor who made an appointment to consider the plea of the citizen-taxpayer at a certain hour the next day. On time promptly, the gentleman waited long and patiently until "closing time" only to find the Governor had departed via a rear exit. Thus it was, for three whole days, the citizen endeavored to contact the Governor, finally giving up in disgust and returned to his home.

Unless a sudden about-face by the Governor (which looks hopeless) Negroes have nothing to hope for at the hands of the Governor other than a brand of salve so smelly that vultures would pass it up.

As we have stated on previous occasions, the Governor has an opportunity to cinch the colored vote by showing appreciation through giving the group recognition, but instead, his actions show that he has it in his head that his political fortunes will bear fruit without the aid of Negro voters.

Will Merriam awaken or sleep himself into political oblivion?

THE "HOLDING COMPANY"

THE WORLD THIS WEEK
By ROBERT PATTERSON

THE BIG PARADE

The White House parade swings on unabated. Certainly the biggest, and probably one of the most potent, segments of American business to pay a call on President Roosevelt has been the army of 500 small businessmen which descended on Washington a week ago. While they unburdened their grievances, hopes, and remedies for combating the business ebb-tide, not a few reassuring signs of an incoming tide have been revealing themselves. More than 90 per cent of America's business men believe the slump in industrial production will end soon, according to a survey conducted by one of the nation's largest security and commodity firms. Corroborating this survey, the Federal Reserve Board announces that the decline in industrial production—which first showed its unwelcome self last Fall—came to a halt in January. Meanwhile, a reliable press survey forecasts an employment pick-up of 150,000 men within the next four to six weeks.

TEN OUT OF TWELVE

This auspicious mark-up in the number of men who will again be punching time-clocks and dispersing weekly paychecks into the somewhat drought-stricken trade channels is apparently based on hard-faceted realities. The survey's findings stem, in part, from the trend of many large organizations who have revived "spread the work" policies in preference to payroll cutting. Moreover, the South has been much less affected by the slump than the North's heavily industrialized areas and constitutes a stabilizing backlog. In addition, ten of the nation's twelve Federal Reserve Districts have good reason to believe that employment's upswing will be registered on the labor chart before April. One philosophically inclined business leader has even gone so far as to opine that this welterweight depression has been of some use. "At least, it has chastened labor, government, and business!" he asserts.

THE HERO RETIRES

An old man at 32—in the gruelling, heart-straining business of boxing, at any rate—James J. Braddock has just retired from active service as a fighter. But the Cinderella man of the fight world has no fear of returning to the $24 a month relief rolls. The tidy nugget of possibly some $300,000 he has salted away suggests that Horatio Alger jr. might have written the story of his life. Like the hero of "Sink or Swim", Braddock ambled along the rags to riches road of the Alger scenarios, from printer's devil, messenger boy and longshoreman, up the steep hill to world's heavyweight champion. No longer champion, "Rags to Riches Jim" can at least bask in the golden memory that he was once crowned with the precious laurels. And when the cheers which once rang 'round his head are but a ghostly echo, the Cinderella man can turn for more enduring comfort to that handsome nest egg.

STORM ON THE SUN

If your radio or telephone begins cutting up prankishly along about February 21, don't necessarily think one of the tubes has gone on a sit-down strike, or that the receiver disc has split into smithereens. The trouble may be entirely due to a magnetic storm caused by the creation of titanic volcanoes of gas on the sun's surface. According to Dr. A. G. McNish, a leading authority on the Earth's magnetism and a member of the Carnegie Institution, such a storm is due near February 21. If the full force of the volcanic tides are felt on Earth, radio, telephone, telegraph, as well as compasses, can be expected to do a Suzy-Q of madcap capers.

No "Breathing Spell" for the Senate Filibusters

By BEN DAVIS, JR.
(From the Daily Worker)

WITH threats of permanently laying aside the anti-lynching bill still in the air, there is a grave danger that many people will say:

"Well, we put up a good fight—we lost. Let bygones be bygones. Let's put our strength behind some progressive measures 'which can be won'."

No doubt such an attitude gives an illusion of great comfort and restfulness. But on more careful examination this same attitude turns out to be a fool's paradise.

For who is it that wants to relegate the anti-lynching bill matter to the ashcan? The Southern filibusters (that is, those gentlemen whom the Encyclopaedia Brittannica calls "pirates and buccaneers") and the Northern Tory Republicans, who abetted the crime of spiking cloture.

Any such idea of giving up the ghost now, is to invite disaster for wages and hour, farm, and the whole program of progressive New Deal legislation. By and large, the same bloc of die-hards who oppose the anti-lynching bill are trying to be hangmen for whatever the progressive mandate for the American people calls for.

As I write this column my eyes are fixed on a headline in New York Times which says: 'HOUSING BILL WINS BY ONLY TWO VOTES'. Here indeed is a victory for the American people—but only by the proverbial "skin of the teeth". The bill won by a scant 42 votes as against 40.

What could be clearer than that the filibuster was an opening gun of reaction—both from the Wall Street and Southern landlord stripe—against the whole progressive New Deal program! The housing bill's narrow escape indicates that fact. It indicates also that the partial victory of the Senate Tories on the anti-lynching bill strengthened reaction all down the line.

"Do unto all other social legislation as we do unto the anti-lynching bill"—is undoubtedly the battle-slogan of the Bilbos of Mississippi and Vandenbergs of Michigan.

As a result the anti-lynching bill now hangs by a thread and its brother progressive measures are likewise facing a noose.

To rescue the whole social program now before Congress involves the fight for the passage of the anti-lynching bill as an INSEPARABLE part of that program.

It is the trick of the Senate Tories to cut off the anti-lynching bill from the rest of the progressive measures to divide the forces in support of the bill. If they can get away with slicing off one part of the program, they will lop off another. That way it's easier to surround one bill and ambush it.

Who can tell what the Senate reactionaries will try their obstructionist tactics against tomorrow?

Now is the time to raise the fight for the enactment of the anti-lynching bill to its full power. The bill can be brought back on the Senate business calendar, and kept there until it is passed.

Now is the time to turn a "good" fight for the bill into a perfect fight! This can be done by increasing the stream of telegrams to the Senate, by holding conferences and demonstrations, involving labor, progressive groups and all of white Democratic America, whose rights are in the balance as well.

A smashing victory can be snatched from the jaws of defeat.

The Eagle's Feathers

"HUMANIZE WAR"

Dear Editor:

At last the crowning touch of asininity to this senile, doddering civilization . . . we're going to humanize war!

Last week I read an article in one of the metropolitan papers, regarding the United States' demand that Japan limit its means of aerial warfare and in this manner—"humanize war".

So--they'll take the brutality out of MURDER, ambitious undertaking. Instead of raining shells down on hapless mortals from the sky, from whence they have been taught (up to 1918) to expect nothing more deadly than the gentle rain, they'll put the mortals in the infantry and the general behind the line will tell them to charge . . . and machine guns will do the job, more humanly.

But what can you expect of a civilization that permits capital punishment, oh, yes, I know, by the most humane methods, electric volts, instead of hanging by the neck, lethal gas instead of firing squads.

The gods in heaven must puke when they deign to look down.

Very Truly Yours,
PHILLIP BURKE

HIS NAME GATHERS REVERENCE

Dear Editor:

According to my youngster, he is told little in his history class about the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, in proportion to George Washington, and the other figures in American history.

I fear that the humaneness of Lincoln is gaining disfavor for him in the white race; this coupled with the propaganda of some of our leaders, that the freeing of the slaves was merely incidental, that Lincoln had no real desire to free us, that could he have saved the Union and kept us enslaved he would have done so.

Even in novels, pokes at his reputation are taken. The most subtle that I have noted recently was in "Gone With The Wind", the pro-South novel, in which the hero refers to Lincoln as the tool of economic interests that were fostering the war.

We, who know the truth, should counteract these lies. I say Long Live the Memory of the Great Emancipator, May His Memory Gather Reverence and Veneration as the world gathers the years.

Respectfully Yours,
(Mrs.) HAWKINS SMOOT

WE FOLLW THE LEADER

Dear Editor:

Of what avail is it to set aside one week out of fifty-two as Negro History week, when, throughout the rest of the year, we forget and deny our birthright.

This observance of Negro History week and the oratory of our leaders is all sham. In our daily life invariably we follow after the pattern set by the white man; and like obedient sheep jump over the fence and run through the fields of life in pursuit of his shadow.

Not even in our own institutions are we independent of action, precedent and thought. I have hanging on my wall a calendar issued by the Great Lakes Mutual Insurance company with home offices in Detroit. This is a Race company and on the upper portion of the calendar are several pictures and vital statistics of a few Race leaders. DuBois, Kelly Miller, Carter G. Woodson and Samuel Coleridge Taylor; but throughout the calendar no days are reddlettered excepting the ones observed as special occasions by the white people.

Not even the birthday of Lincoln is red-lettered, but that of Washington is; not Frederick Douglas, Phyllis Wheatley, Booker T. Washington, Toussaint L' Overture, Paul Lawrence Dunbar nor Alexander Dumas!

Our children cannot learn Negro history in one week. It is in the little things of every day that the story of their forefathers should be told, should ever be kept before their eyes, a constant reminder of what they are, from whence they came, and where they are going.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM GATLIN

REPROACH TO MISS MATTHEWS

Dear Editor:

Being a book lover, I read every week Miss Miriam Matthews column "Library Book Notes". I think she is a fine writer and well versed in her chosen vocation. However I have a criticism of her column of last week (Eagle, Feb. 10). I offer it in a constructive spirit and hope you will call it to her attention.

She says the "Los Angeles Public Library wishes to discover what Mr. Average Reader considers the "best books" of the year 1937 and is conducting a survey throughout the city to determine the reader's choice".

Well, only through the 'Eagle' do we colored readers get the opportunity to make our choice, so why doesn't she include some of the books by Race authors? I am quite sure that many of us consider some book by a Race author at least one of the best boks of the year.

What about Arna Bontemps, Juanita Harrison, Zora Neale Hurston, and Waters Turpin?

Of course, I realize that Miss Matthews' purpose is to review and suggest books that will stimulate broadness among the readers; but I feel that some mention should be made of the Race writers,

Very sincerely yours,
ELLEN BARKER

TAKES LAUNDRYMAN TO TASK

Dear Editor:

I do think that although I enjoy the "Laundryman's column very much, he could write it under a more dignified title and could phrase his thoughts in der a more dignified title and tice a tendency of writers to hide their ignorance beneath slang and colloquial expressions. I do not think this is Mr. Laundryman's intent and purpose, but it is degrading to the high calibre of his column to title it so and couch his philosophy in such common language.

I hope he will see his way clear to remedying this condition. At any rate I wish him much success.

Most sincerely yours,

Meanwhile, as the dog-eat-dog fight for control of blacks is carried on by the white countries, colonial slaves are said to be adding fuel to the fire in revolts and uprising against the rule of either government.

With the memory of German cruelties still green and the imperialistic rule of England no less satisfactory, Africa's acceptance of Britain's bargain has yet to be reckoned with--Peace or no Peace--and the direct will of the masses somehow catered to before the muddle of Aryan Germany and proud Britain's greed for economic supremacy can be cleared.

tra expense to any one of us requiring only a little thoughtfulness, and a sincere desire to better economic condition of our group as a whole. Here is the plan:

Twice each month, on the 11th and the 26th (since many of us are "Government Employees' and many more of us seem to be on our way) we will celebrate "NEGRO DOLLAR DAY" pledging ourselves on either of these dates to spend at least ONE DOLLAR with some Negro business enterprise which we have not previously patronized.

The efficacy of such a movement may seem insignificant at first thought; but when you consider the fact that we have a group population of about fifty thousand people here, and that if we can ultimately succeed in enlisting even twenty thousand of them in this drive, we will have thrown Twenty Thousand Dollars per month into the channels of Negro Business: and across one year, our group would be enriched by the sum of Two Hundred and Forty Thousand Dollars.

But how can this be done? you say: How would it be possible to reach such a large number of our People? It can be done very easily—BY COOPERATION on the part of the Negro newspapers, and the Ministers of our group: the only ones, by the way, outside of the business men, who will have opportunity to realize any financial gain from this drive: the Newspapers through running the ads on those days, and the Ministers through conducting "Dollar Day" mass-meetings in rotaton at their various churches once a month, to discuss plans for furthering the cause, and taking up a collection thereafter.

With the cooperation of all the Negro journals in broadcasting this propaganda, and the Ministers sounding it from their pulpits, THIS MOVEMENT CAN BE SUCCESSFULLY LAUNCHED. Without their support, nothing can be achieved. So I am prayerfully asking that they take serious thought of this plan. For who knows but what it MAY prove to be an ever-growing snowball which may not cease its rolling until it has swept across the Rockies, and gripped our group-members even in the densely populated centers of the Atlantic Coast. The masses of OUR people, like all others, are highly susceptible to continuous, well-directed Propaganda. It is the most powerful weapon that the white man has forged in this twentieth century, and WE must either learn to use it, or Perish beneath the Steam-roller of Impersonal, Economic Law.

In closing, I ask that every Negro editor and Minister in the city pause, and ponder over this plan. And if imbued with a sincere desire to aid in lifting his people economically, to kindly write the Laundryman in care of the Eagle, stating what you think of the plan, and whether willing to attend a meeting to discuss methods of launching it. Letters from all interested parties are also requested. So long . . . see you next week.

'INSANITY' TO BE DEFENSE PLEA OF DOUBLE SLAYER

ANTI-LYNCH BILL DISPLACED

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 58—NO. 46 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1938 PRICE FIVE CENTS

on the sidewalk

by c. a. b.

THE HOLLYWOOD Citizen-News and The Daily News both flashed top lines Tuesday, saying, "Jones Reveals Negro District Payoff Data".

This is only the latest in a lengthy series of "vice exposes" in our district. It strikes me that we of Central avenue have been singularly ungrateful to those from other sections, who, without political ambition or the faintest self-interest, have given so liberally of their time in the many investigations of crime and corruption in our district.

I think it is only fitting that a representative body of our political, social and religious figures should band together and return the favor, launching a rigorous investigation into Beverly Hills and Hollywood.

If Mr. William Mosely Jones or our other Democrat and Republican lawmakers at Sacramento, paid by taxes garnered from black and white alike, evinced the same interest in housing and living conditions in the Negro district as they do in how Negroes conduct their politics, I could see at least a cintilla of sincerity in their interest in the moral cleanliness of the Negroes in the Central Avenue district or even in California.

If Mr. Jones knew, or if it were brought to his attention that Negroes in the Central avenue or any other designated Negro district, pay higher rates for two and three-room shacks than whites pay for three and four-room modern houses, WOULD MR. JONES LAUNCH AN INVESTIGATION INTO THIS?

It might be enlightening to you to know, Mr. Jones, that practically no bank in the city will lend money on Negro-owned property in the Negro district. Can you tell me why?

I INVITED THESE conditions to the attention of Mr. Jones, not in a spirit of antagonism, but with a view to getting down to the root of the evil.

The farmer who discovers devil grass among his plants, knows that he cannot cut away the top and get rid of the evil that will destroy his crop, so he sets himself to the task of digging out the roots.

If vice and corruption is more prevalent in the Negro district, not only Mr. Jones, the one-man investigating committee, but all the citizens of Los Angeles, who believe in a government that guides morally, advances economically, and provides civicly alike for all of its citizens, should turn their attention to this sordid condition and clean up a stench that eventually will emit its fumes to other morally pure sections, with devastating results.

LAST SUNDAY evening while passing one of the ppoular rendezvous on the avenue, I was attracted by some loud talk. I halted to listen and observe for a few minutes. There was a sidewalk assembly made up of young boys and girls, I imagine in age, from 15 to 18, respectively. A flask was in circulation freely among them and some of the language used was offensive to the extent of barring description.

Conditions have changed. Ma and Pa aren't what they used to be. And what kind of parents will this new crop make? And lastly, where were the parents of these young people?

Some of you old ladies and gentlemen of the higher social strata are responsible for this condition. I heard a young girl say recently, speaking of a very polite, but rather elderly gentleman, "He tried to make a date with me, but I could not take him on — a little too old, I am afraid."

Of the species of social polluters, your Mr. and Mrs. Social Hypocrite is more deadly than the known bad man and woman.

L. A. R. Y. SETTLES ACCIDENT CLAIM

The Los Angeles Railway settled the accident claim of Mrs. Odessa Harris Floyd who suffered injuries in a fall last month from a "U" car at 56th and Central Avenue through Atty. Edwin Jefferson this week. Mrs. Harris, who resides at 886½ E. 55th St., received $250.00.

SENATE'S FAILURE TO VOTE FOR CLOTURE MAY BE FELT IN '38, '40

Certain to Have Repercussions in Elections, Supporters Declare

WASHINGTON, D. C.; Feb. 24 — The failure of the Senate on February 16 to vote for cloture on the anti-lynching bill filibuster and thus end the debate which has been in progress since January 6 was regarded here as being certain to cause widespread repercussions in both the Democratic and Republican parties in the elections of 1938 and 1940.

The anti-lynching bill was displaced Monday by President Roosevelt's $250,000,000 relief bill. The failure of the anti-lynching bill supporters to win last week's cloture made displacement by the relief bill almost inevitable.

Supporters of the anti-lynching bill and leading lobbyists for the measure who have been fighting day and night for its passage indicated that of all the bills in the Congress, the relief bill was the one measure which they could not fight successfully; indeed, they are reported as believing that relief affects so many destitute persons, both whites and Negroes, that insistence upon continued debate on the anti-lynching bill would work a hardship upon a great many people who are favorable to the anti-lynching bill.

It was emphasized here that although the anti-lynching bill was displaced, that does not mean that it will be taken off the calendar. It may still be called up at any time during the session that a favorable opportunity presents itself.

G. O. P. MISSES CHANCE

One of the angles to the anti-lynching debate which has aroused wide comment is the attitude taken by the Republican senators under the leadership of Minority Leader Charles L. McNary. The Republicans, from their party platforms of many years' standing, were committed to an anti-lynching bill and pledged to its enactment whenever possible. The Republican bloc announced that it was in favor of the Wagner-Van Nuys measure and would vote for it when it came to the floor--with the exception of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

However, when the first vote for cloture was taken on January 27, the Republicans refused to vote for cloture. In explaining this action, Senator McNary stated that his group was unwilling to vote for limitation of debate. He said that the Senate was the last citadel of untrammelled discussion.

RESPONSIBILITY ON BOTH PARTIES

Political observers were quick to point out that the Republicans missed a chance of putting the full responsibility for the anti-lynching bill upon the Democrats when they refused to vote for cloture. If the Republicans had voted for cloture and the Democratic leadership still had faile dto muster enough votes for it, then the blame would have been squarely upon the party in power.

As it is now, the blame must be shared between the southern Democrats, the wobbly northern and western Democrats and the Republicans.

Move for New Building Hits Snag

School Board Answers Petition With $1200 Repair Appropriation

An appropriation of $1,200 for plastering repairs was the answer of the Board of Education to a committee of Parent-Teacher Association representatives and leading citizens of the Eastside who sought to halt repairs on the 52nd street and Hooper Avenue Elementary School in a move for a new building to replace the delapidated two story frame structure which is the main building on the school lot when the committee appeared before the board Monday evening, February 21.

The request of the committee was concisely presented by E. Winston Williams, counsel advisor of the Father's Forum of the Hooper avenue P-TA. Reciting the committees objections to proposed repairs by the board, Mr. Williams pointed out the following reasons: Fire hazard because of the unfinished condition of the basement, old floors, one fire escape; more space needs, with especial attention to the lack of nursery space, dining room, and the fact that children in the building must go more than 200 feet for lavatory facilities; community need, in view of the fact that the school must furnish recreation where no community projects provide for it, the Eastside need was described as being more acute than any other.

NEW BUILDING IN DECADE

Mr. Dalton, foreman of the board, said that there were forty such buildings as the Hooper Avenue one in the school system and that each would be taken care of as the budget permitted. He further told the group that the school would not be replaced soon but that it would probably be razed within the next decade, because other schools were in greater need of being replaced. This contention was refuted by Floyd Covington, Urban League Secretary, who pointed out the difference in environment conditions peculiar to such communities as the Eastside and held that the school must be respon-

Suicide Tries Use Oddities to End. It All

Cleaning fluid, ant paste on toast, and generous inhalations of ordinary cooking gas figured in suicide attempts by Angelenos in a morbid frame of mind, this week, as men, women and children sought a repite from the burden of life grown stale on their hands.

William Rozze, 23, of 466 East 42nd place, purchased a quantity of ant paste from a Central avenue drug store and stood by the lunch counter nonchalantly gulping the stuff while a crowd of amazed spectators looked helplessly on.

Receiving Hospital authorities were notified and emergency treatment saved the man's life. Despondency was given as cause for his act, police said.

Pearl Wallace, a maid, aged 22, of 1517 East 43rd street, turned on the gas jet in her bathroom and resigned herself to Elysian Fields because Mama Lucille Jones objected to her choice in boy friends.

Choosing death to her mother's pick, Pearl retired from maternal scolding to the bathroom and turned on the gas. Mrs. Jones detected the fumes, switched off the jet, summoned a Newton street ambulance.

The girl will recover, officers Clarke and McGruder state, and she won't try suicide again. Mother knows best.

Prize packet in Julia Page's scheme of death was a can of cleaning fluid.

The woman, aged 38, kept a rendezvous with her husband, a

Woman Claims Man Pulled Her Hair Out In Scuffle

Old fashioned cave-man stuff figured in a domestic brawl between Jessie and Andrew Ford, of 737½ East 22nd street, when the couple ended a week of quarreling last week.

Jessie told police that she and Andrew had been having trouble and, on the night of the scuffle, they drove to see some friends. When in front of 939 East 12th street, the woman declared that she tried to get out of the car but was struck on he head by her spouse.

"He knocked off my glasses, broke them, and pulled a bunch of my hair out trying to drag me back into the automobile", she stated.

Escaping the irate Andrew, she fled into the house.

Later, the woman said, she went out into the street to pick up the rims of her glasses and Andrew, lurking around the scene, ran at her with a pocket knife. He succeeded in cutting her twice on the arm.

A complaint was issued for Ford's arrest on a charge of suspicion of asasult with a deadly weapon.

Jesse Holmes, 'Wildcat' Taxi Driver, Found Guilty

Jesse Holmes, self-styled big shot "man about Central Avenue" may have had the reputation of being a "fast talking" boy, but he didn't talk near "fast" enough last Monday to convince Judge Oda Faulconer that he was not guilty of operating a "wildcat" taxi and jitney service without first obtaining a permt from the Board of Public

OFFICERS' SLAYER TO MAKE PLEA WHEN ABLE TO APPEAR IN COURT

Mutters of Lynching Surround Double Murder Here

George Farley, 54 year old pioneer, will plead "not guilty by reason of insanity" to double murder charges placed against him by the coroner's jury last Monday morning.

Faced by eviction from the home in which he had lived for 14 years, Farley shot and killed Deputy City Marshal Tom Crittenden, 60, and assistant, Leon W. Roma, 54, last Thursday morning as they commenced packing his belongings for transfer to the sidewalk.

Arraignment will doubtless not be held for three or four weeks as Farley is recovering in the General Hospital Prison Ward from gun shot wounds inflicted by policemen with whom he dueled following the murders.

Mutters of lynching surrounded the house at 1741 East 23rd street, for possession of which Farley placed his life in balance. All the morning of the murder grim-faced white men from nearby factories and plants milled about the dawn. One approached Dan Shaw, bystander, with the suggestion, "Let's lynch him". Shaw told an Eagle reporter. It was the first killing of a white man by a Negro in Los Angeles since?????

FARLEY MAKES STATEMENT

From a cot in the Hospital last Saturday morning Farley gave a voluntary statement to Detective Lieutenant Robert Underwood of the Newton street police station. He told a pathetic and simple story of fourteen years spent buying the house and fighting through various assessments and taxes to keep it.

According to the statement, he bought the house in 1923 for $2500. In April 1935, because of inability to pay a street assessment of $37.47, the house was sold to the Troumpeter Mortgage company for $93.81. That concern later sold it to Louis Troutman, 1516 W. 58th street. Last May, Troutman informed Farley that he would resell him the house for $1100, or the rent would be $7.50 per month. Later, he cut the price to $200 cash.

It was for $67.80 back rent that Troutman was evicting Farley.

Defense for Farley will attempt to prove that the aged slayer brooded over the loss of his home, until the fatal day when he went berserk and shot the officers.

CRITTENDEN WELL KNOWN

On the morning of the shooting shortly after ten o'clock, Crittenden, well known in eviction cases on the Eastside, and Roma, accompanied by Troutman's son, Louis, Jr., 18, and Fred Reihn, attorney, went to the Farley home to evict the family. Farley and his wife are childless and live alone with the exception of two young women who maintain room there for use on Thursdays, their day off domestic service in Hollywood.

Farley, the confession stated, met the officers at the front door, while Reihn and young Troutman, went around the backway to start the moving. As the officers commenced to pack, Farley picked up his Winchester repeating rifle. Crittenden ran from the house, gaining the center of the street. A bullet behind the ear dropped him, killing him almost

Undertakers' Car Kills Boy of 8 in Traffic Accident

Run over by a passenger car belonging to Conner-Johnson, Funeral directors, Joe Oliver Thompson, aged 8 years, of 1341 Walnut street, sustained injuries that resulted in death, Monday.

Eyewitnesses to the accident declared that the child ran out from the curb at 21st and Central avenue into the path of the automobile. He suffered skull fractures and died en route to the Emergency Hospital.

Rudolph Walker is said to have been driving the undertaking firm's machine.

MYERS SENTENCED TO SAN QUENTIN

Changing his plea of "not guilty" to one of "guilty", Roy Myers, charged with the murder of Earl Austin whom he stabbed to death on December 5 at East Adams and Central was sentenced to San Quentin for a term of 10 years to life by Judge Arthur Crum on Friday.

Public Defender Cuff represented Myers.

At first claiming self defense in what was described as a "finger murder", Myers waived this defense in the face of overwhelming evidence that he pursued Austin and killed him in cold blood.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Some weeks ago, I personally signed application blanks for many light colored ladies and gentlemen to join the Guild. They did, during the time that there was a great demand for such types. Many of them worked as dress extras in the Joe Louis picture, "Spirit of Youth". Since that time they have been very careless about their membership in the Screen Actors Guild. They were requested, like all members, to fill out a questionaire, telling what they looked like, their accomplishments, the kind of modern wardrobe, etc. Most of them failed to sign the questionaire. The result was that recently when the Guild was called upon to furnish this type of colored extras, who, by the way, receive $16.50 per day, they did not know one type from the other, and, of course, could not make the grade. Great protests came to me and other officials. There is but one answer, all light colored extras and bit people should see that the Guild gets this information at once. Go to the Guild, if you are a member, and ask for a questionaire and fill it out in detail. Mr. Blair informed me yesterday that he would not have allowed the waivers if he had been able to supply the demand. You have only to blame yourselves, if you are light, a member, and do not give the Guild the information. The Guild is on the look-out for those members who are loaning their cards to non-members. They will dismiss the member at once and that will mean the actor or actress will be out of pictures. My phone was so busy last week on this matter htat I am compelled to use this means of answering the many complaints. (Copyright, Clarence Muse - 1938.)

SLAYER OF POLICE OFFICERS WILL PLEAD 'INSANITY'; FARLEY TALKS

ed cover behind a Ford coupe, parked in the driveway, belonging to one of the young women.

Newton street officers, supplemented to 50 by policemen from outlying stations, laid siege to the house and battled Farley for an hour. With four bullets in him, two shattering his right arm, one in his thigh and one in his abdomen, Farley was finally overcome by tear gas and captured. Doctors at the Hospital said he had a splendid constitution and would recover.

EYE WITNESS' STORY

Eye witness to the shooting was Mrs. Jessie Mae Vaughn, next door neighbor to the Farleys at 1737 E. 23rd street. Mrs. Vaughn was just about to enter the Farley house when she changed her mind and retraced her steps.

Queried by an Eagle reporter as to the slayer's demeanor and standing in the neighborhood, she said he was quiet and law-abiding, with little to say, other than everyday pleasantries. She testified that the man and his wife were in dire circumstances, untold the coroner's jury that she able to find work, and hampered by possession of the house in obtaining relief. They lived on the rent paid by the young women and on funds from odd jobs Farley was able to get from time to time. She stated further that Farley had been ill for the past two weeks and had lost considerable weight.

A native of South Carolina, Farley has lived here 37 years. He has three brothers resident here, Benjamin J. of 934 Hemlock, and Wade and Cal Farley, address unstated.

Hit-Run Driver Sought Here

On complaint of D. L. Funchess, of 1063 East 50th street, police at Newton street station are seeking a hit and run driver who crashed into Funchess car which he had parked in front of his house late Tuesday.

The auto suspected in the case bears the license number 3S9182, officers said. Two women and a man, with a woman drving, are declared to have made a mid-block turn in front of the Funchess residence and wrecked considerable damage to the parked automobile. They drove away without stopping.

Fellowship League Hears Negro History

Climaxing the observance of Negro History Week, speakers told members and guests of the Los Angeles Fellowship league at the monthly breakfast Sunday at the 28th street YMCA that this country's leaders must solve the dislocation of American life.

In a brilliant resume of the Negro since his entrance into this country it was pointed out, among other things, that "the problems of the Negro and the white man are becoming increasingly the problems of both and that democracy can best be preserved only as it is extended to the colored man".

Attorney Willis O. Tyler and Prof. J. C. Banks, of the U. S. Customs department, were among the speakers. The talks were those heard at Jefferson High school recently during the annual observance of history week and were given again Sunday at the request of the league program committee.

Because of limited time, Attorney Tyler, who also acted as toastmaster, gave the close of his address, which told of the Negro up to the Civil War. The race's humbleness, humility and staunch belief in Christianity were the high spots in the Tyler remarks.

Tracing the progress of the race from the Civil War to 1914, Prof. Banks, in a highly effective address recited conclusive evidence of the amazing educational, spiritual and economic growth of the race at that time and of the contributions, especially in the field of education, made for the advancement of the South. "The Negro is not a thing set apart," said Prof. Banks, "but his history is the history of America."

F. C. Patton, motor transportation company official, and Dr. C. W. Cooper, former Chicagoan, gave brief remarks.

Dr. A. J. Booker is president of the league.

The Negro Business association met Tuesday at Carr's cafe, 4804 S. Central Ave, at which time William O. Harris, representative of the FHA, and Walter L. Gordon jr. spoke to the real estate men on the Housing Act now before the Governor.

This was the beginning of many programs of this nature to bring information to the various business men of the Eastside.

Catholics Hit Communism Among Negroes in Speech

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 24. (C)—"Communism is exerting every influence to enlist the Negro as an ally," declared George K. Hunton, white, editor of the Interracial Review of New York, a Catholic monthly, in a speech before the Catholic Women's club, last week. "We need to spread the Catholic doctrine and philosophy of living to the areas where the Negro lives, in the midst of discriminations and where education is at a low ebb," the speaker continued.

"The work of bringing religion to more of the Negro group is primarily the task of the Catholic laity," said Mr. Hunton. "Racial prejudice against the Negro is evidenced in his exclusion from labor organizations, denial of a commensurate wage, and exclusion from some schools and colleges. The Catholic is at fault in this problem in that he has either denied opportunity to the Negro, or quietly acquiesced when others have done the same thing."

On the same program appeared Dr. Hudson J. Oliver, president of the Catholic Interracial Council of New York, who said that prejudice in America has permeated the structure of American society. "The Negro," said Dr. Oliver, "has justified the educational opportunities offered to him in some parts of America. But though he has absorbed the culture and justifies his opportunities by advancing in the arts, sciences and other fields, he doesn't today enjoy full rights of citizenship. He is still in a state of secondary economic bondage. Justice for the Negro in some states is a mockery.

This is the major reason that Communism offers much to the mind of the Negro. His ear is attuned to any philosophy that will lead the way out. He probably doesn't believe in its intrinsic value as a substitute for the American tradition of life, but it is one of the two forces in American life that cry out against prejudice. The other is the Catholic church."

Products of Negro at World's Fair

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Visitors to Harlem, the world's largest Negro community, during the New York World's Fair in 1939 are to see the largest collection of products manufactured by Negroes ever assembled under one roof, it was learned this week.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the Consumers and Craftsmen's Guild of Harlem, Inc., a local group that was organized to popularize "Harlem-made" merchandise. According to Ralph D. Gothard, president and executive director of the Guild, plans were formulated more than a year ago to establish a permanent industrial exhibit to feature Negro manufactured products. A large variety of such products, including electric lamps, pottery, candy, soft drinks, cosmetics, perfumes and textiles are already on display at their headquarters, 115 Lenox avenue.

According to available figures there are more than 1,400 Negro manufacturers in the United States. And there are more than 3,500 inventions credited to the group.

Group is Termed Social Barometer

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Agreement on a thesis that the interests of Negro and white workers were identical was reached by speakers at the annual meeting last week of the National Urban League at the Russell Sage Foundation.

Eugene Kinckle Jones, executive secretary of the league, declared that the race's condition was "a never failing barometer" of the nation's economic status, and added:

"When the Negro begins to lose employment in ever-increasing numbers, the first evidence of lowering business activity has appeared."

Fireman Collects Off "Terrifying Monster"

MOBILE, Ala.—Residents of Fisher's Alley, Mobile's Harlem, tonight slept the peaceful sleep of the unworried—because the terrorizing "monster of Marmotte street" had been killed by a fireman's bullet.

The fireman, Charles Ardoyno, quickly capitalized when a crowd sufficient to require traffic cops, gathered. He charged admission—a dime for children and a quarter for adults—to view the 'monster.'

The "monster" was a 45-pound otter from nearby swamp. It measured 4 feet from nose to tail tip.

Aged Man is Missing

Frank Holcomb, aged 75, of 1221 East 25th St., was reported missing this week by his wife, Mrs. Elethia Holcomb, who notified Newton street detectives.

Holcomb has been in ill health for several months, the woman stated, and it is feared that he might have met with foul play. He answers to the following description: 5 feet 8 inches heights; small pox pits on his face; brown skin; most of his teeth out and when last seen was wearing a gray overcoat, tan felt hat.

Arlington Wilson Douglas won the decision of the court last week after a trial in which he was defendant was heard for four days by Judge Vickers in Department 3 of the Superior court.

Mrs. Emma Gurley, 65, pioneer Los Angeles resident, sued Douglas, claiming that he took advantage of the confidential relationship exisfing between them and by fraud and misrepresentation induced her to deed her real estate property to him. Douglas was represented by Thomas L. Griffith of the firm of Griffith and Griffith.

Douglas claimed that Mrs. Gurley gave him the deed to the property, reserving to herself the income. The property, located at 736 E. 33rd street, has an estimated value of $6000.

Mrs. Gurley, appearing in court in a wheel chair, was represented by John A. Graham.

NAACP Carries Murder Case to Supreme Court

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—The case of Joe Hale, who was convicted of murder in the first degree in Paducah, Ky., October 13, 1936, will be argued before the United States supreme court February 28 by attorneys of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the state of Kentucky. Hale is alleged to have killed a white man. At his first trial his lawyers, Copeland and Copeland, filed a motion to quash the indictment on the ground that all qualified Negro citizens of the county had been excluded from the grand jury of the county for more than fifty years.

The motion was overruled. After Hale's conviction, counsel filed an appeal in the Court of Appeals of Kentucky where the sentence of the lower court was affirmed because the original motion was omitted from the record through error.

It was at this point that the Paducah Colored Civic League appealed to the NAACP and the association secured permission to file a petition for certiorari and filed it January 7 with Charles H. Houston and Leon A. Ransom as attorneys and Thurgood Marshall and Edward P. Lovett of counsel.

ATTENTION! (To the Public)

Last Thursday evening over the Negro Hour, without my knowledge, was read a bit of gossip. This type of news has never interested me, and owing to the fact that I am responsible for the program I will have to bear the blame. However, it is all that I can do to look after my affairs. Mr. Perkins wrote the news without my knowledge.

As the program is progressing along so beautifully, I beg of the public not to blame me, and I assure them that this type of news will not come over the Hour again. The public has responded to the Negro Hour and with our many co-sponsors we cannot afford this type of gossip to be aired. Again I apologize for allowing it to be read.

Thankfully yours,
WALTER E. LAWSON.

NHA Loan Applications Accepted By Calif. Bank

Applications for loans under the recently amended National Housing Act are being accepted and given special attention and consideration in all of California Bank's 54 offices, according to J. G. Maulhardt, vice president and head of the bank's Eighth and Central office.

Declaring that building in the next few years must make up for the under construction of the last six years, besides providing for current needs and population growth, Maulhardt asserted that the newly amended housing act, providing as it does for long term, 90 per cent loans in the case of low cost housing, is not a venture into an unexplored field of financing.

CREATED BEFORE NEW DEAL

"Many decades before the advent of the 'new deal'", said Maulhardt, "the state governments of Australia created agencies to finance farmers in the agricultural business; to buy their lands and equipment and to build their houses and barns. The terms were six per cent including amortization which completely retired the loan in forty years . . .

"The construction industry normally employs, directly or indirectly, five million persons and provides 20 per cent of the freight carried by our railroads. A large construction program should do much to increase employment and hasten the return of prosperity."

GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE

There are many times when that joyful trek "down the aisle", and that happiness and adoration of the courtship and honeymoon days end in disappointment and disillusion. Moreover, as long as human nature stands out in mankind, the cry and need of freedom from marital ties shall be the lot of certain individuals. The current trend in local divorce courts is one of greater liberality in granting decrees of divorce than in former days, despite the fact that as per statute there are only six grounds upon which a divorce may be obtained. These are the following: desertion by either spouse for a period of more than one year, wilful neglect for more than one year, habitual intemperance, adultery, extreme cruelty, and conviction of a felony on the part of either husband or wife.

Desertion is the unjustifable departure of either husband or wife. And in certain instances, the refusal of the wife to live with her husband in a fit and suitable abode maybe considered desertion.

Wilful neglect is the voluntary failure on the part of a husband to provide the common necessities of life for his wife.

ANNULMENT

Closely allied with dissolution of marriage by divorce is the legal process of annulment of marriage. Annulment is the declaration by the court that some flaw existed at the time of marriage which made the union illegal. An annulment may be procured when one of the persons has a living, undivorced spouse, or when there has been some fraudulent misrepresentation in getting the consent of one of the parties to the marriage, or in the instance where one of the persons involved is under age of consent and did not receive the written consent of the parent or guardian; in the case of physical incapcity of either party and so forth. Many people seeking marital freedom prefer an annulment to a divorce wherever the above reasons are evidenced, because whenever an annulment is decreed by the court it is not necessary to wait one year before one can marry again, as it is in case of a divorce decree. In other words, a person whose marriage has been annulled is free to marry the minute the court orders the marriage dissolved.

It might be of interest to any wife who is contemplating a divorce to learn that in case her husband is employed, she may obtain a divorce at the expense of the husband. The latter is by law compelled to pay the cost of Court and the fees of any attorney.

sible for the child having wholesome surroundings. Mrs. Mary Troy, president of the Hooper P.-T. A., also, spoke and assured the board that not one of its members would be willing to have one of his children attend the school.

Aside from the $1,200 appropriation, the board hinted that should there be need of other repairs, a few hundred dollars more would be appropiated.

Citizens Not Satisfied

The decision of the Board of Education was by no means satisfactory to citizens of the Eastside and it is reported that a number of parents have threatened to keep their children out of school because of the dangerous condition of the building.

The fight for a new building began in December following the falling of loose plaster in one of the second story rooms Aside from those mentioned, persons attending the hearing were Mrs. Jewel Hall, secretary, Hooper Avenue P.-T. A., Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, Mrs. Peach, Mrs. Augusta Glover and the Rev. Mr. E. E. Lightner.

Prior to meeting with the during the past several months.

Mrs. Jesse Holmes, wife of the defendant, testified in behalf of her husband. She told the court that some of Jesse's friends had pleaded with him to "take out a taxi license so you can haul us around", etc., and that Jesse had, once upon a time, applied for an "auto for hire" permit.

After declaring Holmes "guilty as charged in the complaint", Judge Faulconer ordered the "wildcat" cabbie committed back to the jail house where he has reposed since his arrest Feb. 11, on the original $1,000 bail. He is scheduled to appear March 1 or after for sentence and hearing on his application for probation.

Utilities and Transportaton.

When testimony revealed that Holmes was seen every day hauling Pullman porters and railroad waiters to and from the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe depots and their homes and collecting fares from them, the "wildcat" cabbie presented one of the most unique variety of excuses, alibis and explanations ever offered in any local court of law, official declared.

"Philanthropist"

"Every one of them (the passengers) are my personal friends that I have known for years", Jesse declared from the witness stand. He claimed that out of the goodness of his heart, he hauled passenger all over the Avenue absolutely free of charge. Of course, if some of them offered him a little "tip" at the end of "free" ride he would accept it, why not?

However, the arresting officers, testimony revealed an entirely different picture of the "big hearted" Jesse's "philanthropy". Assistant Chief Motor Vehicle Inspector E. W. Hively and Police Sergeant Tom Jones, both of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, explained the situation to the judge in the following terms:

"On February 11th, at 9 a. m. we saw the defendant pick up three male passengers in front of the S. P. depot. We 'tailed' the defendant to 3721 Paloma where one passenger was discharged after paying defendant his fare. From there we 'tailed' him to 933 East 46th Street where a second passenger was discharged. We continued to 'shadow' him to 1268 East 49th street where a third passenger was discharged and where we saw passenger reach in his pocket, take out money and pay his fare to defendant."

The officers then testified in detail how they continued to "shadow" Holmes for hours observing his activities before incarcerating him in the city "cooler".

The Call of Africa

By PRIESTESS THEOLA

To all members of the African race, who are not ashamed to call themselves Africans, and to be known as such, and absolutely refuse to be called Negro, which is but a by-word for nigger, The call of Africa, is to you. I am seeking the cooperation of such members of our race, as described above, that we may further our cause, in liberating our race, from the psychological influence, of the Anglo Saxon race. I am promoting a gigantic program at this time, that will give to every race loving member, an opportunity to be heard, in this the greatest movement, of all time, for the complete liberation, from Anglo Saxon bondage. We deeply appreciate the true hearted interest, that have been tendered us by our Anglo Saxon friends, and sincerely hope you will continue to assist us, in our greatest struggle for complete freedom. I am not calling for so much education, from the members of the Uncle Tom class, but for more sincerity applied to our cause.

Those who see the necessity of a willingness to help in this program, to save our race, from this type of the educated in our race, who are working for self emulation, and praise. The call of Africa, is to every one, who desires to be a part in building up the Kingdom of God, among our own race, before we attempt to lead other races in the way of life. The day time of African slavery, is far spent, and the night time of white psychology, is rapidly approaching its end. And while the Africans of the west, as well as those of the east, are to give again to the beastly nations of the earth, a glorious civilization of the past, it is imperative that we organize a body, so filled with the power of God, that we will rapidly tear down the walls of Jericho, Negro psychology within our race, while Africa's proud sons and daughters, with a spiritual education, shall again become the blazing Sun of divine wisdom, only to lead the nations of the world, back to the order of their creation.

I am calling upon Africans of America, as well as Africans in the motherland, to strike now, for complete freedom. This is the opportune time; strike first on the enemies within our race, they can be stopped. Let all the Africans join me in this program, where you have the opportunity, to put forth your voice. We will then see in a very short time, what the unity for good will do, provided we do it in the African way. This is the work God has sent me to do, in closing the Gospel of Christ. When my people who are endowed with the ancient spirit of African thought, will put their thoughts in to action, then will God move through our oppressors.

Write me through the columns of this paper, and when unable to reach me through the press, write me at 153 So. Arrowhead Avenue, San Bernardino, Calif.

If you are on the Uncle Tom side of the race, you need not write me, if you are on the side of Africa, in word, thought, act and deed, let me hear from you at once.

I am fraternally yours, for the redemption of Africa, universally.

Priestess Theola; founder and pastor of the Circle of the Star Spiritualist Church, 109 Bryant Street, San Bernardino, Calif.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By MARIAM MATTHEWS

"Like hungry guests, a sitting audience looks:
Plays are like puppets: poets are the cooks.
The Founder's you: the table is this place:
The carvers we: the prologue is the grace;
Each act, a course; each scene a different dish."

—FARQUHAR.

If you are tired of your usual reading fare and would like something for variety to restore your jaded appetite, your branch libraries suggest the following menu for a dramatic feast and guarantee complete satsifaction.

To whet your appetite, Maxwell Anderson, America's foremost playwright will serve his humorous and provocative "Star Wagon" for the first course. Have you ever wondered what your life might be like if you could live it over again? Then read what happened to Stephen Minch in Mr. Anderson' newest drama--the man who invented a machine to turn time backwards, married the other girl and became rich and successful. The ending will surprise and delight you.

BURNS MANTLE

For the main course, Burns Mantle presents his ever popular "Best Plays of 1936-37 and the Year Book of the Drama" which includes many interesting ingredients: "Clare Boothe's "The Women"; Ferber and Kaufman's "Stage Door"; Maxwell Anderson's "High Tor"; Paul Green's "Johnny Johnson", Sheriff and DeCasalis' "St. Helena"; Hart & Kaufman's "You Can't Take It With You"; Robert Turney's "Daughters of Atreus", Victor Reed's "Yes, My Darling Daughter" and Deval & Sherwood's "Tovarich". Special information and valuable comments on the plays and their players by Mr. Mantle make this enormous dish very dessert, "I'd Rather Be Right", which is served by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart who won the 1937 Pulitzer Prize for their hilarious comedy "You Can't Take It With You", which Mr. Mantle has included n the main course to give it flavor. "I'd Rather Be Right" is a new, impudent and irreverent satire on the current administration which is irresistibly funny and serves as a fitting close to this dramatic menu.

If you are interested in the preparation and background of these dishes, consult the books on dramatic history, dramatic criticism, playwriting and production which are available at the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Avenue and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Avenue.

Commend Club's Motorways Plan

Widespread approval of many features of the 1937 traffic survey of the Los Angeles metropolitan area made by the Automobile Club of Southern California was being voiced today by city, county and state officials to whom a report was submitted, according to the club's district office here.

Presented as the logical solution nto Los Angeles County's acute congestion and accident problems, it proposed a network of new intersection-free divided motorways exclusively for motor vehicles across the metropolitan area. These would continue on upper story levels through specially designed parking and office buildings in business districts, and on bridges across existing streets.

'Christ Jesus' is Lesson-Sermon at Scientist Church

Paul's words to the Corinthians; "We preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake", are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Christ Jesus" on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from Matthew: "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Jesus' works established his claim to the Messiahship. In reply to John's inquiry, "Art thou he that should come,' Jesus returned an affirmative reply, recounting his works instead of referring to his doctrine, confident that this exhibition of the divine power to heal would fully answer the question."

Dixie Priest Flays Mob Bill Filibuster

HOUMA, La.—Vigorously assailing the filibuster in the Senate, on the anti-lynching bill, the Rev. J. A. Drolet, Pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, recently declared: "It is bad enough for elected public servants to resort to the undemocratic and un-American method of the filibuster.

"It is bad enough when they repudiate humane, cultured, and representative Southerners in the eyes of the entire nation, and hush up the considered, favorable, opinion of Southern gentlemen on the need for some form of national anti-lynching legislation.

"But what every decent Southern Christian resents is that to all this, there should be added a flood of abusive and untruthful statements about our Negro people, and the stupid confusing of intermarriage (which neither Negro nor White desires) with interracial justice, to which all the members of the Mystical Body have a sacred, God-given right be they dark-skinned or light."

THE GEORGE CARVER FELLOWSHIP CLUB members were guests of Miss Mattie Laws Saturday evening at her home, 2519 Pennsylvania Avenue. After a discussion of current events and a brief musical program, members and guests enjoyed a social hour. Guests were Misses Lena Mae Allen, Helen Lamb, Mabel Bundy; C. Washington, Joe Hart, Cornelius Austin, Aubrey Warren, Brainard Worrill and Mr. Horcie. The next meeting will be held February 19 at 1819 E. 55th St.

Independent Sets Homecoming Day Fete March 6

Elaborate preparations are being made for the annual celebration of Homecoming Day of the People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, which will be held the first Sunday in March, according to announcements made this week.

All members and former members of the church from all parts of the state are expected to return and register for the celebration, and to welcome the return of the popular pastor, The Rev. Mr. Clayton D. Russell, who will occupy the pulpit that Sunday following his return from a vacation in the East.

Special music will be featured at all services held during the day and evening under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew.

The first Sunday in March was designated as "homecoming day" by the late Rev. Mr. N. P. Greggs, founder, and for twenty years pastor of the church. It was on the first Sunday in March, 1917, that the congregation entered its new home at the present location, and an annual celebration of the event has been observed since that time.

Accompanied by his widow, Mrs. Mandrye Estorge the body of Leonard Estorge was shipped to the home of his family in Houston, Texas last Thursday night under the direction of the Angelus Funeral Home.

Mr. Estorge died at the General hospital February 15. He was born in Louisiana and had lived in this city for the past fifteen years, during which time he had been employed as a janitor for one of the city banks. He lived with his wife at 940 East 24th street.

85 Relatives Here Attend Mary E. Snowden Rites

Eighty-five relatives living in Los Angeles and Pasadena were among the large crowd that attended the last rites for Mrs. Mary E. Snowden, 82, at the First A. M. E. church of Pasadena last Saturday afternoon.

Rev. J. M. Brown, pastor presided over the ceremonies and the Angelus Funeral Home directed the funeral with interment in Mountain View Cemetery.

The aged matron was born in Virginia and had lived in the Crown City for the past eighteen years. She was a young woman during the Civil War, and often told of some of her exciting experiences which were connected with historical events of the country.

Mrs. Snowden recalled being in the vicinity of Ford's theatre on Tenth street in Washington, D. C., the night Booth the actor shot Abraham Lincoln. Another interesting recollection was her association with John Brown during the time he unsuccessfully attempted to incite an insurrection among Negroes, and made his headquarters at Harper's Ferry, West Virginia.

Death ended her long and eventful life when she quietly passed away at her home, 1039 Morten avenue, Pasadena, last Thursday.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

Standing in the entrance to the Hooper Avenue and Fifty-second Street school Tuesday, watching the children at play 'neath a high noonday sun . . . hearing the music that rings in childish glee, it came to me with a jolt that their healthy laughter was not insured as it should be . . . against fire, or some other horrifying catastrophe that easily wrecks institutions built by man . . . because he values that laughter lightly and puts off insuring it until a day when circumstances will be "more favorable". Which was the reason for my hurrying to the P-TA luncheon at which representative persons cooperated in formulating a complaint on the condition of the building to be registered with the Board of Education . . . Most significant things can be done over teacups and on full stomachs . . . and we are hopeful that the action reaps large results . . . (think me not "editorialish") . . . Two pretty junior misses served the palatable fare.

BALANCING THE SOCIAL DIET:

Is the slogan of Angelenos these days while winter lingers in a nipping breeze and spring creeps subtly in. At the Kappa dance: Was happy to meet Helen Reed of Dayton, Ohio, who will be here until the middle of spring; and to greet petite Selma Simon (dubbed Simone Simon) in becoming black taffeta . . . to see Tillman Thomas looking for "someone" . . . and happy to chat with Joselyn Watkins wearing dark blue taffeta in bautiful contrast to her clear complexion and dark brown tresses; to dance with a freshman (an experience that hasn't been mine for three years) pledgee who is hopeful of crossing the bars 'twixt him and Greekdom; to see Cecil Scott play hookey from the dance downstairs . . . and in the waning hours of the evening, hear the boast of Reginald Williams that he can take brother Percy's place . . . even if the latter has been a "Kat" three years. Reggie, I think you are being just plain upstart-ish. Got another dare?

Signs of spring at the YWCA tea Sunday afternoon: The sprig of flowers adorning Mrs. Jessie Grayson's black straw hat; Mrs. Charles Matthews' smart black woolen suit worn with a russet straw hat turned up all around and set daringly but restrained by streamers tied under the chin and Helen Harold's wide brim straw suited to a darling variation of the page-boy coiffule and bringing out the happy light in Helen's eyes . . . the flowers and laughter that made guests linger and linger.

HOME AGAIN:

Is Miss Marie H. Owsby after a nine-month vacation in the East — New England, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago (where she witnessed the Louis-Braddock bout) and Cincinnati where she was the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Prof. and Mrs. O. M. Brown. Among the many social courtesies, was an airplane party hosted by Mrs. Annie M. Malone, founder and owner of Poro college. The plane was piloted by Col. Julian Robinson . . . Miss Owsby concluded her trip with a lengthy stay in St. Louis, Mo., with her mother and brothers.

Also, Mrs. Luvenia Williams and daughters, Luvenia and Johnetta, after visiting in St. Louis, Mo. They are residing temporarily at 1426 East 46th St. . . . And Ruth Perry of Oakland, is back home for good with her father, Carlisle Perry, owner of the newsstand at Vernon and Central. If memory isn't tricking me (and I'm open to correction) Ruth became a Mrs. "I forget his name" last summer . . . so I want to know what's what . . . tsk!

Coming to California (we wish she called this home) is Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, founder and president of Bethune-Cookman college, who is dear to every good American and stands in the vanguard of all things progressive. She'll be here in March.

SUNDRY REFLECTIONS:

Can't understand why Billy Smith, ex-newspaperman, who has trekked in from Kansas City again, doesn't want his name in the papers, however, I wish to respect his wishes . . . and am keeping it out until he sees fit to tell his name . . . and give permission to print it — your turn, Mr. Smith!

One of my most valued stooges recounts an incident: With the Ma-Po-Fi formal a few hours in the offing (Tuesday night, last) officers at Newton St. were seriously engaged in discussing just what kind of corsages to buy for their respective wives to wear to the swanky ball . . . when Officer Conway, who, unfortunately, has no wife, started from his afternoon nap to exclaim, "Massage . . . massage . . . who needs a massage?" Officers Earl Broady, McGruder, Clark and Detective Smith were the concerned gents in question . . . the stooge further relates that all these guardians of the law recounted the nice things they have been doing for their lovely wives so that they will be sure of getting MORE dances . . . not with their wives! . . . I'm never at home to the law. Toodle-o-o.

Y.W.C.A. and Avalon Sunday Afternoon Teas Feature Conference Report, Art Showing

D. C. Meet is Reviewed by 'YW' Official

Miss Ruby Jefferson, Girls' Reserve Secretary of the Twelfth Street Branch YWCA, reviewed the sessions of the Conference for the Cause and Cure of War last Sunday afternoon at a tea honoring her in the home of Mrs. Lloyd C. Griffith, 443 East 46th street sponsored by the Membership Committee of the Twelfth Street Branch.

Miss Jefferson who represented the Los Angeles and district branches of the association at the conference which met in Washington, D. C., cited as purposes of the conference: "To reinforce our knowledge; to refresh our courage; and to reavirm our beliefs." In reporting concerted opinions of the meeting, she pointed out that the only ebective boycott of Japanese silk goods would be one in which the United States joined with Great Britain and the Netherlands and that individual boycotts would do more harm than good. Most significant of the sentiments expressed was that "the blessings of America can only be secured by sharing them."

The honoree was attractively attired in white silk afternoon gown with a youthful bolero of identical material. Mrs. C. D. Frederick, chairman of the Membership Committee, wore dark sheer gorgette printed with subdued colors of uniform design. Mrs. Earl Broady who served at the door wore printed satin with a white background and Mrs. Lloyd Gribith, hostess, was gowned in white taffeta afternoon dress with a colorful sash.

The spacious Griffith home was enhanced with floral arrangements and a constant stream of guests called from four to six o'clock.

MRS. ZELMA WATSON-DUKE, head of the music department of the Avalon Christian church, who was largely responsible for the successful tea Sunday which opened the art exhibit of the Los Angeles Negro Art association.

'Tween Troy and Westwood

By [illegible] MEAUX

Into our diving suits and helmets we climbed the other night and despite the "ducky" weather waded forth to look in on the Kappa ball with which the big brother Kappas were introducing their neophytes up at the Elks ballroom, last weekend.

But we were not alone in our venture for as we splashed in we bumped into the Don Walkers--William Perry and Nellie Turner . . . Paul Hickman with Irene Wright . . . Katherine Bush escorted by Ernest Mason . . . and Dorothy Tennett and Leon Baliff, whom we haven't seen for sometime.

Many were the surprises last weekend as the rain brought in quite a few new couples. Among the newer combinations were Johnny Brewer who squired Betty Bratton for the evening . . . Wilbur Mason and Selma Simons . . . Ed Boyd who brought Mildred Hughes, a visitor in town hailing from points East . . . Otey Walker with Bernice Eblon . . . Tillman Thomas with date of the evening, Tycine Randolph . . . and Frank Tillie, one of the Kappa neophytes, with Eloise Nickerson.

Sighted on the dance floor getting into that old Kappa spirit were Muriel Brewer with Mr. Hilliard from Chicago . . . Jimmy Robinson and Alberta Dawson . . Emily Mason with Chris Wright for the evening . . . the Dunbar Hunt-June Baker duo . . . Leon Coleman and Posie Flowers . . . Julia Mitchell escorted by John Randolph . . . and William 'Six' Sharpe, dancing attendance on the little lady from Indiana.

While the Kappas carried on their traditional ceremony in the center of the floor we chatted with Ethel Carter and Gordon Dixon, who looked most smart in their black and white combinations . . . Mary and Archie Woodyard . . . Simietta La Vigne and Ouida White who were waiting for hubby Frank LaVigne and date Bill Williams respectively to finish their little part in the Kappa rites . . . Marie Hopson and big brother Walter Hopson and Willie B. and Edgar Johnson.

Using intermission as time out for a little rest we glimpsed Antoinette and Eddie Atkinson who were deep in conversation with Mac and Bill Turner . . . Manila Smith and Adelaide Gladden proving some point to Johnny McQueen while Helen Owens and Cato Robinson looked on somewhat interestedly . . . Johnny Simmons and Gwen Jones . . . and Bill Beverly and Anna Rosa Broyles.

Slnipping downstairs where the Royal Syndicators held down the first floor of the Elks with their dance we ran into Francis Carroll and Melvin Nickerson down to enjoy some of George Brown's music. Likewise playing hookey from upstairs we saw Maynard Jackson and Emily Troy . . . . . Regese Pierce and his date . . . . Victor Bostick and Gussie Valley and the Ovid Pierces.

Show old individuals like us how the new dances should be done we spied little Beverly Hills and Theron Kirk doing the "Big Apple" . . . Veda Darby and one of the Quarles boys . . . Ethel Payton and Bennie Shaw . . . and Bill Faulkner and Jewell Harris. Glimpsed also in the big crowd were Kenny Washington and June Bradley and Ballinger Kemp and Alan Robinson, who by the way is just back from Atlanta and attending UCLA this term.

Basketball occupied a bit of concentrated attention over the weekend when our local Post Office lads challenged Uncle Sam's boys from up north.

Among the Arcade Annex gang who turned out most loyally to cheer their members, we, by craning our necks, picked out in the crowfd the Jessie Robinsons . . . Adele Matthews and Rosetta Brown . . . Marion Forsythe with Era Larieu . . . and Artie Parks, who smiled most proudly when Perry Parks, who was playing on the team, scored.

Cheering the boys on lustily were the "Spot" Thorntons, Tyler Mae Richards, Lillian Singleton, Frank Tillie, Victor Nickerson and James O'Neil, all of whom looked a bit sleepy from the dance of the night before.

The regular club meeting was held at the home of Miss Era Larrieau Sunday, Feb. 20.

BRIDE SHOWERED BY GOLDEN STATE SOCIAL CLUB GIRLS

ASSISTANCE LEAGUE PLANS BENEFIT BALL EASTER MONDAY

Success in its winter activities has led the Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health Association to begin early preparation for spring and summer events. Among the most elaborate will be the Easter benefit ball to be held Easter Monday, April 18, details of which will be announced later.

Genuine interest on the part of the young ladies of the league is being stimulated by the solicitious concern of their leaders: Mrs. Fannie Williams, sponsor; Mrs. Seth Lee, president; and Miss Francis Henderson, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. The post-Easter affair is expected to present much novelty as well as entertainment to the many patrons of the association.

THE SNOOPER

By LUCILLE MARIAN DYE

Well folks: Now that I'm back with the latest five of what's going on in L. A. I want to say that I appreciate the letters that I have been getting from people who are wanting to locate other people in Los Angeles. If some of you would like to have me do it for you I'll be very glad if you'll send a stamp address envelope, to me at 1530 West 37th street, Los Angeles.

Now for whats going on among the younger set: Regardless of the fact that you can't do two things at once meaning going to school and other places, it seems as though all the clubs are giving their affairs. For instance the Social Barons, Royal Syndicators, Aster Girls and Kappa Formal. These affairs proved very successful with everyone togged down in the latest of evening apparel, but I must say that everyone is waiting for the L. A. Hi-Y semi-formal which comes bi-annually and has always proved successful. The Ebony Socialites, a club which has as its members both boys and girls is proving very successful. They take turns meeting at each other's home. With the meeting first, then refreshments, followed by dancing and what not. The officers of the club are as follows: Victor Lyons, pres.; Joyce Davis, vice-pres.; Dorothy Herron, sec'y; Mavis Taylor, treas.; James Robinson, sergeant-at-arms. The members are as follows: Eursala Srozier, Opal Randolph, Thedora Jacobs, Bobbie Lee, Lucille Herron, Edmund Prescott, James Irvin, Welber Herron, Leonard Stovall, Frank Eggleston, Henry Davis and Charles Martin. This club has given many favorable affairs, the last being a picnic in Griffith Park and was it a killer? It was just for the club members and their guests who indulged in horseback riding, tennis, badminton, hiking, and etc.

I wonder why Almo Phels and Jo Blodgett aren't on friendly terms, they continually look as though they'd like to throw daggers at each other . . . It seems as though a lot can happen in a few days when Herbie Jefferies spent a pleasant few days in the jug for violating traffic laws, his girl friend, June Baker found a new love in the person of Chas. Burris and meanwhile seen in the presence of Dunbar Hunt, mo power to ya, June . . . I enjoyed having breakfast with Vera Henderson last Sunday with the following guests present: Eugenia Cushnie, Martha Waugh, Robert and George Cushnie. . . . Don't tell me James Horton and Thelma Scott are on the out and outs, better watch out, Thelma. Gertrude Brown is a killer when it comes to this sort of thing . . . It seems as though Arthur Seay, well-known heart breake from Michigan is spending his time elsewhere than on 37th St., since Eugene Smith is seen with the charming Florence Gagnet . . . It seems as though Patsy Brewer and Paul Robinson are making a go of it since she's up in San Francisco. Patsy is formerly from L. A. . . . Ruth Morgan came down for her sister's wedding, but took up most of her time with Johnnie Brewer . . . Lillian Singelton and Jimmy Whitaker, seems to be just that way about each other lately. Go to it kids.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE EAGLE.

MEALS THAT SCORE

By Esther Brown

People have lived to eat since the time of Adam and Eve, to prove this statement, why did Adam eat that apple? He didn't eat it to keep the doctor away, it was the thought of that delicious apple.

The mental attitudes of one when consuming a meal, means much toward having a healthy body. If in a happy and jovial mood digestion is perfect. No one should consume a meal when under a nervous strain, or angry, as the body becomes poisoned, and digestion is incomplete.

Recipes given in this column are for those who enjoy cooking and eating, as dining and wining are the greatest of life's pleasures.

LAURA'S APPLE ROLL

Make a rich flaky pastry. Peel, core, and cut apple in slices. Roll dough in rectangular shape, spread with Laura Scudder Peanut butter, and apples, mixed with raisins, a dash of cinnamon and sugar well together. Roll as for a cinnamon roll, slice in three inch slices, place in a pan and pour over syrup made of one cup sugar, blended with one-third cup of flour and two cups of water. Bake in oven 450 degrees.

BRANDIED CANDIED BANANAS

Peel 6 bananas, lay in a pan, never placing one on top of another. Blend together 3tbsp. soft butter, three fourths cup of brn. sugar, and one third cup of branry. Place in oven 325 degrees and bake until well done. Serve with baked ham.

CREOLE KIDNEY

Trim one beef kidney and cut in pieces and dredge in flour. Brown six slices of bacon cut in small pieces, add kidney, two onions and one green pepper chopped. Stir till meat is seared well. Add one can tomato soup ½ tsp. salt, pepper, and one bayleaf. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Delicious with steamed rice.

Classes at the home Service Bureau are free to the general public Mondays through Thursdays from 9 to 2.

Kappas Compliment Newly Made Brothers With Dance

Ten popular young college men who have just recently rubbed "desert sands" from their eyes entered the great world of the Greeks and were duly complimented by their older brothers of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Friday evening, Feb. 18, in the second floor ballroom of the Elks Building from ten until two o'clock.

Cordiality deepened into infectious merriment at the bewitching hour and culminated in the "Good Ole Kappa Spirit" sequence to the tune of Bailey's Orchestra with Polemarchs Robert Green of Upsilon undergraduate chapter and Att'y David W. Williams of the Alumni chapter doing their parts to keep the routine moving. Honorees trucked and pecked without restraint and were privileged to put their lips to the Kappa loving cup.

Members of the fraternity were distinguished from their guests by canary yellow strips of ribbon stamped in red with the Greek symbols--the fraternity's colors--worn on their shirt fronts. Especially impressive was the singing of the Kappa hymn directed by the singing of the Kappa hymn the popular "Bob" Green. Those honored were: Joe Morris, William Sharpe, Reginald Williams, Tom Bradley, Frank Tilly, John Coleman, John Randolph, Harold Garibaldi, Don Simmons and Donald Derrick, all neophytes in Upsilon chapter.

Committee of arrangements for the dance included Robert F. Green, Att'y David W. Williams, Percy Williams, Dr. Warner Wright, Tillman Thomas, Frank LaVigne, John Brewer, Alpheus Brewer and Ernest Williams.

Mi-Ladies in Semi-Formal

The Mi-Ladies Club, an organization of young matrons, made their social debut and celebrated their first anniversary on Saturday night in the Elks' second floor ballroom when they were hostesses at a semi-formal soiree which included cards, dancing and breakfast.

The ballroom was beautifully festooned with the club colors of red and white and floral arrangements were arranged by Ralph Porter. The combination created a very appropriate background for ladies gowned in seasonable fabrics and pastels.

In the interim of dancing and breakfast, an impromptu hijinks was staged by diminutive Elinu Sloane and herculean Carl Waters which sent the entire gathering into gales of laughter A huge basket of flowers was presented to the organization by the Contract Bridge Club whose membership consists of the husbands of Mi-Ladies roster. Music for the affair was rendered by La Vern Floyd's Orchestra.

DELIGHTFUL SHOWER HONORS MISS RAMONA L. CARTER

Miss Lula Prince, popular Crown City deb, honored Miss Ramona L. Carter Sunday, Feb. 13th with a delightful shower at her home on Kensington Place. The affair was given as a prelude to the honoree's marriage Feb. 14th to Mr. James M. Penn. One of the highlights of the afternoon was a mock wedding with the characters in long flannels and so-forth comical attire.

Those taking part were: Elsie Ellis, as a quack preacher performing the ceremony, Mary Hughes as flower girl, Marge Smith as the back woods bride and Charlotte Williams as the absent-minded groom. Several games were enjoyed after which the lovely gifts were opened.

HOSTS TO TWO THOUSAND

Members of the Ma-Po-Fi Club, made up of mailmen, policemen and firemen of Los Angeles who entertained two thousand guests at their annual formal Tuesday evening in the Riverside Drive Breakfast Club on Riverside Drive.

2,000 Guests Answer Bids to Ma-Po-Fi Dance

By FRED WILLIAMS

The curtain has rung down on the winter social season! In its stead, and with sparkling brilliancy comes beautiful spring. Almost two thousand people guests of the Ma-Po-Fi Social Club witnessed last Tuesday night the seasonal closing and opening ceremonies, at their annual formal dance prom.

Beautiful Riverside Drive Breakfast Club was the scene chosen for the colorful affair. This ballroom ranks with any other in the west, in beauty and commodiousness. It proved to be a most fitting scene for the two thousand guests invited to attend the season's ranking social affair.

Ma-Po-Fi, an organizaion that takes its name from the first two letters of the service organizations to which its members belong, mail carriers, police officers and firemen, n the past, have given these annual formal proms, with such increasing elegance to have elicited commendable praise even from those who were not included in their invitational lists, saw these former affairs supremely shaded by the brilliance of this sixth annual formal dance.

Ballroom Beautiful

The natural beauty of the ballroom made it unnecessary for any artificial adornments. However, the occasional floral pieces that graced the bandstand were artistically reflective of the club-men's cultural sense. The guest list also blended harmoniously with the cultural background. That much again, can be said, that the attractiveness of the guests greaty enhanced the natural beauty of he dance locale.

Beauiful music played by Roy Clark's dance orchestra, made dancing supremely enjoyable. Added to the orchestra's strains were the vocalizations of two songsters. This phase of the music proved a pleasant innovation, and hit well with the guests.

At the proper hour, members of the Ma-Po-Fi Social club, were presented to their guests. Among those who responded to the introduction by the master of ceremonies was Chief of Police, James E. Davis, who expressed his appreciation of an opportunity to address such a brilliant and cultured group so evidencing their ability to measure up to advance social standards. Among other things he sounded a note that may well encourage some of our most aggresive business men to build for us an auditorium sufficient to accommodate our future functions. Mr. Titus Alexander, honorary member of the Ma-Po-Fi, proved to be, as usual, a highly efficient master of ceremonies, and introduced the official family of the Ma-Po-Fi as follows: Paul J. McCarty, president; Titus P. Martin, vice-pres.; Floyd L. Richie, sec'y; John C. Powell, treasurer; Geo. T. Slaughter, sgt.-at-arms; Theo. G. Smith, reporter; George W. Adams, W. R. Brown, Wm. H. Byrd, J. W. Clark, Vernon Harden, C. Sid. Hendricks, A. W. Hooks, B. T. Hooks, A. R. McClanahan, Percy Moore, John W. Prayer, J. Howard Scott, Edward D. Shaw, T. R. Webb, Ford M. White, A. W. Woodyard, are members: Dr. J. Smitherman, Titus Alexander and Bert McDonald are honorary members.

Attire Noted

Milady was in all her splendor at the season's largest and gayest social function. The latest in formal attire, fur, and gowns and in the newest colors and shades, graced her person. It was an eloquent manifestation of the fact, that she has gone definitely fashionable. Her escort also, has decided to 'dress up'. No longer, according to indication noted, will we be able to 'get by' attired in a mere tuxedo sans accessories. The dinner jacket appears to be doomed. Tails were very much in evidence. With the tail coats naturally went the white waistcoat and buttoniere. The Ma-Po-Fi dance is usually loked upon to reveal the various trends in social activities and designs. A real cultural service is rendered the community by this splendid organization each year.

It was a pleasurable occasion for the members of Ma-Po-Fi, together their friends amidst such beautiful surroundings and dance to the strains of a marvelous orchestra.

The loud speaker system, which made dancing so easy by carrying the strains of the music from the orchestra to the far reaches of the auditorium, was installed by the courtesy of the Standard Oil Company, which made the set up in order to broadcast the season's event.

tea dansante to be given at the home of Miss Jeni LeGon on March 13. Plans were also completed for the joint meeting with the Cameo Matronitas club on March 27.

Mrs. Elenora Albins, a member of What's Your Bid Bridge club, was a guest of the club. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Jerry Solomon, 787 Garfield, Pasadena, at three p. m., Sunday, Feb. 27.

Preservation and Storing of Food

Francis Bacon, the distinguished scientist of the Seventeenth Century carried on many experimentations in the preservation of food by the refrigeration method. How far he reached will never be known as he died while making the experiment of stuffing a chicken with snow and covering it with crushed ice in its natural state in the winter.

No doubt, the honor of producing a student who froze any article artificially for the first time goes to Venice, Italy. In that fair city, a little known writer in the Sixteenth Century found that by mixing salt with snow, he could create a temperature low enough to freeze many liquids. Although he did not know the reaction, it was the salt melting the snow at such a rapid rate which caused the freezing temperature.

We have but to think back a few years, when we used this process in the making of homemade ice cream. If you will recall, mother had us break up the ice, (almost to snow consistency) put in a freezer surrounding the container of ingredients, add a few handfuls of rock salt and then turn the container until it became stiff. Can you remember what happened when occasionally you forgot to add salt? The ice did not break down quickly enough, therefore, if ice cream was made, it was not frozen as stiff as when salt was used.

Today, because of large scale commercial refrigeration, ice cream can be purchased of a better quality and at a lower cost than the ingredients necessary to make it at home.

"MUDDY" RULE, one of the stars of the Shamrocks.

DOWN IN FRONT

AFTER VIEWING this week's boxing card at the Olympic auditorium we were prompted to air this query in "Down in Front": What's happened to the uppercut?

That devastating blow which catches a man coming in or going away with his head lowered has ended many a bout and most always staves off what turns out to be a clinch. Jack Johnson, of all the heavyweights, was the most successful user of this punch.

And after seeing such heavyweights as Salvator Ruggirello and Domingo Valin stall and putrify the air at the Grand Avenue Emporium of Swat we thought if only Johnson could get into the ring and show these behemoths a thing or two about throwing an uppercut . . . ah, me!

If one of these boys, whose future borders on the bright side, would try to perfect the uppercut we would be willing to wager that he would go a long way.

QUOTING FROM Bill Potts' story of the Olympic bouts in Wednesday morning's Examiner: "Kennedy (that would be Referee Lieut. Jack Kennedy) despite the presence of two embarrassed, red-faced judges at ringside, gave his usual tally at the end of the eighth round . . ."

The Olympic uses a system of two judges, in an effort to avoid bum decisions as is frequently the case when the referee is the sole arbiter. Kennedy has a way of giving the round count at the end of the eighth which often serves to spur the losing fighter to a whirlwind finish. BUT, if Kennedy has two assistants, WHY doesn't he let them assume their rightful duties and respect their judgment at the end of the fight?

(Kennedy vetoed the votes of the judges sitting on the Crowell-Roper bout and called the bout a draw.)

Other referees seek out the arbiters, why not Kennedy?

"HUSTLIN'" HENRY Armstrong continues on his merry way during the next three weeks.

The fighting champion fights Varias Milling in Chicago tomorrow night, and next week in Detroit, Joe Louis' hometown, he takes on Everett Rightmire. March 8, the featherweight champion of the whole, wide world, returns to his home base, Los Angeles, where he will continue operations against the Mexican gladiator, "Baby" Arizmendi.

A fighting champion, no less!

Owens Shows at 'Pan'

By ALMENA DAVIS

Jesse Owens is coming to town! Los Angeles will cancel all engagements to jam-pack the Pan Pacific auditorium Sunday night when the "world's fastest human" brings his basketball team here.

Booking of Owens in an exhibition dash and his team, the Olympians in a game has been coveted locally since the start of the basketball season. The boys arrived in California early this week on the last lap of their tour of the country and will engage the New York Shamrocks, also on tour, in fast basketball Sunday night.

Owens' part in the procedure will not be basketball. To reporters all over the country he has confessed that he knows nothing about the game. Instead he will give an exhibition fifty yard dash, seeking to smash his indoor record of 5.2. Recently in Eugene, Oregon he ran the distance in 5.3, showing that he is still in condition.

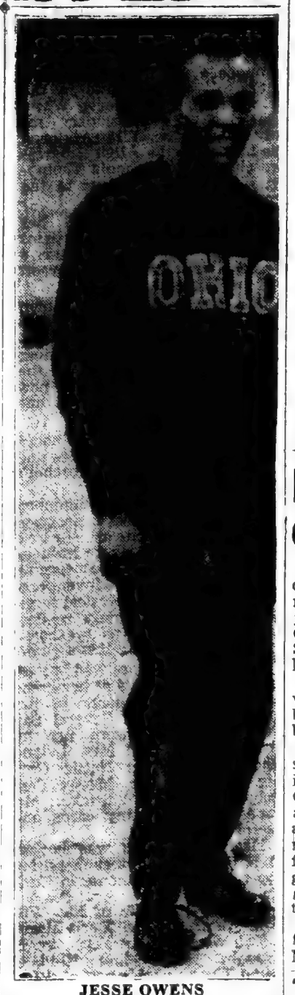
FULLY COMPENSATED FOR

However, Owen's basketball lack will be fully compensated for in his team, a collection of the fastest players in the country. Their opponents, the New York Shamrocks, are rated the best of the professionals in the country.

If the word professional strikes a note of interrogation, let this put your mind at rest. Owens hasn't given up his fight for reinstatement in the A. A. U. He refuses to admit to professionalism, persists that the Simon Pures "done him wrong", and is looking forward to the day when he can re-enter Ohio State where he has one more year's work on his degree and one more season of track competition.

The recent ruling, barring his basketball team from competition in the A. A. U. because of the contaminating presence of Owens, has been duck-soup for the boys. Out of the A. A. U.'s jurisdiction, they can engage in games with whomever they please, and as the professional teams are the best, the gate receipts are apt to be much larger . . . who said virtue is its own reward, they opine.

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER



Guiding angel of the New York Shamrocks is Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the greatest baseball pitchers of all times. Alexander was just last week elected to baseball's Hall of Fame. Baseball fans remember when he struck out Tony Lazzeri with the bases loaded to help the Cardinals win the world series in 1926.

Personal representative of Owens is Dick Hudson of football fame.

Owens' Olympians include Roscoe "Duke" Comberland, Toleda U. All Western guard; Al "Tarzan" Williams, All-Ohio State center; Sunny Boswell, Cleo Johnson, Ted Belcher, Ernest Seats and Pedro Boyd.

SHACKLEFORD HEADS HEALTH DRIVE

J. H. Shackleford will act as leader of the "Help Save A Life" campaign which was launched Tuesday night at the 28th Street Health Center. The drive was started with a set goal of $2,000. The campaign is composed of 10 teams made up from the auxiliaries and committees of the association. Each team will be responsible for 200 members and each member responsible for 20 new members.

RACE TRACK

By JAY GOULD

Santa Anita's big hundred thousand dollar handicap, to be run March 5, has already a big play on each horse as there is a tip out on each horse. After Pompoon won Saturday the byword was, "I don't think Pompoon can get the big race."

Big shots that may appear on the lawn to see the running of the Santa Anita Handicap--Flo Washington, Dorothy Spivey, Vi Franklin, Benny Ayers and wife, Bernice, Pansy Spates, Nora Holt, Albertine Pickens, Lagatha Gomax, Edna Harris, Helen Hamilton, Fay Newby, Gussie Jacobs, Ralph Roberts, Jeni LeGon, Earl Dancer, Callye Dill, Nettie Holder, Monte Hawley, Annabelle Bledsoe, Rosetta Evans, George Butts, Evelyne Costella, Mae Moore, Lucious Lomax, Jr., Mildred Russ, Babe Rushing, Julian Jackson, Mabel Washington, Eloise Tele, Helen Pleasure, Clara Ware, Lois Whaley, Mae Turner and Antoinette Gamble, Gwendolyn Shaffer and Johnny Davis, Johnny Cornish and his red-headed missus.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Henderson, Nettie Holder, Benny Webster and Don Robbie were heavy losers at Santa Anita last Thursday. The boys along the stem like to follow tips from Mildred Russ, Olga Freeman and Nettie Holder as their horses seem to always win.

Cuties on the stroll Sunday afternoon--Alilise Williams, Marie Bryant, Jean Miller, Louise Franklin, Mae Johnson, Annabell Gordon, Juanita Moore, Ruth Scott, Gladys Derb Henderson, Irma Washington and Avenell Harris.

Chester Parks, Benny Wilson on Nova-Ramage Card Tuesday

Lou Nova, of Oakland, state heavyweight champion, and Lee Ramage, San Diego challenger, meet each other next Tuesday night in a remeatch at the Olympic auditorium for the state title.

In the semi-final, Chester Parks will square off against Eddie Dreher, and the special event finds Bobby Yannes matched against Benny Wilson.

Last Tuesday night at the Olympic, Referee Jack Kennedy called the "Chuck" Crowell-Jack Roper main event a draw, a disputed decision. Domingo Valin decisioned Salvator Ruggirello in a dull eight-round semi-final. Eddie Marcus, recent Golden Gloves featherweight kingpin, caught sepian Willie Fields with a short right and dropped him for the count. Chico Romo won a close one from Elmer Lewis. Frankie Rodriguez whipped Steve Gallagher and Johnny Verdusco took the opener from Paul George.

Marcus was adjudged best preliminary boy of the evening.

Bojangles in Close Win

The largest house since the opening of the season greeted the movie star, Bill Robinson's, Bojangles in their close win over Clifton's Cafeteria boys last Saturday night at the Patriotic hall.

A hotly contested game, in which the Bojangles came from behind in the second half to win by one basket, ended 32 to 30.

Green, Placentia and Pliser shared high scoring honors, making eight points each, all for the Cafeteria five. Francis Garland, all city player from Jefferson, and Spot Thornton, former Fresno State College player, tallied four points each for the Bojangles, but Ashford, substituting at guard, polled two digits above them.

The San Francisco Postoffice five trimmed the Los Angeles Mailcarriers 40 to 37.

79 Boxers in State Suspended

The State Athletic Commission ax fell on seventy-nine California boxers Saturday for failure to comply with the Commission's regulations.

Georgie Crouch, lightweight, was suspended for failure to take a physical examination, as was Big Boy Bray, protegee of Eugene Sorral, Oscar Rankin, Al Grayson, Jimmy Liddell, Wilbur Wilkin, Curtis Scott, Bobby Wright and Walter Howard.

Re-instatements will be made following Saturday's meeting of the Commission if the boxers have complied with the regulations.

JOE LOUIS VICTOR

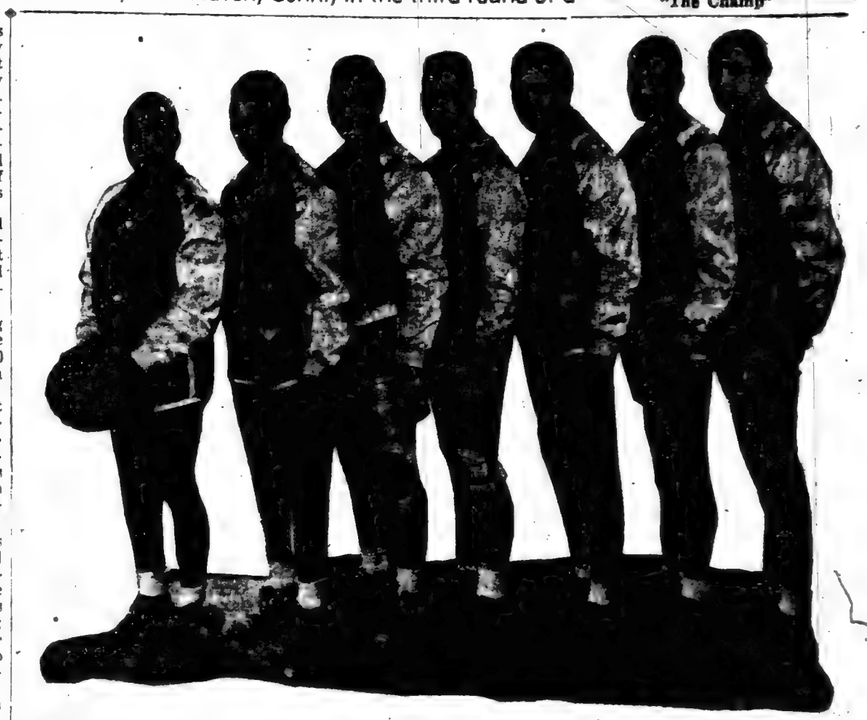
Mann K. O.'ed for First Time; Record Crowd Sees Bout

"The Champ"

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York City, Feb. 24.—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis defended his title successfully the second time last night when he knocked out Nathan Mann, New Haven, Conn., in the third round of a scheduled 15-round match.

Louis' rapier-like left hand was the undoing of Mann. As early as the last half minute of the first round, Mann's face began to show the effect of the famed Louis jab.

Before the knockout, Mann visited the canvas nearly a half-dozen times as the champion opened up in the second and third rounds. Mann asorbed plenty of Joe's steaming rights and lefts before he finally stayed down.



After the fight, it was revealed that the champion told his co-manager, John Roxborough, that he would kayo Mann in the third round as a birthday gift for Roxborough.

The fight was a sell-out long before Louis arrived for the weighing-in. Close to 20,000 spectators saw it and recorded a total of $130,000 in the till.

It was the first heavyweight fight for the championship staged indoors in 18 years, and despite the fact that it was intended only as a tune-up for Joe's match with Max Schmeling in June, it seemed to have captivated the boxing world.

Schmeling, incidentally, has cancelled his tune-up fights and is resting for Louis. The German was scheduled to meet Steve Dudas in either Berlin or Los Angeles, but unwilling to risk defeat of Schmeling, Promoter Mike Jacobs cabeled Maxie to refrain from any more bouts before meeting Louis.

Louis was favored to win by a knockout because he is the harder and more accurate puncher. Many experts believed that the bobbing and weaving style of Mann's was made to order for the champion. Had Mann won he was bound by contract to give Louis a return fight in 60 days.

MILLION DOLLAR OUTCLASSES BANK QUINTET

Although the score was as usual top-heavy in favor of the Million Dollar Productions team, the Bank of America basketball quintet gave the aforementioned boys stiffer competition than they have had this season on last Sunday night at the Elks' auditorium.

In the second half of the weekly double - header basketball-dance, Ralph Cooper's boys, with Cooper himself on the sidelines, out-passed, out-shot and outwoofed the white boys 34-23.

Cooper, the movie star, in case you don't know, defied added girth, which is the natural right of matinee idols, to play the early season games, but contract clauses are said to have benched him temporarily until the finish of his current picture.

High point man for the evening was Lank Price, center, with 15 points to his credit. Lank is a virtual sensation, winning the applause of the spectators with his shots from all angles and degrees.

Father Miles followed up with seven points, but despite Lank's ability, Father was the outstanding man on the floor. The focal point of all the plays, Father is no less than a basketball genius.

In the preliminary game, the California Eaglets came out on top of a Chinese-Mexican combination, 38-24.

The girls' game could hardly be called a game, even though the California Eaglets are a capable group of basketball players. With no competition to speak of and hampered by girls' rules, the event was rather dull for the spectators; however, matchmakers have promised to amend the rules to allow the girls scope for exhibitionism.

Next Sunday, however, they are billed for a game with pretty fair competition in the Lowa Chinese boys. The Eaglets will play the feminine branch of the same team.

She received her education in the public schools and colleges in Oklahoma. She completed her musical training in the Emporia State Teachers College of Music. By FRANCES M. WILLIAMS

Some highlights of the mid-winter Western Baptist Association, held Feb. 16, 17, 18. The sessions were inspiring from its opening to its closing. The sermon Thursday, 7:30 p. m. by Rev. W. D. Carter will not be forgotten by his hearers soon. Rev. Coleman of the Middle-West, in his remarks, told of Dr. Tally and Dr. Balton, members of the Council of Religious Education, and of the 43 nations that met at Oxford in the haking of their great programs. Dr. W. D. Carter gave echoes of Congress in San Diego last November, as a great victory gained among the youth. In the two cars conveying the group to Congress their conversations were plans of the future. On return their talks were how they were helped by having attended. Mrs. Galena Macky stressed the idea of "Little Things" in life. Friday morning, Mrs. Ada Wyatt's reports were interesting. Miss Evada Long gave points of interest on Congress. Mrs. Marie Sheffield, presiding, the discussion of the address "What Young People Expect of the Church" was very timely and full of information. The devotion each meeting was by Rev. Wade. L. A. District reported 3 converts. Ontario, Duarte, Watts returned to the convention. Sermon by Rev. J. L. Caston impressed us with the fact that if anything in life is worth while it is counterfieted. SAN JOSE NEWS

National Negro History week was celebrated Sunday, Feb. 13 at the AME Zion church. The program was as follows, and was produced by the Nyoson club, composed of the young Negros of San Jose.

Come thou Almighty King was sung by the Nyoson chorus. The welcome address was delivered by the president, Joseph Jordon. H. T. S. Johnson of Oakland gave a talk on the "Rise of the Negro". "Everytime I Feel the Spirit" was sung by the Nyoson chorus March of Progress was a skit that was put on by the following members: Ruby Washington, Douglas Kinard, and Bill Jones. The other ones that took part in the skit were members of the white club called the "Forty-Niners".

The commentators were Henrietta Harris of the Nyoson club, and Bob Guskey of the "Forty-niners". The silver offering was taken. The chorus sang the National Negro Hymn "Lift Every Voice and Sing", the audience followed after. The club had prepared refeshments, and everyone adjourned to the dining room.

Carmacella Harton celebrated her birthday, Saturday evening, February 12 at the home of Mary Isabell Adams. It was a lovely party, and was enjoyed by all.

The Nyoson club gave a skating party, Feb. 14 at the roller rink. Fun was there for everyone, even if there were a few spills, although I do feel that I'll never cooperated! Quite a few attended from out of town.

Quite a few San Joseans motored up to South San Francisco to attend a formal party given by Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jones.

I'm sorry that this is all of the San Jose news that is to come out this week. But more next week, until then I remain your San Jose corespondent.

STRICTLY JIVE!

There seemed to be a little bit of misunderstanding in this column about a certain young man from Palo Alto who hadn't been making his rounds here on Naglee and Morse. Well if it will help you any J. W. and E. N. it wasn't who you think it was. It was that person who goes by the name of "Babe"!! And incidentally it looks as if things are looking down again where he and A. R. are concerned.

Who is this Mister "X" who seems to be sending everyone these mysterious Valentines. Could it be you C. F.?

It seems as tho L. W. and J. J. have been making the wrong moves and the wrong statements all together. Look out Jack you better get hit to yourself!!

About this rumpus of calling the Palo Alto boy's club, which have the initials R. A. H., being called Royal Ale Heads, honestly kids no harm was meant I didn't write this column last week and I'm sorry it was put in—so just forget it—Okay? Okay!!! (I would like to know who wrote it too).

Schuyler Goes to Bat for June-Dec. Love

June and December love, a much debated subject, has an advocate, it seems, in George Schuyler, well known author, now columnist for the Pittsburgh Courier.

Schuyler set the nation a-twitter last week with his dissertation, quotations from which follow:

"The German army officers have fallen out with Field Marshal Werner Von Blomberg, 59-year-old military leader, because he married 28 year-old Erika Gruhn, a carpenter's daughter who had been acting as his secretary. It is probable that the comely young lady discovered too late what is the difference between a stenographer and a secretary, and marriarge followed. At any rate, it has led to the doughty general's retirement to Capri because the army officers considered the match "socially impossible." Werner doesn't seem to be worrying.

"On this side of the Atlantic 22-year-old John Lorencik of Unionville, Conn., surprised the country by announcing his engagement to Miss Henrietta W Peiper, who has just turned 70.

"John declares that girls of his age keep him up late at nights and that when he weds his septuagenariar "I will have a wife who can help me to be home early, take care of my health because she is a nurse and won't let me get worn out."

"There is frequently critism of these so-called June-December marriages, but it may be that these two couples, like countless others, "have something there."

There used to be objection on the ground that one party would be so much more agile than the other that the pace would be too swift. Perhaps there is still something to that, but not as much as formerly. So many young folks these days are less virile than the oldsters, having been raised on condensed milk and canned goods, and often worn themselves out before reaching twenty.

Another objection often raised is that one party is settled, while the other wants to go places and see things. But here, too, times have changed. Some of these folks of sixty can "truck" right along with the rest. It is true that the older party may be minus an eye, a leg or a kidney, but even then there are compensations. A decrepit or crippled spouse is less likely to gadabout in these times when marriage has become, as Marx says, "too often a system of wives in common." He might have added husbands.

"I think there is something to be said for the June-December matches on other scores. While one party has youth and vivacity, the other is very likely to have wealth and knowledge. In these times, when getting a start is more difficult than it was when grandfather was a boy, wealth is attractive to a young girl who is weary of Suzy-Qing in a chorus, whipping a typewriter or fighting off impecunious youngsters with loads of virility but none of the monetary wherewithal. She is not to be severely criticized if she passes up some drug store cowboy and grabs a graybeard who has made his pile and his reputation.

"Likewise, consider some young man all dressed up physically and educationally, but painfully short of coin of the Republic. An aging widow with several rent houses, an automobile, a wardrobe full of clothes, a fat bank account and a good set of store teeth, comes pretty near looking like Santa Claus to him. Indeed, I know of cases where such sweethearts of spouses have been helpful in aiding an ambitious Sambo to get his M. D. or Ph. D. degree and start on the trail of some dollars.

"There is a law of compensation in all things. Young people for all their ardor are inexperienced in the art of love and marriage, than which there is none more complicated. It is a boon to them to be instructed by a veteran. Young people frequently lack sufficient humor and cynicism to make marriage a success. Far too often they have the foolish jealousy that causes them to knock on the front door and race around to the back, whereas an older and mellower spouse usually comes home on schedule or telephones or telegraphs in advance.

"Benjamin Franklin's "Letter to a Young Man", dated June 25, 1745, is instructive in connection with this discussion. After advising the young man to marry, the Sage of Philadelphia wrote: "I repeat my formed advice that in your amours you should prefer old women to young ones. This you call a paradox, and demand my reasons.

They are these:

"1. Because when women cease knowledge of the world, and their minds are better stored with observations, their conversation is more improving and more lastingly agreeable.

2. Because when women cease to be handsome, they study to be good. To maintain their influence over man, they supply the diminution of beauty by an augmentation of utility. They learn to do a thousand services, small and great; are the most tender and useful of all friends when you are sick. This they continue amiable. And hence there is hardly such a thing to be found as an old woman who is not a good woman.

Howard U. Students Show Serious Slant in Poll

According to the current issue of "The Hilltop", student publication at Howard university, a poll was taken relative to what constitutes an offense demanding suspension. In a letter to the editor of the paper a student asked:

"I have heard a great deal about the matter in the dormitory in which a girl was suspended by the university . . . The first thing which I should like to find out is . . . upon just what basis do they determine whether the student ought to be suspended?"

The report made in "The Hilltop" relative to the question "What offense would you consider grave enough for suspension from school for a period not exceeding one semester?" follows:

"Approximately 15 per cent of the student body of Howard University was approached last week and asked this question: 'What offense would you consider grave enough for suspension from school for a period not exceeding one semester?' A wide variety of opinion was evident. However, one striking thing about this investigation was the fact that there was general agreement on the most serious offenses, and in very few cases were there opinions which had not been supported by at least two students.

"Of the number asked, 98 per cent said that a student should be sent home for a grave enough offense and 2 per cent said that on no account should a student be suspended, but should be given counsel and advice—if this failed, then suspension was in order.

Poor Scholarship

"The most serious offense, and one which 62 per cent of those questioned agreed to, was suspension for poor scholarship. Those who contended that poor scholarship was not an offense serious enough for suspension gave varied reasons: i.e., 'the low marks may not have been due to dumbness, but to illness, for example'; 'low marks might be cause of work hours or because the student is under emotional strain'; low marks may be due to the fact that the student is taking subjects not fitted to his or her ability.'

"The next most serious offense as determined by the investigation and which offense is grave enough for suspension, is immorality; more specifically, sexual offenses that come to the attention of students of officials. Fifty-two per cent of the total number of those questioned said that this offense was second in gravity to poor scholarship with reference to suspension. Thirty-eight per cent of those aquestioned maintained that a sex offense was even more grave than poor scholarship. The remaining 10 per cent were non-committal.

BIRTH OF NATION PIC OFFERED N.Y. SCHOOLS

LEONARD ESTORAGE, BROTHER OF JOE ESTORAGE, Laid to Rest

Sadness entered the home of jolly Joe Estorage last week at the passing of his brother, Leonard Estorage, who was born in Houston, Texas, on July 4, 1894. Estorage passed February 15.

Services were held at the beautiful Angelus Funeral Home last week with the Rev. Prentis officiating. Many porters and their families attended in respect to Joe Estorage, who is well known and very popular among the railroad fraternity. Among those who were there were Mr. and Mrs. A. Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. William Carter, T. D. Starks, James White and Wm. Asbury and a number of others whom the clatter reported was unable to get the correct names. The Railroad Clatter desires to extend its deepest sympathy to Mr. Estorage in his dark hour of bereavement. The body was shipped to Houston, Texas, for burial.

RAILROAD CLATTER . . .

By Charles L. Upton

Sometime ago, a report was circulated that the United States government was going to buy up all the old automobiles for a lump sum of $40.00 a piece and use the material for armament. They stated that this move on the part of the government would clean up all of the junk in used car lots all over the United States and help the auto industry get back on its feet by increasing the sale of new cars. Maybe it would and maybe it wouldn't. There're a lot of us who still have those old wrecks because we can't see our way clear to make the fifty and sixty dollar a month payments. We have been through the grind when times were good and managed somehow to get a hold of the precious pink slip and even though the old bus is not worth it, forty bucks wouldn't be enough bait. It sure is a grand and glorious feeling now that this here thing, big business calls recession, to be lucky enough to have a pink slip which will keep big business from taking possession.

Listen most when a man tells you your faults and least when he talks of your virtues.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

"Many happy returns" to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of February: Mrs. L. Johnson, C. H. Jackson, J. M. Turner, Katherine Henderson, Sam Moore, Annie Brown, Christine Milburn, Dr. M. M. Cloud and Virginia Pondexter. Congratulations.

MRS. WM. SINGLETON PASSES SUDDENLY; Wife of Pullman Porter has Paralytic Stroke

The grim reaper struck its deathly blow in the family of Wm. Singleton last Saturday when his wife, Mrs. Singleton, returned home from a shopping trip downtown. Her husband, Wm. Singleton, was sitting by the front door as his wife entered. She fell just inside the door. Mr. Singleton immediately called a doctor who had her taken to the hospital where she never recovered, passing sometime late Saturday. According to information received by the Clatter, the funeral was scheduled to be held from Conner-Johnson's Undertaking Parlors Tuesday at 10 a. m. Mr. Singleton has been in the service of the Pullman company as porter for a number of years and operated the Portland line. The Railroad Clatter wishes to extend its deepest sympathy in his dark hour of grief.

MRS. FRANK JASPER PASSES IN TEXAS; Wife of Late Porter Frank Jasper Succumbs After Lengthy Illness

Fighting a valiant but losing battle for her life, Mrs. Frank Jasper, former president of the Liberty club, an organization which was formed of wives of Pullman Porters just prior to the organization of the Colored Women's Economic Council by A. Philip Randolph, and a former Pullman maid, operating on the Union Pacific to Chicago, died in Albeina, Texas, last week and arrangements were being made to ship her remains to Los Angeles sometime this week for burial.

Misfortune struck the Jasper family several years ago when her husband, Frank Jasper, late veteran Pullman porter, was stricken with an illness he never recovered from. Shortly after his death, a son was taken, which left the late Mrs. Jasper alone and in ill health.

She was forced to leave the Pullman service after a medical examination revealed the fact that she had a bad case of diabetes. She rented out her home on East 33rd street and spent several months up in Elsinore where her condition failed to improve. She later went to Albiena, Texas, where the end came.

JOINT CONDUCTORS AND PORTERS SERVICE MEETINGS

A series of joint service meetings were held last week starting on February 17 and ending February 19. Many very helpful suggestions were made by both porters and conductors for the improvement of the Pullman service. One of the most important things mentioned at these meetings was the usual caution by the superintendent to the porters to refrain from drinking on duty or coming to the cars with the odor of liquor on their breath.

Mr. Leach stated that he had had several such cases during the last few weeks in which drastic action would be taken and in all probability if the offenders were proven guilty, they would be suspended from the service.

It therefore seems during these trying times when it is so very hard to get a job that the men of this district who continually persist in this habit and take the chance of getting by, would turn over a new leaf and cut it out. Certainly they can expect no consideration from the Brotherhood if they willfully violate this rule with which both the management and the Brotherhood are in accord.

A Pullman porter has one of the best paying jobs compared to a position he could obtain in the city with but rare exceptions. And it is high time that he realizes it and makes every effort to protect it. From many conferences with Mr. Leach, the Brotherhood can truthfully say that he is on the level and willing to give every porter a chance, but insists that they don't abuse the privilege. A hint to the wise should be sufficient.

As you are the most promient promoters of the grunt nd groan game in the West, e feel that the following in might serve to add further lor to your already colorful restling attractions. You now what they say about new aces.

It is a fact that colored restlers, good or bad, are few nd far between. It so happens, that this phase of the orts game came to our attenion this week when we saw a ouple of pages from the scrapook of one Tiger Jack Nelon.

This Nelson fellow is styled he world's colored heavyeight wrestling champion nd from the contents of the crapbook pages, he's a pretty air "country rassler".

Born near Seminole, Oklahoa, standing six feet two and eighing 200 pounds, he has n wrestling since 1925 and he belt emblematic of the title e holds was tendered him by he National Wrestling Assocition in 1929 in Toledo, Ohio. le has held the title ever since hat time. For four years afer he won his title he defendd it against all comers, the ew members of his own race nd white contenders. After hat, running out of opposition s such, he has trained some f the greatest exponents of he "art" of "grunt and groan".

Some years ago it appears hat when Jim Browning was ooked to defend his crown gainst Jim Londos in the Garden Bowl, Long Island, lew York, Browning looked round for a men to qualify im for the gruelling test. Nelon proved to be that man.

A few weeks later, Dick Shiat, the German, tried to dehrone Londos in Philadelphia, nd it was Nelson who was enaged to train him. Nelson erformed his job so well Shiat declared afterwards that iger Jack served him better han anyone else.

Nelson's specialty is the "flyng wristlock", claimed to be he deadliest hold in wrestling nd one of the hardest to mas- r. In fact, Nelson is said to e the only one who can exee it successfully.

Further proving that Nelson nust have something on the all, he has also looked after andor Szabo, who has headned several of your shows.

That gives you something of he history of the man who ould probably defeat most of he present Olympic headlinrs. The thing that has, so far, roved the catch, is the fact hat Nelson is a Negro. And hen you come to think of it, hat a flimsy excuse to keep good wrestler forever on the idelines earning coffee and oughnut dough as a trainer or some top-notcher he could robably defeat!

This seems to us, a colossal pportunity for you to add that nesse to your shows which neans the difference between igantic and mediocre. Here's our man!

The best sepia athletes coninue to get their due in other ports. Why not wrestling, Brothers Daro? It's an idea, nyway.

Yours, J.C.F.

With Hitler and his Nazism, nd Mussolini and his Fascism ncreasingly in the news of the world, we owe medico A. J. Booker gobs of thanks this week for the following excerpt rom his monthly Fellowship eague bulletin.

Credited to Edoardo Zaraorre, Il Duce spokesman, the xcerpt goes:

"The relations between white nd colored people is exclusively one of domination. The white directs and the black obeys. The white makes himself served and the black serves him. Our conception is clearly anti-democratic and anti-socialistic." We must oppose all utopias and all fraternities and qualities which permit, in certain of our colonies, an intolerable mixture of Europeans and colored people. There must be absolute domination of the white over the black; and an indestructible separation of principles, habits, work, methods between master and subject".

Propaganda? And how!

Freddie Clarke, the British-born movie player, has a flare for comedy that is most entertaining . . . Clarence Muse, for all of his varied roles on the screen, has a knack of analyzing a situation in a very convincing manner . . . After seeing "Emile Zola" we clearly understand why Paul Muni ranks as one of the world's greatest actors . . . Speaking of the role of "Mammy" in the epic, "Gone With the Wind", the one sepiactress we would like to see get the call is Louise Beavers, as fine an emotional player we've seen . . . Our nominees for the two most promising boxers in the city: Georgie Crouch and Chester Parks.

Howdy, Everybody. Didn't have space to finish "Negro Dollar Day" last week, so I'm bringing one paragraph on it now.

I wonder how many of us have ever paused to estimate the total sum expended daily by our group in Los Angeles, for living expenses. For our population of fifty thousand people, it can hardly be less than an average of fifty cents per day per person. Which means an aggregate of $25,000.00 per day, $750,000.00 per month, or the staggering sum of $9,000,000.00 per year, spent by Negroes for living expenses. And if we, by intelligent thought and planning, can't divert some portion of that sum directly into Negro channels, which by their expansion, would inevitably lift the economic status of our group, then we aren't even as capable as the old-time American-plan waiters I used to work with back East years ago. No one ever heard of the oldtime waiter's family starving, as long as he handled the food between the kitchen, and the white folks in the big dining-room. Our group occupies a somewhat similar position. An average sum of $750,000.00 passes through our hand each month on its way up to the white man's money-vaults, yet we don't seem to have enough common horse-sense to consciously divert even five per cent of it directly into Negro channels. Think that over, folks.

Tucked away on an inside page of the Los Angeles Sunday Times, with no glaring headline to draw one's attention, I saw the following: "One sixth of the entire population of New York City is on relief. In the big town, 1,255,000 persons are receiving some form of government aid, and the number is growing at the rate of 5000 a week". Items like this should cause thoughtful people to pause, and meditate; It Can Happen Here. One thing is certain. This relief business can't go on forever. And when the axe falls, if we are unprepared, there will surely be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

Well, folks, my brain is getting kinder tired of wrestling with the white man's language, so next week I'm going to drop back into my own vernacular and tell you-all a funny story. So long.

basin street boys and june rutledge head tivoli show

With June Rutledge, famous dancer, formerly of the team, "Rutledge and Taylor", as master of ceremonies, a splendid new bill is promised for the Tivoli theatre guest star program tonight.

Featured on the bill will be the Basin Street Boys, who with songs and imitations of musical instruments, have appeared in many pictures since coming to Hollywood. They have just finished as featured members of the cast, "The Duke Steps Up", new Million Dollar Productions musical.

Jewel Nelson, who looks and sings like the celebrated blues singer, Mamie Smith, will amuse with a blues jamboree. Marie Bryant, sensational interpreter of native jungle dances, will be featured in a minature revue staged by Lew Crawford, widely known producer and dance director.

Besides the vaudevlle, a splendid bill of motion picture fare will be presented as usual, including cartoon, newsreels, and advance films.

potentate fond of western pictures

Most unique wedding gift received by the recently married King Farouk of Egypt, today was sent the descendant of omnipotent Pharaohs by Producer Harry Sherman of Hollywood.

The gift consisted of prints of Sherman's three latest "Hopalong Cassidy" westerns, which are the young monarch's favorite film entertainment. Previously, by royal request, these outdoor thrillers have been shown in the ancient palace to the court.

John Boles and John Barrymore, all of whom have lived in France extensively, spoke the language frequently during production of Paramount's "Romance in the Dark."

music makes strong bid in spring films

In the spring the public's fancy lightly turns to music, and already the Hollywood film factories are beginning to turn out the season's offerings.

Paramount has one musical already completed, two in the cutting rooms, two in the filming, and four more nearly ready for the cameras.

MGM has one editing and one in preparation; Twentieth Century-Fox is currently filming two; Warners' has two more in production, and Universal has another.

Just hitting the country's screens is Paramount's "The Big Broadcast of 1938", which brings W. C. Fields back to stardom after two years' absence.

"Doctor Rhythm", with Bing Crosby, Mary Carlisle and Beatrice Lillie, and "Romance in the Dark" featuring Gladys Swarthout, John Boles and John Barrymore, are going through final editing stages at the same studio.

Paramount cameras are turning on "Tropic Holiday", with Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour, Ray Milland and Tito Guizar, and the Fred MacMurrayHarriet Hilliard-Ben Blue tunefilm, "Cocoanut Grove".

And in preparation are "Harmony for Three", another Crosby picture; a new edition of the "Artists and Models" series, starring Jack Benny; another starrer for Fields, as yet not definitely titled, and "Give Me A Sailor", which Eliott Nugent will direct.

"Harmony for Three" may team Crosby with Franciska Gaal, the little Hungarian who scored heavily in her American debut as the little Dutch girl of Cecil B. DeMille's "The Buccaneer".

In addition, the current Harold Lloyd picture, "Professor, Beware!" is partly of a musical flavor.

"The Girl of the Golden West", teaming Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, is in MGM cutting rooms, and the "The Broadway Melody of 1938" is being readied.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "Kentucky Moonshine" are filming at Fox; Warners' is shooting "Golddiggers in Paris" and a Dick Powell picture, and Universal is working on "Goodbye Broadway."

It goes without saying, of course, that with so many musicals in production, Hollywood show girls are enjoying palmy days. Most major studios, in fact, have signed private contingents of lovelies to insure themselves plenty of chorus talent in the rush.

strange sets give odd look to paramount

Bizarre, even for Hollywood, was the collection of sets which today dotted the movie capital.

Strangest of this heterogeneous assemblage was the huge subterranean cavern on the Paramount lot, used in the filming of "Her Jungle Love" as a temple of savage South Sea islanders, the cave having been thoroughly wrecked by a quake.

Close by was a reproduction of the deck and hull of a super-modernistic ocean liner, the S. S. Gigantic, on which W. C. Fields and other charmingly insane passengers "sailed" in "The Big Broadcast of 1938".

Just astern the Gigantic is a typical Louisiana bayou, on which scenes for "The Buccaneer" were filmed, and just ahead a beach on the French Riviera, locale of "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife", for which tons of sand were hauled from Santa Monica.

A New York street, along which George Raft and Sylvia Sidney saunter in "You and Me", runs directly into a cobblestoned Viennese thoroughfare and 24 distinctly Continental business establishments built for "Stolen Heaven".

Finally, a big stage shelters Gracie Allen's idea of a New England college, of which she is president in "College Swing". All buildings are streamlined. Paths are lined with palms. There's a swing band dais in the "quad" and a floor for dancing collegiate rumba.

The ensemble looks like something jointly designed by Lewis Carroll and Ophelia.

'porgy, bess' to have lincoln run

By LEROY HART

Backed by one of the prominent local fraternities and leading business men, George Gershwin's thrilling muscal play of Negro life, "Porgy and Bess", will be presented in a late evening performance at the Lincoln theatre Thursday, March 10 at popular prices.

Coming direct from a successful run in San Francisco, the showing at the Lincoln will be the last opportunity to see this folk opera of Negroes, the first of its kind, since the group will immediately leave for other engagements.

Those who could not see the great production during its first run at the Philharmonic auditorium, will now have this final chance of seeing it at popular admission.

The same cast will appear in the performance at the Lincoln that was used in the other engagements.

advance sale for 'haiti' means hit

Although "Haiti", the eleventh production of the Negro Unit of WPA Federal Theatre Project, does not open until Feb. 23, the play is already popular among clubs and organizations.

An advance sale of 3,000 seats was shared by the Children's Aid Society, Industrial Lodge of Elks, Bronx House Organization, Young Women's Christian Association, Workers Alliance, WPA Teachers Union, United Laundry Workers, YMCA, George William's Club, Anti-Fascist Literary Group, Housewives League and American Labor Party.

ONE FINGER

Augustine Lara, famous Mexican composer imported by Paramount to write the score of the new Arthur Hornblow musical "Tropic Holiday" turns out his songs with only one finger, using either the piano or the guitar.

BILL ROBINSON IS HONORARY PREXY

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (CNA)—Bill Robinson was inducted as honorary president of the Negro Actors Guild this week at a meeting in the headquarters of the Grand Street Boys, 106 West 55th street. Other officers sworn in included: Noble Sissle, president,

A HUNDRED YEARS ago this month, the bullet of a flirtati French baron ended the career of ALEXANDER PUSHKIN. Negro, in the sense that you and I are Negroes. "A drop of A blood on Arctic snows" is the way he described himself.

Russian literature owes more to Pushkin than to any oth single person and, it is true also, that if all the operas based Pushkin subjects and texts, and all the songs that are settings his verses, were wiped out of existence, the BULK OF RUSSIA MUSIC would be surprisingly reduced.

Even during his lifetime (he died at the age of 37), when R sian music was practically non-existent, his poems naturally tracted the attention of the dilettante musicians who sang their o compositions in fashionable drawing rooms. And it was the gre est of all these dilettanti, his friend and fellow-aristocrat Glin who composed the first Pushkin opera, Ruslan and Lyudmila. J as Pushkin's poems in 1820 set the standard metre of Russian nar tive verse, Glinka's opera of 1842 became the foundation stone Russian music as we know it.

Sharing this historical importance by the same composer "Stone Guest" (1868), the foundation of the Russian "naturalist type of opera and incidentally the first work in which any compos attempted to write in the whole-tone mode. It was also witho precedent in that Dargomizhsky set Pushkin's play almost exac as it stood instead of cooking it into a conventional libretto.

Pushkin's great quasi-Shakespearean drama, "Boris Godun set to music by Mussorgsky, includes references to his ancesto whom he was intensely proud. Other ranking interpreters of Pus kin on the opera-stage are: CUI, ARENSKY, STRAVINSKY, TCHA KOVSKY and RIMSKY-KORSAKOV.

But, I wonder what the story would have been of Pushkin ha he lived today in Harlem or HOLLYWOOD?

TRIVIA

REPORTING ON the extra film players, CHARLES BUTLER d clared this week that since studios' money has been tied up the last two months, production halted, employment has reached lowest ebb.

No longer do they want to pay a casting agent, Butler said. A this is a typical example of the kind of service demanded of a cas ing agent. About 8 o'clock one night Butler was called to find t Negro women who speak creole dialect, to have them on Warne set for "Jezebel" next morning at 9. Luckily, or due to over years acquaintance with practically every extra in the business, located seven.

WHY shouldn't this type of service be properly compensate Perhaps a Screen Casting Agents' guild will be the answer.

STYMIE: TWO GUNNER

IN THE NEWEST wrinkle of all-Negro cast fillums, "Two-G Man From Harlem", starring CLARENCE BROOKS, Stym Beard, youthful actor, last seen in a major production for Warne titled "Girls on Probation", does a sizeable role.

MAKE WAY FOR YOUTH

TROY BROWN junior, son of the 380-pound comic, age fiv years, just finished a part in "The Duke Comes Back" with Ala Lane and Genevieve Tobin. One of Willie Covan's pupils, Juni has great screen promise, studio execs declare.

MOTHER (Bertha Brown), herself an entertainer of no me ability, said this week that she had retired from the profession make way for junior's career. "Two actors in the family is abo all one can stand." Papa Troy is in "Second Honeymoon" and "Lo and Hisses".

FRA DIAVALO

TALL, TAN BEE ELLIS, stellar soprano with Carlyle Scott's WE chorus will likely be cast as the heroine in "FRA DIAVALO scheduled for March 30 in Belasco theatre.

AND, JIMMIE MILLER, just returned from a concert tour the East, one of the most promising of younger tenors, is going sing the leading role.

Feting Miss Ellis' umteenth birthday last Tuesday, in her apar ment at 50th and Central, came for dinner Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Har son, Theo Hunter, Chas. Rufus, George Jones, Mrs. Isabel Fairch and Eugene Tucker.

OFF THE CUFF

HATTIE McDANIELS is getting a divorce! I didn't know either, but she has been TWICE welded. Once to Howard Hic man, once to Nym Langford (was it Nymph, Miss Hattie?), fro whom she has been separated ten years.

"Just don't want to be bothered any more," is the way th screen comedienne puts it.

VERY FEW GIRLS can do a Schumann-Heink: stay married, ra SIX sons and carry on for some public. Anyway it is SO mu nicer to be able to leave the dishes untouched in the sink when y don't feel sudsy, or just snack on salami and rye bread while you listening to Charley McCarthy's six o'clock broadcast, or to be a to turn on your light at 1 ayem and read without a quarrel or, ma be you like those Sunday tramps through the hills among the w sage and the iris and the yucca and an explanation of this yen spousie would only draw the query: "Who're you meetin'?"

swing slanguage is now explained; go it 'cats

Here are some expressions that the listener.

the good dancer must have at fingertips if he will be at perfect ease.

The "plumbing" or "the piston" is the trumpet. And so the plumber is the trumpet player. The "grunt iron" is the tuba. "Screwballing" is playing in free, licentious manner of swing.

We hear lot about "cats" now. But, in musica parlance, "cats", "brassers," "jive artists," "silver suckers", "spooks," "jigs", "pops", are all musicians of the band.

Many New Terms

An "alligator" is a nonplaying devotee, a listener. A "jam session" is an informal meeting of musicians, playing for their own mad pleasure without listeners. The bass viol is known as the doghouse. 'Mugging light' means playing softly and with certain nonchalance. "Breaking" is dropping the rhythm for several beats. "Ganging" is playing a medley of tunes.

If you want to poke a little fun at a musician who plays from the score, call him a "paperman, long-haired boy, salonman". A sweet band is called a "long underwear band". To play in easy going rhythm is to "ride". When an orchestra wants "to barrelhouse", he wants to play, each

When the matter of early po war jazz comes up, you m speak of it in terms of "corne 'umcha", "icky", "on the cob" "strictly union," "Kicking out" improvising enthusiastical When a man is really playi and seems to enjoy it he is the groove", "reeling his stuf "going to town", "out of t world" or "getting off on it". "killer-diller" is the last word swing. A "gob stick", an "ago pipe" "a licorice stick" are terms for the clarinet. When musician is practicing in p vate on a new melody he 'woodshedding".

INGRAM LEADS

The glamorous role of "Chr tophe" is portrayed by Rex In ram, renowned as De Lawd in t screen version of "Green Pa ures".

The other principal characte in "Haiti" are Bernard Pa Louis Sharp, Elena Karem, Ca erine Lawrence, Alvin Childre William Sharon, David Friedl and Emile Hirsch.

orchestras and musicians

By Freddy Doyle

Flash: A very important meeting was called Monday afternoon at headquarters of Local 767 of the American Federation of Musicians. The meeting was officialy opened by the president, Edward Kelley at promptly 2 p. m. and many very important matters which pertain to the welfare of all local musicians were considered. All "Cats" who weren't present better try and be at the next meeting or a fine of one dollar buck (dollars) will be subjected from your hard earnings. According to the recent law passed by the members present.

Willis (guitar) Jyles and his "one" swing band is still swinging some great "jive" in the "more" these Nights out in spots at the Manhattan Club and is making a reputation among the patrons of this very popular Night Spot. Willis is also versatile on the Steel guitar. His "cats" have been swinging at the Manhattan for the past several months and this column is wishing them the best of success in the future. Lineup, Bob (trumpet) Elliot, Lucius (drums) Shepherd, and that versatile arranger, composer, and pianist, Nat Jones.

Flash: I had the opportunity Monday night to drop in the Apex Club, thanks to the courtesy of managers, Woodman and White, both former "Cats" having played with most of the outstanding bands in this vicinity before going into this business. These two musician brothers have been operating this very classy night spot since the first of the year, and there is no doubt that this night spot is becoming the most popular place of its kind on the Eastside.

The music is swung here by that outstanding young band the Woodman brothers' orchestra, Jons of Mr. Woodman (trombone) is band being one of the most popular in So. California. These young "Cats" are a "solid killer" to the art of swing music, and really enthused me to see such young "Cats" in their "teens" becoming such versatile musicians. I am wishing brother Woodman and White (drums) the best of success at this spot and I you cats give them your hearty support.

Nat (piano) Walker is the new chocolate flowing over the ivories" with Happy (trombone) Johnson's band which is now featured at Mosby's Big Apple Cafe on the Avenue. This "Cat" has really improved his individual style of swinging the ivories in the past year and with improvements Nat, in the future, will be among the "top" pianists of the country, not forgetting his capable abilities in the art of arranging. I wish to congratiflate Happy on such a fine selection.

Flash: I wish personally to congratulate Paul (secretary) Howard, Florence Cadrez, Elmer Cain, Elizabeth (piano) Hall and President Ed. Bailey, also all others responsible for the fine Local Journal published this month at headquarters. Without any doubt this Monthly Journal is one of the finest organization publications of it's kind in the country and that is the reason that the members who are done swinging behind this publication deserves much praise.

Flash: Les Hite and his band for the past two weeks have renewed their contract with Frank Sebastian and are back in the "groove" swinging for their many friends at the Cotton Club in Culver City. It seems very strange to me why Sebastian doesn't keep Les and his band here for a while rather than keep changing to big time Eastern bands and not being able to hold them or some of the local ofay bands most of the patrons who frequent this spot are driven away, then fall back on Les Hite and his band to build up his Cafe business again. Frank Sebastian. It's about time you get wise to yourself and quit trying to make a fool out of Les Hite and his band.

red cap tips make fame

The duties of a red cap in a railroad station may sound irksome to most people but it was the nickels and dimes collected in tips that helped carry Clyde Barrie to the top as one of the greatest baritone discoveries of the networks.

"Ambition must be followed with hard work and sacrifice," declared Barrie, "and I am grateful for the job that made it financially possible for me to study singing while lugging suitcases in and out of a Buffalo station."

BUCK JONES BEGINS PONY EXPRESS SAGA

A colorful, historic, western drama of the founding of the Pony Express, Columbia's "Trail Blazer" entered production this week with Buck Jones, beloved western star, in the leading role.

LUCKY 13

Columbia Pictures, which swept the field in Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences merit awards in 1934 with "It Happened One Night" and "One Night of Love," has just received thirteen nominations for Academy awards in 1937.

LIONEL BARRYMORE WINS ROLE IN COMEDY

Hollywood's choicest comedy role of the year, ardently sought by half-a-score stores, went to Lionel Barymore this week with the announcement Columbia Studios had signed him for the coveted role of Grandpa Martin Vanderhof in "You Can't Take It With You," Frank Capra's next production.

HYPNOTIZE REPTILE

Animal trainers resorted to hypnotism to put a crocodile to sleep for the filming of a scene in Paramount's 'Her Jungle Love' in which the reptile was supposed to be dead. Two men turned the brute over on his back, stroked his stomach with their fingertips and he slept 15 minutes.

good will is object of new pic campaign

World-wide good will for Hollywood is the objective of a movement launched today under the title, "Paramount on Parade Around the World", by Paramount Pictures, Inc.

Plans for the concerted drive were revealed by Adolph Zukor to nearly 100 representatives of the foreign press who assembled at the studio.

Zukor said that the campaign would last for 13 weeks from February 27 until May 28, and announced player-captains would sponsor the exploitation in practically every country in the world.

The player captains are:

Fred MacMurray and Ray Milland for Great Britain and Ireland; Claudette Colbert for France; Isa Miranda for Italy; Franciska Gaal and Olympe Bradna for central Europe; Tito Guizar for Central America; Dorothy Lamour for the continent of Asia; W. C. Fields for Australia, Harold Lloyd for the four Scandinavian countries, and Gladys Swarthout and Georges Riguad for South America.

During the campaign Paramount products will be exploited through a special reel of greetings to all countries, with Fred MacMurray as master of ceremonies and the other player-captains taking the bows. Official picture will be "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife", with Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper, a comedy having a European background.

Other pictures will receive attention during this time, including "Stolen Heaven", with a Viennese background, starring Olympe Bradna and Gene Raymond; "Romance in the Dark", laid in Budapest, with Gladys Swarthout, John Boles and John Barrymore; "Tropic Holiday," with a Latin-American locale, and "Professor, Beware!" the latest Harold Lloyd comedy.

SIR ERNST!

Ernst Lubitsch, the director of Paramount's "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" and scores of other films, has been notified that the French Government has conferred upon him the rank of Knight in the Legion of Honor, a distinction awarded for outstanding contributions to the field of art.

RAFT ONCE BOXER

In his late 'teens George Raft was a prize fighter, but gave that up for a fielder's berth on the Springfield, Mass., baseball team, then tried dancing. Now starring with Sylvia Sidney in Paramount's "You and Me", he had no acting experience when picked for his first film role.

AFRAID OF GUNS

J. Carrol Naish, famed for his villain portrayals, currently featured in Paramount's "Tip-Off Girl", is afraid of firearms and has never owned a gun of any description.

HOLLYWOOD POLICE

Hollywood's own police force, 200 strong, recently completed an important part in Bing Crosby's new "Doctor Rhythm" produced by Emanuel Cohen. While they're not officers, strictly speaking, the members of the force are familiar with police customs in all principal cities and frequently are retained as a body through Central Casting Corporation for pictures.

PROFESSOR RAYE

Martha Raye, Paramount's screen hoyden, becomes a professor of practical romance in "College Swing".

SHE'LL REMAIN NOW

Louise Campbell from the New York stage, who came to Hollywood to appear in one Paramount picture and remained to portray leading roles in four others, has been signed to a long-term contract at that studio. She last appeared in Cecil Be De Mille's "The Buccaneer".

etta moten to be heard on new radio program

Having completed a highly successful concert that took her to nearly every Negro college, and most of the largest churches in the country, Etta Moten, pictured above, distinguished singer, will be featured on a coast-to-coast broadcast over the red and blue network of N. B. C. on the Quaker Oats "Cabin at the Crossroads" program. Angelenos may catch the program at 8 a. m. after the 28th of this month, it was announced.

LOS ANGELES

By John Lovell jr.

(To Fay Jackson)

EVERYBODY remembers that old story of the first time St. Augustine, a respectable Roman gent, saw some Englishmen. "Who are they," he asked. "Angles," he was told. "Not Angles, but Angels" — his pun escaped him before he could catch it. Angelenos want you to believe they are all angels, too with none of the angles of mortals or devils. But alas, they tire so often of spotless virtue and immortal ways. They curse aloud when Eastern newspapers spread abroad the stories of their hurricanes and the pictures of their fallen, deadly, 80-foot eucalyptuses. They cannot smother the pesky vice and graft-mongers who come out periodically like boils.

They show pride in their robust past, when they know about it. They had, they say, rather be a city which outlaws used to call their own, where — in the eighties — no one used any paint but blood — than to be a lumbering, squint-eyed town with a paunch and fallen arches like — oh, Philadelphia! Besides, they say, they are the 20th century "angel", with morals up to government standard, but with charm, wit, grace, rich tones, souls the color of cathedral windows, and a bright wisdom that enters fearlessly the arenas of politics, sociology, literature, and even birth control.

If Montgomery Ward tears herself up by the roots in San Francisco to replant herself in Los Angeles, it is not because SF is a union town and LA not; it is the angelic note MW is looking for. They will have it that they are angels, the right kind of angels, and not "Lost Angels" either.

THEIR SWEETEST note is the weather. They are smarter than Miami: they know that "eternal sunshine" is as monotonous as eternal anything else. And so, they send you picture postcards of the snow in the mountains and the orange trees in the valley, yet the valley belonging to these same mountains. They stage an earthquake or a moving mountain stunt because it gives them new superlatives and new occasions in which to use them — no matter that they were all hiding when the stunt was going on. They gather up, in their conversations, each milimeter of sunshine and blue sky, and I have heard people from Chicago say that perhaps this proves that they are not used to such phenomena of the weather after all. But they do have sunshine and blue sky and rich green grass and chryselephan-flowers in abundance, and of the highest quality. For that matter they might call their EAGLE the "Gazette of the Garden of Eden". These people from Chicago, though, wonder what would happen if our forthcoming Nazi dictator — and Nazis are known in Los Angeles — should prohibit conversations about the weather, either scientific or with intent to brag. They fear that Angelenos would lose the power of speech and would be silent, halting Adams and Eves in the midst of all their splendor. But a pest upon jealous Chicagoans! Do they not know that man has always grown in the image of his weather. They ought to — are they not curious packages of 90-degree summers and subzero winters? Have they never heard of the passion flowers, vegetable and animal, male and female, growing only because the warm sun and rain and stars called them into being? Perhaps not. Perhaps their weather has made them skeptics, too. But it needs only half an eye to see the balmy character of these Angelenos. Folk from Texas lose their intensities after a twelvemonth; folk from Minnesota grow perceptibly mild. Where else can you find transformations into grand and pleasing varieties of human yucca and arrowhead?

WEATHER IS A song, but the magic of being in the West is a whole symphony. Truly in this West perpetually is there "Blue sky and white cloud and warm rain and sun."

We Easterners on our rare beautiful dusks turn our eyes this way and worship the colors and shapes in the sunset. Would we could fold that horizon in our arms, we say. We can, we can. Has not Los Angeles the character of a perpetual sunset, even in its instabilities? Do not the customs of the people apotheosize the glory of the West? Imagine a weiner roast at Val Verde or on the beach at Santa Monica. Imagine a girl who says: "Don't kiss me. Kissing doesn't prove anything." You get the ceaseless motions of sunrise — ambition stirring like the motes in a shaft of sun — in New York and Washington. But nowhere but in Los Angeles is there that supreme, soft and final congeries of glamorous thoughts and the deeds hidden behind them.

THAT ISN'T all. Easterners believe in some inexplicable triangle of body, mind and soul. Nobody has ever been able to make it balance or even to reduce it to concrete living. Los Angeles people believe in the body. If you can star in track, or football, or swimming, you KNOW you are fit. You do not need a lecture or a sermon to tell you so. But what does it all mean? When will there be a real competition between the Isuh, pillary legs and thighs you see on the playgrounds of Los Angeles and the trim, slender ones visible all over the South and East? A competition that covers everything. When will these full faces get a chance to show that they are as self-sufficient as they look?

PEOPLE WHO see only the skin of things are always trying to compare Central Avenue with Seventh or Lenox in New York, South or Christian in Philadelphia, U in Washington, State or 35th in Chicago, Auburn or Decatur in Atlanta. Central Avenue has no unit of measurement anywhere in the world — a bold statement for a bold fact! I once saw an Angelenan crossing Central, a feat (to an Easterner) to compare with going over Niagara Falls in an unreinforced barrel. He did not even tremble, out there on the brink of eternity. A third across, he found himself completely swarmed over by racing cars. Two especially had put him in a pocket, and he needed only the last rites of the church to give his life a proper close. So I thought. He apparently considered the crossing a normal voyage. Recognizing the pocket he was in, he stopped. Then he leaned himself into a tower of Pisa while one car seemed to ride slantwise over his back and the other to slip slantwise under his ribs, both in a flash! Central Avenue, I hail your thousands of everyday heroes as stout men. Keep them at home, for the slow-witted world outside cannot fathom their magnificence Central Avenue, you are a great serpent's wisdom and a great dove's smooth and steady flight.

SO, truly is this town correctly named. Nothing but angel-ingenuity and angel-prudence could have made a glorious city from a hunk of hills and valleys in an utterly forgotten sector of ancient Mexico. New York is New York because of the greatest harbor in the world. Does Los Angeles have or need a harbor? It does not. It is nearly 50 miles from the sea. Chicago is Chicago because it lies near the nation's geographical heart, and far from the mechanical Los Angeles has nearly equalled Chicago's population and wealth, though near the center of nothing and far from the maddening crowd of everywhere. London is a capital; Los Angeles must fight the envious Northern Californians for everything.

Truly this is a city by divine intervention since no science or art can explain it. Truly its inhabitants are, of a right ought to be angels. They have shattered the sorry scheme of East and South, and of Northern California; they have erected instead a beatitudinous splendor.

frances everett becomes bride of rex ingram, 'de lawd' of 'green pastures'

Rex Ingram, 'de Lawd' in the screen version of Marc Connelly's "The Green Pastures," has been the husband of Frances Everett, petite musical star, for two months.

Miss Everett will be rembered by theatre-goers as a member of the "Black Cat Quartet," which specialized in songs and comedy dancing. After leaving this act she became a member of "Hummin' Sam", a musical comedy presented at the New Yorker Theatre on Broadway.

Her last stage engagement prior to becoming Mrs. Rex Ingram was in the WPA Federal Theatre Project's "Swing It", which ran at the Adelphi Theatre on Broadway for six weeks and later moved to the Lafayette Theatre in Harlem.

Miss Everett was born in Durham, N. C. in 1915, but was educated in New York City, graduating from Wadleigh High School at the age of 17. Rex Ingram is a native of Cairo, Illinois.

marian anderson charms southern californians

Three concert appearances of Marian Anderson, acclaimed the greatest contralto on the stage today, broke all records when standing room was at a premium in Philharmonic, Westwood (for the University of California at Los Angeles) and in Pasadena's Beautiful Civic Auditorium.

Miss Anderson's concerts were under management of L. E. Behymer and Elmer Wilson, emresarios.

Perhaps the most brilliant, from the audience standpoint, of the singer's appearances in the Southland, was her Pasadena concert which drew the famed social colony of the wealthy patrons of the arts from that city.

Lavish in praise of the artistry of Marian Anderson, press critics drew no little notice to her commanding personality and general intelligence as well.

Wrote the Pasadena Star News: "From the first long, swelling, magnificant note of her opening song, "Begrussung" (Handel), Miss Anderson compelled wrapt attention from her audience. Her program included Schubert, Lieder compositions by Verdi, Bizet and Scarlatti, sprinkling of modern songs and lastly a group of spirituals in which she proved herself again the fine artist that leading critics have acclaimed the world-around.

"The singer surprised those who had not heard her before with the individuality and freshness of her interpretations. Those who expected to find the Schubert "Ave Maria", a bit trite found in it new meanings. Her transition in "Death and the Maiden" from the girl's wild fear of death to death's own serene, other-worldly voice brought the greatest ovation of any number on her program.

"Other artists in the Civic auditorium have sung Liza Lehmann's "Cuckoo", but when Marian Anderson gave it as an encore, she put into its dialogue a sly humor that was an innovation and brought spontaneous laughter from the audience. When she sang Sadero's "Amuri, Amuri", she was for the moment the tired laborer singing as he drove home, now and again catching himself up on the verge of sleep. Its realism charmed every listener and the singer ended it dreamily with a laconic "cluck-cluck" at the all-but-real horse."

Kosti Vehanen, a Finn, is accompanist for Miss Anderson and shares a deal of the credit for her success; and is much appreciated for his excellent accompaniments.

Miss Anderson took her applause modestly, standing near the wings and insistent applause brought her back again even after the lighte started up and encouraged another encore or two.

A SAD TRAGEDY

All regret deeply the act of George Farley, 54-year-old race man who shot and killed two deputy marshals who had come to evict him from the shelter he purchased from 14 years of hard toil at meagre wages.

Said by neighbors to have been a hard-working ,honest, peaceful citizen, something snapped in his brain when the men, through no choice of their own, came to carry out the mandates of the law, in accordance to their oath of office. Doubtless had the matter been up to the deputies, George Farley could have remained unmolested until he obtained a job to earn the paltry $36 owed on a property assessment, but instead the matter fell into the hands of those highbinding cut-throats who hang around tax offices with money to buy in delinquent property assssments and rob people of a life-time saving.

Three lives have been offered up as a result of this cussed system. Two men were buried Monday, and if this 54-year-old Farley survives the teargas and soft nose slugs pumped into his body by police guns, he will in all probability pay for his act in the lethal gas chamber. But the highbinders, the system that permits these things, will still be doing business at the same old stand.

No one will ever know the rumblings in the head of Farley that undermined his reason.

First of all, a victim of color prejudice which doomed him to the lowest wage scale; the last to be hired and the first fired!

Second, he had tramped the streets and highways searching for a job from which his 54 years and color barred him. In the rounds he saw railroad, street-car, telephone, gas and other service corporations working full crews of aliens who do not even make an effort to learn the language of the country that furnishes them food, clothing, medicine and free schools for their offsprings. Then, too, he may have a son who gave his life's blood to make the "world safe for democracy".

He had just learned from the news dispatches that the U. S. Senate had just put an O. K. on the trial of members of his group charged with rape by a lynch mob.

To top it all off, his castle — though but a shack — was to be forcibly taken through a system of highway robbery sanctioned by society. All of these things, rumbling thru his troubled head exploded and when calm was restored George Farley lingers at death's door riddled with bullets and two fine men who bore him no evil rest in the grave and three widows, now past middle life, will have to battle against this rotten system alone and unaided.

Let's throw the mantle of charity around George Farley and place the blame at the door of a hellish system that we condone without an effort to stamp it out.

CHARACTER

Undoubtedly the greatest heritage that Washington gave his country was his character and his constant refusal to be beaten in the face of overwhelming odds. It would have been easy for a mediocre man to give up the fight and abandon the country to a tyrannical king. Only one-third of the nation believed in the struggle, and only poorly equipped soldiers followed Washington. Yet he endured with his wretched men the agonies of winter and of despair and carried through, year after year, the struggle for freedom . . .

. . . In these times, when grave problems confound the nation and there is a tendency to feel that a solution is impossible to find, the patience and courage of Washington are needed . . . — From the Hollywood Citizen.

A CURB FOR LYNCHING

Mexico has just given enlightened, Christianized America (the only mob-ruled country on earth) a lesson in putting an end to self-appointed law-enforcing agencies to administer justice with rope and faggot.

A great many Mexicans spend considerable time on this side of the border and acquire many of the white man's customs, hence the lynching spirit was among the Christian virtues carried back home.

A few days ago a young Mexican soldier was charged with ravishing and murdering an eight-year-old girl.

A mob formed in true Bilbo style and stormed the jail. They were ordered to halt and disperse, to which command they heeded not. The next demand came from a heavy volley of leaden slugs. The mob broke away like stampeded cattle leaving several dead and a number injured from being trampled underfoot in the wild scramble for safety.

The accused was given a fair trial before the proper court, confessed the act and paid with his life.

An anti-lynch law in this country would not be needed if the example set at Tiajuana could be followed by the United States, but where the hell comes in the Bilbos, Borahs, Alreds, Heflins, et al, who are supposed to do the shooting, are the birds that light the faggots or pull the rope.

MILLIONS MOURN PASSING OF McINTYRE

Oscar O. McIntyre, most widely read newspaper man in the world and who earned 35c every time he knocked out a word on his typewriter, died in his New York apartments February 14.

In ill health for many weeks, the last "New York Day by Day" was done in bed.

The news of the death of Mr. McIntyre brought a shade of sadness over the 7,000,000 readers of the 580 newspapers that subscribed to "New York Day by Day".

Born in a Missouri village and reared in Gallipolis, Ohio, he journeyed to New York where he gained fame and fortune and numbered his friends by the millions. All races, creeds, colors and religions were among his admirers whom he treated without the slightest hint of prejudice. McIntyre gave pauper and prince the same fair and impartial consideration.

Particularly fond of Bill Robinson, the noted tap dancer was often a highlighter in "New York Day by Day".

It will be many years before the Fourth Estate will be honored with another McIntyre. He may be just entering kindergarten. He may be a Negro, Chinese, Jew, Mexican or Slav. Who knows?

Peace be to the ashes of O. O. McIntyre!

COLORED PEOPLE FORTUNATE IN UTILITIES RATES

Upon taking notes on the apparent war on utilities rates now being waged by citizens of Huntington Park, one thing is evident, "For once, the colored people are getting a break". It appears, Huntington Park pays a higher electrical rate than Vernon, Los Angeles, and adjacent territories, according to their newspaper reports.

The most significant thing to us is; most of us live in and about Los Angeles which is fortunate in experiencing a low rate and as is pointed out, Watts, the southern extremity of our people has a lower rate than Huntington Park. For this we are extremely thankful.

IT LOOKS DIFFERENT FROM THE OTHER SIDE OF THE FENCE

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

NATIONAL DEFENSE WEEK

National Defense Week, the period between February 12 and February 22, found the United States girding itself with the vestments of war, welding an invincible armor to shield the nation on land, air, and sea. The small but militant hornet's nest of opposition which the $800 million naval expansion program has set buzzing in Congress testifies to a definite uneasiness in some quarters over this prodigious armaments drive. There exists the suspicion this vast program may have been stimulated by secret commitments with Great Britain that this nation would ally its forces with hers in time of crisis. However ill-founded these fears, the United States seems thoroughly committed to a world rearmament contest where victory goes to him who wields the mightiest fist. Let us observe well the significance of National Defense Week. It is America's pledge to the world of non-aggression. May that pledge never be broken!

CRACKING THE WHIP

If Germany's industrial chieftains know their Shakespeare as they know their Schiller, they are groaning helplessly today over man's ingratitude to man. Out of their purses rolled the rich stream of mark-notes which lifted an Austrian rabble-rouser out of the beer halls and placed Germany's destiny in his hands just five years ago. Today Hitler has just completed a drastic house-cleaning and consolidated his power more thoroughly than ever. He has appointed Propaganda Chief Walter Funk as economic dictator with full power to crack a ruthless whip upon the backs of industrialists who are unwilling to submit their business to the control of Herrs Funk, Goering and Hitler. Business and industry are to be securely pinned in a strait-jacket of regimentation to speed Germany's program of self-sufficiency, and hasten the mobilization of all peace resources in preparation for war — even though necks must be bent, or severed, in the process.

FICKLE MOON

For the first time since 1859, the Moon refuses to put on her complete show for us. Result? There won't be any new moon during February. Astronomers, of course, are not surprised. The Moon has always been a merry cut-up among the heavenly bodies. She is often late for appointments, can never be counted upon — as you can count upon the Sun or other stars — to be at her appointed place in the celestial skypath. This silvery satellite takes her own good time, and goes wobbling contentedly along her orbit, caring nothing if she misses dates with astronomers by a fraction of a second. And a fraction of a second to an astronomer is gross, unforgivable tardiness. This month the moon will completely refuse to show her slim, new face, not only to us in the United States but to the rest of the world as well. However, this probably won't happen again for another 79 years, so let's bear up!

SUITS SANS SHEEN

An East Orange, N. J., inventor now offers mankind — or at least the male portion of it — a precious boon. His contribution takes the form of a machine and a liquid solution. Used together they will, it is asserted, effectively de-shine trousers of any sheen on the seat and restore them to their original lustreless, but rugged, appearance.

The Growing Negro Vote

The growing importance of the Negro vote has been stressed a great deal lately in the U. S. Senate and in the daily press.

It is said that this Negro vote is a factor in the elections in seventeen States.

Certainly it is obvious that politicians are paying more attention to the Negro vote than ever before because it has become with the years a more intelligent vote.

It is probably the most intelligently skeptical vote in the country, because constant contact with harsh reality has made the average Negro more realistic than the average white person.

The Negro vote today is not really wedded to any party, but is ready to swing in any direction that promises good results.

From close contact with and observation of white people of prominence and influence, Negroes have come to understand the real nature of politics, and they are now playing the game like veterans.

It is significant that despite the political changes that have taken place in the past 10 years, there are always some Negroes holding office or benefiting from the current city, State and Federal Administration.

At the same time, with a few unfortun exceptions, these Negro politicians can be d ended upon to "go to the bat" whenever so racial issue is involved.

This was true in the Parker case and in the anti-lynching fights. Very frequently Ne politicians on opposite sides of the fence will together in the interests of the group.

Beginning this November, it will become duty of Negro voters to crack down on Senat whose actions and votes buried the Wagner-V Nuys Federal anti-lynching bill.

In order to bring full power to bear, eve Negro of voting age will have to be enrolled, a the time to start the preliminary work is now.

There are many cities and town in the Sou where Negroes can vote, do vote and where m could vote if they would make an effort.

To the extent that local Negro leadership g out that vote, to that extent will the power a importance of the group increase.

And with the growing government cont over business and the means of making a livi it is become more and more important that t workers have political power.

Every month's delay represents a loss about $3,000,000 to the group.

The Eagle's Feathers

AGAIN, THE NEGRO HOUR

Dear Editor:

I am writing a letter concerning the much discussed Negro hour. This letter may be too long for publication, but I hope not, because it is written by one who knows the radio business, so here 'tis.

To intelligently discuss any subject one should know something about that subject, so first may I introduce myself. I am known in big time radio from coast to coast, having appeared many times on the major chains and Television programs. From the mechanical side I am a government licensed Radio Operator and I am still studying the technical side. Now to the subject under discussion, The Negro Hour. In its present state and I am judging by the program I heard this past Thursday. It is terrible. Now of course you may not like that word, but that is the only word that will describe it shortly. Now, mind you I did not say the people, I said the program. Remember the M. G. M. Maxwell House program opened with the greatest stars in the world but it was sad. What was the answer? Poor construction. In our case we have an example of poor construction, plus poor judgement. So now with our heads together let's try a little constructive criticism. First the theme song. Do you actually believe that the hour that is to represent the true Negro should start with a tune that at once brings to mind the back room of some low saloon or "Tea pad" if you know what I mean? Of course you don't. So why not take those splendid voices and find a brilliant work of some of our great Negro composers. There are many. Or you might even pick a suitable stanza from the pen of our poets (Dunbar and others) set it to music. Brilliant forceful music, and thus have a theme song that tells the world, "Here comes an upright, fearless, man," and not a low shuffling creature born of the rhythmn of the gutter.

Now don't think that I mean that the program should go highbrow. It should not. But, it should stay above a certain level. In other words a blues singer should be introduced as an artist. If only for the simple reason that she (or he) is.

Now to the announcers; first they talk too loud. To start the show off, it is permissible, after that, NO. They must remember that they are gentlemen addressing ladies and gentlemen and if for no other reason than that, a gentlemen never raises his voice.

Next, they talk too fast. This is bad for their own personality. It's tough on the listener, and worst of all, it does not give the sponsor a real break. And don't forget that it is the sponsor who keeps the program on the air (or is it?) Why not sit down with the list of sponsors and a stop watch and read the whole thing slowly, or at least distinctly, and time it. Then time the rest of the program accordingly. And by the way, the call "Take it away, Joe" or somebody, is used by announcers when one is away from the other. Such as at some remote point outside of the studio. If both are in the same studio, one simply finishes. The other steps in and probably says "Thank you Mr. Jones (or whatever the name is) and proceeds with the program. So while we are at it, we might as well be professional.

Build up every artist. Last week everyone in the first part of the program was built DOWN. And put back the applause. This show needs it.

And now, sketches. By all means have them. BUT—Don't take old things that have been used on other stations. One reason for this is that maybe the thing was copyrighted and you, your sponsors, and the station finds themselves in what can be serious trouble. Why not do this; ask or advertise for scripts written by amateur writers. Not jokes, but little four or five minute scripts about Negro home life. You can give small prizes. At the same time you would be encouraging our youngsters and giving them an opportunity to hear the enactment of their work. I hope you can see the great possibilities of this.

The news items were GREAT but they should be read that way. They were the record of achievement of the Negro. They were something to be proud of.

The scandal items were silly. This sort of thing never means anything unless you can call names, and that you don't dare do. And even if you could, do you really think that this is uplifting. Those few minutes could have well been given to the sponsors or more news items.

So may I say that you have a great idea, a fine bunch of people, and a healthy bunch of sponsors. Now buckle down and put some real perspiration behind the program, because in your hands fate has placed the greatest instrument for the spreading of propaganda that the world has ever known. Why not use it to advantage. And now in closing USE THE NEGRO NEWSPAPERS to tell the people that you have a program. I hope that this criticism has been constructive, and that it is accepted in good faith. If so then good luck to you. If not, well, Fum-a-diddles.

. . . AND ON INTO THE NIGHT

Dear Editor:

I personally feel it is every fair minded and intelligent Negro's duty to voice his feelings of disgust and protest being a party to such representation of our race as given over Station KEHE through our M. C.

Have not our people striven for years, not only this, our schools, churches and other social contacts to overcome what our M. C. portrays in his fumbling of words and his pronunciations.

One cannot help feeling chagrined.

Sincerely hoping the sponsors of the Negro Hour use their best resources and bring out the best.

I am sincerely,

INTELLECTUAL ECONOMICS

Dear Editor:

We have some friends here from Mississippi who have the means to go into business on a large scale. They asked me what I think of business prospects here.

I told them that we have an impatient class of young intellectuals who are anxious to get ahead, are advocating a program that eventually will destroy our position in business. Of course I will be classed an Uncle Tom type for my viewpoint. A few months ago I contacted a Jew who lives in Boyle Heights, but does a prosperous business on Central avenue.

He told me flatly, without biting his tongue, that we Negroes give away our business to the Jews.

Don't these intellectuals realize that 85 percent of the people here in Central avenue have in the last five or six years at one time or another, taken the pauper's oath. This program they have is making more paupers.

Because this Jew is employing Negroes for a front, we are losing control. And it is the control that counts. If we as a race controlled more business, it would not be necessary to advocate "don't spend your money where you can't work." Furthermore the industrial interests that we are so close to would give more employment because they would easily see that we are trying to be self-sustaining.

We might as well talk or write in simple language and stop using high phraseology, trying not to hurt other people's feelings. And at the same time blinding the man in the street, because it is the man in the street who is doing the grumbling.

That double murder is one of the many harmful things we have to suffer because of this high pressure agitation and propaganda.

Thanks,
A SUBSCRIBER

WOMEN ARE marching right along with time.

"I am young and strong and prepared to serve!' is the sentiment expressed by Mrs. Borghild L. Stephens of Laguna Beach, as she seeks the position of desk sergeant of the local police force in that beach town.

In my opinion, the wheels of government will move smoother when women get more power. "Ma" Ferguson, ex-governor of Texas; Mrs. Frances Perkins, and numerous other local and national women officials have demonstrated that women are capable of being something more than carnival queens, fashion plates upon which men display their creative genius in wearing-apparel, and play-toys for the superior beings.

AT THE G.O.P. meet in Chicago Monday and Tuesday of this week, the National Program Committee created last November made up the delegation.

Among those listed to speak at the dinner climaxing the session will be Mrs. Sara Pelham Speaks, New York Negro attorney.

I UNDERSTAND that while in California a few weeks ago John D. M. Hamliton, National Republican chairman, appointed the Hon. Frederick M. Roberts a member of the committee.

Mr. Hamilton and the other Republicans, both local and national, had just as well realize now as later that the California Negroes can MAKE as well as TAKE prgorams. The old method of picking leaders is out of date. If the Republicans expect help from Negroes in staging a comeback, they had better start shooting straight.

ON THE first page of the second section of this newspaper you will find a story of the "Scientist Who Asked God". The scientist is George Washington Carver. Berwin Kaiser, author of the sketch, says that Dr. Carver is the greatest scientist of the Negro race. I disagree with Berwin Kaiser in this statement. George Washington Carver has made the greatest and most unselfish contribution to scientific research of any scientist in modern history.

I would compare the achievements of Carver with those of scientist Einstein or Thomas Edison. Edison, though poor, was born free and received his education under the wholesome American influence of the middle class; Einstein was trained in the best German institutions. George Washington Carver was born a slave of slave parents whom he never knew. He had but scant opportunity for learning. His only education he got by listening to nature's whisperings in the fields and woods as he wandered along life's highway in communication with, as he himself says, God (good).

Both Einstein and Edison amassed fortunes. George Washington Carver invested instead in the human family. Neither the desire for power nor fame has attracted the humble Negro scientist who is found daily in his laboratory at Tuskegee, still making his contribution for the relief of human need in that corner of the United States where his services are most needed.

AFTERTHOUGHT: In these controversial times, we get many communications, touching on many subjects, sometimes favorable to our thought and sometimes not.

Your criticisms are always welcome, whether favorable or unfavorable, but I must reiterate an editorial policy, that such missives must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer for consideration, publication or otherwise.

As is stated elsewhere in the paper, the name or address need not be published, if so requested, but for our protection, it must be included in any type of communication.

MY FRIENDS, just because we are not out with our horns in our mouths, tooting away about our achievements and the service we have rendered our group, does not mean that we are asleep to what is going on; nor has our interest in our people and community waned one iota.

For three months a fractured limb has cramped our style, and just when we thought we were ready to go, one of those X-rays that sees and knows all, brought around that big "Injun-looking" Dr. Wilbur C. Gordon, who, when he says "No", says it with a sort of menacing smile that makes you know that he means it — and he said "No" this time, so it looks as if I am doomed to another month or two of "taking it easy", either on crutches or on a walking cane.

CITIZENS SAY FOUNDRY WOULD BE A NUISANCE; PUBLISHER FAVORS IDEA

City Planning Commission Hears Arguments; Defers Action

A petition, bearing the signatures of 32 citizens, living in the residential section of East Vernon Ave., was presented at the office of the City Planning Commission last Tuesday morning, proposed establishment of a brass foundry in the 900 block of East Vernon.

DR. W. E. BAILEY

Simultaneously with the protests of the citizens, most of them Negroes, Leon Washington, publisher of an Eastside shopping news, the Los Angeles Sentinel, presented himself before the commission, speaking in behalf of the foundry interest, urging that the commission grant the proposed variance of zone that would permit the foundry to be moved in.

Led by Dr. W. E. Bailey, of 990 E. Vernon avenue, the citizens said in their protest that the property valuation of the section would be depreciated by the existence of the foundry, because of accompanying noise and smoke, and other nuisances such as congested traffic.

At present, the plant, the Rogers Brass Foundry, is located at 30th and Main. Dr. Bailey told an EAGLE reporter that residents in that section attested to the noise and smoke caused by its maintenance, and labeled it a nuisance.

James Anderson of 116½ East 30th street, and Mrs. Woods of 116 E. 30th street, Dr. Bailey said, told him that the blast furnace roared and caused din and confusion in the neighborhood.

Reason for Washington's favor to the erection of the foundry was not stated to the press. He recently moved the office of his publication, formerly at 941 East Vernon, to another street.

A hearing has been set before the Board of City Planning Commissioners for the last Tuesday in March at 2:30 p. m. in the hearing room of the commission, Rm. 360 of the City Hall.

Names contained on the protest petition follow:

C. Hinds, W. C. Colly, Clayborne H. Stoval, Daisy Liddell, O. S. King, Mary Crow, W. L. Gordon, A. N. Doris, F. Guteknust, F. Davis, L. H. Brown, J. W. Jingles, Rose Coomas, the Central Avenue AME church, Lillie B. Griffith, W. R. Daniels, H. M. Moore, W. Steele, Lural D. Hodge, W Clayton, W. E. Bailey.

'Wildcat' Cabbie Gets 180 Days; Deny Probation

Jesse Holmes, arrested Feb. 11, charged with operating a "wildcat" taxi, was sentenced to 180 days in the city jail Monday after Judge Oda Faulconer denied his application for probation.

However, the judge suspended 150 days of the sentence on the condition that Holmes refrain from engaging in the taxi business until such time as he obtains the proper permits from the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation.

The additional 30 days Holmes will be required to serve in jail will make a grand total of 47 days as he has been in custody since the date of arrest having failed to obtain release under the $1,000 bail set at that time.

N. Y. Assembly Gets Rights Bill

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 3.—(By ANP)—A new civil rights bill, one of a series drafted to carry out recommendations of a legislative committee which probed the conditions of urban New York Negroes, has been introduced in the state assembly by William T. Andrews, Harlem Democrat.

This new bill, which has strong teeth for its enforcement, would revoke or suspend permits of places of amusement, resorts, night clubs, restaurants, etc., if found guilty of discriminating against any person or persons in the matter of equal accommodations.

F-L-A-S-H!

As the EAGLE went to press late last night a giant pine, 100 years old and estimated 150 feet tall, uprooted by the storm was falling over into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mabry, 1414 W. 36th street.

City inspectors, on hand, stated that at the final descent, the tree would split the house in half.

The Mabry family, including three children, have been forced to seek refuge in the homes of friends.

Royal Loggins, address unstated, is owner of the house.

Aid Arrives Following Desperate Act

Help From President Comes After 2 Killed in Eviction Attempt

Help from the President of the United States, that might have averted the murder of two white eviction officers by George Farley, crazed home loser, arrived just six days too late, it was revealed this week by the murderer's family.

Farley, it was stated, had appealed to President Roosevelt on February 11. President Roosevelt wrote, referring him to the FHA, on February 23, six days after Farley had gone berserk and shot the officers.

At last reports Farley was recovering in the prison ward of the General hospital from bullet wounds inflicted by police, with whom he had held a desperate gun duel.

Date of the arraignment has not yet been set.

Picket 'Birth of Nation' Film in Washington

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3. (By ANP) — Nine colored pickets walked up and down in front of the Rialto theatre Wednesday night protesting the showing of the old D. W. Griffith picture, "The Birth of a Nation", presented here by the Film Society of Washington.

Signs carried by the pickets read, "We Suffer, They Laugh", "It Can Happen Here", and "This Is a Private Party — So Are Lynchings". Two of the signs had inscriptions of the National Negro congress and the District Workers alliance. All nine of the marchers were quiet and orderly.

One of the first objections was that it might jeopardize the anti-lynching bill, then under senatorial consideration.

The audience is understood to have received the picture, which deals with carpetbag days in the Reconstruction era, with hilarity instead of solemnity. Scenes showing the Ku Klux Klan were both applauded and hissed. There was much laughter at the pantomime acting of the 1915 film of the old silent days.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Will Lecture in L. A.

MRS. FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT
America's First Lady

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will make a lecture appearance in Los Angeles, Thursday evening, March 17, at Shrine auditorium, under the auspices of the Modern Forum.

The nation's first lady will speak on problems of youth today, and various subjects on which she has been quoted in recent months in the press.

The fee received by Mrs. Roosevelt for the lecture will be given to charity, as will fees for lectures made in other cities during her present speaking tour.

The event marks the first speaking appearance of Mrs. Roosevelt in Southern California. Arrangements are being made by civic and democratic groups to entertain Mrs. Roosevelt during her visit. She will be welcomed to the city by Mayor Frank L. Shaw, who has declared a special city-wide observance in honor of the First Lady.

Tickets for the lecture are on sale at the Southern California Music Co., 737 South Hill street, and at branch offices throughout Southern California.

Schoolboard Raises Appropriation

The Board of Education, upon the recommendation of three of its members who visited the 52nd and Hooper Avenue School, has supplemented the $1,200 appropriation for plastering, with funds for new floors, walls, inside lavatories and paint, it was learned in a telephone interveiw with E. Williams Winston, of the P. T. A. Tuesday evening. Mr. Williams has been representing the body in protesting the dangerous condition of the main building of the school.

He further announced that the goal of the association was to get 10,000 signatures on the petition for a new building despite the board's action with all repairs, the building would still be inadequate.

Mrs. Ethelda Drake, principal, concurs with the P-TA in the belief that the plumbing in the old building would be a waste of money and that moving two bungalows in the yard closer to the main building for lunchrooms will not be sufficient for 200 children.

Letters of protest to repairs and in favor of a new building have been sent to the Eastside Citizens headed by Norman O. Houston and the California Protective Association of which Mr. Reese is presdient.

JESSE BINGA, CHICAGO BANKER, IS RELEASED FROM JOLIET PRISON

Freed After Serving Three Years; Was Sentenced for Embezzlement

CHICAGO, Mar. 3 (ANP)—Heavy steel doors of Joliet prison swung open last Saturday morning, bringing freedom to Jesse Binga, pioneer Chicago banker, who had served nearly three years of a one-to-ten year sentence for embezzlement of $32,500 of the funds of Binga State bank, which closed on July 31, 1930.

The release of the aged banker, now 73 years old, marks finis to the famous case, but Binga must report to parole officers at intervals for the next three years.

A prominent Catholic, and in failing health since his incarceration, Binga's friends have waged a long fight for his release. Two years ago, Atty. Clarence Darrow, famed criminologist, and the Rev. Joseph F. Eckert, pastor of St. Anselm's Catholic church, appeared before the state parole board with a petition of 10,000 signatures, seeking his release.

BANK FOUNDED IN 1908

Because of his reputed wealth and social position, the Binga case attracted wide attention and marked the first time a colored Chicago banker had been called to face a charge of such proportions. He founded the bank in 1908 as a private institution, and opened for business as a state-chartered bank in 1921. During its peak years preceding the stock market crash of 1929, the corporation built the Binga building, 35th and State streets.

Following its admission to membership in the Chicago Clearing house, Binga State bank was credited with upwards of 200 stockholders, representing Chicago's outstanding business and professional people, and several thousand depositors having share.

EMBEZZLED STOCK

At his second trial in 1933, before Judge Fardy, Binga was charged with embezzling money intrusted to him by depositors for purchase of stock in a proposed national bank. The national bank was never formed, and the prosecution contended that the money was not accounted for when Binga State bank closed in 1930.

Defense attorneys at both trials contended that under the law, funds to be used for the purchase of national bank stock cannot be placed on deposit in a state bank. They said no evidence had been presented to show that Binga had embezzled the funds. The accused banker, who denied the charges at the first trial, accepted the guilty verdict at the second trial. He faced the court and heard without show of emotion the verdict that sent him to Joliet penitentiary.

Republican Leaders Lay Out Policies for 1940

CHICAGO, Mar. 3. (ANP)—Under the leadership of Chairman Dr. Glenn Frank, former president of the University of Wisconsin, the Republican Party's new Program Committee of 150, closed its two-day session here Tuesday at the Palmer House, the delegates having formulated a national policy and set up machinery for the preliminary campaign for the 1940 presidential election.

John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the national committee, spoke at the opening session, and at Tuesday's dinner-meeting a principal speaker was committee member Mrs. Sara Pelham Speaks, prominent colored political leader and lawyer of New York. Conspicuous by their absence were many of the Old Guard Republicans, only a few having been named on the committee of 150.

The group of leaders, meeting to consider "pertinent policies and issues of government," heard these three fundamental objectives enumerated by Committee Chairman Frank:

(1) "This commission must make an utterly honest and objective audit of the New Deal, beginning with March, 1933, and coming down to date.

(2) "We must rethink, restate and reinterpret to the nation the political and economic philosophy with which the Republican Party faces the new circumstances of this new age.

(3) "We must, as our contribution to the councils of Republicanism, create a comprehensive report of policy respecting the long array of stubborn problems confronting us as a people — labor, agriculture, business, social security, taxation, political and economic foreign policy, unemployment.

DuBois Denies He Caused Booker T. Controversy

ATLANTA, Mar. 3. (ANP)—His controversy with Booker T. Washington, which developed out of which of two roads Negro schools should follow, was not of his own making, declared Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, famed writer and scholar, as his 70th birthday was celebrated Wednesday by Atlanta university. He also spoke of his difference with the NAACP and gave his estimate of Marcus Garvey and his program.

"The controversy with Dr. Washington was not of my own making," said the noted leader. "I was, in my imagination, a scientist and neither a leader nor an agitator. I had nothing but the greatest admiration for Dr. Washington and Tuskegee, and I had applied in 1894 at both Tuskegee and Hampton for work."

He declared he was offered work at Tuskegee after accepting a job at Wilberforce, and speculated on what the course of his life might have been had he accepted the Alabama offer.

Speaking of the NAACP which he left a few years ago, Dr. DuBois declared that for 35 years as editor of the Crisis he had spoken frankly as he believed, and did not intend at this late date to have his honest opinions controlled by the advisory board, and asserted he could have stayed with the association "to the end of my working days or as long as it continued to exist."

Garvey, said DuBois, "still has a chance to carry on his work in his own home and among his own people and to accomplish some of his ideas," and is a sincere and hard working idealist but his methods here were "bombastic, wasteful, illogical and almost illegal."

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Every now and then we find in remote places, people who have something definite to offer the world. If it is of real value, it will find its way to the top. A young man I remember meeting some years ago here, who thought he was a playwright, has come to light again. The time I saw him last his work was rather crude and unprofessional. He tried a production but it went by the way of THE-ATRICAL FLOPS. He quietly folded his manuscript and remembered his trade taught him by his mother. Quietly he gave the finest service to several HOLLYWOOD'S great as a cook. Not a cook who favored his employer, BECAUSE HE WAS REALLY A DRAMATIST. But one who could get ten jobs tomrrow morning if he said he wanted tochange. He made an art and a success out of cooking. But between meals and at night he gave the same kind of service to his creative genius. Mr. Ray Buffen, an executive in one of the outstanding advertising firms, is his employer and he told me the other day with great enthusiasm that his cook, who tried to read his play to him for more than six months has just contracted with one of NEW YORK'S BIGGEST PRODUCERS to do his play on BROADWAY. Mr. Buffen never read or listened to him BUT SOMEBODY DID. It was the goods! He is still cooking, HEAD IS STILL WITH him and he merely asked Mr. Buffen if he could FLY TO NEW YORK TO SEE the opening. The gentleman's name is EUGENE HUFFMAN. And the play is called "HOODOO". Great cook, great dramatist, great character. Hollywood respects him; THE WORLD WILL SOON acclaim him. But he says he will continue to COOK and write plays. He loves both arts, and is happy with his GREAT CONTACTS. Eugene Huffman, I salute you! (Copyright, Clarence Muse - 1938.)

ON THE SIDEWALK

SOON, WE shall ask all of Los Angeles, but especially the pioneers of this city, to help celebrate our twenty-fifth anniversary as guide of The California Eagle's destiny.

During these years, we have not always walked on beds of roses; but perhaps that is because we have always wanted to be right, honorable and just in our deal with the public. We are not satisfied with our effort to help bring about better working and living conditions for our people and that is why we desire to keep plugging along. With your help and continued confidence, we will.

WHEN OLD friends on the other side of the Rockies, write us letters as this one that follows, we pass them on to you.

Like his talented brother, Paul Robeson, who lifted the standard of Negro drama to a higher plane by his ability and conduct in the profession at home and abroad, is the Rev. B. C. Robeson.

Once pastor of the AME Zion church of this city, the Rev. Robeson is now pastoring the Mother AME Zion church of New York City, which, as one of the largest religious institutions in the cosmopolitan city, is a potent factor in the social and civic development of greater New York.

The letter follows:

"Dear Mrs. Bass:

"I was reading the EAGLE the other day and was very glad to note, as I have for some time, that you are carrying on in such a fine way. The EAGLE continues to soar because of your ceaseless energy and your passion for social righteousness. I note the battles you have to fight from time to time. I am very glad to see that you are always ready to stand in the gap for the best interest of all. I need not tell you that God is on your side and that you are bound to win. My deep regards to the entire staff.

"Wishing for you continued success, I am

"Yours sincerely,

"B. C. ROBESON."

Women and Babies Picket Relief Station

CHICAGO, Ill.—Pushing their baby carriages, Negro women, mobilized by the Workers Alliance, paraded before Washington Park relief station, yesterday afternoon.

The parade called attention to the demands for adequate food, clothing, and shelter being pressed by the current "sitin" relief strikes. At the same time, the parade represented a protest against the arrest of 31 strikers at this station Wednesday.

Whites Seek Negroes' Aid Opposing Airport

RALEIGH N. C.—Prominent white Raleigh citizens opposing a plan to establish an Airport here are bidding for the aid of Negro voters in "killing" the measure at the forthcoming election. In a quarter-page ad appearing in a local Negro weekly, they sounded off: "Warning! Negro Voters! You are about to be taxed for an Airport you will not be allowed to use! Register now, if you expect to vote against "Taxation without Representation."

Thus Southern whites use the Jim Crow to swing elections, when it suits their purpose. The ad also carried a reprint from a recent issue of Business Week, explaining the cost of Airport operation.

Hero's Widow Loses $50 Monthly Pension

WASHINGTON—Nearly three years ago, Sterling Calhoun, colored WPA worker, was drowned after a heroic but futile attempt to save the lives of two white children. His heroism attracted wide notice, and because of his straightened circumstances, a number of sympathetic Washingtonians contributed funds to give him a decent burial. The Carnegie Hero Foundation, moved by his bravery gave his widow a posthumous Carnegie hero award, carrying a monthly pension of $50 for her and the two children.

Last week it was learned that the Carnegie Hero Foundation of Pittsburgh had withdrawn the pension. Reason: the widow had given birth to an illegitimate child. In a letter to her, C. B. Ebersol, Foundation manager, stated: "It is against our policy to continue allowance of widows who do not remain respectable, well behaved members of the community."

Investigate Barring of Negroes from WPA

MILWAUKEE—A committee from the People's Better Homes League is investigating the report that Negroes have been barred from the WPA sewing project exhibit that will be held in the Boston Store.

Expect Oklahoma, Texas Immigration to Decline

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3—Due in large measure to the Federal government's efforts to "anchor" in their home states potential rural refugees, the flow of immigration into California from Oklahoma and Texas is expected to decline this year, Jonathan Garst, Farm Security Administration Regional Director, said today. He bases his prediction, he said, on FSA reports from those states.

Refugees from Oklahoma and Texas comprise 55 percent of the registrants in the California Federal migrant labor camps, Garst said, and further research shows that from Texas hails one third of the Negro migrators to California.

He revealed that $30.000.000 has been distributed by the Farm Security Administration in Oklahoma and Texas in the form of recoverable loans and relief grants, to relieve farm owners, tenants and workers rendered penniless and jobless by drought, foreclosure and large-scale farm mechanization, and to encourage them to remain in their home states.

Plan Control of 'T.B.' in Negro Race

Because tuberculosis exacts a toll of four times as many lives among Negroes as among white people, special efforts must be made to control the disease in the race. This statement was made this week by Dr. Cameron St. C. Guild of the National Tuberculosis association in discussing plans for intensive work with officials of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Dr. Guild, who is secretary of the committee on tuberculosis among Negroes, pointed out that:

"The program for controlling tuberculosis is the same for any group of the population. Of greatest importance is educational work, so that all people will safeguard themselves against the insidious development of this disease by regular examinations. Early discovery of the disease is of vital importance, and in addition to educatonal measures to this end, must include special campaign utilizing the tuberculin test and x-ray to detect tuberculosis before any damage has been done. When the illness is found, hospitalization is necessary on the basis of individual need and public health protection for the entire community, rather than for indigents alone, because tuberculosis will spread to other people regardless of the economic position of the patient."

PLANS TO CARRY

The local tuberculosis association is now making plans to carry on such an intensive program within the coming year.

Dr. Guild stressed the importance of prompt consultation with a physician, and examination by x-ray when one becomes too easily tired, loses weight without any apparent cause, loses appetite, or has a cough that hangs on. Other danger signals are spitting of blood, and pleurisy or pain in the chest. None of these signals, he said, is a sure sign of tuberculosis, but the only way to find out is to let the physician decide.
